Fighting The Jewish Case

By Emil Ludwig
Distinguished German-Jewish Biographer

(Address at reception given in his honor on September 28th by the American Jewish Congress.)

Emil Ludwig

THESE are three reasons which should perhaps deter me from discussing the present situation in Germany. If one is divorced from his wife etiquette demands that one make no public reference to her, at least not immediately thereafter. Secondly, the German government has been so kind as to advertise the "burned writers," and noblesse oblige should require that nothing, therefore, be said in criticism of her. According to today's press, I am an exile from Germany, seeking to find a haven in Hollywood. This is not correct. The sale of my works, I should like to say, has shown a tremendous increase since the night of the public burning of books in Germany. That night I invited my friend, Eric Maria Remarque, to drink with me. We opened our oldest Rhine wine; turned on the radio, heard the flames crackling over the wires, heard the speeches of the Hitler spokesmen—and drank to the future.

My third reason is that it should be unnecessary to excoriate intolerance in Germany in a land which has immortalized the rights of men in its constitution.

Story of Youth

I should like to relate to you some of the experiences of my youth. My father, regarded as one of the outstanding oculists in Germany, in every respect a better and stronger personality than I am, was half a century ago barred from appointment to the government clinics, because he was a Jew. Yet, his clients included the entire anti-Semitic aristocracy, for apparently they drew the line at anti-Semitism where their own health and wealth was concerned. Thus, even Bismarck, in his old age, for six years had as his personal physician the Jewish doctor, Kohn, and throughout his life the Jewish banker, Bleichroder served him.

A German prince, who was treated by my father, said to him once, "You are such an excellent man. How come your ancestors were old clothes dealers?"

My father replied: "I don't know why. But at least it was more honest a business than that of your knighted ancestors who rode from their castles over the highways to plunder and pillage travelers." And the Prince was never again seen in our home.

I was not brought up as a Jew. My father was a Naturalist and a Theist. He educated us by morale and music. Like most highly talented persons he had little faith in the talents of his children. He expected that I would be stupid enough not to rise beyond a position as a Prussian official. Owing to anti-Semitism in Germany, 50 years ago today, he changed his children's name from that of Kohn, to that of Ludwig. But the Gods of my youth were neither Moses nor Jesus, but rather Goethe and Beethoven. I have remained true to them and will remain true to them until my last days.

A Jew at 40

I did not become interested in Jewish problems until my 40th year. Then I lived through my own day of Damascus. On the 24th day of June, 1922, a friend rushed into my study shouting: "Rathenau is ermordet." This was like a flash of lightning which clarified my whole thought. I understood at that moment that Rathenau's great mistake was that he was too German and too little Jew. He had a weakness for Prussians but he should have understood that the Prussian character is not fair enough, that unlike the English it is unable to tolerate a Jew at the head of the State. He had a pre-sentiment of this and wrote to a lady, a close friend, that he would be sacrificed on this altar.

I consider him the greatest German statesman of this epoch. He had the courage to forewarn the Fatherland before the War, to defend it during the War through personal organization, and to uphold it after the defeat. Further, he was a great political prophet. What the President of the United States is endeavoring to accomplish in this country, was prescribed 20 years ago by Rathenau as the economic formula of the future.

What was destined to become the last night of his life was spent by Rathenau at the American Embassy in Berlin vis-a-vis with his great enemy, Stinnes. There you have the two poles of German thought—on the one hand Stinnes, who built up the greatest personal fortune ever known in Germany from the ruins of the German nation; who deliberately created inflation for personal gain; who ceded his entire fortune to his wife the day before his death in order to avoid payment of inheritance tax—and on the other hand Rathenau, who gave his time, his money and his life to the reconstruction of his Fatherland. And 10 years later, a German minister placed a memorial wreath on the grave of Rathenau's cowardly murderers, and compared them with William Tell!

The day of Rathenau's murder was decisive in formulating my viewpoint. I changed my path and announced it publicly. From that day on, I felt myself to be more Jew than German. I studied Jewish history. I wrote the life of one of the greatest Jews of all times—Jesus. At present, he has lost caste in Germany. A German professor recently wrote that Jesus was not a Jew from Palestine, but was born near Heidelberg. Another went even further and declared that German soldiers served with Caesar's Roman legions; that they came to Palestine and rejuvenated the Semitic strain.

History told me that when all great things emanated from the Mediterranean, the Germans were still barbarians. When Moses laid the foundations of human morals; when 2,000 years later Ikhnus built the Parthenon and Sophocles wrote his tragedies, the Germans were still clad in the skins of wild beasts and lived in virgin woods even without houses. During storms and tempests they hid in caves lest they incur the wrath of Thor and Wotan. They were the first Wagnerians, but they left behind no monuments, no poetry. And Mussolini was right when he told me once that it is a pity that the Germans won the battle against Varus.

As they had nothing to show but the horns of wild beasts as their heritage from the days of antiquity, they invented the "Aryans," who never existed at all. I have searched for them in the whole of history without finding a single trace of them. All non-German professors know and declare that "Aryan" represents the name of a language and not that of a race. I wish to dedicate a laurel wreath "To the Unknown Aryan."

Events Are "Logical"

In view of the foregoing, I am not amazed by the latest developments in Germany. What is happening under Hitler is logical. I see two special reasons for present day anti-Semitism in Germany. First: There is a certain likeness between the Jews and the Germans, which has created a special hate. Goethe remarks on this resemblance three times in his correspondence. Both have the weakness of regarding themselves as "The Chosen People," but the Jews, of course, as servants, and the Germans, as masters of other people. The Jews declared themselves the Chosen People 4,000 years ago. There may have been some logic in that. Today, however, there are no more chosen peoples. As in an orchestra, we have among peoples, stars, but no genuine artist would think of disturbing the harmony of the ensemble.

In a period of international and technical development, when it is possible to send a message 5,000 miles away within the hour, all talk of racial superiority is nonsense. But in every country there are professors who bow to the dictates of the government, and place their stamp of approval on what the government wishes. Thus, in Germany, Professor Gunther publishes a number of photographs in his volume to illustrate Aryan race superiority. On one side, he publishes a photograph of Rathenau with the inscription to show "the diabolical Jewish cupidity." On the other side, he presents a handsome fair man, as an example of the real and finest type of Aryan. The Aryan is Ivan Kreuger, the match king, photographed before his debacle.

So far as I am able to judge from history, no really great man was ever an anti-Semite. Goethe and Nietzsche regarded the Jewish people as their best readers. Masaryk, the President of Czechoslovakia, the greatest and perhaps the last real democrat of our time, a real flower of our epoch, told me the other day, "One is either a Christian or an anti-Semite. One cannot be both."

Fifty years ago the great Ernest Renan wrote: "L'Allemagne depuis qu'elle c'est donnée toute entière a la vie militaire n'aurait plus de talent si elle n'avait les Juifs envers qu'elle est si ingrate." (Since Germany has given herself over entirely to militarism, she would no longer have any talent were it not for the Jews to whom she is so ungrateful.)

Too Much Talent

A second reason for present day anti-Semitism is the fact that Germany has too much Jewish talent. This is "verboten." The Prussian brain supports talent only if it is regimentized; if it is in uniform and bears a number on his shoulder. The first Germans to go out into the world with a mission of tempering the feeling of hatred against Germany were Jews, whose great names are known to you. This the Germans find insupportable.

What is to be done? There is but a single word to describe the action which has become imperative. That word is unity! The Jews must be recognized as a national entity. The objection that the Jews have no country, is without ground. The Poles and the Czechs had no country for centuries.

Further, the Jews have a country, with which I am familiar—I saw with the deepest emotion, scholarly, bespectacled men hewing the stones of Palestine and sowing the seed for a revived land. But with all the great work which is proceeding there, Palestine will allow for the settlement of only a small proportion of the Jews of the world. If there were room in Palestine for the sixteen million Jews it would not be advisable to send all our people there. Both they and the remainder of the world would lose too much thereby.

By their history, the Jews are promoters of international amity, that is, humane feelings—which is more necessary to the world today than at any other time. The example of the pacifist and the cosmopolites has demonstrated that the Jews are good citizens of the nations to which they belong and at the same time, super-national.

I understand unity as meaning not the establishment of a new nation, but as juristic representation in the League of Nations, with the right to speak for the whole Jewish people. This unity must be evolved in the historic year of 1934. And it will come through the World Jewish Congress.

Were we to secure a million votes through democratic elections to the World Jewish Congress; this would mean representing five million Jews. This is sufficient.

The real function of the World Jewish Congress is not merely to assemble a large number of votes. It is rather the creation of a new spirit of unity among the Jewish people. Herzl's great achievement was that for the first time he was able to create this feeling among the Jews. And were the whole of Palestine to vanish, he would be immortalized by this accomplishment alone.

Even the gypsies are now beginning to organize, and I have never yet heard of a Moses of the gypsies.

A Jewish Uncrowned Empress

Kathi Schratt, Companion of Emperor Franz Joseph, at Eighty

AMID the turbulence and uncertainty now prevalent in Austria, where Nazis, native Fascists and Socialists are waging a three-cornered struggle for control of what remains of the once potent Hapsburg empire, Madame Katherina Schratt, a Jewess who was for more than thirty years the virtual uncrowned empress of Austria-Hungary because of her intimate friendship and association with Emperor Franz Joseph I, is celebrating her eightieth birthday, alone and forgotten, even by the remnants of that small coterie of Hapsburg courtiers who still hope for a restoration of the monarchy. History is being made hourly in Vienna, but the woman who saw history being made for two generations, who was the constant companion in public and in private of the Emperor, who was a close friend of the Empress, a veritable du Barry of the once glamorous Austrian court, marks her eightieth birthday quietly in the little villa at No. 9 Gloriettegasse, just outside the palace grounds at Schoenbrunn, which was presented to her by Franz Joseph.

Kathi Schratt, as she is widely known, was the daughter of a Jewish postal official in Baden, near Vienna. As a young, beautiful and talented actress in Berlin, she was discovered by Heinrich Laube, who brought her to the famous Burgtheatre in Vienna where her naturalness and charm made her a national favorite. On her first appearance in Vienna the Emperor was attracted by her loveliness, but it was the Empress herself who introduced the Jewish girl to Franz Joseph and made possible her future role of influence at the Hapsburg court.

The little known story of the daughter of a Jewish official who became the virtual uncrowned Empress of Austria-Hungary for 30 years and who was confidante and intimate of Emperor Franz Joseph I, is told here for the first time.
—THE EDITOR.

By Bernard Postal

The companionship between the actress and the Emperor, which was destined to have a tremendous influence on the life of Franz Joseph, was deliberately planned by the Empress Elizabeth. Her marriage with the Emperor was not a happy one. The daughter of the insane Bavarian king, Ludwig II, Elizabeth was a melancholic and restless soul, and like all her Bavarian kinsmen, she was given to frequent mental depressions. Unhappy in the Imperial court of Vienna and strange to the formal Spanish etiquette which prevailed there, she lived most of her life abroad, making long and extended journeys. In order to provide for the lonely hours of her royal consort, she devised and encouraged his rich and human relationship with Kathi Schratt.

Kathi's playfulness, as contrasted with Elizabeth's sterner interests, particularly delighted the old monarch, who himself tried to lead an ascetic life by sitting on hard chairs and eating Spartan meals. The actress sent him silly little trinkets which vastly amused him. She was his daily partner at breakfast, afternoon tea and frequent games of taroque, an Austrian card game. One of the gadgets Frau Schratt gave him was a tiny box out of which when a secret spring was touched, a nightingale hopped and started singing. The bent and white-whiskered old man always played this for the little Otto, the present Hapsburg pretender, when he was brought to see him.

From the day Kathi Schratt was first presented to the Emperor until the day of his death, Kathi Schratt played a vital part in his life. Her uprightness, integrity of character and discreetness gave her an extraordinary position at the court. Yet she was untouched by the breath of scandal in Europe, and to this day the Viennese fiercely resent the sensational stories circulated in America about the "Gnaedige Frau," as she was invariably called at court.

Franz Joseph provided her with the villa in the Gloriettegasse, where the Emperor, who arose at 3:30 o'clock in the morning and began work at 4, visited her every morning at 6:30 by way of a private road which led from his castle. At the Imperial summer place in Ischl, the Emperor's residence was connected by a private road with the Villa Felicitas which Frau Schratt leased. Whenever he entertained she was his guest. She was always with him at state functions and was generally accepted as his morganatic wife. When he wrote to the Empress he also wrote to Kathi, but whereas he asked Elizabeth about weather, he asked Kathi about her health and affairs of state.

From her he learned more, and matters of greater interest than from all his ministers put together. Her circle of acquaintance embraced, directly and indirectly, all the personalities of Imperial Vienna—highly placed officials, bankers, politicians, diplomats, journalists and society figures. From them she learned all that occurred in the capital. All the gossip of Vienna reached her ears. And Franz Joseph had a most receptive ear for any information that reached him through Frau Schratt. Her news was entirely different from that of his advisers. Not infrequently did he learn the truth only from her. There were many who sought to use her as a catspaw in influencing the Emperor and to reach his ear through her. But character and loyalty are revealed in the fact that the woman who stood at the side of one of the world's richest and mightiest monarchs never amassed wealth.

This strange alliance between the Jewess and the successor of the Holy Roman emperors excited no jealousy on the part of Empress Elizabeth. On the contrary, she encouraged and fostered the friendship, even going so far as to have a portrait of Kathi painted as a gift for the Emperor. When news reached the Empress first

Foreign and Domestic News Glimpses

Morris Hillquit, Head of American Socialists, Dies

New York.—Morris Hillquit, pioneer leader of the Socialist Party of America, veteran of innumerable battles in behalf of labor and a life-long and consistent opponent of war, is dead here at the age of 64. Born in Russia, Mr. Hillquit came to America in 1886 where he obtained a job as a shirt-maker during the day and studied law at New York University at night. Before he had reached his majority he joined the chief American radical party, the Socialist Labor party, then headed by Daniel De Leon. At this early age he also became one of the editors of the Yiddish Arbeiter Zeitung, a predecessor of the Daily Forward. When Eugene V. Debs organized the Social Democracy of America in 1897, Hillquit joined the new group which in 1900 formed a coalition with de Leon's party and another Socialist party. Hillquit soon became one of Debs' closest advisers and in 1901 was elected to the national committee of the Socialist Party. Two years later he wrote his epochal "History of Socialism in the United States," the standard work on the subject. This book, together with his services in the garment strikes of 1909, 1914, and 1915 gave him a national reputation which became international when he was elected the American delegate to the International Socialist Congress. Throughout his legal career he was a staunch defender of Labor and was for many years general counsel of the International Ladies Garment Workers Union. During the war he was an outspoken pacifist when pacifism was not popular. He was the Socialist candidate for mayor of New York in 1917, polling 150,000 votes, the largest number cast up to that time for a Socialist candidate in any American city. He attracted wide attention in 1919 by his brilliant defense of the Socialist members of the state legislature who had been ousted because of their views. Several times he was a candidate for Congress and in 1932 he again ran for mayor of New York, this time polling 250,000 votes. Hillquit took a leading part in La Follette's independent presidential candidacy in 1924 but always he remained a Socialist although he hoped to create a party here modelled on the British Labor party. He was known as a practical and conservative thinker despite his Socialist views. When Victor Berger died Hillquit became national chairman of the Socialist Party.

Noted Britishers Hear Einstein Plead for Tolerance at Opening of $5,000,000 Campaign for Relief of Exiled German Scientists

London.—While hundreds of plain clothesmen from Scotland Yard and 2,000 English university students stood guard against any possible Nazi attempt to assassinate Dr. Albert Einstein, 10,000 persons, among them the outstanding scientific, religious and political personalities of England, crowded Albert Hall to hear the distinguished scientist speak in behalf of the $5,000,000 Refugee Assistance Fund which is being raised in Great Britain to aid scholars and scientists exiled by the Nazi regime. Never once mentioning the country that had outlawed him, Professor Einstein gave voice to the hope that Western nations, by standing fast against the temptations of hatred and oppression, would save the honor and liberty of Western Europe. Affirming his undiminished faith in freedom as the source of all literature, science and progress, he declared that without liberty any people will inevitably sink into dull slavery like that of Oriental despotism. He was thunderously cheered when he asserted that the British people have remained faithful to the traditions of tolerance and justice which they have for centuries proudly upheld.

Despite the efforts of the Rothermere and Beaverbrook press to prevent the meeting, Sir Austen Chamberlain, former foreign minister, Lord Rutherford, head of the Cavendish Laboratory, at Cambridge, Commander Oliver Locker-Sampson, Sir James Jeans, Lord William Cecil, the Bishop of Exeter and Viscount Buckmaster, all joined in the denunciation of the Hitler government which Einstein had so studiously avoided. In a solemn indictment of the Nazi regime, Sir Austen declared that he knows of "no greater tragedy than the proscription in this twentieth century of a race which has distinguished itself in the arts and sciences in every country through all the ages." Pointing out that it was not so long ago that Albert Hall could have been filled with a British audience desiring to express its sympathy with Germany, he said that "tonight we are here not to sympathize with the German government but with those whom it expels from its shores." Lord Rutherford asserted that England's chief contribution to the problem of the German refugees is to provide money and a temporary haven in schools and universities for them.

Adolph Ochs Ill

Mr. Adolph S. Ochs, publisher of New York Times, is at Medical Center Neurological Hospital suffering from nervous breakdown and heart disease, but is now reported much improved.

Mr. Ochs was admitted to the hospital Sunday of last week and suffered a severe heart attack during the night.

League Committee Approves Commissioner for German-Jewish Refugees

Spokesmen of Great Powers Denounce Nazi Persecution of Jews and Demand They Be Given Status of Racial Minority

Geneva.—The appointment of a League of Nations commissioner to look after German-Jewish refugees by providing them with passports, food and clothing, establishing their juridical status and spreading them in such countries as can absorb them, particularly Palestine, came one step nearer when a sub-committee of the Assembly of the League of Nations, which had been studying the Dutch proposal for a commissioner charged with such responsibilities, voted to create a commissioner and to ask the economic commission to advance funds for this work which ultimately will be financed by international Jewish organizations. Among those being mentioned for the position of commissioner are Nicholas Roosevelt, fifth cousin of President Roosevelt, and former American minister to Hungary, and Christian L. Lange, Nobel prize winner for peace in 1921, and Norway's representative in the League since 1920.

Meanwhile in the political commission Germany's treatment of the Jews was subjected to the frankest and most outspoken sort of criticism by representatives of England, France, Czechoslovakia, Poland, Ireland and Canada, all of whom demanded that the Jews of Germany be accorded the status of a racial minority. The general question of minorities was raised by Dr. Friedrich von Weller of Germany who insisted that Germany was the defender of all minorities but when he sought to harmonize his country's treatment of the Jews with this statement by contending that the Jews were not a minority he precipitated a storm of protest. Arguing the inadmissibility of linking the problem of the German Jews with the question of minorities, Dr. Keller pointed out that the Jews of Germany had never considered themselves either a lingual or national minority and have never expressed a desire to be treated as a minority. He insisted that the question was entirely one of race.

The sharpest criticism of this specious defense of Nazi anti-Semitism was voiced by William Ormsby-Gore, British commissioner of works, and by Senator Henry Berenger, former French ambassador to the United States. Concentrating his attack on Dr. Keller's Jewish exception, Senator Berenger asked how Germany could reconcile its anti-Jewish laws with the treaties which are the basis of the League, and particularly with the Upper Silesian treaties. Admitting that the Council of the League was limited by treaty to violations in Silesia, although the anti-Semitic laws applied to all of Germany, he insisted that the Assembly could act on these laws by virtue of its blanket powers under Article III of the League covenant. He then introduced a resolution reaffirming the rights of national minorities to protection without distinction as to race, language or religion, and pointed out, in answer to the German contention, that a minority comes into existence at the moment discriminatory measures are effected against any group. Mr. Ormsby-Gore's speech, which was vigorously applauded, contained the assertion that Jews should be considered a racial minority and accorded all rights and protection under minority treaties. Taking up Dr. von Keller's speech point by point, the British representative heatedly defended the parliamentary system, rejected absolutely the Hitler government's views on racial and political minorities, paid a tribute to the Jews of Great Britain and admitted that Hitler's book makes England nervous.

Similar sentiments were expressed by Dr. Eduard Benes, foreign minister of Czechoslovakia, Robert J. Manion of Canada, the representative of the Irish Free State, and Richard Sandler, Sweden's foreign minister. These diplomats, and Count Raczynski of Poland also argued in favor of a world convention to study means of protecting minorities everywhere. The Italian delegation, which had hitherto maintained silence in the League on the Jewish question, broke this silence when Baron Pompeo Aloisi, in a carefully worded but brief address which contained no mention of the words "German" or "Jew" made it clear that Italy opposed the German racial thesis. He did not, however, discuss the proposals for granting Jews the protection of minority treaties.

Hitler in Our Public High Schools

In printing the article entitled "Germans Enthusiastic Under Hitler's Rule" in the issue of September 11th the editors and publishers of the Weekly News Review—a national publication—have forfeited their claim to the confidence placed in them by public school authorities throughout the country. Henceforth this weekly newspaper purporting to give the youth of America an impartial review of the events of the week will have to be scanned carefully before it is admitted into our public schools. Should there be further evidence of Hitler propaganda, the public high schools of America should be called upon to discard this publication.

There can be no divided opinion about the article in question. Quite obviously the writer set out to give Hitler and his henchmen a clean bill of health. This he has done in a manner that is an affront to an intelligent American. A paid propagandist could not have done more. To say that the men in the concentration camps "bore no marks of ill treatment. . . . Prisoners are released upon their signing a written agreement of loyalty to the present government"—this in the light of the authentic reports to the contrary is unpardonable. Furthermore, calmly to declare: "The Nazis believe, rightly or wrongly, that the Jews have been largely responsible for the woes that have befallen Germany since the War. They attribute the inflation to their activity and influence. They declare that the Jews have attempted to undermine the truly German culture and have always worked for their own personal advancement rather than the progress of the German nation" etc. etc., is a form of vicious propaganda that dare not go unchallenged!

Temple Emanu-El, New York, Desecrated by Hitler Propaganda Stickers

"THE JEWS MUST GO! THE POPE MUST GO! DEMOCRACY MUST GO!"

On Yom Kippur morning, the Day of Atonement, when Temple Emanu-El, like all other Synagogues and Temples, is crowded to overflowing, it was discovered that this beautiful edifice which is located on upper Fifth Avenue in New York, had been desecrated during the night by printed stickers plastered over the front and side of the Temple, bearing the despicable challenge printed above. The wording was in red on yellow paper, in sharp contrast to the pure white of the Temple, and the swastika appeared to the left of the legend and the letters to the right, in black.

The job was evidently the work of a number of Hitlerites, who had carefully planned and executed this shameful deed, this being the expression of those whose hearts reek with the poison of hate and ruthless destruction. It presents a challenge not only to the Jew, but also to the Catholic, as well as to the United States Government.

"Y" Will Pay Honor to Judge Benjamin Lencher
"Old Timer" Will Be Center of Historic Testimonial Next Sunday, October 15

GOVERNOR PINCHOT INVITED

Honoring a "Y" old timer, a man who has now achieved the high position of Judge of the Allegheny County Court, the Y. M. and W. H. A. will tender a city-wide testimonial meeting and demonstration to Judge Benjamin Lencher, a former member of the board of directors of the "Y" and a man who has given unstintingly of his effort and time in behalf of the organization. The grand event will take place this Sunday night, October 15, at 8:30 o'clock in the Morris Kaufmann Memorial Auditorium of the Y.

The testimonial meeting will be open to the general public free of charge. The committee on arrangements is preparing a program befitting the occasion. Governor Pinchot, who appointed Judge Lencher to the County Court, has been invited to attend as chief speaker and other speakers who are prominent in local, civic and communal activities will be on the program. The committee plans to make this affair one of the most historic events in "Y" annals. It is expected that the Morris Kaufmann Auditorium will be filled to overflowing in honor of Judge Lencher and arrangements are being made to install loud speakers in the gymnasium so that the messages will be heard by everyone who attends.

Judge Lencher's interest in the "Y" started when he was a mere lad, when, together with a small group of other boys, they conceived the idea of establishing a Jewish Community Center in Pittsburgh. The idea met with a cool response at first, and it was due mainly to the oratorical gifts of this brilliant youngster, which were already apparent at that time, that the idea of the "Y" permeated the hearts of many of our communal leaders.

As "Bennie" Lencher grew older his great interest in the "Y" grew stronger and he labored incessantly to accomplish the idea of a fully equipped community center building for the Jewish youth of this city. It was Ben Lencher's ringing voice that stirred audiences time after time to a realization of the needs of the Jewish youth in this community. His logic and his power of oratory were irresistible, and when in 1916 the beautiful building on Bellefield Avenue was finally dedicated no one was happier than Ben Lencher.

Side by side with Judge Lencher's interest in "Y" affairs there grew an interest in civic affairs. As a successful lawyer at the Allegheny Bar his talents and interest in civic affairs were recognized, and although he was still a very young man he was appointed Assistant District Attorney. Not many years thereafter Ben Lencher received the appointment to the Allegheny County bench from Governor Pinchot.

The "Y" takes a great deal of pride in honoring one of its first champions who as boy and man labored indefatigably in the interest of a worthy Jewish institution. Judge Lencher was a member of the "Y" board for 10 years, and editor of the "Y" Weekly. He is outstanding in "Y" state and national affairs. The testimonial and mass demonstration which will be given in honor of Judge Lencher on Sunday night, October 15, is open to everybody in the community. No cards or tickets are necessary and everybody is welcome.

The committee on arrangements includes Hyman Rogal, Harry J. Applestein, president and presiding chairman at the meeting, Herman Passamaneck, director, and H. Norman Shoop.

Jewish People's Committee Protest to German Consul

Representatives of the Jewish People's Committee warned John A. Loibl, German vice consul, in no uncertain terms, that he would be held "morally responsible for the organization of 'twastika societies' or for the spread of anti-Semitic propaganda in Pittsburgh," when they visited him in his office on Monday of this week for the purpose of denouncing persecution of the Jews in Germany and to demand that he refrain from public addresses which "oppose the freedom of the Jews both in Germany and in America." They took exception to his statement that many of the Jews driven out of Germany were undesirable citizens, and asked him if he would cite Einstein as one of these "undesirable citizens." They also accused him of attempting to disguise the truth about conditions in Germany, and reiterated that they would use every possible means of combatting the Hitlerite propaganda which is making its way here. As Mr. Loibl denied that Nazi propaganda was being spread throughout the country, Mr. A. Strauss, vice-chairman of the committee, presented reprints of letters which intended to show the activities of the "Friends of New Germany," and which advocated boycott of Jewish businesses.

The Jewish People's Committee has asked that everyone who is willing to cooperate in any way, with the plans for a mass demonstration and parade to be held on Sunday, October 22, will kindly register at 1532 Center Avenue. The offer of cars for this parade, in order to make the demonstration as effective as possible, will be particularly appreciated.

Workreator Plan Active

The Workreator Plan, the combined project of the United Business Service and the Conference of Jewish Women's Organizations, to secure odd jobs for the many unemployed skilled and semi-skilled persons in this community, has been quite successful.

In an intensive campaign last spring, the entire Jewish community was solicited by volunteers of the various women's organizations under the Conference in an effort to sell the services of these unemployed people.

Mrs. J. De S. Freund and Mrs. Sidney A. Bachman were in direct charge of this campaign, and through their leadership approximately 400 odd jobs were secured which resulted in the net earnings of $4,000. By far, the greatest number of these jobs were given to the clients of the Jewish Family Welfare Association.

Workreator has a twofold function. It is essentially therapeutic in value, quite aside from being extremely practical from a financial viewpoint. While there is no intensive campaign during these fall months, the United Business Service is still prepared to supply any one interested with this type of service.

Many of the applicants at the United Business Service are still unemployed and every odd job is important. A call to Atlantic 0155 or 9152 will bring someone for any type of work desired.

German Relief Fund Totals $1,111,044

Rabbi Jonah B. Wise, National Chairman of the German Relief Fund of the Joint Distribution Committee, has announced that $1,111,044 has been contributed to date by the Jews of the United States to ameliorate the economic plight of the 600,000 Jews of the Reich. Cash received at the Joint Distribution Committee's offices, 7 Hanover Street, New York City, on account of pledges totaled $820,766. These totals, he said, would be substantially increased by the receipts from a concert for the benefit of the fund held at the Westchester Community Center, at White Plains, New York, Thursday, September 28th, which are expected to exceed $26,000; by special Yom Kippur offerings that will be made in large numbers of synagogues and temples throughout the United States and by collections in a campaign now in progress in Louisville, on account of which $10,000 was initially contributed at a mass meeting which launched the drive and which was addressed by Rabbi Jonah B. Wise on Tuesday of last week.

Ossip Gabrilowitsch, Mischa Elman and Mme. Hulda Lashanska were the soloists at the Westchester concert, coming directly from California to give their voluntary services for the aid of their stricken German co-religionists.

RANDOM THOUGHTS BY CHAS. H. JOSEPH

A reader sends me this clipping from a Chicago daily newspaper appearing in the "Mail Bag:"

"M. F.: Can you tell me whether there are any farming sections in this country where the people are generally Jewish?"

"ANSWER. There are 4,400,000 Jews in the United States and 2,000,000 of them are in New York city. The rest are scattered. The Jews in this country are not agricultural people."

My correspondent objects to that form of answer, believing that unintentionally the wrong impression has been given to an earnest seeker after knowledge. In other words, instead of the Chicago daily stressing matters such as half the Jews are in New York and all the rest of it, the reply should have been more specific in relation to the question. There ARE thousands of Jewish farmers in this country and in certain sections there are important Jewish-farmer groups. I remember that a certain Dr. A. R. Levy, a resident of Chicago, was one of the most active workers in an organization known as the Jewish Agricultural Society, whose program was to encourage farming among the Jews. And the results were amazing. The next time the Chicago newspaper receives such a query it should be investigated and answered more intelligently. I shouldn't be surprised without having the definite information at my elbow that over a hundred thousand Jews are interested in farming.

Good morning, Friends of the New Germany! That seems to be the organization that is doing all the gumshoeing in this country for the Nazis. But if the new German spy system is as dumb as the one prior to and during the war, no trouble will be experienced. Listen and shudder: all the deep, dark, mysterious business that makes reading detective stories so interesting, we find in this statement Herr Haag as reported in the Jewish Daily Bulletin. The Herr Haag is writing to German Headquarters from New York:

"The development of the special division cannot take place as rapidly as you desire since conditions here are more difficult than you suppose. We are being watched and must be careful. . . . Send us a young lady of good appearance who is very reliable. It is best if her brothers and her father are S.A. men (storm troopers). She should speak some English, and Russian fluently, and must take the place of our agent in the Amtorg. She should come over on the Bremen or the Europa as a hair-dresser, then we'll send another person back to Germany on the ship, thus evading the immigration authorities and avoid a check-up by Untermeyer."

Deep, dark plots are being hatched! Only one thing excels German spying in its stupidity and that is German diplomacy.

I was reading the new book, "Mellon's Millions," dealing with the rise of Andrew W. Mellon when I came across this humorous story:

"Judge Thomas Mellon (father of Andrew) was writing busily in the court room one day when Josiah Cohen, a well-known Pittsburgh attorney, approached him with a petition for a Jewish burial ground. Judge Mellon was very much absorbed in his work and without looking up asked Mr. Cohen what he wanted. Upon learning that it was 'a place to bury Jews,' Judge Mellon answered 'with pleasure'."

Readers throughout the country will recognize in this young lawyer named Cohen, the late Judge Josiah Cohen, noted throughout Jewish circles. Judge Cohen "grew up" with Pittsburgh and he numbered among his friends the most famous names in the city's development. . . . among these was Andrew Carnegie, who held Judge Cohen in high esteem.

I notice in the daily press that the so-called Jewish Relief Plan in Germany has been approved by the League of Nations and that Germany yielded a point in the issue. According to the report which seems reliable German delegates to the league of nations' Council agreed that the Council be authorized to appoint a High Commissioner to deal with the Jewish refugees as a social problem, and further that the Council should name a governing body to supervise funds which private or public organizations may contribute to the relief movement. This is definitely a victory for the Jewish group which has forced Germany into the open and brought at least indirectly the League of Nations' attention to the necessity for safeguarding the welfare of the victims of LUNAZI.

I confess that there is too much confusion of statements as to the real condition in Germany to enable me to sift error from truth. But I am passing along to my readers without comment the statements made by Ralph D. Blumenfeld, for thirty years Editor of the "Daily Express" in London, considered as the most celebrated journalist in England. He is writing in the "Jewish Daily Bulletin." Draw your own conclusions from the following:

"All signs seem to point to a moderation of the Nazi war against the Jews. The German Federal Minister of Justice made a declaration this week (October 6th) at the Leipzig conference of Jurists, indicating a slowing down process has already begun, though great mischief having already been accomplished, there appears scant hope of complete cessation. As for the status quo we must make up our minds that this can never be regained, at least not in the lifetime of this or even the next generation. . . . There is only one thing to say about any modi-

"Westmoreland Divots"

The champion is dead; long live the champion! In this case, however, such a cheer suggests nothing less than reincarnation, since last season's Westmoreland Ladies' victor, Mrs. Louis K. Friedman, is once again to wear the golfing crown this year. It was all decided Monday morning when Mrs. Friedman and Mrs. C. H. Lehman met in the finals to fight it out between themselves. Both of the finalists had drawn byes for their first matches, after which the former defeated Mrs. Byron Foster and Mrs. A. C. Sunstein, while the latter disposed of Mrs. Lee Tannenholz and Miss Lois Hollander.

The fact that the finalists seemed unusually evenly matched aroused a great deal of interest in the outcome of the tournament. A low 83 scored by Mrs. Friedman on Sunday, the day before the important match, and the fact that she was last year's champion and this year's low medalist, deserved respect, but did not make us forget an 88 that Mrs. C. H. Lehman had made only a few weeks ago over Oakmont's difficult course, nor her 92 at the State tournament at Aronimik; and then too, Pete O'Hara voiced the opinion that Mrs. Lehman was playing the best golf of her career. So we decided to let the others place their bets on one or the other; we would more cheaply just wait and see.

Though Mrs. Friedman emerged as the ultimate winner, she did so only by overcoming some fine playing on the part of her opponent. After running down long putts, placing perfectly-hit approach shots dead to the pin, and even sinking one on the second hole, Mrs. Lehman arrived at the sixth tee, being two up. But then, too many costly fairway shots that refused to go as they should, and, on the other hand, Mrs. Friedman's steady well-played golf combined gradually to erase the lead, so that at the turn Mrs. Lehman was one down. On the second nine last year's champion rapidly added more holes to her credit, and at the fifteenth hole Mrs. Friedman's 4 and 3 victory made us scamper off to the engraver to tell him just to put ditto marks on the ladies' golf trophy!

Though not enough players entered the tournament this year to make a second flight possible, there was a Consolation flight for those defeated the first day. Here the interest was just as great and the competition even closer than in the championship matches; and the finals were even won by the same score—4 and 3—when Mrs. Alfred Oppenheimer, undisturbed by Mrs. Edward Meyer's four hole lead at the turn, staged a comeback to gain a victory in the midst of Sunday afternoon's sudden rain, lightning and wind storm.

Last Friday there was an intermission in the Westmoreland women's championship tournament play, so that all who could would attend the closing meeting of the Women's Western Pennsylvania Golf Association, which was held at the Stanton Heights Country Club. The members who attended left, holding their heads just a trifle higher and their chests thrown out a bit more proudly; for Mrs. C. H. Lehman, formerly vice president, had been elected to the office of president. Not only do we congratulate her, but ourselves as well, for the honor she has brought to Westmoreland. May all the divots we dig up for her be chuck full of four-leaf clovers! And some should go to Mrs. A. C. Sunstein too, who at the same meeting was chosen to act on the nominating committee.

This past week at Westmoreland was like the demi-tasse of the season—just a last few sips of active golf before the end. Not only was the women's championship decided, and the final W. P. G. A. meeting held, but to our great relief pity was at last taken on one of those dust-covered placards we mentioned last week: the Two-Ball Foursome one can now be removed, for the names of Miss Louise Freund and Mr. Richard Morgenstern were inscribed on it as the final victors, after they had defeated Miss Lisa Blum and Mr. Ernest Hommel on Sunday. And it's being still another 4 and 3 victory made us certain that that was last week's lucky number at Westmoreland—that is, so long as you were not on the short end!

Campus Inklings

By Ethel Silverblatt

Note: Please address any objections, corrections, or additions suitable for this column to Ethel Silverblatt, 3143 Ewart Drive. As the Salvation Army puts it, "All contributions thankfully accepted."

If we were Kate Smith we'd say "Hello-o-o, Everybody;" if we were Milt Goldstein of the Sigma Alpha Mus, popularly known as the "Sam-miees," and you were rushees, we'd say "H'ya doin', boy!" as though we'd known you all our life; if we were Greta Garbo, we'd refuse to concede that there was anything to greet, and if we were Yetta Middleman, of the Delta Phi Epsilons, known far and away as "Connie," short for unconscious, we couldn't know there was. If we were Texas Guinan, we'd enlighten you right off with "Hello sucker!" but since, after all, we're writing this column and had ought to be prudent, we'll let you find that out for yourselves.

If we were the Sphinx, we'd let you do the talking; if we were Bernie Rosenson of the Phi Eps and Cap and Gowners, we'd sing our howdoyoudo, as Chaucer put it, "full sweetly through our nose;" if we were Lil Senk, who put the dough in puns, we'd take time out to buy a refined cannon for our friends to use the next time we felt inspired to mutilate the English language. If we were Saul Weissberg, who writes the political column in the Pitt News known as "Effluvia" (look up the meaning, you'll be surprised), we'd shake the hair out of our eyes and bellow, most probably, the great Caruso love song, "O Sole Mio." But, as we trust you've already discovered, we're really not any of these, and so just couldn't do things like that.

In fact, all this stalling is just to give us time to figure out how a modified Walter Winchell properly should put in appearance. What we're actually trying to say is that we're going to write a column about Jewish students of all colleges in the city, and we don't expect to have a friend left after the first two issues. We intend to talk about all those students who at the moment happen to be outstanding, socially, scholastically, or extracurricularly. We'll report on fraternities, sororities and individuals. We'll even try to inform you on who went to which place with what. In short, we're going to be a regular scandal-monger. It's really a shame, our early training was good, but—well, here we are.

From Tech we hear rumors of a new Jewish sorority being organized in the Art School. Members, we understand, are Eleanor Stern, who, by the way, co-chaired the Y reception to college freshmen with Adele Ash of Pitt; Jeannette Fischel, Gertrude Breakstone, Sylvia Licka, Beatrice Bilder, and Annette Rosenson. If we wanted to follow the path of least resistance, we'd say "Good luck, and long life to the new group." As it is, we'll go one better and say we hope you'll provide us with plenty of material.

According to the Tau Delta, also of the Tartan school, there is something in a name. Raphael Atlas, one of the fraters, is captain of the boxing team. Not to be beaten, the Beta Sigma Rhos have in their midst a wrestling champion, Gordon Rosenberg.

Journalism seems to have claimed a number of us. Joe Adams and Bill Waldman, both of Beta Sigma Rho, are respectively managing editor and business manager of the Tartan. Across no-man's land to Pitt we find Dave Immerman of the S. A. M. group as business manager, Hime Cohen as associate editor, and Rose Honig, a member of D. Phi E., society editor of the Pitt News. Hime Cohen is also associate editor of the Panther.

In the Pitt Panhellenic Council sit Martha Green of Alpha Epsilon Phi as secretary, Ruth Lazirovitz of D. Phi E., as publicity chairman, and Ben Kopsosky of Phi Sigma Sigma as rushing rules chairman.

When the Pitt Y. W. C. A. and Y. W. H. A. decided to join in a traditional hearth ceremony at Heinz House, last Wednesday night, four of us had parts. Bea Kopsosky and Lenore Orlander were the Roman equivalent of American governesses, Frieda Goldstein a Roman boy, and us, we were a Roman household god and did the darndest things. Adele Ash, by the way, wrote the ceremony.

From the Pi Lam house comes word that Izzy Weinstock is off the sick list, and fully recovered from injuries received in the W. & J. game. From some misdirected humorist, we hear that Ginny Baskin won't be back at school this semester on account of her appendix began to cut up and had to be cut out.

A number of fraternities are holding dances over the week-end. Tonight (assuming you're reading this on Saturday) the Beta Sigma Rhos and Phi Eps will whirl, while the Tau Delta decided to be different and danced last night.

Well, as the old Chinese sages put it, "A wise man shuts up before he dries up." And every now and then a woman can take the hint.

Houghton Mifflin Company Postpone Publication of Hitler's "Mein Kampf"

We have from reliable sources the information that publication by the Houghton Mifflin Company of Hitler's viciously anti-Semitic book, "My Battle," is being postponed. The original publication date was October 3rd. We are also advised that, as a result of a continuous indignation campaign, the book has undergone rigorous changes.

We learn, moreover, that Houghton Mifflin Company has decided to reduce the price of the book. This renders pertinent the following questions:

1. What prompted the revisions and publisher's apologies in the book?
2. Why the sudden reduction in the advertised retail price?
3. Who will subsidize the distribution of a rumored large edition for distribution in libraries, schools, fraternal societies, and kindred bodies?
4. How much of the Nazi propaganda fund in America is being appropriated for the wholesale purchase of this book?
5. Does Houghton Mifflin Company know, or care, that this same book by Hitler has just been banned from Poland because of the glaring falsehoods and violent prejudices it contains?
6. How much blood money, in the form of royalties, has Houghton Mifflin Company agreed to pay Hitler for maligning the Jews?
7. Would Houghton Mifflin Company have regarded it a sound business venture to bring out this book without its rabid anti-Semitic fulminations?
8. How much of the promotion budget will find its way into the hands of Public Enemy No. 1, William Dudley Pelley, whose "Legion" of Silver Shirts and kindred bigoted groups, will probably be further fed on Hitler's Jew-mania expressed in "My Battle?"

WE charge Houghton Mifflin Company, sponsors of Hitler's "Mein Kampf" ("My Battle") in English, with an attempt to cash in on the misery and catastrophe of an important section of the human family.

We accuse them of abetting Hitler propaganda in this country, which is even now secretly seeking a fund of $5,000,000 for publicity purposes, in its effort to gain a legitimate foothold in America.

We warn them that enlightened and self-respecting people are bound to hold them in contempt if they insist on publishing Hitler's "Mein Kampf," every word of which against the Jews drips with fanatical and savage venom.

To all who may have any connection with the distribution of this book, we voice, in behalf of our people, our unqualified horror.

Upon all who may read this—non-Jew and Jew alike—we urge in the spirit of fairness and decency, the sending of immediate protest to the publishers (Houghton Mifflin Co., Boston, Mass.) and to any booksellers or libraries who may display this book or offer it for sale.

CHARLES H. JOSEPH

His Ears Are Red

Poor Herr Luther, Ambassador Extraordinary, representing the country of LUNAZI, is having an embarrassing time as he seeks to travel around. So long as he is content to remain in Washington he gets along fairly well. But the moment he pins the swastika on his Prussian bosom and marches forth to extol Hitler he comes a cropper. In Milwaukee, where he started a riot, one of the dailies editorially suggested by inference that the Herr Luther had better stay in Washington instead of going about and stirring up trouble. At least the Ambassador had an opportunity to see how popular Germany is in a representative American city populated by a large number of German-Americans. In Philadelphia, Luther refused to speak at a large German gathering unless the Hitler emblem of LUNAZI was displayed alongside the American flag. This the German organizations refused to do, so the Herr Luther did not speak. It seems to us if he were smart he would keep his mouth closed most of the time in public. It must be uncomfortable for such a dignitary to find himself in so unfavorable an environment; it must remind him of the days of von Bernstorff who had just as undesirable a job during the war. One thing Luther can report truthfully to his boss, that the American people of all classes are not prepared to give three cheers for the German government.

Judge Lencher

On Sunday evening the "Y" will hold a testimonial meeting for one of its "boys" who has made good in "his home town." This man happens to have been a member of the board of the Y. M. H. A. for many years and was very active in promoting its interests. Benjamin Lencher deserves much of his fellow-religionists; he has earned a reputation in this city and county that reflects credit not only upon himself but upon his people. We are not discussing Judge Lencher from any political angle because that is beyond our province. But we do take pride in the fact that in the recent primaries the electorate showed their appreciation of his character and ability as a jurist by giving him an overwhelming lead. In this respect he reminds us of the late judge Cohen who always led his ticket. Judge Lencher, we know, enoys the confidence of the leaders of thought in the city of Pittsburgh, and in every gathering of civic leaders, whenever his name is mentioned, it is spoken with respect. We are glad to see the organization of which he has been so potent a part recognize the high position he occupies in our community and in our city.

Taking Action

THE nefarious activities of the Nazi propagandists in this country are about to receive official attention at the hands of Chairman Dickstein of the Immigration Committee of the House of Representatives. He says that sufficient information has been brought to his attention to warrant an investigation of the charges that Hitler has been, through representatives in this country, engaged in illegal activities tending to create race and religious prejudice. In fact, statements are made that in effect the present Nazi activities are on level with the spy activities of the Germans when they were attempting to create seeds of discord and dissension in Mexico during the war. There can be no doubt but that the sentiment in this country, so obviously anti-German, has brought home to the German authorities the necessity for desperate measures even to the extent of violating the laws of this country. It is quite evident that the bringing in to this country of persons for the sole purpose of disseminating propaganda of the Nazi type is an infringement of the immigration laws. We are glad that vigorous steps will be taken to stifle these un-American tactics.

War

At the end of the Great War we were told that the next war would be fought in 1935. In inquiring from our informant as to the reason for his statement he replied that it would take about fifteen to eighteen years to raise another crop of young men for war purposes, as the European countries had been bled white of suitable cannonfodder. He further stated that the peace treaty of Versailles had all the "makings" of another war because Germany would never rest content with what she considered so obviously an unjust peace.

Well, here we are in 1933, and anyone who questions that war is a serious topic in world chancelleries evidently is not watching events with a keen mind. We have a Germany which is alarmingly comparable with the Germany of the Kaiser. We all recall the world's greatest swashbuckler and sword rattler and with fear and trepidation other nations watched "Fritz on Parade." We have now another sword rattler who is parading the Nazi Fritz with even more gusto than did the Kaiser. One wonders when Germans have time to find a job or to keep it when they get considering the marching that's going on over there. Every hour, it seems that Hitler or Goebbels or some other leader organizes a huge parade and military demonstration, at which fiery speeches are made. We hear of soldiers and arms and soldiers and arms. War, war, war. Fight, fight, fight. That's the theme song of Nazi Germany.

Here we have an ideal setting for another world outbreak. France is prepared as never before and is taking no chances. Looking back, we remember that all of us criticized France for going forward with intensive preparedness programs and arming more and more heavily. We felt then that France was too nervous about a possible German menace. Yet today, one must confess that the policy of the French war party was not such a bad one. For here we have a Hitler who has so aroused and misled the present generation which knew little or nothing of the last war, that only a miracle can avoid a repetition of 1914. Where the first blow will be struck no one can tell. What will cause the war no one can say. It may come as did the last one, from the assassination of a minor ruler. But unless something is done drastically, to bring some degree of sanity to the German people, we cannot see how the world is to be saved from another war.

America Resents Exported Hitlerism

BITTER resentment against the policies of the Reich government, especially those aimed at the rights of labor and of the Jews, was unleashed last week in two pivotal cities in the United States by two powerful organizations meeting in convention.

The American Legion, meeting in Chicago, and the American Federation of Labor, meeting in Washington, which together represent a membership of at least seven or eight million persons, considered or passed resolutions assailing Germany's chancellor and his repressive measures. Pressure is being brought to have both bodies join the boycott of German goods and there is every indication that they will do so.

The Legion's criticism of the Hitler regime, although confined to its activities in the United States which have the obvious intention of winning support for the Nazi party, has been established as veiling unspoken condemnation of the Jewish persecutions.

The resolution is prefixed with a statement declaring that one of the basic principles that prompted entrance into the World War was to protect minority groups from tyranny and oppression.

The committee on resolutions of the American Federation of Labor was presented with resolutions demanding immediate action in the form of a boycott and otherwise, against the Hitler government, widely labeled as the enemy of world peace.

These resolutions included one introduced by Florence C. Hanson and Selma M. Borchardt, delegates from the Federation of Teachers, pledging backing for an economic fight on Hitlerism.

A second resolution, introduced by R. Suny, a delegate of Cleaners, Dyers, Spotters and Pressers Union No. 18223, charged that the "bloody barbaric dictatorship of Hitler is doing its utmost to develop race hatred, anti-Semitism and nationalism which is causing to gather faster the war clouds in Europe and brings closer the danger of a world war."

A third resolution was introduced by John N. Spearing, delegate from the Central Labor Union, Jacksonville, Florida. This would have all central labor unions display in their meeting halls portraits of Samuel Gompers, a Jew, who was the first president of the American Federation of Labor and who served for more than 40 years in this capacity until his death in 1924. The Federation dedicated a memorial to the late labor leader Thursday.

Meanwhile the Federation proper listened for about an hour to an address by James Rowan, one of the two delegates to the convention representing the British Trade Union Congress. The address which was couched in scathing language erased whatever illusions possibly remained in the minds of attending labor leaders about the Hitlerite persecutions.

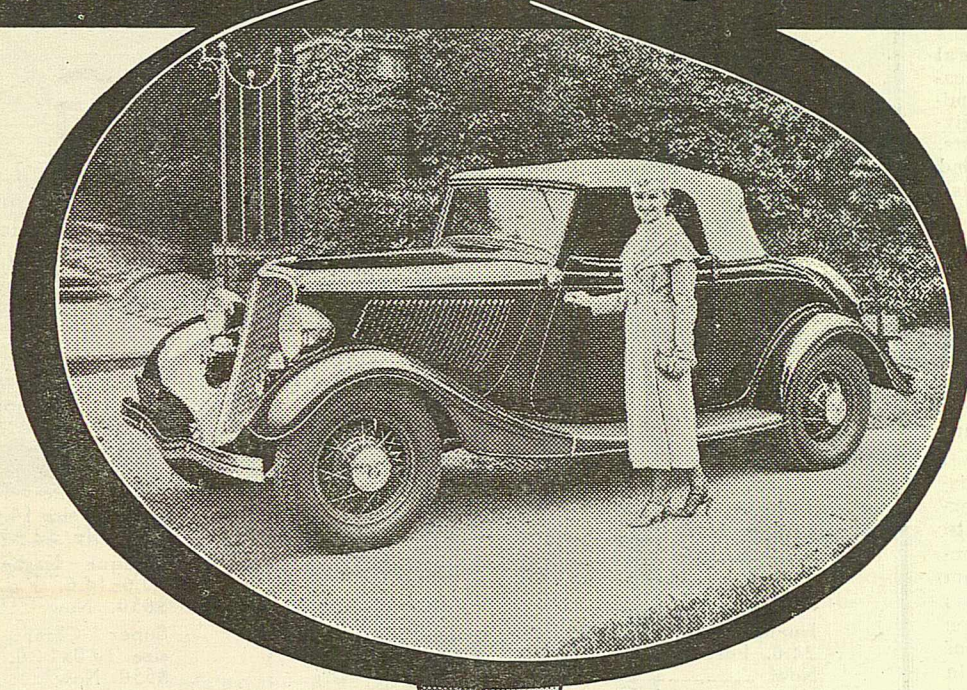

Using crushing evidence which described the outrageous brutality being practiced against both Jews and Communists, particularly Jews, Mr. Rowan asserted that the success of Hitler's regime is due to a "conspiracy on the part of the former ruling class of Germany to regain power they lost when they lost the war."

He decried the fact that no nation has yet broken off diplomatic relations with the Reich government although every principle of freedom and humanity has been violated. The Advocate.

FOLLOW FORD TO THE "8"

IN 1925 there were eighteen 8-cylinder cars made in the United States. Today there are twenty-six. Next year there will be more.

95% of all cars that have finished among the first ten at Indianapolis since 1919 have been eights. The Ford V-8 not only won the recent Elgin road race with an average speed of 80.22 M. P. H.—it took the first seven places with stock cars.

The trend is toward the "8"! And there is a good reason for it. Slip into the new Ford V-8 and find out for yourself. Here is a combination of power, pick-up, smoothness and flexibility never possible before in a low priced car.

What's more—it's performance plus economy. 18 to 22 miles to the gallon, low oil consumption, and lowest cost of replacement parts of any car on the market.

There will be more eights! Ford has taught America the thrill of real 8-cylinder motoring. Buy a Ford V-8 and your car won't be out-dated next year.

Classes Start Monday Night in Isaac Seder Educational Center

With a list of courses that rivals many a small university the Isaac Seder Educational Center makes its bow to the public this year. Organized almost eight years ago, the Isaac Seder Educational Center became one of the foremost adult educational units in this territory. Over 3,000 students have attended its various courses which have always been conducted on an extremely high academic plane.

Leading educators from the various universities have been engaged to give courses. Practically every instructor connected with the school is recognized as an authority in his or her field and is eminently qualified to teach mature students. Following are the members of the faculty. Henrietta Chotiner, Dr. Israel Eitan, Israel A. Abrams, Dr. Herman Hailperin, Professor Samuel Rosenberg, Professor Max Schoen, J. Fred Lissfelt, Harvey B. Gaul, Karl Heinrich, Mme. Susan Karpova, Genevieve Jones, Mme. G. Yagodkin, M. P. Rashevsky, Wolfgang B. Sholz, Theresa Kahn, Frances Heckert, Professor George Carver, Professor Frederick P. Mayer, Milton Susman, Dr. H. W. Schoenberger, Dr. Nathan Miller, Dr. Robert T. Hance, Dr. Lawrence F. Shaffer, Dr. A. L. Robinson and Dr. George Hatfield.

The curriculum, which comprises studies in every field of the liberal arts, offers opportunities for education unparalleled in the history of similar institutions. Courses will be given in painting and drawing, the arts, music, social sciences, English and literature, languages and Jewish studies.

The novel feature this year is the requirement that every student take at least four hours of work, while the tuition fee has been kept low enough to accommodate everyone who is really interested in study. For an initial fee of $5.00 any member of the "Y" may take four subjects of one hour each or two subjects of two hours each.

Classes begin October 16th. Registration is being conducted daily, except Saturday, from 10:00 A. M. to 10:00 P. M. Classes will meet on Monday and Wednesday evenings from 8:00 to 10:00 for 20 sessions unless otherwise specified. Any group of men or women in Pittsburgh, 18 years of age or over, may organize a class in any other subject not listed, provided the subject and instructor meet with the approval of the executive director.

Milton Susman, local attorney, will act as registrar and administrative director for the educational department. Students who are interested are requested to consult with Mr. Susman any evening at the "Y."

The "Y" desires especially to call attention to the Jewish studies. Emphasis is being placed this year upon classes in Jewish subjects and a strong list of courses given by well known teachers has been prepared. With world Jewry facing a problem which calls for a thorough knowledge of Jewish affairs and Jewish history on the part of every Jew, the "Y" urges the importance of enrolling for these courses.

Under the heading of art classes will be given painting and drawing under Samuel Rosenberg and also a course entitled Art and Beauty, which is a history of esthetics by Professor Max Schoen. In the department of music will be included the Choral Society under Harvey B. Gaul, and a course in music appreciation by J. Fred Lissfelt. In the department of dancing a strong faculty has been gathered together including Karl Heinrich, Mme. Susan Karpova and Genevieve Jones. Ballet dancing, interpretive, and elements of the modern dance as well as a special course in rhythmic form will be given.

In the languages the Isaac Seder Center offers elementary French, advanced French, elementary Russian and elementary German.

Under the heading of English and Literature, Miss Theresa Kahn will give a course in public speaking, Miss Frances Heckert will conduct a clinic course in speech defects, Professor George Carver will teach English composition and English literature, Professor Frederick P. Mayer will give a course in the modern novel, and Milton Susman will present the contemporary theatre. In the second semester Dr. H. W. Schoenberger will add a course in the American drama.

One of the strongest departments in the curriculum is social sciences. Dr. Max Schoen will give The Ways of Thought, a course which analyzes various forms of creative thinking; Dr. Nathan Miller will give a most interesting course on sex, religion and race and also the economics of social reform; Dr. Robert T. Hance, of the University of Pittsburgh, will give a course entitled Biology and Human Affairs, and Dr. Lawrence F. Shaffer, of Carnegie Institute of Technology, will give a course in personality and social adjustment.

Special courses will be given as follows: Chemistry for the layman, by Dr. A. L. Robinson, a course designed for those without previous training in chemistry to enable them to better understand the materials with which they come in contact in daily life. In the second semester, Dr. George Hatfield will give a lecture course on historic personalities.

Further information will be given gladly either over the telephone, Mayflower 6500, or by Mr. Susman, Registrar at the "Y."

Dr. Alexander Silverman Lectures on Glass

On Thursday evening, October 12, Dr. Alexander Silverman, head of the department of chemistry, University of Pittsburgh, addressed the Pittsburgh branch of the League for the Hard of Hearing on "The Lure of Glass." On November 9, Professor Silverman will address the Rhode Island Section of The American Chemical Society at Providence on "Glass: Today and Tomorrow." On the following evening he will address the Massachusetts section in Boston on the same topic. On December 11, he will speak before the Sewickley Valley Women's Club on "Glass Collecting as a Hobby."

W. I. L. Delegates Attend Regional Conference at Swarthmore College

Pittsburgh delegates to the regional conference of the Women's International League for Peace and Freedom being held at Swarthmore College, Philadelphia, over the week end, are Mrs. Charles Reizenstein, Mrs. Joseph Silberstein, Mrs. Charles Bray, Mrs. Herman Peter and Mrs. Mary Lang. David Silvette Has Painting In International Exhibit

David Silvette, 24 year old painter and the youngest ever to show a painting in the International Art Exhibit, is coming to Pittsburgh next week to be present at the opening of the exhibition, on Wednesday, October 18, when he will present to the public a picture which he calls "Agitators," showing the rebellion of the "poor white" of the South and the long suffering Negro against the social and economic burden which oppresses them.

Mr. Silvette lives in Richmond, Virginia, the son of Ellis Silvette, who is very well known in Pittsburgh, having painted portraits of many prominent persons, among them the late Thomas A. Edison, and Governor J. G. Pollard of Virginia. Young Mr. Silvette studied with his father, with Cecilia Beaux and Charles W. Hawthorne, and when he was in this city five years ago and visited the International Exhibit in the Carnegie Institute, he determined at that time he would some day have a representation there also. In 1930, he won a $1,000 competition for painting the Virginia State Capitol, and in 1931 he was awarded that portrait as well as the E. V. Valentine prize, by the Richmond Academy of Arts. He was also the winner of the $1,000 William A. Clark prize in the Corcoran Gallery show, and a bronze medal.

Upon Mr. Silvette's arrival in this city, he will be guest of Dr. Milton Goldsmith of Beacon Street.

Orthodox Synagogues Plan National Recovery Drive

New York.—Plans for a national conference and scores of local mass meetings to sponsor a religious recovery drive to strengthen the financial structure of the more than 2,300 Orthodox Jewish congregations in the United States have been announced by Rabbi Herbert S. Goldstein, honorary president of the Union of Orthodox Congregations, and acting chairman of the Religious Reconstruction Fund Committee. The campaign, to be carried on by a national committee of 1,000 lay and rabbinical leaders, calls for a per capita tax of one dollar on every member of an Orthodox congregation, which on the basis of a national membership of 1,200,000 would provide a fund of $1,200,000 for the maintenance of synagogues and Jewish educational institutions.

A. F. L. Cheers Promise of Ringing Denunciation of Nazi Persecution

Washington.—After cheering James Rowan, delegate of the British Trades Union Congress, for denouncing Hitler as a tyrant, the opening session of the annual convention of the American Federation of Labor gave William Green, its president, a lengthy ovation, when he promised that the Federation would "adopt a stirring, ringing declaration of protest against the persecution of our trade unionists in Germany and against the persecution of the Jewish people in that distressed land." It is expected that the Federation will adopt resolutions calling for an anti-German boycott and for moral assistance to the victims of the Nazi regime.

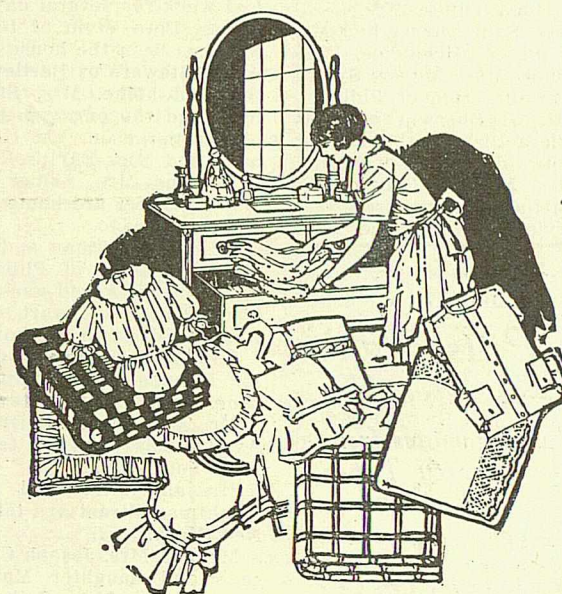

Provide Death Penalty for Publication of Anti-Nazi Literature

Berlin.—Publication of "treasonable" articles abroad or introducing them into Germany will henceforth be punishable by death by the terms of a Nazi cabinet decree which ended what little was left of the freedom of the press. The decree was part of the new national press law which provided that all editors (under Nazi law this means all employees of any magazine, newspaper or periodical) must be Aryans, in possession of all civic rights and must be married to Aryans. The object of the death provision is to prevent the smuggling into Germany of anti-Nazi literature from abroad, a tremendous amount of which has been bootlegged into the country.

Her long tulle veil was arranged in cap effect with clusters of orange blossoms, and she carried a bouquet of gardenias and lilies of the valley. There were no attendants. Mr. Robert Krauskoff of Milwaukee served as best man.

Mrs. Jackson, mother of the bride, wore a gown of turquoise blue satin trimmed with brown velvet and a shoulder corsage of orchids.

The decorations throughout the home were carried out with autumn flowers, and covers were laid for thirty-five guests at the dinner which supplemented the ceremony. Tall white tapers and yellow flowers formed the table decorations and covers were laid for thirty-five guests.

Following an eastern wedding trip, Dr. and Mrs. Schuster will be at home in the Fairfax Apartments, Philadelphia.

Louis K. Anspacher to Address Council

"The Spirit of Modern Drama" will be the subject of a lecture to be given by Louis K. Anspacher, eminent poet and philosopher, at the opening meeting of Pittsburgh Section, National Council of Jewish Women, on Tuesday, October 24, at one-forty-five o'clock at the Y.

In his lecture, Dr. Anspacher, a member of the lecture staff of the League for Political Education, New York, will discuss the theatre through the perspective of our most significant plays, believing that the theatre is a faithful mirror of modern life.

It is Council's custom to invite its friends as well as its members to the opening meeting. The community will undoubtedly appreciate the opportunity to hear a lecturer whose pronouncements are regarded as authoritative by critics and students of the drama and whose reputation as a speaker is preeminent.

Council's new administration under the presidency of Mrs. Charles B. Buerger extends a cordial invitation to members and non-members to share in a delightful afternoon and to greet the new officers in the social hour which will follow the program.

Individual exhibits, symbolizing the work of every committee in Council, will be shown under the direction of Mrs. Morris Balter, and will be one of the interesting features of the afternoon.

Bridge Benefit for Scholarship Fund

The Schenley Hotel will be the scene of the first benefit bridge to be given by the Scholarship Fund of Pittsburgh Section on Monday, October 30, at two o'clock. The bridge is being planned to enable the Scholarship Fund to continue aiding worthy Jewish students by paying part of their college tuition.

Mrs. Maurice Davis, chairman of the bridge, will be assisted by the following aides: Vice chairman, Mrs. A. Blumenthal; treasurer, Mrs. Oscar Oppenheimer; reservations, Mrs. Harold Goldstein; hostesses, Mrs. A. M. Hast; printing, Mrs. Jay Feldstein; publicity, Mrs. Aaron Jaffee; supplies, Mrs. Max Spann; cigarettes, Mrs. Hyman Rogal; and Mrs. Samuel S. Cohen, chairman of the ticket committee, will have as her vice chairmen Mrs. Edgar Lewin and Mrs. Julian Kimmelsteil.

Child Study Class

The Child Study class of Pittsburgh Section will open its series of lectures for the year 1933-34 on Tuesday, October 17, at 2:00 P. M. at the Y., when Dr. William T. Root, head of the psychology department, University of Pittsburgh, will lecture on "The Importance of Incidental Training." Mrs. Maurice Davis, chairman, extends a cordial invitation to Council members and their friends, this being the only open meeting of the entire season.

Garden Club

The initial meeting of the Garden Club of Pittsburgh Section will be held on Thursday, October 19, at two o'clock, at the Y. Mrs. A. Cass Sunstein, chairman, announces that Stanley W. Leonard of the firm of Elliott and Leonard, landscape architects, will lead the class.

The plan of this group is to arouse and stimulate interest in gardening and to give advice to amateurs who have gardens on their own grounds.

Council members and their friends are invited to the opening meeting.

Drama Class

The first meeting of the drama class, under the chairmanship of Mrs. A. Leo Weil, Jr., will be held on Friday, October 20, at 2:15 P. M., at the Y. M. and W. H. A. Elmer Kenyon, head of the department of drama of the Carnegie Institute of Technology, will again lead the class, and in his series of six lectures on the American drama will deal with groups of plays that are representative of the theatre in attitude, type and spirit.

For his first lecture, Mr. Kenyon has selected the following: "The Contrast," by Royal Tyler; "Fashion," by Anna Cora Mowatt; "A Glance at New York," by Benjamin Baker; and "The Octoroon," by Dion Boucicault. This meeting is open to non-members as well as members.

Paid Up Membership Party

The cabaret party for paid-up Junior Council members will be held Monday evening, October 30, at seven o'clock, at the Georgian Room, Webster Hall. A full course dinner will be served with more courses than Bobby Jones has played on, and food rivaling Delmonico's. Assessment is $1.00.

The cabaret affair must be described in superlatives. There's no theme to tax the brain, but an onslaught of blues singers and tap-dancers, pony choruses and skits, elaborate costumes and bizarre lighting effects, and, it goes without saying, a good time for everybody.

Belle Roman, chairman of the dramatic group of Council, is in charge of production. Between rehearsals she has taken time to draw a breath and announce that it's going to be a darn good show, but she won't divulge another thing. Hilda Rubin is in charge of dancing; Rosalie Goldstein, lyrics; Blanche Zweig and Jeanette Weinthal, music; Belle Fineman, invitations; and Sara Josselson, publicity. The complete cast has not yet been announced.

Members who wish to attend should call Dorothy Glass, Hazel 8041, for reservations, and mail checks to her at 5432 Bartlett Street.

Educational Department Presents Well-rounded Program

Miss Belle Lewin, chairman of the department of education, has announced the schedule of activities which this department will offer this year. The outlook for this season is very optimistic, for the various groups under the leadership of their chairmen are busy making final arrangements for a very full program.

Such interesting trips as a visit to the International Art Exhibit, a tour of one of the Pittsburgh steel mills, and several other interesting and worthwhile meetings are being planned by the study group, under the chairmanship of Miss Flora Koch.

A music group is being organized by Mrs. Theodore Abrams. This is a new field in Council activities and should find a welcome among the Juniors. Tentative plans have been made for a musicale tea to be held in conjunction with the study group. Anyone desiring to make suggestions as to program material for this group should get in touch with the chairman.

The highly successful Book Forum, which was organized last year, started with an exceptionally interesting meeting Tuesday evening, October 10, at the Y. Miss Nancy Newman reviewed and led a discussion on "The Store" by T. S. Stribling. Miss Evelyn Vatz, chairman of this group, is assisted by Miss Eleanor Amdur, Miss Helen Ginsburg, Miss Nancy Newman, and Miss Mildred Baringoltz.

The department of religious education, with Miss Mildred Colker as chairman, has made arrangements through the courtesy of the Rodef Shalom Temple for enrollment of Junior Council members in Rabbi Glazer's Thursday evening Bible classes.

The drama group is being reorganized under the leadership of Miss Belle Roman and plans for reading and studying plays have been made. This department will endeavor to have programs ready for Council at any time and at present its members are cooperating with the program chairman for the membership party to be held October 30. All Council members interested should call Belle Roman, Montrose 4520, for information.

Ladies' Hospital Aid SocietyThirty-Fifth Anniversary Celebration

Every effort is being made by the Ladies' Hospital Aid Society to gather under one roof all the charter members of the organization in honor of its thirty-fifth anniversary, which will be celebrated on Thursday, October 26, at two o'clock at the Y. M. and W. H. A.

Mrs. Morris Balter,
Chairman of Program

Thirty-five years ago! Long before many of its present members were born. Not all of that original group are still with the group, but those who are and are still living in Pittsburgh are looking forward to this event with great eagerness and poignancy.

Mrs. Barnett Davis was the first president of the Ladies' Hospital Aid Society and Mrs. William Wolk, first vice president. Both Mrs. Davis and Mrs. Wolk will participate actively in this party, and in addition a really delightful and fitting program has been arranged by Mrs. Morris Balter, chairman of the program committee.

The artists who will perform on this occasion are Mrs. Edith Canter Lazear, dramatic soprano, accompanied by Miss Emma Finkelpearl, and Milton Thomas, accompanied by Mr. Ralph Lewando.

Of course, there will be a huge cake with the appropriate number of birthday candles. The guests of honor will cut the cake and receive the other guests, among whom will be daughters and possibly grand-daughters of these charter members, for the high-minded efforts of the older women have acted as a guide and inspiration for the younger members of the community.

Members and friends of the Ladies' Hospital Aid Society are cordially invited to attend this birthday party on October 26 at the "Y."

Pittsburgh Chapter of Hadassah
Hadassah's Cultural Program

In a powerful sermon during the recent high holidays, one of our rabbis made the statement that the most tragic aspect of the Jewish plight in Germany was the fact that many of the individuals who are being sacrificed in the Hitler campaign against Jews are ignorant of the very simplest fundamentals of Judaism. These perplexed and persecuted Jews in many cases, have not even the comfort of understanding and appreciation of the true essence of Jewishness. These have avowedly been subordinated to the primary business of becoming completely Germanized, a process as faulty in intention as in accomplishment.

In the light of the present conflagration, it is evident that there is no Royal Road to peaceful living for Jews that does not include a proper interpretation of that which is basically Jewish, both as to religion and special history. Out of a study of both emerges that spiritual quality which must remain, to many the supreme justification of the tenacity with which the Wandering Jew clings to his place in the family of nations. The pursuit of that understanding must be one of the chief objectives of Jewish organization life. And it is on this assumption that Hadassah dedicates a good portion of its effort to a cultural program that is specifically Jewish in character.

For the coming season Hadassah's cultural activities will be in the hands of Mrs. I. H. Levin and Mrs. I. B. Kreimer. Numerous study groups have been organized and others are being organized. They are all open to every interested Jewish woman, whether she be Hadassah member or not. Meetings will take place in the homes of members, and will be regularly announced. The Squirrel Hill Sabbath Cultural Group, resuming a course of instructive afternoons will open the season on Saturday, October 14, in the home of Mrs. Joseph Malakoff, 1667 Beechwood Boulevard at 2:15 o'clock. Mrs. I. B. Kreimer will discuss Feuchtwanger's "Josephus," and Miss Flora Snyder will present a survey of highlights of the Jewish year. Mrs. M. J. Josephson is in charge of hospitality for the afternoon.

Board Meeting

On Tuesday at 10 A. M., the board will meet at the Y. Mrs. J. H. Marcus announces new appointments as chairman: Mrs. Adolph Berkowitz, social affairs, and Mrs. Benjamin Stein, clipping bureau.

Benefit Movie

In order to facilitate the distribution of tickets for the benefit movie, on Sunday evening, October 29, at the Fulton Theatre, Mrs. Fred Madebach, general chairman, will be assisted by district ticket chairmen as follows: Mrs. J. Hebrew Education Canvass to be Inaugurated in East End

The B'nai Israel Hebrew Institute enrollment committee has worked out a plan and designated committees for a thorough canvass for Hebrew education in East End. A careful checkup of the Jewish children in East End has shown that there are several hundred Jewish children who do not attend a daily Hebrew school. The parents of these children will be visited and be interviewed by the committees. They will also be acquainted with the purpose of the Hebrew school and asked to enroll their children at the earliest time.

The canvass will start on October 15, and will continue for two weeks. All information regarding hours of instruction and program will be furnished by the committee or by calling at the School, 327 N. Negley Avenue, Mo. 0725.

Panic-Stricken Roumanian Jews Flee Villages Because of Nazi Terror

Bucharest.—Panic stricken over the widespread anti-Semitic agitation in the provinces of Roumania which is daily increasing in intensity, hundreds of Jews in the towns and villages have been abandoning their business and homes and seeking the comparative safety of the larger cities. The flight of these terrorized Jews results from the ruthless anti-Jewish boycott agitation being promoted by the Cuzists and their Nazi allies. The situation has become so menacing that the Jewish National Party has called a special conference to deal with it and to consider the alleged responsibility of the government. The conference will probably draft a memorandum to be presented to parliament. The alarm of the Jewish populace was further enhanced by the action of the annual conference of German societies in Transylvania which pledged its support to Hitlerism.

Nazi Subsidized Cuzists Renew Anti-Semitic Drive in Roumania

Bucharest.—With the aid of substantial financial subsidies from Nazi sources, the anti-Semitic Cuzist party has renewed its anti-Jewish agitation on a wide scale throughout Roumania. Thousands of anti-Semitic leaflets have been circulated in the provincial towns. As a result of this propaganda, led by teachers, war veterans and certain priests, the Jews of the villages are already being terrorized by newly organized bands of Roumanian Nazi storm troopers. The Cuzists and the Germans in Roumania are cooperating in this propaganda campaign. The anti-Semitic circulars demand that the government oust all Jews and turn their property over to the Roumanian peasants.

Charity Groups Willed $425,000 by Mrs. Stern

New York.—Mrs. Madeline Schafer Stern, widow of Benjamin Stern, former president of Stern Bros. department store, bequeathed $425,000 to charity under the terms of her will filed for probate last Monday. Mrs. Stern died on September 24 at her apartment at the Drake, 440 Park Avenue.

Mr. Stern, who died on March 8, left virtually his entire estate to his wife, with power of distribution of it by her will. He provided that in case she failed to make a will disposing of the estate he left to her, $425,000 was to go to charity. She executed a will and carried out his wishes.

The specific bequests follow:

$25,000—Federation for the Support of Jewish Philanthropic Societies. Mount Sinai Hospital. Free Synagogue Child Adoption Committee. Stony Wold Sanatorium. Committee for the Care of the Jewish Tabernacle, Inc. Maternity Centre Association.

$25,000—Jewish Social Service Association. New York Eye and Ear Infirmary. Convalescent Home of Hebrew Children. New York Institution for the Instructions of the Deaf and Dumb. Lenox Hill Hospital. Montefiore Hospital for Chronic Diseases. Henry Street Settlement.

$15,000—Beth Israel Hospital Association.

$10,000—New York Polyclinic Medical School and Hospital. Colored Orphan Asylum and Association for the Benefit of Children.

SANITARY—COURTEOUS SERVICE

Portion of Address Delivered by Rabbi Samuel M. Gup, Temple Israel, Before the Ohio Conference Methodist Episcopal Church

The following is a portion of the address which was delivered before the Ohio Methodist Episcopal Conference recently by Rabbi Samuel M. Gup, of Temple Israel of Columbus, Ohio. Eight hundred ministers and eight hundred laymen were present, most of them Christian, and this talk, which was an appeal for sympathetic and cooperative understanding on the part of this group toward the Jews in Germany, met with a very hearty response.

I urge you to have regard for the tragic plight of a people who have for two thousand years lived in the black shadows of persecution. Despite their contributions, past and present, to the moral and cultural progress of civilization, and despite their heroic devotion to the nobilities of prophetic religion, they are still the game of bigotry and intolerance. I appeal to you, as Christian men and women, as representatives of a great and noble Church, to give the Jew the comfort of your help and the assurance of your brotherly love. Will you not take to heart the predicament of this innocent and helpless people?

In our country an organized propaganda against the Jew is raising its poisonous head. Sponsored and abetted by a foreign government, evidence of this growing anti-Semitic activity are seen in the foundation of a Nazi press, in periodicals, books and addresses, which are the product of the subsidized agents of that government. I need hardly tell you that all the charges and accusations they set forth are a vicious and stupid fabrication. Nevertheless, words once uttered cannot be retracted, they worm their way into the minds of people and all too soon become the roots of an open attitude of hatred and discrimination.

What that government is attempting to do in our country, it has already succeeded in doing, to a horrible extent, in its own land. It is depriving the Jew of the means of livelihood, it has disfranchised him, it means to exterminate him, and these measures are an official decree of the government itself. There the Jew has been made the scape-goat of the ills which have afflicted the German people since the War. Although the Jews of Germany number 600,000, one percent of the whole population, they are held accountable for the defeat of Germany, her territorial losses and economic distress, and this, despite the fact that 12,000 Jews laid down their lives in defense of their Fatherland during the Great War. We are witnessing the unspeakable horror of prejudice run mad.

The cry is "Germany must be purged of the Semite and every influence Semitic. Aryanism shall prevail." To proceed to the full length of this philosophy consistently and logically is to rid Germany of much more than its Jewish inhabitants and the books of German Jews. It is to forget that the Gospel, than which nothing sweeter, gentler, tenderer in all the world, has emanated from the Jew. It is to destroy the tablets of Sinai and the personality of Bethlehem. It is to rid the land of Moses, the Law giver, and Jesus, the humanitarian, both Semites. Neither Mary, the mother of Jesus, nor John, his well beloved disciple, nor Simon, nor any of the twelve Apostles, were of Aryan descent. To establish a pure Aryanism is to remove the statues of Jesus from their bases and to set up in their stead the old Aryan gods of Zeus, Odin and Perun of the Golden Beard. To de-semitize the German people is to turn the clock backward to the days of the primitive beginning of civilization.

I call upon you, servants of the Most High, to expose the fallacy of such anthropological speculation. I call upon you to lay bare the infamy of such reasoning. In respect to the Jew, the application of this theory has visited upon him indescribable cruelty. Once a Jew was nailed to the Cross and crucified and now many are meeting their death; if not immediate death, the long drawn out hurt and agony of a policy of pitiless hate and repression.

Anti-Semitism is wrong. It is morally indefensible. Its existence is the symptom of a diseased civilization. It is a contagion which works frightful havoc both with the hater and the hated. If only for the sake of the moral advance of mankind, it must be treated and blotted out. Upon none does this responsibility rest more heavily than upon the teachers of religion. In the interest of fair play and in the hope of a redeemed humanity may your hearts respond to this plea.

FUND FOR DETROIT JEWISH CHARITIES CREATED IN MENDELSON WILL

Selection of Institutions to Be Made by Justice Henry M. Butzel and Fred M. Butzel; Capitalist's Total Charitable Bequests Amount to $350,000

Unusual interest has been aroused in the filing of the will of Aaron Mendelson, prominent Detroit capitalist. Mr. Mendelson's will leaves bequests to charity amounting to $380,000.

$250,000 Memorial Trust

After leaving trust estates for his grandchildren and making several minor bequests, the will directs that the residue of his estate shall go to his son, Herbert A. Mendelson, and his daughter, Mrs. Gladys M. Kuhn. The son, Fred M. Butzel and Harry L. Winston are named as executors.

The chief charity bequest is a trust fund of $250,000 to be known as the Aaron Mendelson Memorial Trust. It is to be disbursed by his son and daughter, Butzel and Winston, as trustees. The income and principal are to be disbursed to charitable, benevolent and educational uses. The trustees are to select the purposes for which the money is to be used. The entire fund is to be dissipated within 25 years.

The Detroit Old Newsboys Goodfellows Fund will receive $250 a year from a trust also instituted by the will. The principal is $2,500, to be invested in government securities by his son, Butzel and Winston. The income and principal are to be used for the Goodfellows until the entire amount is dissipated.

Another $2,500 fund is created to be administered by Fred M. Butzel and Dr. Hugo Freund, for the purpose of aiding in the care or cure of tuberculosis patients.

$50,000 for Jewish Charities

The will also creates two other trust funds for charity, each for $50,000. The one is to be known as the Jennie Grogan Mendelson Memorial Fund, in memory of his wife. It is to be used in aiding blind persons and for the purpose of preventing blindness. Trustees are the same as for the larger fund.

The second $50,000 fund is created for the benefit of Jewish charitable, benevolent or educational organizations. The same trustees will administer it and selections of worthy organizations are to be made by Justice Henry M. Butzel and Fred M. Butzel.

Three Jews Seek Same Office in New York Political Campaign

New York.—As a result of the three-cornered political fight for the mayoralty of New York created by the candidacy of Joseph V. McKee as an independent candidate, the Jewish community is presented with the unprecedented spectacle of three outstanding Jewish leaders opposing each other for the presidency of the board of aldermen. Maldwin Fertig is the regular Democratic candidate. Bernard F. Deutsch is the Fusion nominee and Nathan Straus, Jr., is McKee's running mate.

STANLEY THEATRE

Scene from "Footlight Parade"

"Footlight Parade," with Dick Powell, Ruby Keeler, James Cagney and Joan Blondell, as well as 300 of Hollywood's most beautiful show girls, is the attraction now playing at the Stanley Theatre. There are five big spectacle scenes and five song hits that already have become famous over the radio. "Footlight Parade" opened at the Strand Theatre in New York last week where it broke the records of the previous Warner musicals, "42nd Street" and "Gold Diggers of 1933." It is a much different musical than the previous shows.

WARNER AND SHERIDAN SQUARE
THEATRES

"Saturday's Millions," the year's first big football picture from the Saturday Evening Post story by Lucian Cary, is now showing at the Warner Theatre, downtown, and the Sheridan Square Theatre in East Liberty. The principal players are Robert Young, Andy Devine, Leila Hyams and the All-American football stars of last season. "Saturday's Millions" is one football story in which the hero doesn't win the game by a touchdown in the last few seconds of plays; in fact, the hero of this one loses his own game.

DAVIS THEATRE

"Midshipman Jack" with Bruce Cabot, Florence Lake, of the Edgar Kennedy comedies, and Betty Furness, is the current attraction at the Davis Theatre. It shows the color and glamour of the United States Naval Academy and the little romance between Bruce Cabot and Miss Furness. Scenes were actually filmed at the Academy with the permission of the United States Government. The remainder of the program is built up of short films, newsreels and novelty films.

ENRIGHT THEATRE

"I Loved a Woman" with Kay Francis and Edward G. Robinson has two more days of showing at the Enright in East Liberty and on Wednesday with the complete change of program comes "One Sunday Afternoon" with Gary Cooper, Fay Wray, Neil Hamilton and Frances Fuller.

SPRAGUE TERRIERS HAVE NEW KENNELS

The Sprague Terrier Kennels are now located on Nelson Road, Millvale Branch, North Side, having built a very fine new kennel building, inspection of which should prove highly interesting to all dog lovers. They hope here to breed even better wirehair fox terriers than they have in the past, and that is something to aim at. Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Sprague extend a cordial invitation to all their old friends as well as to any who care to view the kennels and their wirehair residents. The kennels are easy to find—either out East Street to Evergreen Road, turning right to the kennels, or out Perrysville Avenue to Ivory Avenue to Nelson Run Road, and turning left.

FULTON THEATRE

Scene from "Disgraced"

"Disgraced!", the story of a woman's fight for love with honor, is at the Fulton Theatre. Helen Twelvetees, wistful blonde star, is cast in the leading role, with Bruce Cabot, Adrienne Ames, William Harrigan and Ken Murray heading the supporting cast.

"Disgraced!" is daringly modern in its theme. Miss Twelvetees, as an attractive model, fascinates Cabot, a wealthy man-about-town. His ardent wooing finally wins her.

Miss Twelvetees keeps this secret courtship from her father, a police captain, who has warned her against men like Cabot. One day she is called upon to model a wedding gown for Miss Ames, who announces her coming marriage to Cabot.

Filled with shame when she realizes Cabot has been deceiving her, Miss Twelvetees faces Cabot with a gun. He struggles with her, locks her in a closet, and calls the police.

Miss Twelvetees' father is assigned to the case. What happens when he learns that the girl is his daughter brings the film to a stirring climax.

NIXON THEATRE

The third and positively last week of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's sensational motion picture, "Dinner at Eight," which has been playing at the Nixon Theatre, will start on Monday afternoon, with two performances daily—2:30 and 8:30 P. M.

"Dinner at Eight" is the talking-picture version of the George S. Kaufman-Edna Ferber stage success which ran on Broadway for more than a year, and has the largest group of stars ever gathered together in the history of motion pictures.

Jean Harlow and Wallace Beery in
"Dinner at Eight"

Including Marie Dressler, John Barrymore, Wallace Beery, Jean Harlow, Lionel Barrymore, Lee Tracy, Edmund Lowe, Billie Burke, Madge Evans, Jean Hersholt, Karen Morley, Louise Closser Hale, Phillips Holmes and May Robson.

VARIETY THEATRE

Mlle. Verne, famous French music hall dancer, who caused a sensation at the Variety theatre last week in a series of dances "ala Sally Rand" has been held over for positively the last week by Manager George Jaffe. Mlle. Verne will be seen twice at each performance of "Parisian Nights" a Frenchy musical comedy, vaudeville and burlesque show, which opens at the Variety Sunday night with a midnight show. Mlle. Verne is making her American debut at the Pittsburgh theater. She recently arrived in New York from Paris where she was a sensation at the Folies Bergere, famous music hall of Paris.

Mlle. Verne is not the only outstanding star with "Parisian Nights." Another young woman of exceptional ability is Helen Windsor, who last season appeared in musical comedy. This young woman is another dancer but entirely different from the French star. Miss Windsor's dances are of the acrobatic kind and some of the fetes she performs are almost unbelievable.

"Parisian Nights" is a well balanced show in two acts and 50 scenes. More than a dozen of the sketches are devoted to musical numbers, but there are plenty of funny bits and sketches to give Eddie Kaplan, chief comic and George Leon and Eddie Lorrain, plenty opportunity for wisecracks and antics.

PROGRAMME ANNOUNCED FOR BOSTON SYMPHONY VISIT

Tchaikovsky's Fifth Symphony in E minor will be a feature of the concert to be given here by the Boston Symphony Orchestra, Dr. Serge Koussevitsky, Conductor, in the Syria Mosque on Friday evening, October 27, at 8:30. The Russian leader has long held a particular fame as the interpreter of the Russian composer, and the Fifth Symphony is considered among Koussevitsky's most vivid and moving interpretations. His performance of this symphony was an outstanding feature of Koussevitsky's guest appearances at the London Music Festival last May.

The programme will open with Mozart's "Fine Kleine Nachtmusik," a serenade for small orchestra, which is considered one of the composers most delightful scores.

The second member will be the Prelude to Moussorgsky's Opera "Khovantchina." Richard Strauss' Tone Poem, "Till Eulenspiegel's Merry Pranks," probably the most famous of the composer's orchestral scores, will also be played.

TECH MEETS NOTRE DAME SATURDAY, OCTOBER 21

One of the outstanding modern football rivalries will be resumed here next Saturday when Carnegie Tech and Notre Dame stage the eleventh renewal of their gridiron series. New interest, from a Carnegie Tech standpoint, has been added to the game because of the apparent Tartan rejuvenation under Howard Harpster, one of the youngest of the major coaches, and the slowness of the Irish to round into their accustomed form.

Carnegie has not captured a decision from the Irish since 1928, Notre Dame having won the intervening games by scores ranging from 7 to 0 in 1929 to 42 to 0 last year, which was one of the worst defeats in Tech's history.

The feeling that Carnegie has a chance this year has boosted ticket sales tremendously, and the only capacity crowd of the year in the local stadium is anticipated next Saturday. Carnegie is basing its hopes on a brilliant rush line that has already proved its mettle against Pop Warner's Temple Owls, and the rapid-striking passing attack which Harpster has developed.

KOCHANSKI PLAYS HERE OCTOBER 20th

Paul Kochanski, the Polish violinist, is the owner of two of the finest violins in the world. When Kochanski opens the sixtieth anniversary season of the Art Society at Carnegie Music Hall next Friday evening, October 20, he will play his famous "Spanish Strad," which was made by Stradivarius especially for the Spanish Crown and dates back to 1687.

Paul Kochanski

Kochanski's other violin is a Guarnerius, purchased in London at a cost of $40,000. It is said to be one of the finest examples of the work of this famous instrument maker, and Kochanski plays first on one and then the other, according to his mood.

Pierre Luboshutz, the well known pianist, will accompany Mr. Kochanski.

SYLVIA GROSSMAN AND ANN ASARCH AT LANDO GRAND THEATRE

Mr. Louis Kramer, producer of fine plays at the Lando Grand Theatre, has proven his experience and breadth of knowledge of the playgoing world in selecting the members of his company at this theatre, in which are included two of the youngest actors on the Yiddish stage—Miss Sylvia Grossman, lovely blonde, who has made her way into the hearts of the Lando Theatre patrons and won much popular acclaim, and Miss Ann Asarch, playing the soubrettes, a dimpled, black haired girl hardly past sixteen, whose sweet voice and clever pantomime have brought her considerable fame.

However, Mr. Kramer has not stopped with the above mentioned, for the entire company is composed of a youthful group of actors who love and know their profession and who have helped Mr. Kramer achieve the success with which he has met in Pittsburgh.

For this Friday, Saturday and Sunday, Mr. Kramer is presenting one of his best comedies, "Yosel Vert a Tate," in which the entire cast appears. This is a most entertaining presentation and will prove highly diverting and worthwhile. In addition, Mr. Max Schwartz has secured a half hour's radio program, which will be broadcast every Sunday from one to one-thirty o'clock by Mr. Kramer and the Lando Yiddish players on Station WWSW.

AMATO TO ARRIVE NEXT WEEK TO SING IN "LA GIOCONDA"

Commander Pasquale Amato, famous grand opera baritone, for years with the late Enrico Caruso of the New York Metropolitan Grand Opera Company, and Giuseppe Creatore, internationally famous conductor and band leader, will arrive in Pittsburgh the early part of next week from New York to take part in the opening of the opera season of this city. The opera season for 1933-1934 will be inaugurated Friday evening at Syria Mosque when the Pittsburgh Metropolitan Grand Opera Company, Inc., presents "La Gioconda" by Amilcare Ponchielli. The following day, Saturday, two operas will be given by the Pittsburgh group. "La Traviata" by Giuseppe Verdi will be given at the matinee performance and in the evening "Norma" by Vincenzo Bellini.

Amato is making a special trip from Milano, Italy, to open the Pittsburgh season. Another international figure due several days later is Creatore. Beloved by patrons of opera here, Creatore is one of the most popular conductors to come to this city.

Mme. Agnes Delorne, prima donna, Rosita Fordieri, Lola Monti Gorsey and other equally well known grand opera artists will be seen here.

DUKES TO PLAY DETROIT

Duquesne will meet Detroit University next Friday evening, October 20, in a stiff game at Forbes Field. The Dukes are putting in some intensive training in preparing for what they expect to be one of the best games of the year. The Detroit University team is coached by Gus Do-rain, former Notre Dame star.

Rabbi Wise Claims Hitler World Menace

New York.—Rabbi Stephen S. Wise, in the first of a series of sermons on Hitlerism before the free synagogues in Carnegie Hall this week, called the so-called Hitler "regime" a "menace already risen" against the peace of the world.

"Another reign of terror is upon the world today," he said. "It has embodied itself in an attack not merely upon Jewry in Germany but upon world Jewry."

"It would be the greatest of mistakes, however, to think that Hitlerism is simply a form of anti-Semitism. No. Hitlerism is a movement of black reaction, against liberalism, internationalism, and peace. The persecution of the Jews is the only promise the Hitler regime could fulfill to the German people."

Referring to what he said was the charge that the Communists in Germany were all Jews, Dr. Wise said:

"At the last election the Communists got 6,000,000 votes. There are only 600,000 Jews in Germany."

Kadoorie to Rebuild Razed Jewish Quarter in Saloniki

Saloniki.—Sir Elie Kadoorie, noted Jewish philanthropist of Shanghai and Bagdad, has announced that he will finance the construction of a Jewish hospital and a Jewish children's home here and will also pay for the reconstruction of the Saloniki Jewish quarter which was destroyed by fire two years ago during the anti-Semitic outbreak.

Harvard Dean Clears Doubt on Nazi Stand

A statement clarifying his views on the Nazi regime in Germany, misunderstanding of which has aroused much criticism here, was issued by Dean Henry W. Holmes, of the Graduate School of Education at Harvard.

"Partly by my own error and partly by accident, I find myself in a position in which I owe it to my Jewish friends to make quite clear the views I hold on the persecution of Jews under the Hitler regime in Germany. I have been represented as condoning it, at least by implication," he declared.

"On the contrary, condemn it completely. The evidence is convincing that what has occurred and what is now occurring in Germany involves racial discrimination and persecution impossible either to condone or to put aside as a merely regrettable incident in a program of national regeneration."

Hear Palestine Will Grant Only 7,000 Certificates to Agency

Jerusalem.—It is reported here that the Palestine government will grant the Jewish Agency only 7,000 immigration certificates for the six months beginning October 1, and ending April 1. The Agency had asked for 25,000 certificates. Figures made public by the department of immigration show that 2,703 Jews entered Palestine in September, 434 of them in the capitalist class.

Oriental Rugs

By N. MONT. WAYNE
Wayne-Weil & Co.

In the many years that I have been selling rugs, I have tried to lay special stress on the fact that the floor covering is the most important feature of the interior decorating requisites.

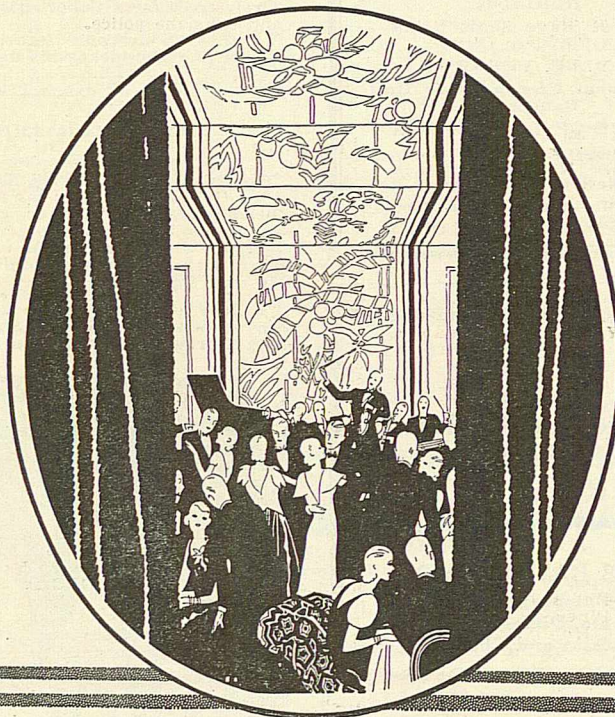

With the foundation of an Oriental rug your floor has the one and only work of art in the carpet line. As time has demonstrated, there has never been anything in the field of floor coverings to replace the masterpieces of the East as a permanent carpet. Others have been tried and found wanting. Fads crop up now and then and pass in a short time, but the Oriental rug seems to have made for itself a place of undying favor.

Perhaps you can look back over a space of time to your mother's home and remember the rug which you used to walk upon and hear your mother say, "This rug I prize for the reason that it came from our own homestead and has an association of memories that I cherish." What but an Oriental rug could last for generations in this way?

When you purchase an Oriental rug it is not essential to pay the highest price to get the finest rug, as most of the Easterners produce some fine rugs. Some weaves are of a finer stitch, however, the master weaver produces fine fabrics whether he be weaving in a coarse or fine weave. The connoisseur can readily detect superior weaving in a rug. If you are purchasing Oriental rugs for the first time it is well to depend, more or less, on the opinion of a reliable dealer. It is never safe to purchase from traveling salesmen. Like all works of art there are wily methods used by unscrupulous dealers, of which there are plenty. This being the case you are wise to patronize a legitimate dealer as he must protect his reputation as well as look after your interests, for as you know, a satisfied customer is the best advertisement a reliable firm can have.

Do not leave your rug selection to the last minute when you are furnishing your home. Do not think that you can go out and get just what you want for this is a false illusion. Go to a man who understands his business, give him your idea of color scheme, and allow him to help you work out a fitting scheme in rugs. You will find that his suggestions may often be quite helpful to you in producing an individual effect in your home. With rugs to build upon, you can readily carry out your color effects in the balance of your interior furnishings. By giving your dealer plenty of time he can usually succeed in finding just the right sizes, which are very often hard to get, and he will secure you rugs that will harmonize in color and design. I again wish to emphasize the fact that it is unwise to leave the selection of your rugs until the last when they play so important a part in the making of an harmonious atmosphere in your home.

DR. J. B. KELLY EXPLAINS BRIEFLY THE PRACTICE OF CHIROPRACTIC

Dr. J. B. Kelly of the Pittsburgh X-Ray and Diagnostic Laboratory at his offices at 402-403 and 404 Liberty Building, 6101 Penn Avenue, East Liberty, where he is working under a registered medical doctor, offers the readers of The Jewish Criterion free consultation. Dr. Kelly is a chiropractic specialist, having graduated from the Universal Chiropractic College of Pittsburgh in 1927. He has pointed out that chiropractic, in its theory and practice, is unlike any other known health system. There is, in fact, no administering of remedies or any therapeutical or surgical procedure, as in the practice of medicine; there is no massage, manipulation, nor any belief in the principles of fluid circulation, of osteopathy.

There is no relation between the theory and practice of chiropractic and that of "suggestive therapeutics," the occultism of "Theosophy," or the mysticism of the so-called "Christian science." All that the art of chiropractic is, or ever has been or can be, is widely different from anything known or used prior to or since its foundation from the principles of the chiropractic science, save only as its constituents have been taken from it and appropriated by and used in the practice of other health forms.

The chiropractor is a person who, after being duly educated in the science of chiropractic and trained in the proper application of the art, uses his bare hands in contact with the various processes of the vertebrae to effect a peculiar adjusting move to realign the subluxated units and release nerve compression. Such adjustments are harmless and leave no ill effects. Sensitive nerves are traced from the spine to affected organs of the body, and in this manner the truth of deductions is proved beyond shadow of a doubt. Chiropractic is in perfect harmony with the inherent forces of the body, and cannot be productive of anything but good under any circumstances.

RADIATOR ENCLOSURES FOR BEAUTY, HEALTH, ECONOMY

Palley Manufacturing Company reminds all home owners that this is the time to take care of all heating problems in anticipation of the coming winter, which it is said will be a very cold one. This is a most opportune time to install the radiator enclosures which mean so much in a home in beauty, cleanliness, and saving of fuel. Radiators are at best a necessary evil, necessary for heating but unsightly, discordant, and accompanied by the inevitable dust which rises with the heated air, blackening walls and draperies and also drying the air. Palley radiator enclosures remove the dust from the heated air, humidifying the air at the same time and thus reducing the frequency of colds and throat trouble. This advantage, besides the saving in cleaning and decorating costs, as well as the proper projection and distribution of heat throughout the room, make these radiator enclosures a most welcome and necessary addition to any home.

Palley Manufacturing Company is located at 1019 Bidwell Street, and estimates will be given and samples shown at any time without any obligation.

EACH PORTRAIT A PRECIOUS POSSESSION

Probably one of the most cherished possessions of any mother is the picture of her child, and the pleasure she derives from the sight of her son's or daughter's likeness is, particularly after the child has grown up and gone its way into the world, to be compared to none other. For this reason alone, if for no other, any reputable studio is kept busy at all times with commissions for wedding photos, baby portraits and mother and father pictures. Strem Studios, located at 205 Professional Building, are making a specialty of fine portraiture. Their pictures have met with great favor, and the studios have earned an excellent reputation in the short time since they opened in this city. They have been doing considerable business in wedding group and bridal pictures particularly, being always ready and willing to send out photographers upon request. The heads of the Strem Studios are Messrs. Thomas and C. W. Strem.

Two Jewish Children Kill Selves in Paris After Anti-Semitic Threats

Two Jewish Children Kill Selves in Paris After Anti-Semitic Threats

Paris—The Jewish community and the Paris press is in a tumult as a result of the suicide of two young Jewish children who had been subjected to cruel anti-Semitic taunts and threats of a death by a local insurance broker. When the news of their suicide became known the League to Combat Anti-Semitism, through the noted attorney, Henri Torres, filed suit against the broker for heavy damages. At the same time a band of anti-Semitic hooligans who clashed with some Jewish young men here left the scene of the fray with battered heads and bloody noses although they outnumbered the Jews ten to one. Four Jews and one anti-Semite were arrested but the former were immediately released.

New York.—Dr. Bela Schick, discoverer of the Schick test for diphtheria by which it is possible to determine whether or not an individual is immune to the disease, will be honored by the medical societies of New York on October 24 in celebration of the twentieth anniversary of the first production of the toxin-antitoxin for the prevention of diphtheria. Memorials signed by thousands of immunized children will be presented to Dr. Schick and to Dr. William H. Park, a pioneer in the work of diphtheria prevention.

Safe Keeping

The Safe Keeping service of the Mellon National Bank provides not only for the custodianship of securities, but for the collection of dividends or interests, and the principal when due or when the securities are called for redemption. Securities may be deposited for a short period such as the duration of a vacation or business trip, or they may be deposited for permanent safe keeping. This service is rendered for a surprisingly small charge.

Fighting the Jewish Case

A number of objections may be raised against a World Jewish Congress. One of the charges would be the Congress will create a new nationalism, which is aggressive instead of self-defensive. A second objection—polemical discussions between the Zionists and the non-Zionists.

It is my conviction that a World Congress does not prejudice the Zionist question. Further the gravity of the situation ought to make it clear that this is no time for competition conflicts, or for priority claims. When the United States was founded there were grave differences of opinion among various factions in this country. Nevertheless, the government of the United States was set up without resolving these differences, with the understanding, however, that a platform would be offered for their discussion and solution. In the new building which we erect, call it Parliament or what you will, departments for Zionists and non-Zionist interests must be provided for.

I saw the preparations for the World Congress three weeks ago in Geneva. It was a very moving hour. Delegates from 20 lands attended, among them very poor people, who spent their last funds to make the long trip. Before me sat an Eastern Jew with a Rembrandtesque face, with his wife. As they could not leave their little girl in their hotel, mother and father took turns in holding the sleeping child while the meeting proceeded. From the platform I heard six languages spoken. None was translated, because all were understood. I compared this with the procedure at the League of Nations, where some of the delegates knew little else than a smattering of languages, have no knowledge of facts and no sentiments—and where every word has to be translated. The Jewish Conference at Geneva is probably the only Conference in the world where the delegates were sufficiently cultured to understand six languages. The Chief Rabbi of Alexandria spoke in Hebrew. I could not understand his words, but I understood him through the medium of his venerable face. I turned and looked at the face of the sleeping girl in the arms of her Russian father. And I thought: She cannot understand because she is still asleep. She is the future. God bless the future of these people.

that her son, the Crown Prince, had committed suicide at Mayerling, she immediately sent for Kathi Schratz so that she would be the first to inform the Emperor and be with him to soften the blow. Likewise when the Empress was assassinated, the Emperor demanded Kathi's immediate return from Bad Gastein.

Thirty years ago Kathi Schratz abandoned the stage. Since that time she had appeared in public only once and that was to take the part of Maria Theresa, the Emperor's ancestor, at his special request. The play, presented at the Burgtheatre where Franz Joseph had first seen Kathi, was the only one which ever had the special supervision of an emperor. Franz Joseph tore himself away from his regal duties to advise and devise costumes, settings and historical details. Pictures of Maria Theresa in the private collection of the Hapsburgs were used for reference. After this performance Kathi Schratz acted only for private gatherings in salons or at the court.

Never self-seeking and never participating in the usual sordid intrigues which agitated the Hapsburg court, Kathi Schratz gained the respect and admiration of the entire Austrian people, which she still retains seventeen years after the death of the Emperor. This same selflessness she still preserves, even now when her fortunes, like those of the ill-fated Hapsburgs, have fallen. Although she has not been a stranger to financial distress since Franz Joseph died, she has persistently refused fabulous offers from American collectors for her invaluable art collection and mementos of Franz Joseph and his reign. Once she agreed to sell some items at a huge price but at the last moment she tearfully rejected the proffered check. She has also refused to write her memoirs and once started suit against an American publisher for bringing out what was purported to be her autobiography. She gives no interviews and shuns the limelight.

Now, in her eightieth year, this bright-eyed, blonde, straight little old lady, whose finely cut face still reveals some of the beauty which charmed the old age of Emperor Franz Joseph, Kathi Schratz, the daughter of a humble Jewish official, lives in quiet and unassuming retirement alone with her memories of the glorious years when she was the confidante and intimate of one of the most magnificent emperors of modern times.

Milan, Italy.—Il Popolo d'Italia, the organ of Premier Mussolini, has extended an indirect invitation to Leon Trotzky to make his home in Italy. BOYCOTT NEWS

The American League for the Defense of Jewish Rights, of which Untermyer is president, and the American Jewish Congress, have definitely reached the parting of the ways on a joint effort for the boycott. Both will go their own way on independent drives . . . Meyer W. Weisgal, dynamic executive director of "The Romance of a People" was offered the job of executive director of the League but turned it down in favor of a long rest after his hectic activities in behalf of the pageant . . . It is rumored that Bernard Stone, once associated with Palestine fund-raising endeavors, will get the job.

BACKSTAGE AT THE PAGEANT

Walter Damrosch, the noted conductor, refused to be guest of honor at one of the performances of the pageant in order not to offend his many German friends . . . Lazar Lipsky, son of Louis, suddenly discovered unsuspected histrionic abilities and is now one of the principals in the pageant . . . Avrum Mathews, star singer of the pageant, has been offered a contract by the Paramount-Public Theatres and may be seen and heard shortly in the principal cities under their auspices.

BELIEVE IT OR NOT

Morris Gest once appeared as a wild man in a cage on Boston Common . . . When Fannie Brice got a $75 a week job in the Follies of 1910 she wore out seven contracts showing them to her friends, and they all were printed on stiff calendar paper (the contracts, not the friends) . . . Sam Shipman, the playwright used to hang out with Maxim Gorki and Leon Trotzky in his youth and the latter once promised to give Sam "Moscow" . . . Ed Wynn's first dramatic role came when he was 16. He impersonated a 70-year-old Methodist minister.

CHAIN LETTER STUFF

The chain letter gag has now been adopted by the anti-Semitic propagandists who are circulating a letter printed on yellow paper, appealing to American gentiles to "hit the Jew wherever you can." The letter is full of vile stuff but it asks those who get it, to copy it twenty times and send it on so that it reaches every part of the United States as quickly as possible . . . Its one significant point is the appeal to boycott Jewish business firms.

MEDICAL BULLETINS

When a man bites a dog it's news . . . But when a mad dog bites Leo-

Tid-Bits From Everywhere

By Phineas J. Biron

pold Godowsky, famous Jewish ivory-tickler, the item gets into the stop-press column . . . Mr. Godowsky is receiving the Pasteur treatment for the prevention of rabies, and this column wishes him a speedy recovery from his injuries . . . Our own Governor Lehman too is getting his share of wishes for a rapid convalescence from his recent illness . . . Sid Franklin, nee Frumkin, the matador who first learned to throw the bull in Brooklyn, is in a Madrid Hospital recuperating from what he hopes is the last of a series of operations necessitated by injuries he suffered some years ago when an infuriated bull gored him . . . Sylvia Sidney, flicker star, also is under the weather . . . It all started with a sore throat she got right here in New York, and she too has been having operations.

THIS 'N' THAT

Remember Theda Bara, the Cincinnati Jewish girl who set the world's record in vamping in the early days of the movie industry? Well, a namesake of hers has proved herself worthy of her moniker by breaking another world's record . . . That was Theda Bara 2nd, a Great Dane bitch, who littered twenty puppies the other day . . . Noel Madison, now playing the title role in the road production of "Counsellor-At-Law," is the son of Maurice Moscovitch, famous British Jewish Thespian . . . A smash hit on Broadway is "As Thousands Cheer," the new musical by Irving Berlin and Moss Hart . . . The opening night, which followed immediately upon Yom Kippur, was a real social event . . . Even Bernard Baruch sought relaxation there after the day's prayer and fasting.

NOTES ON NOTABLES

Billy Dove, cinema beauty, is preparing the dove-cote for a nestling, expected in the Spring . . . Reuben's (from a sandwich to a national institution) is preparing for another kind of blessed event by installing a hugo bar . . . B. Z. Goldberg, one of the editors of The Day, New York Yiddish sheet, rubs shoulders with such celebrities as H. G. Wells, W. Somerset Maugham and Bertrand Russell in the ads of the Star Dollar Books . . . All because B. Z.'s opus "The Sacred Fire" proved to be what readers want . . . Otto H. Kahn seldom appears at first nights these days . . . Samuel Rosoff, the subway builder, is a Kentucky colonel . . . And his middle name, we've just discovered, is Rufus . . . Irving Caesar will be one of the co-authors of the new George White "Scandals" . . . Ben Bernie, who smokes a score of cigars a day, has had to go over to a denicotinized brand . . . On advice of his physician.

BRIEFS

Nathan Straus, Jr., son of the late philanthropist, was picked by Joseph McKee as his running mate on the independent municipal ticket in New York, in order to bolster up McKee's Jewish record which is lamentably weak and which will undoubtedly be attacked during the campaign . . . There are now three Jews seeking the presidency of the board of aldermen, Maldwin Fertig, Tammany nominee, Bernard Deutsch, Fusion candidate, and Straus . . . Arthur Tracy, the "Street Singer" and his missus are having matrimonial difficulties. Mrs. Tracy was married three times before she fell for the "Street Singer," and is said to have a very restless temperament . . . It is said of the late Horace Liveright that because of his generosity writers are now getting better advances and royalties . . . It was not unusual for him to help out needy friends by appointing them "assistants" to various editors and after placing them on the payroll excusing them from any other further duties . . . Ferenc Molnar's first wife, Baroness Margit Mantica Vesci, who is an author of note in her own right and the daughter of Dr. Joseph Vesci, Jewish member of the Hungarian house of Lords, is here to study and write about the NRA for Hungarian papers . . . At a recent dinner in the New York Deutsche Verein in honor of Drs. Keip and Borchers, ex-Nazi consuls in New York and Cleveland, one of the guests was Dr. Paul Schwarz, the German consul in New York who was fired because he was supposed to be unsympathetic to the Nazi regime . . .

His presence at this dinner which was attended by Heinz Spanknoebel and Karl Leudecke, Nazi chieftains, has given rise to the report that Dr. Schwarz is not as unfriendly to Hitlerism as has been believed. . . . Speaking at the reception in honor of Emil Ludwig, Dr. Stephen S. Wise declared that if he were a young Jew and his education depended on German schooling, he would rather remain illiterate, stay in New York and become a New York alderman. . . . This crack brought a visible flush to the face of Bernard Deutsch who is the fusion candidate for president of the board of aldermen.

For the following three months, the I. K. S. is sponsoring a "get acquainted membership" drive. Play Room Opens Little girls between ages of five and fourteen are permitted to make use of the play room which opens on Monday, October 15, at 4 o'clock. There are numerous activities being planned for them; games to play, stories to hear, tell and act out. Be sure to come in and take advantage of this program.

Contemporary Art Center to Have Regular Exhibits at the I. K. S.

On October 16, the Settlement is inaugurating the first of a series of exhibits to be held in the Settlement's main lobby.

Four exhibits are planned for the balance of the year 1933. They will take on the following dates: October 16 through October 28; November 6 through November 18; November 27 through December 9; and December 18 through December 30. The first exhibit will be an oil painting exhibit.

The purpose of these exhibits is educational—to bring the art of the younger Pittsburgh artists and art in general to the attention of the people, and also to aid in our work of raising the standards and values of appreciation of art and of life.

Everyone is cordially invited to view the paintings.

Young Men's and Women's Hebrew Association

"Y" Music Season Starts November 1
With the opening concert only three weeks off the executive committee of the "Y" Musical Society urges all those who are interested to make their reservations at once in order to secure good seats.

The first attraction of the series will be the famous Hindu troop of 16 dancers and musicians headed by that great artist, Uday Shan-Kar. This recital alone is worth the entire membership fee. When one realizes that it is included in a series of six other attractions at the very low price of $3.00, $4.00 and $5.00 for the entire season, the tremendous bargain offered here should appeal to everybody.

The other artists on the program and the dates of their appearances are: November 26, Henry Harris, well known Pittsburgh pianist; December 17, Maria Olszewska, one of the greatest contraltos in the world today; January 14, Frederick Jagel, internationally known tenor with the Metropolitan Opera Company, and March 25, Nathan Milstein, one of the most popular violinists ever to come to Pittsburgh.

Another attraction on the series which should capture everybody's imagination is Poldie Mildner, the seventeen year old Viennese Jewess, who was labeled by New York critics as the "cyclone of the piano," and who will appear here February 18.

Jewish Home for Babies and Children

Board Meeting Notice

A regular board meeting of the officers and directors of the Jewish Home for Babies and Children will be held Tuesday, October 17, at two o'clock sharp, at Kaufmann's private dining room.

Plans for the twenty-first annual dance are to be discussed. The dance will be an event of Wednesday, December 6, at the Syria Mosque. Chairmen and committees will be announced at a later date.

Succoth Bridge Tea

The Succoth bridge party was given on Sunday, October 8, and was attended by a great number of members and friends of the Home. Mrs. M. J. Josephson, chairman, was ably assisted by Mrs. A. H. Weitzman and Mrs. Ben Vatz, who acted as hostesses for the afternoon.

Simchoth Torah Treat

Mrs. Barnett Davis has arranged for a Simchoth Torah dinner for the children of the Home in honor of her daughter Sarah Helen's marriage to Mr. Theodore Abrams.

The Home gratefully acknowledges the receipt of contributions from Mr. and Mrs. Dave H. Serbin, 110 S. 12th Street, in honor of birth of son; Mrs. L. Levine, 1524 Murray Avenue; Mrs.

H. Pomerance, 5858 Alderson Street; Mrs. Kahn, 127 Church Street, Washington, Pa.

Southwestern District of Pennsylvania Jewish Religious Schools

Mr. Hymen Borovetz, assisted by Mr. Edward Stern, Mrs. Rubenstein, Miss Shulman, Miss Levitan, Miss Iancu and Miss Block, is once more conducting the Homewood religious school.

The South Side religious school is being supervised by Dr. Henry J. Robinson and the following corps of teachers: Miss Rose Karelitz, Miss Beatrice Gelbman, Miss Sara Gelman, Miss Blanche Chell, Miss Rose Abel, and Mr. Emmanuel Epstein.

At Duquesne, Mr. Milton Klein, former superintendent, assisted by a corps of local teachers, has once again assumed the responsibility.

Teachers added to the staff this past week are Miss Fannie Lewinter, Miss Minnie Winer, Miss Sylvia Bernstein, Miss Sylvia Lipka and Mr. Bernard Stein.

On October 8, Miss Miriam Schonfeld conducted a model assembly at the Carnegie religious school, and took part in the Succoth service.

In order to stimulate and conduct in a more efficient way the work of the religious schools, it is necessary to call special meetings for the superintendents. Such a meeting was held Wednesday evening, October 11, at the home of the field supervisor.

Much interest is being displayed by the communities in the benefit movie, which will be held November 5, at the Fulton Theatre.

Chili Sauce

Skin and cut into pieces about forty-five large tomatoes, twenty green peppers, twenty red peppers, six onions. Add two tablespoons of salt, six small cups of vinegar and two cups of sugar. Mix all together and boil two hours, then add one tablespoon each of ginger, cloves, and allspice and boil up once. Bottle and seal at once.

Creole Tomatoes

Take one small onion and half a green pepper, chop fine and cook until tender in a tablespoon of butter. Cut six firm tomatoes in half, sprinkle with a little sugar, season on both sides with salt, pepper and a little flour, and put them into the pan skin side down to cook partially; then turn them once, cooking over a small fire. Sprinkle a teaspoon of chopped parsley over them, pour in one cup of thick cream, and when this has become thoroughly hot and has been combined with other ingredients, the tomatoes are ready to serve.

They have not been disturbed since their first turning and have retained their shape. Half a tomato is placed on a slice of toast, with sufficient gravy to moisten.

Canned Tomatoes

Select smooth, pink, fleshy tomatoes, wash and plunge a few at a time into boiling water. As skins loosen, dip at once into cold water. Remove stem core and skin, cut into quarters and place into kettle. Add one teaspoon of salt to each quart of tomatoes. Heat slowly and stir frequently from the bottom to prevent sticking. Boil for half an hour and pour boiling hot into sterilized jars, sealing immediately and very carefully.

Salmon and Corn Souffle

One-pound can salmon, two cups thick white sauce, one teaspoon lemon juice, one teaspoon Worcestershire sauce, one teaspoon salt, one-fourth teaspoon pepper, dash tabasco sauce, two egg whites, one cup corn, one-half cup buttered bread crumbs.

Flake the salmon and add all the seasonings to it. Beat the egg whites until stiff and fold them into the mixture. Saute the corn slightly. Pour half the mixture into a buttered baking dish, add the cup of sauted corn, then the rest of the salmon mixture. Cover with buttered crumbs and bake in a hot oven about 15 minutes. Serve with a pickle relish. Serves six.

Browned-Beef Stew

One flank steak, four tablespoonfuls of flour, one teaspoonful salt, pepper, three tablespoonfuls of grated horseradish, six small onions, three quartered turnips, six small carrots, six or eight small potatoes.

Cut the meat in cubes of suitable size for handling with a fork. Mix the flour, salt, and pepper and roll the meat in it. Brown the meat in some melted fat, stirring to prevent burning. Add boiling water and cover closely. Simmer gently until tender, about three hours. Add the vegetables the last hour of cooking. Serve on a large platter surrounded by dumplings.

To make the dumplings, sift together two cupfuls of flour, three teaspoonfuls of any baking powder, and one teaspoonful of salt. Cut in two tablespoonfuls of fat and gradually add one cupful of soup stock. Drop by the spoonful on top of the stew, being sure that the dumplings rest on the meat and vegetables, as they must not settle into the liquid. Cover tightly at once and do not remove cover until dumplings have steamed 10 minutes.

Serve the stew in a large deep dish with the dumplings on top.

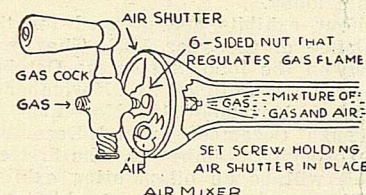

Tomato Relish

Peel and chop about a peck of ripe tomatoes, put in colander to drain. Add two cups of chopped celery, two cups of chopped onions, four red peppers, chopped fine, a teaspoon each of paprika and black pepper, half a cup of salt and one cup of mustard seed. Boil up two cups of sugar with two quarts of vinegar and after this is cool, pour over the mixture. Seal tightly.

HOW TO SAVE MONEY ON YOUR GAS BILL

Hundreds of local gas users are wasting gas daily because they have not acquainted themselves with the simple precautions recommended by their gas company service departments to obtain the maximum of potential heat which is provided.

Gas burns when it is united with oxygen from the air and consumes about ten cubic feet of air to each cubic foot of gas. If a sufficient quantity of air is not supplied through the mixing tube at the burner, the gas is not completely burned and heat is lost. Too high a flame also is wasteful.

All gas appliances are equipped with facilities to adjust the quantity and velocity of gas supply and to provide the proper amount of air which passes up the mixing tube from the gas cock to the burner.

Short flames use gas most efficiently. Burner openings should be about one and one-quarter inches below the bottom of the surface to be heated, and the flame should touch and spread out slightly.

When adjusting the flame, light the burner and keep it lighted until the adjustment is made. To lower the height of the flame, turn the six-sided nut at the gas cock until the flame is about one and one-half inches high.

A perfect flame can be identified by an inner cone of blue-green and a dark blue outer flame. A sputtering blue flame means too much air is being supplied. A yellow tipped flame indicates that not enough air is being provided.

To adjust the quantity of air supply, loosen the set screw holding the air shutter, which is located just behind the gas cock, and turn to right or left until a clear blue flame is obtained. An occasional reddish tinge to the flame requires no attention as this does not indicate inefficient burning.

cation of Hun ruthlessness, namely, that as long as the usurpers of Germany refuse to restore Jewish victims to the full and indisputable rights of citizenship, so long will Jewry throughout the world resort to the severest methods to combat them."

So there you have the story as one of the world's keenest journalist-minds sees it.

I have been informed without facts to prove the case that high school children throughout the country are receiving either in their schools or at home, Nazi propaganda appearing in a weekly paper dedicated to LUNAZI. In view of this report it might be well for school authorities to investigate these reports to the extent of making inquiries from the principals of schools. The Nazis are desperate and will stop at nothing to try to change world-sentiment, which, as it exists today, is giving Mr. Hitler a severe headache.
