Have You Heard?

By WILLIAM ZUKERMAN
Jewish World News Service

The Jewish population of Israel is already over a million, declared Zwi Lurie, Director of Immigration of the Jewish Agency. This will be the occasion for celebrations in Israel and throughout the Diaspora during Chanuka week. In addition to the one million Jews, Israel has 170,000 Moslems and Christians . . . The Rumanian Government has issued 1122 passports to Jews wishing to join their relatives in Israel. The first group of 285 left Constanza on Nov. 8 . . . The Constitution of the New East German State outlaws race hatred and considers the dissemination of propaganda designed to incite racial disturbance an offense punishable by disenfranchisement . . . The American Jewish Congress held its annual convention in New York this week. A thousand delegates from all over the country were present. The chief items on the agenda were: 1) The future work of the Congress; 2) The election of a new President to take the place of the late Dr. Stephen Wise; 3) The question of admission to membership of Communist and pro-Communist organizations.

The British Press claims that there are now between 500 and 600 pro-Nazi newspapers appearing openly in Germany, and that the Nazi press is still growing. Particularly vicious is one called the "Bridge" published in Brazil and distributed throughout the Western zones of Germany . . . 29,000 Yemenite Jews were flown to Israel during this year, announced Edward Warburg, chairman of the Joint Distribution Committee which sponsored the air evacuation. The cost of this mass evacuation was over $2,000,000 . . . Religious leaders of Israel's 100,000 Moslems and 70,000 Christians declared that they are satisfied that religious freedom exists in Israel. They said there was no interference from the Israeli ministry of religion which pays yearly salaries to Moslem clergymen and religious judges.

The Israel Government has refused to allow ships of the German owned Deutsche Lloyd steamship lines to dock at Israeli ports. Two German ships recently started a service between Germany and the Middle East . . . The Weizmann Institute of Science was officially opened on the 32nd anniversary of the Balfour Declaration. President Weizmann delivered an impressive address to the large audience which included leading world scientists and important diplomatic figures in Israeli public life. Dr. Weizmann described the aims of the institute which is at Rehovoth.

Israel at Lake Success

By DAVID NUSSBAUM
(Correspondent at U.N. Headquarters)

LAKE SUCCESS—Jumping the gun by a week or so, Israel brought the conflict over Jerusalem out into the open for the first time here last week and in so doing served notice on the General Assembly that it was in for a major scrap from its newest member if the Assembly persisted in its present plans for Jerusalem.

When the Special Political Committee of the Assembly begins consideration of the Palestine issue some time this month, it will have before it as the basis of discussion the U.N. Conciliation Commission blueprint on Jerusalem. The key points of the blueprint, however, are not the Commission's alone, but the Assembly's. The Commission was charged by a resolution passed at last year's Assembly session to draw up a plan that would include demilitarization of the Jerusalem area and administrative control by a U.N.-appointed governing body and tribunal.

Israel, which was not a U.N. member at the time of the resolution, fought this scheme at the Conciliation Commission meetings this summer in Lausanne, by way of official pronouncements of the Israeli Government and with a formal speech by the head of its delegation at the opening of this Assembly gathering. Now it has taken a step which is recognized in U.N. protocol as signifying a no-quarter struggle to the end in Assembly debate. This step is the circularization of all delegations with a detailed analysis of the entire issue and an urgent recommendation for the defeat of the Commission plan.

Circularizing delegates in this formal and painstaking a manner is an unusual move, and besides giving information to the delegations on the coming issue, in effect warns them that serious consequences are to be expected if the Assembly insists on carrying through what is being warned against. Previously the Soviet delegation had used this same tactic in connection with the candidacy of Yugoslavia for the Security Council, and because of it delegates anticipate harsh moves by the Russians in the Security Council owing to Yugoslavia's successful election.

In the case of Israel, the tactic could be taken as an intimation that Israel feels so strongly on this issue that it would refuse to accept any recommendation on Palestine it considered hostile to its interests. Needless to say, such an Israeli attitude has been more or less assumed by many delegations before this. The important point is that in its formal memorandum to all delegations, Israel is putting this attitude on record—without, of course, stating it in so many words.

Significant, also, is the timing of the memorandum. It follows by several days another formal statement, which virtually cut the ground from under the Conciliation Commission itself. The Commission has been meeting steadily in concurrence with the Assembly session for the sole purpose of bringing the Arabs and Israel together on all the troublesome points holding up settlement. Israel diplomatically called attention to the fact that the Commission was getting nowhere and would continue in that direction because its approach was all wrong.

What is important to realize is that both these moves have come at the precise psychological moment when they are calculated to produce the greatest effect on the majority of delegations. Confidence in last December's resolution has been steadily running downhill, and at this juncture, with the full-dress debate on Palestine only a matter of days away, most delegations are feeling the pressing need for a new or modified line on the subject. The Israel delegation is taking advantage of this situation by hitting the delegations hard on the futility of the Commission plan on the one hand and, on the other, conducting continuous lounge-room and corridor negotiations for a constructive substitute to this measure.

Since last December, a number of events have taken place to give the Palestine problem a considerably different look from that of a year ago. Most important were the armistice talks under U.N. sponsorship at Rhodes. Not only did these talks culminate successfully, but they demonstrated the efficacy of direct negotiations in contrast to U.N. fiat, and the former is a system Israel is presently urging in regard to Jerusalem.

Of equal importance is the fact that the armistice agreements, and their effective implementation, have erased the threat to peace that clearly fell like a shadow across last year's deliberations. Even if they were to be pressured to do so, delegates simply cannot feel today the urgency in the problem that leads them to acquiesce in drastic U.N. action. In addition, the significance of The Hague agreement on Indonesia cannot be underestimated as a potent talking-point for Israel when it argues for direct negotiations on Jerusalem with Transjordan under U.N. auspices in place of a U.N.-imposed plan that would be unacceptable to the parties at issue.

Just a Word

By JANE LEVINE STERN
Outlook Managing Editor

Miss Dorothy Thompson, eminent journalist and once liberal thinker, emerged last week from her brooding silence long enough to inject a venomous dose of the "dual nation ality" question into a Philadelphia audience.

Jane L. Stern

Miss Thompson, who long ago retreated from the "treacherous" line of those in support of the liberal concepts which the late President Roosevelt, among others, stood for, is lately retooled as a functionary of the American Council for Judaism and its brethren. She harped and harped again on the already tuneless "nationalism of Jews." Ignoring the realities, she initially declared that in the U. S. there is actually no such thing as a national minority; that the term is a product of Central and Eastern Europe and that American Democracy precludes the existence of such groups.

Creeping a trifle closer to her point, she explained the Jewish immigrant groups successfully discarded their previous allegiances upon arrival here. But the rise of Hitlerism let loose, she claimed, a wave of nationalism among Jews which led to the acceptance by many of a theory, always a favorite of Anti-Semites, that every Jew in the world is by his very existence a member of the Jewish nation from which he cannot and may not extricate himself. And now, knifing into the very heart of the contemporary battle, she said that her above mentioned theory has transformed early American Zionism from a humanitarian movement to help persecuted and homeless Jews in Europe to find a refuge and home, into a nationalistic movement which claims Jews as members of a Jewish nation, and creates theoretically, at least, a nation within a nation.

From here it was an easy jump for Miss T. to express her sorrows that the emergence of the New State not only failed to relieve the movement, but in reality accentuated it. This was of course followed by the inevitable—"one cannot be a member of the American nation and of the Jewish nation . . ."

To say that Miss Thompson has not only over-harped but snapped a few harp strings is quite an understatement. What she and her cohorts must do, it seems, is climb off the battle-wagon, lower their arms and start a less gruesome, less fretful pathway.

Local Fund Leaders to Attend Fifth Annual UJA Conference

A strong delegation of United Jewish Fund leaders and workers is expected to represent Pittsburgh at the fifth post-war United Jewish Appeal National Conference, which will be held in Atlantic City from November 25 through the 27th.

Meeting earlier than ever before because of pressure of the mounting needs confronting the UJA's constituent agencies, community leaders from all parts of the country will be on hand at the Atlantic City sessions to determine the size and scope of the national UJA campaign.

To Hear '49 Reports

The national UJA planning committee has announced that the community representatives will

In her invitation to Mrs. Fisher, Mrs. Ernest G. Wadel, National UJA Women's Division Chairman, asked the local WD leader to summarize the activities of "Pittsburgh's outstanding Women's Division job in '49."

Pittsburghers will again make the trip aboard a direct private through car to Atlantic City. The car will be equipped with a private lounge in which food will be served. A special round-trip of $93.50 per couple has been set (including tax). Individual round-trip rates are $53.30 (including tax). Last year thirty persons made up the Pittsburgh delegation, and Fund leaders are set to accommodate a much larger group. Reservations for the Atlantic City Special may be made by calling James D. Bronner at the Fund office, Atlantic 1-4605.

hear comprehensive reports of the 1949 achievements and 1950 needs of the United Palestine Appeal, Joint Distribution Committee and United Service for New Americans, and a discussion of their minimum budgetary requirements will be followed by the adoption of important decisions concerning the quota and the nature of the national United Jewish Appeal campaign in the year ahead.

In issuing their call to the conference, the UJA leadership stressed that the Jewish leaders in attendance would "blueprint American Jewry's program of furthering the development of Israel and providing continued aid to Jews in Europe and refugees in the United States."

They emphasized that, in addition to giving consideration to the needs in Israel, the Atlantic City Conference must also plan for continued large scale aid to the Jews remaining in Europe, to hundreds of thousands in North Africa, and to thousands of newcomers in the United States.

Mrs. M. H. Fisher Will Address Women's Group

Mrs. M. H. Fisher, chairman of the 1949 Women's Division, has been invited to address the campaign and planning session of the National Women's Division.

String Ensemble Will Offer Last of Series

The last in the series of three concerts this fall by the String Symphonic Ensemble of Pittsburgh is scheduled for Sunday, November 27, at 8:30 p.m. The concert will be given in the Theresa Kaufmann Auditorium of the Irene Kaufmann Settlement.

Mr. Angelo Gatto will conduct as usual and Mr. Joseph Cofini will be the tenor soloist. The program contains compositions by Zipoli, Pollaroli, Torelli, Monteverde, Cavalli, Stravinsky, Schelling, Sinigaglia, Donizetti, Leoncavallo, and Tchaikowsky.

An intermission address by Rabbi Solomon B. Freehof of the Rodef Shalom Congregation will be an additional feature of this program to which the public is cordially invited.

Cooperation between the National Conference of Christians and Jews and Local No. 60 of the American Federation of Musicians is making this concert possible which is dedicated to the reduction of prejudice and discrimination in Pittsburgh.

JNF Gets Huleh Concession

TEL AVIV, (ISI) Nov. 18—Transfer of the Huleh Valley Concession to the Jewish National Fund was confirmed last week by the Government. This is the first concession granted by the Government.

The Huleh Concession consists of almost 57,000 dunams, much of which needs to be drained before the land will be suitable for a dense agricultural population. The Huleh is important industrially since it contains large quantities of peat and papyrus reeds.

USNA Plans Conference on Area Problems Next Month

A week-end Conference to plan resettlement in the East Central states for some of the refugees arriving at an accelerated rate under the Displaced Persons Act will be held at the Hotel William Penn on Saturday and Sunday, December 3-4, under the auspices of United Service for New Americans, Inc. and cooperating welfare agencies throughout the area, it has been announced by Edwin Rosenberg, president of U.S.N.A.

Stanley Kann, prominent Pittsburgh citizen who is active in many civic causes, will serve as chairman of the Conference, Mr. Rosenberg said.

The Conference, which opens a year after the arrival in New York City of the first DP ship, will discuss problems created by accelerated immigration under the DP Act, and formulate plans for 1950. Immigration is expected to continue at a high rate until June, 1950, the deadline under the present Act. The work of United Service for New Americans, largest national welfare agency aiding in the resettlement of immigrants, is financed through the United Jewish Appeal, currently campaigning for $250,000,000.

In addition to the practical problems of resettling DP families, Mr. Rosenberg said, there will be a discussion on rehabilitation measures to insure the prompt integration of each family into the American community. Surveys by United Service show that the average family is self-supporting within a few months, Mr. Rosenberg said, but the proper orientation and training in English and American customs benefits the newcomer and the community as well.

Reservations for the Conference, which opens with a reception and dinner at 5:30 p.m. on Saturday, December 3, at the William Penn Hotel, can be made through the Jewish Social Service Bureau, 15 Fernando Street, Pittsburgh.

Payments Are Urged In Statement by Mr. Henry Morganthau

Reporting that United Jewish Fund expects to liquidate the $1,200,000 bank loan during the coming week, Fund president Emanuel Spector released an urgent communication from Henry Morganthau, Jr., General Chairman of the national UJA campaign.

The message from Mr. Morganthau, which reached the Fund office this week, urged "mobilization of funds to be remitted immediately to the UJA."

Mr. Spector, in making public the message from the UJA chairman, pointed out that with the liquidation of the bank loan the local Fund office would be able to meet the pleas for cash from the UJA as well as other Fund beneficiaries, which have not yet received payment on 1949 allocations, as rapidly as cash was made available by UJF contributors. Mr. Morganthau's message follows:

"Plead with you and other officers of Pittsburgh United Jewish Fund to mobilize funds to be remitted immediately to United Jewish Appeal. This urgent appeal is based upon cable which I received today from Jerusalem signed by Levy Eshkol, treasurer of Jewish Agency. His heart-rending plea will undoubtedly touch you as it has me.

"Mr. Eshkol's cable reads as follows: 'With 92,000 immigrants now in camps including 65,000 under canvas with rainy season approaching and stream of utterly destitute immigrants from Oriental country continuing at steady rate, Jewish Agency's financial position becoming daily more critical. Most pressing debts today amounting to almost 6,000,000 pounds, for quite some time no remittances received from United States. Strain of continuous make-shift arrangements becoming unbearable. Unable to carry on unless substantial cash received forthwith. Please make supreme effort to prevent crisis from becoming catastrophe ..."

The UN

The center of interest in the UN this week was focused on two problems affecting Israel:—the internationalization of Jerusalem and the attempts by the Palestine Conciliation Commission to bring about negotiations between Israel and the Arab States. In the latter case the Israeli delegation informed the Conciliation Commission that its government considers it futile to continue negotiations with the Arabs as a group. Instead, Israel demanded that negotiations be conducted directly with individual Arab states, without the interference of the Conciliation Commission. The Commission promised to reply to Israeli demands next week. The Arab delegates appeared as a group and asked the Commission to take the initiative in mediating the differences between them and Israel. A communique released by the Palestine Commission after this meeting disclosed that the Arabs said they were ready to consider any compromise proposals that the Commission would offer.

On the Jerusalem issue there were a number of developments indicating a trend to a compromise solution. A group of fifteen leading Americans comprising the greatest minds of the religious world, of the labor movement and of Liberal American opinion, submitted a proposal to the UN recommending the formation of an international curatorship for all holy places in Palestine under the supervision of the UN. The plan called at the same time for the division of the city of Jerusalem into Israeli and Arab zones, the latter to be assigned to the future Arab State that will be formed in accordance with the UN decision. The group consisted of Bishops, theologians, professors, labor leaders, editors, and leaders of liberal American public opinion. It was proposed that the curatorship was to consist of representatives of Catholic, Greek-Orthodox, Jewish, Protestant and Moslem faiths. The group was very emphatic in its claim that the internationalization of the entire city of Jerusalem would do the worst harm to both Arabs and Jews and would lead to a re-opening of the war in the Near East.

Meanwhile, the UN Israeli delegation was marking time this week in expectation of the debate on Jerusalem and Palestine in general which comes before the special (ad hoc) Committee shortly. In the meantime the delegation has issued a pamphlet stating its case on Jerusalem which it has distributed among the members of the Committee. Secretary General Trygve Lie has announced that he had invited representatives of Jordan to attend the discussion on Jerusalem even though Jordan is not a UN member. Though the Jordan delegates will have the right to participate in the discussion, they will have no vote on the matter. It is known that last week Abdullah sent urgent telegrams to the representatives of India, Pakistan, Turkey and Afghanistan asking them to oppose the internationalization of Jerusalem.

The Conciliation Commission met in New York, following its session in Washington with State Department representatives. Gordon R. Clapp's Economic Mission's report is in the hands of the Commission, and this was the subject of talks with Secretary of State Acheson. However, release will be delayed until the middle of the month, and the Commission will also reserve decision on the Israeli demand for direct negotiations with the individual Arab states until that time.

Indian Prime Minister Nehru described Israel as "a continuing fact of which India is fully aware." Friendly relations exist between Israel and India, and India has never known anti-Semitism, replied Nehru when asked if India would recognize Israel shortly. In the debate on Italian Colonies, the Israeli delegate voted with 55 other nations for the independence of Libya in three years. In effect Israel supported the major recommendations of the 21-nation subcommittee appointed by the overall committees to work out details of the disposal of former Italian colonies. Israel also supported a 10-year trusteeship for Somaliland and the appointment of a fact-finding commission to proceed to Eritrea to sound out the wishes of the population. A feature of the Libyan subcommittee report which Israel wholeheartedly supported, was the inclusion on the Libyan council of representatives of all native minorities. Tripolitanian Jews have constantly petitioned the UN for such protection. "Middle East conditions generally demonstrated the need for such protection" said Aubrey Eban, who was obviously referring to current Iraq persecutions of the Jewish minority there.

First In 37 Years

For the first time in 37 years the US Senate will have a Jewish senator in the person of ex-Governor Herbert H. Lehman, who will also be the first Jewish senator from the State of New York. The last Jewish senator was Solomon Guggenheim, the famous copper mine magnate who represented Colorado from 1907 to 1913. Governor Lehman has been elected with an easy plurality of more than 200,000 votes to fill the one-year term left vacant by the resignation of Senator Wagner. It is expected that Lehman, who is now 71, will run in 1950 for a full six-year term in the Senate. Lehman's election is part of a general Democratic sweep of state and national offices, but is also attributable to his personal prestige. He scrupulously avoided the injection of the Jewish issue into his campaign, even going so far as to ignore the public ZOA demand that he repudiate the USA stand on the internationalization of Jerusalem. He approaches his senatorial position with a lucid background of international experience, including four post-war years as director general of UNRRA.

In his first public address since the election, Lehman declared that he favors the "welfare state" principle in Jewish affairs just as strongly as on the national front. Speaking before the Jewish Charity Federation, Lehman declared that American Jews must keep up their contributions both at home and abroad in the spirit of social philosophy of the "welfare state" which is being attacked by reactionaries in this country. This philosophy, he said, is in the best traditions of Judaism.

Zionist Program to Mark Creation of Jewish State

The first program meeting of the Pittsburgh Zionist District will be held on Tuesday evening, November 29, the date which marks the second anniversary of the United Nations decision which gave international sanction to the creation of the Jewish State. The program will be held in the auditorium of the YM&WHA and will start promptly at 8:30 p.m.

According to Abe R. Cohen, chairman of the Program Committee, all the plans for this evening's event have been completed. John Roy Carlson, world famous author, lecturer and correspondent will be the guest speaker. Mr. Carlson is well known as the author of the best sellers "Under Cover" and "The Plotters" which exposed anti-democratic hate fronts in the United States. He has extended his investigations to the vital foreign field and has just returned after two years in Europe and the Middle East. In the Middle East Mr. Carlson worked closely with Arab political and military groups frequently dressing and posing as a Christian Arab. Mr. Carlson has been a prominent lecturer on America's leading platforms since 1943. Ceremonies commemorating the date of UN Partition of Palestine and a latest Israeli film will complete the program.

Since the District is now engaged in its annual membership campaign, Bernard Kaplan, President of the District, stressed the importance of great numerical strength in the Zionist Organization of America even at the time when we commemorate the second anniversary of the U. N. decision to create the Jewish State. In his message to the workers of the membership campaign, Mr. Kaplan emphasized the importance of the role that Zionists can play in giving the State of Israel the support that it needs in these trying days. Although the District has already reached a considerable quota of its membership quota the District's president urged the workers to intensify their efforts so as to bring the membership campaign to a speedy and successful conclusion.

Admission to the November 29 meeting is free to members of the Pittsburgh Zionist District and their friends,

In preparation for the December 4 third annual dinner meeting of the Pittsburgh Friends of the Jewish Theological Seminary of America, the presidents and rabbis of the four local Conservative Synagogues which are sponsoring the Seminary's activities in Pittsburgh, will dedicate evening services on Friday, November 25, to the Seminary.

Meanwhile, co-chairmen Louis Little and Harry Rom stated that invitations for the December 4 third annual dinner meeting of the Pittsburgh Friends of the Jewish Theological Seminary of America went out this week to members of the four Conservative Synagogues.

Dr. Moshe Davis, Editor of the Eternal Light radio program and Dean of the Seminary's Teachers Institute; Allan M. Stroock, Chairman of the National Board of Directors of the Seminary; Cantor Robert H. Segal of Eternal Light will join local singers and dramatists on the December 4 program.

Rosenbloom and Dr. Herman Hailperin of the Tree of Life, will sponsor the November 25 services, which will include sermons by the rabbis of the synagogues upon the significant contribution to mark the Jewish life program of the Jewish Theological Seminary.

On other fronts, the Pittsburgh Friends of the Seminary stepped up the tempo of their participation of the national Seminary drive of $1,972,000 (Pittsburgh's quota is $50,000).

This week a group of Seminary workers from the B'nai Israel Synagogue met at the home of Harry S. Jacobson, and accepted final campaign assignments.

A parallel meeting was held at the home of Charles J. Rosenbloom, where Dr. Louis Finkelstein, president of the Seminary, addressed the meeting. Dr. Finkelstein stressed the important role of the Seminary in the life of the American Jewish community. He pointed out that the training of rabbis and teachers, which was the primary function of the Seminary itself, required the understanding and financial Pittsburgh backing of Conservative Synagogue membership throughout the country. Dr. Finkelstein took the occasion to point out the institute for religious and social studies, which carries forward a non-sectarian seminar for Protestant and Catholic clergy at Chicago University, Columbia University and Duke University. Noted Economist to Speak at Histadrut Night in the Wm. Penn

Robert Nathan, eminent American Economist and lawyer, who has recently returned from Israel, will be the principal speaker on Histadrut Night, Nov. 20, 8:15 p.m., at the William Penn Hotel Ballroom. Mr. Nathan will report on his findings in Israel, and will present a factual analysis of the economic, social and political situation in Israel today. He will discuss the role of Histadrut in the life and development of the State of Israel.

Simons Bermanis, famous European artist, will appear in a program of Hebrew and Yiddish songs.

Histadrut Night, which is sponsored by the local Israel Histadrut Campaign Committee, of which Morris Schwartz is chairman, is dedicated to the pioneers and builders of Israel.

Among the many worthy projects in Israel that will benefit from the local Histadrut Campaign is that of Kfar Blum, the colony which bears the name of the distinguished Jew and French statesman, Leon Blum. This Kibbutz is still better known as a place where Chalutzim from the various English-speaking countries have been concentrated. In 1937, a group of young Chalutzim from England and a group from the Baltic countries joined together to form the nucleus of a new Kibbutz, and settled in Benyamina to prepare themselves for this task. In due course other groups, as well as individuals, joined them, notably a group from the United States and a small group from South Africa. This fusion of elements from the different English-speaking countries was an organic development, groups and individuals from these lands finding themselves inevitably attracted to the Kibbutz at Benyamina because of the common background, language, and similar outlook which they shared with these earlier pioneers.

The Kibbutz spent several years in Benyamina, and not until December, 1943, was full possession taken of its present lands in the Huleh Valley, under the shadow of majestic Mount Hermon and on the banks of the River Jordan.

The settlement, on malaria-ridden marshland, offered one of the most challenging pioneering projects in Eretz Israel, but the young Chalutzim from the English-speaking lands deliberately chose this project, for as the vanguard of what they hoped would become a large immigration from their various countries of origin, they felt an obligation and a responsibility to set a standard and to carve out a place in Zionist history for those who would follow them. In the three years that have passed, a settlement has been created; around the houses, lawns, green gardens and small trees already show that the empty valley will one day lose its barrenness. All the normal farm branches are in operation and in addition the Kibbutz runs a small factory for the manufacture of clothes-pegs which are exported to many different lands. The fields give their rich yield, and the large artificial fish ponds are a cornerstone of the Kibbutz economy. Kfar Blum is a living name on the modern map of Eretz Israel.

For reservations write or call the Israel Histadrut Committee, 905 Keystone Bldg., Pittsburgh or phone GRant 1-2575.

News "Behind the Curtain"

by Jane Levine Stern

It's always a lot of fun to hear anyone shatter our phobias with a few chosen words, so you can nearly imagine the picnic it was to hear Dr. Freehof dispelling the "Red baiters" with not a bit of venom. Needless, to add, it's certainly been a relief to catch a few select comments on Russia and Communism which are without the usual flavor of a witch's brew.

Necessarily, in his last Wednesday's review of "Behind the Curtain" by John Gunther, Dr. Freehof strove only to impart the real essence of Gunther's observations spiced only by the briefest indications of the reporter's actual descriptions. Nevertheless, the commentary, delivered in spite of, "Bolshevik germs" which seem to have infiltrated into Dr. Freehof's throat, was again explanatory of his very stable attitudes toward the "Red menace."

Dr. Freehof chose to cite the kinship between tragedy and comedy as a means of creating the feel or understanding of what he wished to tell. This was a story which I feel he employs as symbolic of the credence which we should offer to Communist propaganda. It would certainly have been a priceless experience, had we, somehow been able to witness the reactions of the new defunct unionists, Messrs. Emspak, Matles and Fitzgerald to the following tale.

20 Years in Vain

The character of Dr. Freehof's story is a lad in his late teens, of middle class parents, whose malcontent results first in revolt against his parents and next against his poverty. After a trying search for acceptance and justification, he is at ease as a member of the Communist Party in this country. Along with the ease, he finds himself raised from insignificance, for now he has not only a cause but a position of potential responsibility. The Party directs his training as an electrician so that he might soon become active in the United Electrical Workers, which he proceeds to do. By hard work, late hours, sincere devotion to his cause, he is able to climb above his post as delegate and to ultimately seize controlling power within the organization.

A total of about 20 years has by now been selflessly given to the "cause." And a total of 20 years of effort was wiped off the record recently at the CIO convention, when it swiftly purged our malcontented lad, and wiped the slate clean. This according to Dr. Freehof, has consistently been the end of all such Communist infiltration. When the group entered politics in support of Henry Wallace, the result was so insignificant that "they didn't even bother to explain;" there was a time when they embraced our literary endeavors—when all critics wrote with an intended angle, but the Proletariat novel, too has vanished.

Propaganda That Scares

Applying here, Dr. Freehof's tragi-comic theory, the above, is all quite pleasurable to us; this in the same sense that Scriptures states, "When the wicked fall, there is laughter." In Russia, however, the same tale evokes tears, for it is a completely frustrating effort.

In view of these collapses, Dr. Freehof indicated that in the past we have approached the problem with a wrong emotion; that we have been propagandized into fright. Propaganda is indeed the word which he used as a definition of Communist activities, at least until the end of the war. What Dr. Freehof neglected to include in his tale, though, and rightly so, for it did not concern his point, was that in its purge the CIO set a dangerous precedent. Its action was inevitable and necessary; yet, it paved the way to such centralization of power within the Union as to nearly eliminate the "democratic" structure. For the future, it has assured itself a possible lack of healthy dispute and made easy the later purge of any non-conformists.

Thusly the Communists have proven not only their nuisance value which Dr. Freehof hints at, but further, they have served the tool for indiscreet manipulation of power on all levels.

From Agitation to Occupation

The above, at any rate, has been the status of the Communist Party until very recent years, when Russia changed her tactics from those of agitation to occupation. This inspires within us the question—will the new tactic be a failure as in the past or will it succeed? And it remains a question, for none of us can venture an answer.

Gunther, whom Dr. Freehof considers the finest of literary reporters, has written a completely comprehensive picture, detailed in every phase—economic, geographic, personal, political—of life in the satellite nations. I found it, as most of his other books, almost a reference book in nature.

Conflicting Powers

He launches his newest odyssey in Italy, which is actually outside of the "curtain." The country embraces the most fertile spawning water for Communism—poverty. This is largely due to the unrestrained birth rate, approximately 450,000 births over deaths in a single year. Though Communism gains a firmer grasp in the larger cities, the leash which has inhibited its progress has been the stranglehold of the church; there is a vigorous conflict between the Church and the ideology. Such need for social reform as Italy possesses, makes the country easy prey to the Party. It could indeed grip the nation easily, in contrast, for example, to France where only a revolution could bring about the transformation.

From there he traveled freely through all of the satellite countries — Trieste, Czechoslovakia, Rumania, Bulgaria, Poland, Yugoslavia. The last named is, of course, a Communist state independent of Russia, whose leader, Tito may, or may not by his severance of relations with Russia, have set a precedent. His impression of these countries, with the exception of Czechoslovakia, was a unified one without the usually applied atrocious implications. Czechoslovakia, having once been a real democracy has suffered an intense and knowing loss.

As for the remainder of the Balkans, however, they suffer no such loss for liberty was never one of their possessions. Additionally, their peoples are exhibiting a refreshing energy; they are lit with hope; the peasantry is enthused with the novel possession of land; they are confident in the future, impressed with the conviction that any future wars will be started by the United States and that Russia will win such a conflict.

No Danger

From all of this, Dr. Freehof deduced that there are changes bound to come in the status of these satellites; that perhaps later state socialism will bring an end to economic freedom and ownership of land and replace them with depression, repression and spy networks. That for the future, but in an attempt to define Stalin's motivations in mobilizing his forces within these nations, which mobilization incidentally can make bitter enemies for the dictator, Dr. Freehof proposes that Russia intends the satellites as buffers. She apparently anticipates a U. S. launched war and intends not to sacrifice her land as she did during the last war. Hence, all of these nations to serve as buffers. Ending on his usual and welcome note of optimism, Dr. Freehof concluded, "there is no danger or menace to us lurking behind the curtain."

The subject of next week's Modern Literature Class will be Upton Sinclair's "Oh, Shepherd Speak."

Y Membership Drive To Close Successfully

With audited reports after the last meeting showing well over $130,000 the Y Membership Campaign organization, knocking at the door of victory, is putting on a final spurt to bring the total above the goal of $140,000 before Thanksgiving. As a result, campaign leaders headed by Dr. J. O. Specter, General Chairman, are now planning a victory get-together to pay well deserved tributes to those who have been responsible for the tremendous success of the 1949 drive.

The first whole division to go over the top is the one headed by Meyer B. Gefsky, which has reported more than $50,000 against a quota of $48,500. The divisions headed by Harry P. Letwin and Sidney Stark are within striking distance of their quotas and are expected to go over.

While the objective of 7,000 members in 1949 may not be reached before the conclusion of the drive workers have pledged their efforts toward achieving that result before December 31. With an enrollment of 7,000 paid-up members the Y will be able to carry on its splendid program of physical, cultural, educational and social activities for the thousands of young people and adults who use the facilities regularly. Men, women and children are invited to join the Y, to share in its fine program of activities and help support one of the outstanding Jewish Centers in America.

Dentists Plan Gala Meeting To Aid Material for Israel

The meeting of Pittsburgh's dentists on behalf of Material for Israel scheduled for Sunday evening, November 27, at the Warner Brothers Recreation Room in the Clark Building, will have among its featured entertainers two highly talented artists—Leonard Lawrence and Marty Wolfson.

Leonard Lawrence, as he is known in the musical world, a specialist in child speech problems, is a member of the Pittsburgh nosis act and Dr. Ruth Semenov Friedman will show motion pictures of her recent visit to Israel.

Dr. Shapiro and his co-chair-

Opera Company and is scheduled to sing leading roles in Madame Butterfly and The Bartered Bride.

Marty Wolfson, famous for his "Chalk-Talky," will tell stories and jokes illustrated with clever chalk sketches and will draw audience caricatures. Mr. Wolfson finds time away from his teaching at Carnegie Institute to sketch leading figures in American life.

In addition to these artists, a program of fun and entertainment has been arranged by chairman Bernard L. Shapiro. Two of the dentists will also entertain—Dr. Elliott Brodie will present his hyp-men, Mrs. David Barkan, Dr. M. H. Fisher, Dr. Joseph L. Polk, Mrs. Gilbert Robin, and Dr. Max Silverman, are making a personal canvas of the Jewish dentists in the Pittsburgh area to make certain that all will be present. Just as the physicians of Pittsburgh brought thousands of dollars worth of penicillin, streptomycin, and X-Ray film to their September meeting, it is the goal of the dentists to bring a like amount of novocaine and other dental needs to this party so that Israel may make up her distressing shortage of these vital supplies.

Montefiore Nursing In Top 25% of Schools

In the November issue of the American Journal of Nursing (official organ of the profession), the Interim Classification of Schools of Nursing Offering Basic Programs (1949) was published by the Subcommittee on School Data Analysis. Montefiore Hospital is listed in the top 25% of all basic programs in nursing. Only 14 schools in Pennsylvania were included in this top fourth—four in Philadelphia; 10 in Pittsburgh—showing that Pittsburgh ranks high in this professional training.

The classification is based on data submitted by 1,155 schools of nursing in the United States, Hawaii and Puerto Rico, supplemented by data on hospital facilities which have been published by the American Hospital Association and the American Medical Association, and by data on educational facilities published by the United States Office of Education.

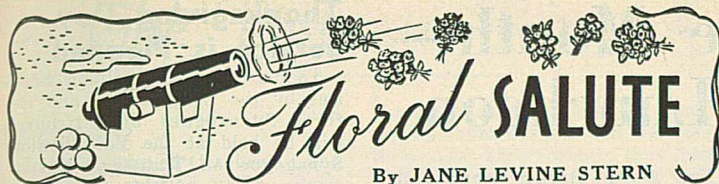

Only schools fully state-accredited are included in the listing.

Relative standings were based on the following component factors: Total basic programs, student health, curriculum, clinical facilities and experience, library facilities, qualifications and size of teaching staff, and instructional salaries.

This classification will be repeated in two years.

Free Membership Dance

In keeping with its new policy of offering members a varied program of activities without extra charge the Y has announced a dance free to members this Sunday night, November 20, in the Morris Kaufmann Memorial Auditorium. Members will be permitted to bring guests for a token admission fee. Dance will be continuous all evening and the music will be supplied by the outstanding name bands in the country via their own recordings. The dance is for Senior and Young Adult members only.

Vladimir Bakaleinikoff

There is probably no phase of our city's culture which offers so much to our mental well-being and contentedness as does that of music. If one were to combine the several gross of axioms descriptive of art into a single phrase, this would necessarily include the facts that music is not only a most charming escape mechanism which is inherently beautiful and provocative, but is also simultaneously a universally welcome emotional experience of unparalleled potentialities.

Along its pathways, this same art occasionally offers up its artists—those who create and form before us the notes or symbols which are utilized in the presentation of the art. Remarkable too, are these persons in their tremendous and sensitive powers, their warmly human enterprises, their inspiring creativeness. It is they, indeed who strive to shape a song on our lips and a melody in our hearts. In gratitude for all of this, the Outlook this week plays its own little tune for a favorite Pittsburgh artist, Vladimir Bakaleinikoff.

He is far more than a fine musician—he is a lovable person. In the past, he frequently endeared himself to the youth of our city when he accompanied the Symphony on its annual pilgrimage to the high school auditoriums.

During the regular symphony season, the orchestra annually offers a short series of children's concerts which our salutee skillfully programs and presents to a circus-minded assortment of good, bad and indifferent youngsters of all shapes and sizes. Very few out of the assortment, however, leave the Syria Mosque with their initial indifference, for once subjected to Vladimir Bakaleinikoff's whimsical treatment they suddenly become charmed. At the outset of the concert he will playfully introduce each of the varied family of instruments; as this continues the director will enthusiastically hum along the passages. And if the occasion should arise, as it often does, to repeat a phrase, for any of a number of reasons, he will soon begin a casual little jog which assists him in emphasizing beat or expression, and which adds completely to the very jolly afternoon which children find there. At these times, Mr. Bakaleinikoff's unique charm sparkles brightly—it is a sort of old-world charm which, in its laughter and warmth irresistibly hugs up those about him. To quote a reliable undersized spy of ours, "why he's just like Snow White's friend, Happy." Well, a bit oversized, we feel, but quite an apt reference. By offering music to the youth of our city, as he does, he creates future generations of patrons who are learning to approach such culture without its "sissy" connotations.

Dr. Bakaleinikoff was born in Moscow and graduated with high honors from the Moscow Conservatory. His very precious career, which has now spread across two continents, began as a violinist in Russia. Though we can't indicate just how early his beloved whimsy developed, we know that his fame as a conductor sprang up almost immediately. In 1920, he became Conductor of the Opera Branch of the world-famed Moscow Art Theatre, which subsequently, and quite fatefully, toured America.

It was during this tour, while he was diligently sliding scales about to fit high or low arias, that he contacted Dr. Fritz Reiner, who was then conducting the Cincinnati Orchestra. The jovial Russian artist so impressed Dr. Reiner with his handsome talents, that the latter offered him a post as assistant conductor. So far as most of us are concerned, that meeting was the start of a gradual and effective crescendo, which would eventually heighten our musical standards to fantastic perfections.

To achieve such perfection as our community enjoys at the moment, entails efforts of men in Dr. Bakaleinikoff's category—men who find little effort in the constant repetition of a single passage so that the product may be the finest possible example of beauty and harmony. During the earliest period of his association with Fritz Reiner, he not only served as an assistant conductor, but in 1936 became musical director of the Louisville Civic Arts Association and conductor of the Louisville Symphony. In 1938, he followed Fritz Reiner to Pittsburgh and accepted the position of Associate Conductor.

His fame and acclaim has not been selfishly claimed in this city alone, for his other engagements have included being guest conductor of the Los Angeles Philharmonic for ten concerts in the Hollywood Bowl; in the summer of 1946 he was guest conductor of the Utah State Symphony at Salt Lake City and of the Montreal Philharmonic; he has conducted the New York Philharmonic in a Carnegie "Pops" concert in New York.

Beyond his unusual talent for presenting music to young people, he has established himself as an outstanding teacher—from 1929 to 1939 he served professionally on the staff at National Music Camp in Interlochen, Michigan.

And he has served not only as the teacher but also as the guide in the phenomenal career of our young conductor and violinist, Lorin Maazel; his encouragement, too, prodded soprano Patrice Munsel on her road to the Metropolitan Opera.

He is known locally not merely in his post as present Musical Adviser to the Pittsburgh Symphony and as a leader of local youth, but as a lecturer and a clever one, as well. It was he also, who made musical history here by persuading his very talented colleague, Victor DeSabata to accept an engagement here last year. Recently, Dr. Bakaleinikoff organized a sinfonietta composed of a group of principal players of the Pittsburgh Symphony. The group has already played numerous concerts and is no small step in expanding the musical status of our community.

Dr. Vladimir Bakaleinikoff is indeed regarded with deserved affection for he bears well the task slipping a song into our hearts. Our Floral Salute is but a token of the melody and tune he gives us.

October 31, 1949

Dear Sir:

In your issue of October 14 one editorial is entitled "UJA—Back to Normal."

Nothing could be more gratifying than to achieve an era in which United Jewish Appeal would truly be "back to normal." That would indicate that the objectives which animate American Jewish policy: the stabilization of the Jewish position abroad, have been realized. Unfortunately, that is not true, as reports in your own paper week after week make abundantly clear.

There are several facts noted in your editorial which require clarification. There has been a great deal of confusion as to the amount which the United Jewish Appeal will raise in the year 1949. It arises from the fact that occasionally figures are quoted showing the cash received by the national headquarters of the United Jewish Appeal from January 1 to the current date; and at other times, reference is made to the pledges. In the year 1948, American Jewry pledged to the United Jewish Appeal during that calendar year the sum of about $150,000,000. Not all of that sum was paid in the year 1948. Contributors have the right of extended payment. It is estimated at this time that the amount that American Jewry will finally pledge to the United Jewish Appeal within the calendar year 1949 will be about $120,000,000. These pledges, too, permit extended payment. However, in terms of actual cash received by the United Jewish Appeal, the facts are as follows: From January 1, 1949 to October 31, 1949, the United Jewish Appeal national headquarters received in cash, on account of the 1949 and previous campaigns, the sum of $100,000,000. The cash figure for 1949 will be completed when the last remittance has been received on December 31, 1949. The cash figure for 1948, January 1 to October 31, was $133,095,197. Taking into account the nature of the 1949 campaign, the percentage of cash received by the United Jewish Appeal in 1949 is actually greater than in 1948. This speaks well for the understanding by the American Jewish Communities of the nature of the urgent tasks performed by the United Jewish Appeal.

It is becoming clearer, as time goes on, that the State of Israel cannot alone assume responsibility for the great wave of immigration reaching its shores. From May 15, 1948 to October 31, 1949, some 320,000 Jews entered Israel. Few genuinely believed, before the State was created, that this extraordinary record could be attained. The fact is, however, that hundreds of thousands of Jews, fleeing from despair and destruction, now know where they can find an open door. It is a fact of incomparable moral, as well as physical, sustenance that when 100,000 Jews in Iraq feel the weight of persecution in their land; when the Jews of Egypt, Tripolitania, Morocco and other Moslem areas are faced with confiscation and pogroms; when Jews in certain European countries feel they must escape before they are forever cut off from the Jewish world—that Israel is there to receive them.

American Jewry has made an enormous contribution to the reconstruction of the Jewish world. It has helped bring about the liquidation of the DP camps. It shared in laying the foundations of the State of Israel. It is now that the full fruits of this achievement must be consolidated. It would be an unhappy circumstance if the great effort of the past few years were to be negated when within a relatively short time complete success beckons ahead. Perhaps it is not easy for all of us to see the greatness of the achievement because the perspective is too close.

There are two aspects to the problem: the long-range change in the whole nature of the Jewish problem; and the immediate needs of those who have entered Israel and need help until they bridge the transition period. With 90,000 Jews in the tent cities of Israel, with aid still needed for the hundreds of thousands of others who should be permanently absorbed, with at least 150,000 due to enter the borders of Israel, we are faced with a great responsibility as well as with a great challenge. American Jewry has shown that it can bring about historic changes with money, money that in proportion to the assets built up is small indeed. The American Jewish community has not been impoverished during these years. Great institutions of religious, cultural, spiritual and communal service have been built. In fact, the ability to build these institutions was caused by the expanding horizons for giving opened by the UJA.

An examination of the Jewish scene abroad would indicate that, if we are to fulfill the mission placed upon us by history, American Jewry is not yet ready to return to "normalcy." American Jewry, like the country of which we are a part, must complete its assignment to make the lives of Jews abroad free and secure if the position of the Jewish people itself is to be safeguarded.

Sincerely yours,

Jacob Sincoff,
National Co-Treasurer,
United Jewish Appeal

Thanksgiving Holidays Bring Vacation Traveling

By HELEN HALF FINGOLD
(Outlook Society Editor)

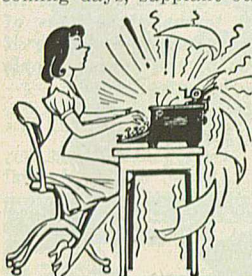

Temporarily, at least, Canasta and what-will-John Lewis-do-next will be retired as major conversational nuggets. In their place a favorite barnyard friend, the turkey, will be proclaimed "Man of the Moment," and homage due him and who's going to do it will, in the coming days, supplant other lesser interests. Pittsburgh will play host to a number of out-of-towners planning to be here for Thanksgiving, but as always, some folks leave town.

Mrs. Robert J. Frank of Woodland Road will have as her guest this weekend The Duchess of Rouchefoucault of Paris. Mrs. Frank will hold a cocktail party in her home in honor of her guest, who, on Saturday evening, will speak to the Alliance Francaise.

Mrs. Laurence Gunsberg and daughter of Buffalo are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Harry Marcus of Ferree St.

"Dinner at home is on the holiday schedule of John H. Cohen, Jr., a student at Trinity College, Hartford, Conn., who will be at home with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John H. Cohen of Fair Oaks St.

A teaspoonful in the dish water cuts the grease and makes the dishes easy to wash. When washing clothes, MEL'O is unexcelled for removing dirt and grime—and your hands stay soft and smooth. Let MEL'O help you. Use it in water whenever you wash. MEL'O saves soap, time and labor. All grocers handle MEL'O in economical and convenient sized packages. New Membership Policy

The Irene Kaufmann Center of Squirrel Hill announces an important change in membership policy—the shift of the membership year from September to January. Leon T. Rubinstein, IKC Director, explains that the membership year will now coincide with the fiscal year of the Center of statistical records and the carry over in programming from summer activities into the fall program.

The change in the annual membership date actually extends the current memberships so that they will be good until January 1, 1951 instead of September 1, 1950, thereby affording new members joining the Center now, two additional months of service.

IKC Clubhouse

The Irene Kaufmann Center has acquired a new facility in Squirrel Hill, on Forbes Street near Murray Avenue. The new facility will serve as a meeting house for small groups and clubs and will afford groups in Squirrel Hill a new meeting place.

Applications for meeting space in the IKC Clubhouse, which will be open early in December, are being taken currently at the IKC office, 5832 Forward Ave. Inquiry is also invited by telephoning HAZel 1-8000 or HAZel 1-8969.

Peoples Forum

The Planning Committee of the Hill District Peoples Forum announces its next forum will be held on Tuesday, December 6 at the Irene Kaufmann Settlement. The topic for this discussion meeting will be "Planned Parenthood," and several of the speakers will be representatives of Pittsburgh's Planned Parenthood Clinic.

Guest speakers at the last Planning Committee meeting were from the year-old Northside Housing Clinic. They presented the background of their group's work in helping tenants and landlords to work out solutions to their problems under rent control.

The Jewish Welfare Board reports a change in plans concerning its nationwide basketball tourney. Originally the finals were slated for St. Louis but so many Eastern groups complained that the expenses involved in trekking to St. Louis were too heavy for them to bear that a realignment was made with the finals granted instead to Pittsburgh.

The Pittsburgh YMHA will act as host for the visitors from the East and West. Just how some one hundred players and coaches will be housed is a problem but Pittsburgh Y workers are zealous and will solve the problem.

The Smoky City has always been a basketball hotbed, more so than St. Louis, so that the choice is ideal. Such Y workers as Buck Gefsky, Jock Rosenberg, and Harry Menzer have written a little piece of basketball history in their own fashions. Rosenberg, now a corpulent broker in Pittsburgh, was probably the first college hoopster to play the pivot position back in the early twenties. At the time Jock was beginning his tenure at Duquesne University under the coaching aegis of Chick Davies, first collegiate mentor to employ the pivot formation. Gefsky, now a bank official, was a stalwart standing guard with the old Coffee Club, Pittsburgh's famous quintet in days of the Original Celtics, the Leondi Club, and the Second Story Morry's.

Gefsky never lost his love for the court pastime and eventually entered the Pittsburgh YMHA in a league that gained fame as the National Pro League before joining colors this season with the Basketball Association of America. Buck was one of the first presidents of the league and used to tour the circuit with the Pittsburgh Pirates, then coached by Duddy Moore, present day mentor at Duquesne University. Harry Menzer, now practicing law in Pittsburgh, was affiliated with the Pirates basketball team and for many years served as the premier timekeeper at important hoop battles in the Smoky City area.

With these gentlemen handling arrangements for the JWB tourney the competing teams in the finals come next March will be shown a nice time by the host team.

Hy Buller, one of the few Jewish hockey players in the business, was a Canadian swimming and diving champ before turning to the ice game. Buller at 23 years of age is playing his seventh year in pro hockey. He now resides in Cleveland all year round.

Morrie Arnovich, former big league outfielder, now connected with the Chicago Cubs chain, is keeping in shape this winter by refereeing National Basketball Association games. Arnovich hails from Superior, Wisconsin, where his father has served as a Rabbi.

Irv Mondschein, not to be confused with the "Moon" Mondschein, who starred at NYU in track and is coaching football at Lincoln University, has done a great job coaching City College's backfield. Irv maintains that Leo Wagner, star of the current backfield, is the best halfback to play for the Lavendar in many years. Irv modestly overlooks himself. He was a star on City's eleven in the thirties. Many claim he was the finest of that decade. Wagner, incidentally, is certain to be offered a pro grid contract by at least one of the name clubs.

The Cleveland Indians are determined to find out once and for all whether Al Rosen has the makings of a big leaguer.

Big doin's on the Tech campus dominated last week-end's activities. The Kilties welcomed back alumni at their "Homecoming" celebration. The frats were bedecked with unique decorations. At the Beta Sig house, a huge replica of a Lehigh football player announced that Lehigh would be knee high in Tech touchdowns (?) Highlighting the Sigs week-end festivities were a barbecue luncheon on the fraternity house lawn before the game and a buffet supper, dance plus a late (or early?) breakfast Saturday night. Among the well-fed couples were Renee Levenbaum and Al Blotky, Norma Trust and Arnie Sherman, Roz Kraskov and Bernie Cohen, Roe Valk and Bob Rosenthal, Mitzie Freedlander and Marvin Kolatch, Marilyn Sugarman and Earl Latterman, Irene Felman and Lenny Jacobs, Elaine Love and Jerry Weisman, Phyllis Solomon and Eddie Miller, Bea Pollack and Allan Colker, Ruth Kaplan and Danny Kantor, Joan Hartstein and Morty Fantus, Sandy Shine and Burt Epstein, Zava Berkowitz and Bob Broida, Sue Lichtenstul and Bill Heller, Judy Block and Cy Tomashoff, Bennard Perlman and Mimi Kwalfish, Florita and Joe Linnet, Gloria Goldstein and Donnie Abrams, and Jocelyn Daniels and Jim Simons. To make things even more enjoyable, Albia Weinberger and Ed Golden announced their pinning!

On Forbes St., a flashing heart and fraternity pin welcomed guests to the Tau Delta Phi dwelling. After an open house on Friday night, the boys entertained with a dance and steak supper on Saturday nite. Guests included: Betty Lou Levy and Marty Miller, Ruth Moss and Donnie Winston, Claryne Cooper and Mel Mevorak, Zahna Eidler and Chuck Wineck, Noreen Hershoren and Lenny Smolan, Harriet Feldman and Lenny Feldman, Ellie Doniger and Morty Baker, Shirley Pearl and Herb Stone, Mitzi Cowan and Dave Goldsmith, Shirley Blumenthal and Dave Sapper, Marian Fischman and Al Solitaire, Elaine Sobel and Joe Stein, Judy Cohen and Saul Berkowitz, Eleanor Marcus and Burt Quint, and Greta Simon and Len Chottiner.

Recent Sorority rushing at Pitt has netted the sororities some wonderful pledges. Sigma Delta Tau's ranks are swelled by Gloria Kwasser, Nessa Green, and Fran Subin. Phi Sigs are raving about Pearl Tobachnick and Susan Alman and AEPhi's new shining light is Helen Joseph. Congratulations to all you terrific kids!

HOLLYWOOD—The National Legion of Decency this week swept Columbia's "Jolson Sings Again" into its Class B (Morally objectionable in part or all) category. The reviewing group objected to the film since it "reflects the acceptability of divorce." Hollywood still can't get over this decision.

Two complete programs of Israel films are soon to be presented in Tel Aviv. They will consist of features made in the past two years by Palestine Films Company, and will include "Dream No More," a 70-minute picture, first to be produced in Israel with a Hebrew soundtrack. Written and directed by Joseph Krumgold, it is the story of an immigrant's adventures.

The other program will consist of "House In the Desert," the story of Beth Haarava; "Homecoming, 1949," another immigration story, and "48 Hours A Day," which tells of the siege of Jerusalem.

Just a few years ago, Judy Holliday (her real name is Tuvum) was a switchboard operator at the Mercury Theater in her native New York. This job not only gave her a sore throat, but also a doctor's advice to "go to the mountains" for a rest. Judy complied and at the mountain resort met Betty Comden and Adolph Green.

The trio joined forces as "The Reviewers," returned to New York where they played supper clubs and finally landed in Hollywood. After a few bleak months, during which Judy played small roles in "Something for the Boys" and "Winged Victory," the three youngsters returned home.

Her partners hit pay dirt when they sold "On the Town" and "Billion Dollar Baby" which became stage hits and were later sold to MGM and Samuel Goldwyn for fabulous prices. Judy then went into "Kiss Them For Me" in which her performance as the girl of easy virtue won the Clarence Derwent Award for the best performance by a supporting player.

Theater history was created when she scored heavily in the widely-acclaimed hit comedy. For three years, she threw audiences into hysterical laughter in the Garson Kanin-Ruth Gordon stage success.

Judy's decision to try Hollywood again was influenced by Director George ("Edward, My Son") Cukor, who convinced her that he had the perfect film role for her in Garson Kanin and Ruth Gordon's new screen play "Adam's Rib," starring Spencer Tracy and Katherine Hepburn.

His faith, her future and the enjoyment of theatre audiences will be established by Judy's performance in this new film, which sends her skyrocketing to fame and fortune. Judy is now a screen sensation, but she still remembers the days she worked as a switchboard operator.

The Israel premiere of Charlie Chaplin's "Monsieur Verdoux" in Haifa this week has been received very enthusiastically. The first week not only broke all house records, but also represented the highest take in any theatre in Israel in one week's showing. Charlie says he's very impressed with the good taste and "entertainment intelligence" the people of Israel have.

Since the run-of-the-mill Hollywood product isn't paying off its way at the boxoffice, one famed critic advised producers this week to make "mature" pictures for a great audience—"the two-thirds of our grown-up citizens who do not go regularly to the movies." "The industry," he says, "may yet find its salvation in those whom it has for two generations contemptuously turned over to foreign competition."

TABLETS MISERIES STRIKE

Pots and Pans

By FLORA M. ISAACS

Regardless of whether your family is large or small, holidays must be given due consideration. Traditional Thanksgiving dinner, of course, is built around a stuffed turkey. But for various reasons (usually the small number of diners or the facilities involved) some families have to resort to plans which do not include a large turkey. Nevertheless your holiday table can be beautiful and your dinner on a par with any feast turned out on the great American day of thanks. If the family is small you can purchase a part of a bird or a chicken and roast it to the same golden brown. You can serve Celery Pinwheels, Cranberry Relish, Toasted Carrots along with other tasty dishes to create a festive air. If for any reason you cannot have poultry or meat, then dress up some white meat tuna fish and you will surely believe you are eating the white part of the chicken.

CELERY PINWHEELS

- 1 bunch Pascal celery
chopped liver, well seasoned

Separate the stalks of celery. Wash and dry. Fill stalks with the chopped liver and press stalks back into the original form of the bunch. Roll in wax paper and allow to remain in refrigerator until ready to serve. Just before serving, slice celery crosswise forming pinwheels. Arrange on Iceberg lettuce cups. Two or three slices serves one. If you are serving a fish dinner stuff the celery stalks with softened cream cheese relish and proceed in same way.

TOASTED CARROTS

- 12 whole carrots
¼ cup salad oil or other vegetable shortening
1½ cups corn flakes
1 teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon pepper

Cook carrots in boiling salted water, covered, only until just tender. Dip in oil, then in finely crushed corn flakes to which salt and pepper has been added. Arrange in a broiling pan and broil until cornflakes are toasted, about five minutes. Baste twice with remaining oil while toasting. Serves four.

MOCK CHICKEN with BROCCOLI

- 2 cans white meat tuna fish
2 pounds fresh broccoli
½ pound processed American cheese
½ cup milk

Place tuna fish in a strainer and pour boiling water over it until all oil is washed off. Arrange in a casserole and place in a slow oven or over hot water to keep warm. Wash fresh broccoli and trim a bit off ends of stems, but do not remove branches. If any stems are more than ½-inch in diameter, make lengthwise gashes through them (about 4 or 6) almost to the flowerets. The stalks will then cook as quickly as the flower buds. Drop broccoli into a small amount of boiling, salted water. Cover and cook quickly until just tender, 10-15 minutes, or 1½ minutes in a pressure cooker. Arrange broccoli around tuna fish. Melt the cheese in the top of a double boiler. When melted, stir in the milk. Pour at once over the tuna-broccoli combination. Makes enough for four servings.

BIRD'S NEST SALAD NO. 1

- 1 head lettuce
1 small can crushed pineapple
½ small head cabbage, finely shredded

mayonnaise

Core the lettuce. Place in a colander and allow cold water to run through the leaves. The cold water will loosen and swell the head of lettuce into an attractive "Bird's Nest." Place into a large attractive salad bowl. Drain crushed pineapple. Combine pineapple and finely shredded cabbage and add enough mayonnaise to flavor (about 2 tablespoonfuls). Arrange throughout the lettuce leaves.

BIRD'S NEST SALAD NO. 2

- 1 head lettuce
½ small head cabbage, medium shred
2 carrots, finely shredded
½ small green pepper, medium shred
mayonnaise

Prepare in same manner as for Bird's Nest Salad No. 1. Serves four to six.
