SPIRIT OF UNITY: The spirit of unity in American Jewish life again manifested itself at the General Assembly of the Council of Jewish Federations and Welfare Funds last week in Washington . . . Contrary to the anticipation that there would be "hot fighting" between Zionists and non-Zionists at the Assembly, no such fighting took place . . . In fact, peace "broke out" before war started . . . This was achieved due to behind-the-scenes talks between leaders of the C.J.F.W.F. and the Zionist opposition group . . . As a result, neither side did anything to precipitate a "war" at the Assembly . . . The Zionist group was satisfied with the fact that the C.J.F.W.F. blueprint for a central community-sponsored campaign organization was not brought before the Assembly . . . And the non-Zionist community leaders were satisfied with the promise by Dr. Nahum Goldmann on behalf of the Jewish Agency that the Agency will increase its authority and control over all independent Israeli campaigns in the United States . . . This promise was interpreted to mean that the C.J.F.W.F. request for merging all pro-Israel fund-raising in the United States into one—to even include Hadassah and the Histadrut—has not entirely been rejected by the Jewish Agency . . . Of course, the Zionist group could have pressed for the consideration of the C.J.F.W.F. blueprint in order to dispose of it once and for all . . . However, this would have meant an open fight at the Assembly, and nobody actually wanted such a fight . . . Especially, since the argument that the blueprint aims to replace the United Jewish Appeal lost its strength in the light of the fact that the U.J.A. had been renewed for 1951.

THE U.J.A. FUTURE: The national conference of the United Jewish Appeal in Atlantic City this week-end will be one of the most important gatherings in the existence of the U.J.A. . . . It may not be as glamorous as some of the previous annual conferences at which the U.J.A. goal for the year was announced, but it will definitely mark a turning point in the U.J.A. history . . . In the first place, it will have to devise plans for conducting activities in the light of the competition which it will undoubtedly face by the sale of Israel bonds . . . This is the first time that the U.J.A. will have to meet this kind of an involuntary competitor . . . In the second place, the conference will effect a change in the U.J.A. administration by appointing Dr. Joseph J. Schwartz executive head to succeed Henry Montor, who is leaving the U.J.A. to conduct the Israel bond campaign.

"... During The Week"

GERMANY: The Lady on Trial—Sitting there, her hands folded reverently, the lady on trial for her life listened attentively as a score of witnesses walked to the little court room's witness stand in Augsburg and mounted the stand to relate a nightmare of horrors.

She wore a simple cotton dress; her hair was combed neatly. The brightly colored scarf around her slim neck failed to distinguish her from Germany's millions of plain frauleins. Only her name distinguished her from the human race: her name was Ilse Koch. And though she appeared harmless, let alone helpless last week as a jury considered her future, the little woman who posed so humble before a packed courtroom of curious onlookers, was not always that way.

Greying 54-year-old Joseph Ackerman took the witness stand to tell of Ilse in her more glamorous days . . . days when wholesale murders were committed at the Nazi Buchenwald concentration camp to ruthlessly satisfy the mistresses' slightest whim.

Mrs. Koch's eyes reddened and she lowered her eyes to stare at the bleak floor as Ackerman, who worked in the infamous dissection department at Buchenwald, told how skins were taken from the bodies of the murdered. On one occasion, he swore, the skins were exhibited to curious Nazi officers. The prosecution charges ranging from murder to the most sadistic acts, also relate how Ilse Koch, wife of Buchenwald's high lord, ordered lampshades made from the skins of her prisoners. Most of Ilse's victims were Jews.

Other witnesses, a long line of them, shuddered and recalled mass whippings and outward acts of perversion by the once-glamorous mistress of Buchenwald.

Mrs. Koch just sat there and listened. If the jurymen, several of whom turned their faces and refused to touch pieces of human skin introduced in the trial, find her guilty, she faces a long prison stretch, possibly death.

But Ilse Koch could take hope in the action of authorities who last week freed more than a dozen concentration camp guards, some of them sentenced to life terms. The Army had said there was insufficient evidence.

The key to the defense of Ilse Koch's future rested in whether the German civilian court would consider whether human skins of victims slain on the mistresses' say-so also constituted "insufficient evidence."

Ilse Koch, her days of murdering over—for the time being at least—sat, her hands folded, and wondered.

AMERICA: We Won't Quit! The balding little man sat behind a big desk and puffed on a cork-tipped cigarette. The walls surrounding him bore citations with bold Chinese inscriptions; a plaque from the United Jewish Appeal; a photograph of Chiang-Kai-Shek, Nationalist China's fighting leader.

Plump Alfred Kohlberg made no bones about it. His American Jewish League Against Communism, oft-times attacked as "superfluous," wasn't thinking of quitting. On the contrary, said Kohlberg, it was expanded. The membership had risen to more than 2,000 in New York City alone.

When—under what circumstances would the League cash in its chips, the controversial Kohlberg was asked. He paused a moment then replied freely, "If we became convinced that there were very few Jews opposed to the Reds; that we did not represent the overwhelming majority of opinion in the American Jewish community, I would move for the League's dissolution."

But Kohlberg was quick to reassure that most Jews supported the much-attacked anti-Communist League. Some of the League's supporters, said Kohlberg, desired to remain anonymous for a number of reasons, like the prominent individual—no names given—who plunked $3350.00 down to help further the League's educational program.

The dynamic little man who Chiang honored with a special banquet recently at his Formosa fortress, spoke fondly of his son Laurance and the kid's volunteer service with Haganah. Young Kohlberg, now a student at the University of Chicago, was an engineer on two "illegal" immigrant ships which ran the British blockade to resettle Hitler's survivors in Palestine. Caught on one occasion and imprisoned in Cyprus, Laurance escaped the British, made his way home with the aid of

Just a Word

By JANE LEVINE STERN

Outlook Executive Editor

It would prove an interesting study, I believe, if one were to scientifically chronicle the varied efforts of man on behalf of his fellows. This chronicle would specifically group such efforts in various cycles according to age groups involved. Though my sociological footing is unsound, I should imagine that science would record initial efforts on behalf of infancy through youth stages. And this was probably just and logical as it should have been.

Jane L. Stern

The next step is rather confusing, in that it seems to have embraced old-age, while we in our community are quite close to contemporary enterprises to serve the elderly group, as typified by our Council Lounge. A rapid scan of all of these finds most ages considerably comforted.

And this is all true with one exception. In the over 21 classification there is a rather large group of persons, usually unmarrieds, who find themselves desperately seeking both recreation and association within their own ages. Along with the field of geriatrics, this particular problem has very recently taken on national proportions, too. Even brief reflection will prove that there is almost no planned recreation, or activity of any sort for that matter, which specifically caters to individuals in their mid-twenties.

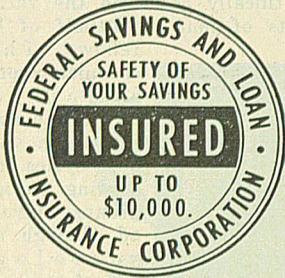

Our own Y in Pittsburgh has been the scene of tremendous progress in this field, for exactly a year ago five young adults, faced with the above cited vacuum, met to found what we now know as the Mr. and Miss Club. Since that date, national attention has been drawn to the Oakland experiment; it is fair to state at this date, that the experiment has proven successful. The group, with its professional adviser, caters to varied needs for this age: its plans include cultural, social, and just plain friendly activity.

And that word friendly is significant, for among the membership are not merely native and ambitious individuals, but a number of refugees, out-of-towners locally employed and an additional portion of those who have spent various enforced periods away from the city. The result of all of this has been a precious knot of warmth and friendship and kindness where once there was cold—not even acquaintance. A vivid humane addition the way we see it.

Postponed Testimonial Set For This Sunday Evening

The date has been changed, but the cast and production remain the same.

This Sunday evening at 6:30 p.m. in the Ballroom of the Schenley Hotel the United Jewish Fund will honor President Emanuel Spector at a Testimonial Dinner, which had been postponed because of the big snow.

Former Pittsburgher Louis Broido, who was originally scheduled to speak, is still slated to make the principal address at the testimonial affair which will also serve as the 14th Annual Meeting of the Fund.

Harry Seeve
 ... UJA Representative ...

Mr. Spector will be honored in recognition of the completion of three consecutive terms as president of the Fund and for his distinguished service in civic affairs.

It was during the 1948, '49, and '50 campaigns—which marked Mr. Spector's period in office—that the Fund reached its peak as a channel of direct aid to the new state of Israel, to the Montefiore Hospital building program, to the Pittsburgh immigrant-aid program, to other overseas agencies, to local groups, and to national organizations. More than 40 agencies benefit from the annual United Jewish Fund drive.

During these three years, the United Jewish Fund raised more than $7,000,000 in pledges. During this period, because of the urgent need for cash by Fund beneficiaries the UJF borrowed a total of $4,500,000 against outstanding pledges. The latest loan came several weeks ago when $500,000 was borrowed.

Harry Seeve, national United Jewish Appeal official and well-known UJA speaker, will represent the national leadership at Sunday night's meeting. Mr. Seeve will leave the important national United Jewish Appeal conference in Atlantic City to participate in the meeting.

As part of the regular business of the Annual Meeting, reports will be made by treasurer M. A. Marcus, executive director Dr. Maurice Taylor and other Fund officials. The Nominating Committee will present a slate of nominees to the Board for a three-year term.

Reservations for the meeting can be made by contacting S. J. Noven, reservation chairman, or by calling the United Jewish Fund office, Atlantic 1-4605. The cost per plate is $5 and those who cannot attend the dinner are invited to come after dinner.

Samuel Goldstock is chairman of the Testimonial Dinner. Committee members include Simon Alpern, Mrs. Abe Caplan, Joseph W. Feldman, Mrs. M. H. Fisher, Dr. Laibe Kessler, M. A. Marcus, S. J. Noven, and Mrs. Leo Shonfield.

Brandeis Chairman To Be Honored Locally

George Alpert, chairman of the Board of Trustees of Brandeis University, will be honored as guest speaker at a dinner arranged for January 12 at the William Penn Hotel in order to complete the organization of the Pittsburgh sponsoring committee for the university.

Pittsburgh interest in Brandeis, the first Jewish sponsored non-sectarian university in the western hemisphere, has been growing rapidly, and the Jewish community of the city is joining other major communities of the country in an effort to gain financial support for the school. Mr. Alpert spoke here in behalf of Brandeis several weeks ago; his visit was followed by an address on November 12 by Dr. Abram L. Sachar, president of the university in an open meeting before the Pittsburgh Friends of Brandeis University. Both men drew such enthusiastic response from the community that Leonard H. Krieger, chairman of the local sponsoring committee, invited Mr. Alpert to make a return visit.

Mr. Krieger is endeavoring to create a permanent Pittsburgh organization which will serve to advance the great cause of Brandeis University, American Jewry's first contribution to the nation's educational scene. It is hoped that the dinner on January 12 will lay the groundwork for such an organization.

Capital Spotlight

By MILTON FRIEDMAN

WASHINGTON—Secretary of State Dean Acheson, who supports democracy and the dignity of man throughout the world, has gone out of his way to aid Secretary-General Azzam Pasha, of the Arab League, who stands against democracy and for indignities toward Jews.

Acheson knows that Azzam Pasha advocated the killing of every Jew in Palestine on May 15, 1948, when he urged "a war of extermination and a momentous massacre"; that the Arab League is guilty of aggression against Israel; that Azzam Pasha, as Arab League leader, prevented Jordan from making peace with Israel only a few months ago; that Azzam Pasha organized the Arab League boycott against Israel; that the Israel victory caused the Arab League's prestige to suffer; that many Arabs are tired of Arab League belligerence and would like to live in peace with their Jewish neighbors, and that even the British now frown on Azzam Pasha and the Arab League, their own creatures.

Knowing these things, Acheson sent Azzam Pasha's stock soaring and restored dignity to the Arab League. Azzam Pasha, who has no actual political status, had been politely ignored by the State Department. Recently, however, when he arrived in Washington, a contingent of State Department officials rushed to Union Station to welcome him. Included were George C. McGhee, Assistant Secretary of State for Near Eastern Affairs; James Rives Childs, former U. S. Ambassador to Saudi Arabia, and a number of other American dignitaries who stood in the rain with Arab diplomats to greet Azzam Pasha. They almost knocked each other down as they rushed to shake his hand when he alighted from the train.

When Israel Foreign Minister Moshe Sharett last visited Washington the State Department sent only one minor functionary to meet him.

It was denied that Azzam Pasha was the guest of the U. S. Government but the State Department said he was an "outstanding visitor" and a "distinguished dignitary" and that this government "is happy to welcome him here." The department thought of Azzam Pasha's safety and assigned a special bodyguard to accompany him all over Washington.

Secretary Acheson took several minutes off, in the midst of the Chinese Communist crisis, to leave his office and accompany Azzam Pasha to a room where news photographers were invited to take pictures of the two shaking hands. The pictures were immediately dispatched to newspapers in all Arab League countries.

Israel Ambassador Abba Eban deviated from the prepared text of an address before the National Press Club to charge that the Arab League—and its secretary-general, Azzam Pasha—prevented Jordan from making peace with Israel.

A number of parties, luncheons, and receptions were arranged for Azzam Pasha. Under-Secretary of State James E. Webb tendered him a luncheon at the Prospect House—the old Forrester home—which is maintained by the department for events in honor of distinguished foreign guests. Among those who attended were Ambassador-At-Large Philip C. Jessup, Maj. Gen. J. H. Burns of the Defense Department, Assistant Secretary McGhee, a number of other government officials, Pakistan Ambassador M. A. H. Ispahani, and diplomatic representatives of the Arab states. Azzam Pasha told reporters he was "delighted" by the luncheon.

At his press conferences, Azzam Pasha insulted both the U. S. and the United Nations, making some of the statements in the reception room of Acheson's office in the State Department. He said the Arabs had doubts about America's "moral leadership" and that the U. N. lacked "ideals and principles." He said also that American public opinion should force British troops out of the Suez Canal zone so that the Arabs could "defend" the canal. British diplomats were concerned over Acheson's support of this man. The Israelis were also anxious.

Meanwhile, Arthur Z. Gardiner, special assistant to McGhee, told a forum audience at the University of Virginia that "the goodwill of the entire Moslem world must always be an element in our thinking." He said "their friendship to the Allied cause was a major factor in the prosecution" of the last war.

Gardiner evidently forgot that Egypt impeded the British war effort and refused to fight for years after the Nazi Afrika Korps violated her territory; that Syrian Arabs aided Vichy France; that the British were forced to remove from power the pro-Nazi Shah of Iran; that Iraq revolted in favor of the Nazis; that a special Moslem S.S. Division volunteered to aid the Nazis, and that Haj Amin El Hussein and Arab League leaders went to Berlin to broadcast propaganda and to advise Hitler on how to defeat the Allies in the Near East.

Dear, Dear Dorothy:

There was a time indeed, Dorothy Thompson, when most of us respected your judgments and took pride in your frequent pronouncements on behalf of the righteous. That time has apparently dissolved into nothing but a memory, briefly succeeded by a period of wonder and bewilderment. Now, even the questioning has vanished, and we consider your attitudes only as distortions and half-truths. At this point, probably only God, your analyst and Farouk are aware of the motives behind your drastic switch.

But even though we bear the above in mind constantly, there are times when it becomes a necessity that we take umbrage with you—chiefly because you probably yet endear a loyal readership. And such an occasion appeared only this week, when, under a Beirut, Lebanon, Dec. 10, dateline, you proceeded to champion the weary cause of the Arab refugees. Your terms were not only uncertain, but further, unstable. Let us cite a few specific examples of our thesis.

Your original statement is that the Arab viewpoint on the Palestine question is unanimously maintained by the governments and populations of the Arab states—as vigorously as is the opposite opinion maintained by Israel. You claim you sought in vain for any Arabs friendly to either Israel or Western policy. Now Dorothy, it is barely a month since both the Israel and Arab leaders surrendered somewhat their vigorous stands in relation to the Arab refugees. This surrender was prompted by a UN resolution, introduced by the Western powers, to initiate a policy of reintegration and rehabilitation for Arab refugees. This included, incidentally, an admission by Arab States' representatives that a sizeable proportion of the refugees will likely remain in the Arab countries and that Israel could not take them back. Only a minor contradiction, Dorothy, but a significant one, since the Western powers are at this moment blueprinting plans to raise funds in order to facilitate that very resolution.

In addition to deploring the apparent negligence of the UN in regard to the refugee situation, you exhibit a disturbing concern for property compensation which you claim is yet floundering. And your tone is none too charming either, as you imply that said properties were unjustly appropriated, etc. Well, let us refer you to a recent memorandum by Jerome Unger, Executive Director of the American Zionist Council, which says: "Christian property has indeed been confiscated, but again . . . there has been a war in Palestine and the native Christians in that war were part and parcel of the Arab attack against Israel. Confiscation of enemy property is unfortunately a normal concomitant of war, and the war in Palestine, begun by the Arabs, is no different from any other war. Unlike most combatants, however, the State of Israel has formally obligated itself to pay compensation for abandoned and occupied Arab property in Israel."

And this is true Dorothy, for on May 5, 1949, Mr. Aubrey Eban, speaking before the Ad Hoc Political Committee of the United Nations, stated: "The Government of Israel has already announced its acceptance of obligations to make compensations for lands abandoned. The entire question of compensation may well be settled by negotiations . . ." And furthermore, while you blindly reiterate United Nations failure to implement negotiations on behalf of reparations, the Government of Israel has set up a Custodian for Absentee Property, who sees to it that abandoned lands are worked and puts into a special fund the monies derived from sales of their crops.

And the closing to your column is not any more acceptable, for in it you seem to define a passive resistance to Israel that the Arab States will follow until their demands are met. That resistance, Miss Thompson, will shortly break or be broken—for in spite of your lack of spirit for this enterprise, it is here to stay.

In closing, Dorothy, let us only add that in the world today there are only a few bright and light spots. For you to ignore one, such as Israel, to defy Israel, and condemn it, is to magnify your personal darkness. And we have meant this very sincerely.

A Just Pride

An event of last Sunday, which took place many miles away, justifiably awakened a new pride in the world Jewish community. For on that date, in Oslo, Norway, King Haakon personally presented Dr. Ralph Bunche with the fiftieth anniversary Nobel Peace Prize for 1950.

The award was, of course, offered in recognition of Bunche's efforts as United Nations mediator during the Palestine War. We feel signally proud to have been associated with Dr. Bunche, even indirectly; for thusly, we may take some pleasure in noting that he was the first Negro ever to be so honored. And likewise, it is pleasant to note that Israel, even under such a distasteful circumstance, served as the impetus for such an event. We hope that the future will hold many such prides for the State of Israel.

It is an indirect pride, we admit, and perhaps we are presumptuous; yet there exists an intangible kinship with the famed diplomat and one which we are proud to declare.

A Great Name

Among the groups in our town which evoke a quiet sentiment now and again is the Enoch Rauh Club. Such sentiments are evoked for varied reasons, one of which is the very name; for this group of localites chose as a namesake, one of Pittsburgh's finest and most distinguished figures. The Enoch Rauh Club has steadily endeavored to maintain the tradition which Mr. Rauh early established in this community: that of justice and goodness and kindness.

In this relationship, we are noting now that Sunday will be the occasion of that group's 25th annual orphanage party, this year to be held in the Y auditorium. Over 1,000 children from the various orphanages and institutions of this vicinity will be transported to the scene and directly feted with magnificent entertainments.

Enoch Rauh members have a motto: "Do good wherever possible." We rather think they follow that motto devoutly and for this all of us may hold our heads that much higher.

Jewish National Fund Embarks On Golden Jubilee Celebration

With the advent of the New Year, elaborate preparations will begin all over the country for the celebration of the Golden Jubilee of the Jewish National Fund, which redeemed the soil of Israel for the People of Israel.

The Jewish community of Pittsburgh will play a major role in the solemn observance of this historic occasion. A city-wide committee, representative of every element in the Jewish community, is making elaborate preparations for a Jubilee ilee Dinner to be held at the William Penn Hotel on Sunday, January 28, 1951. Arrangements are under way for a program in spirit with the importance of the occasion.

Judge Henry Ellenbogen
... local president ...

Out of the historic necessity of redeeming the Land of Israel, for centuries neglected under alien possession, the Jewish National Fund was born. Founded by the Fifth Zionist Congress with the blessing of the immortal leader of the Zionist Movement, Theodore Herzl; conceived by Professor Herman Shapira; nurtured to strength and maturity by Me-nachem Ussishkin, and other leading figures in the Zionist World; endowed with power for great achievement by a host of simple folk, sprung from the depths of the Jewish masses who in the streets of far-flung cities and in Jewish homes throughout the world, collected nickels and dimes for the cause they held dear and sacred, the Jewish National Fund has rendered historic services in redeeming Jewish soil and in laying the foundations of the Jewish State.

In the course of the five decades of its existence it has reclaimed much of the Jewish Fatherland, resettling the Emek, penetrating into the Negev, throwing a belt of forests across the Jewish homeland, creating a harvest in the desert and a habitation in the wilderness.

However, much still remains to be done if this generation of ours so highly privileged to see with its own eyes the fulfillment of the age-long dream of the establishment of the Jewish State is to fulfill its mission in aiding the return of the Land without a People to the People which but yesterday was without a land.

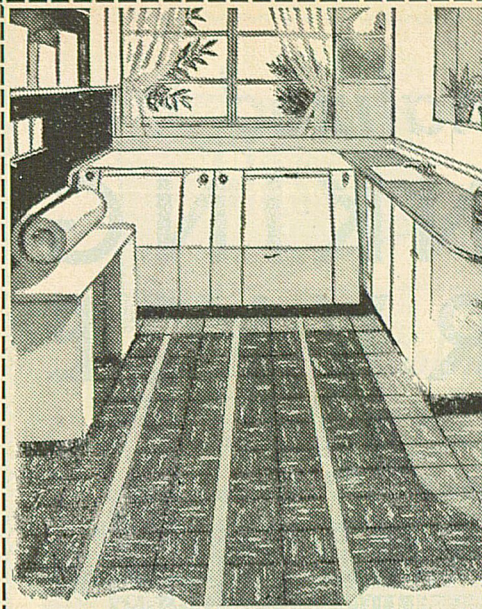

To mark this significant and historic occasion the Jews of the world over will observe the ensuing year with suitable festivities manifesting their attachment, devotion, and loyalty to the Jewish National Fund, and their readiness to advance by their support the many tasks which still remain to be accomplished.

Details announcing the list of outstanding personalities who will take part in the program of the Pittsburgh celebration on January 28, 1951, at the William Penn Hotel, as well as other features, will be published shortly.

Officers of the Pittsburgh Jewish National Fund Council, sponsoring this celebration are Judge Henry Ellenbogen, President; Max Engelberg and Dr. Solomon B. Freehof, Honorary Presidents; Walter Burke, H. M. Caplan, Mrs. Samuel Fishman, Mrs. A. M. Karlin, Rabbi Bernard A. Poupko, Dr. Joseph J. Schmidt, Morris Schwartz, Sam Verman, Vice Presidents; Abe Bancheck, Treasurer, and Samuel Goldstock, Financial Secretary.

ZOA District Cultural Evening To Discuss "Parties In Israel"

The Cultural and Educational Committee of the Pittsburgh Zionist District will hold its first "Cultural Evening Roundtable" Thursday evening, December 21, at 8:30 p.m. in the Library of the Hebrew Institute.

Rabbi Morris A. Landes

... Committee chairman ...

Rabbi Morris A. Landes, Chairman of the Committee, has announced that the subject for discussion at the first roundtable will be "Parties in Israel." According to Rabbi Landes, there will be four discussion leaders who will each give the history and programs of the four major parties in Israel today. An open question and answer period will follow each of the four speakers.

A breakfast and report meeting of the membership campaign of the Pittsburgh Zionist District will be held this Sunday morning, December 17, at 10:30 a.m. in Cappy's Restaurant, 1720 Murray Ave. All workers are urged to attend.

The discussion leaders will be Rabbi Simon Z. Helfgott, David Busis, David R. Levin, and David Macarov. An analysis will be made of the following four parties: Mizrachi, General Zionists, Mapai, and Mapam. The history, programs and ideologies of the parties and their differences will be discussed. The meeting is open to members of the Pittsburgh Zionist District and their friends.

Rabbi Landes announced that this program will be the first of a series of such meetings to be held for the remainder of the year. According to Rabbi Landes, these Cultural evenings are intended for those who want a more intensive knowledge of Zionist issues and problems.

Testimonial Planned For "Y" Director

Herman Passamaneck, for twenty-five years executive director of the YM&WHA, will be honored at a public testimonial dinner given by the Board of Directors on January 14 at the Schenley Hotel as part of the fortieth anniversary of the Y.

"Passy," as he is known across the country, is one of the pioneers in the center movement. After participating in the work of a group which developed the Louisville YMHA into a constructive community agency, Mr. Passamaneck was asked in 1916 to come to Kansas City, Mo., to direct the Jewish Community Center there. From Kansas City, where the JCC building stands as a monument to his perseverance and hard work, he came to Pittsburgh in 1925 as executive director of the Y. These positions represent 33 uninterrupted years of Jewish Center work.

Judge Benjamin Lencher, presiding judge of the Allegheny County Court, has been named general chairman of the dinner which promises to be one of the outstanding affairs in the history of the Y. The community is asked to set aside the date of January 14 so that as large a crowd as possible may be on hand to honor Mr. Passamaneck that evening.

Pro Golf Teachers at the Y Give Daily Lessons

Professional golf teachers are giving daily lessons at the Y to those who wish to improve their game or start at the beginning. Frank Bonaroti, golf pro at the Baldoe Country Club, and Frank Barkovich, assistant pro at the Alcoma Country Club, are the instructors. The golf facilities are available during all hours when the Health Club is open and instruction is given by appointment.

Members of the Y who wish to learn the game or keep in trim for next season are invited to contact the golf teachers.

Unique Group Here Marks Anniversary With Entertainment

"I'm new in Pittsburgh, how do I make friends?" "I've been out of Pittsburgh—just got back, don't know a soul anymore!" "Gosh, I'd like to meet and make new friends."

How many times have you heard the above statements and haven't been able to help? Well, in October of 1949 five young adult men and women of the Pittsburgh area met and made plans for what is now known as the Mr. and Miss Club. It is one of the more interesting organizations to hit the Jewish Center Field in sometime here in Pittsburgh. It has proved itself to be a popular and much desired organization. In a little over a year the club has acquired an active membership of 125 members. The club's growth has not only astounded the Y staff, but word has reached other cities of this club and inquiries have been made as to its inception and growth.

The club meets every Sunday at the YM&WHA. There is a regular business meeting which starts at 7:30 p.m. This is followed by a program. Many well known Pittsburghers such as Jeanne Baxter and Charley Garroway of KDKA, dancers from the Fred Astaire Studios, Marty Wolfson the well-known cartoonist, have contributed their talents to the club's entertainment. The program is then followed by a period of dancing until midnight in a comfortable and friendly atmosphere in one of the "Y's" largest meeting and dancing rooms. There are also planned extra social activities, such as barn dances, weiner roasts, radio broadcasts, picnics, etc.

At present the Mr. and Miss group is still in a state of dynamic growth. On Sunday, Dec. 17 the club is sponsoring its first Mid-Winter Frolic in the auditorium of the "Y." Music will be played by Howdy Baum and orchestra and the charge will be $1 including tax. The club is preparing plans to extend an invitation to all adults in their mid-twenties and up from Pittsburgh and neighboring towns around the Pittsburgh area to attend one of its meetings. Prospective members are welcomed and participation in the planning and further development of the club by them is something that the club wants and desires. The dance on Dec. 17 should arouse much interest and with the successful culmination of this event, the Mr. and Miss Club is looking forward to even more members and still more interesting and entertaining activities in the future.

"Underground To Freedom"

By JOE HARRISON FRIED

First Article in a Series of Three

(Copyright 1950, American Jewish Press. All Rights Reserved.)

Behind a formidable Iron Curtain of armed sentries and secrecy barring the last routes of escape for tens of thousands of Polish and Roumanian "active" Jews, an alert well-disciplined corps of veteran Jewish underground operators at this very moment dodge the Polish U.B. secret police to facilitate the "illegal" escape and rescue of scores of men and women whose names may appear on tomorrow's liquidation lists.

The Polish and Roumanian operators—and these are the two Soviet satellite states where the Jewish underground is most active—are part of a well-planned worldwide network dedicated to the sole purpose of rescuing those Jews who by ordinary means would find escape totally impossible. Its task is to smuggle these Jews, and their families in many cases, out of Stalin's prison-like existence to a friendly neighboring European country—then to Israel and permanent freedom.

At the head of the Jewish underground—and that is exactly what it is—stands an energetic balding man in his late 50's. We shall call him simply "Mr. Aleph," for to be more specific might threaten thousands who still await liberation at the hands of the close-knit network which he commands. "Mr. Aleph" is an old-timer at this sort of thing. He came to the United States, a pivot point of the rescue operations, late in 1938 to map out a similar underground rescue to save thousands of Jews trapped by Hitler. When the war was over, "Mr. Aleph" suspended the escape network and turned to ways of rehabilitation and peace. But as the octopus-like arms of Soviet aggression tightened their hold on Europe and anti-Jewish edicts increased, "Mr. Aleph" was called upon once again to form his network of agents.

"Mr. Aleph's" Job

Working out of the Jewish Labor Committee headquarters in New York City, "Mr. Aleph," organizer of the ever-increasing project, is charged with its maintenance and operation; with deciphering coded messages sent from the Soviet-occupied or dominated lands by his Jewish agents; of passing on whether a prospective agent is sincere or a plant of the ruthless U. B. Polish secret state police.

"Mr. Aleph" faces the unpleasant task of preparing a list of alternate key agents to step in at a moment's notice to replace an operator imprisoned by the Soviet-commanded Poles or Roumanians

Behind the walls of a virtual prison, Jews trapped in Communist-controlled Europe face a double peril. Anti-Semitism increases with each day. The possibility of a third World War, the trapped Jews feel, would place them at the complete mercy of elements long unfriendly to the Jews. Religious and cultural life has all but been liquidated by the Soviet masters of the puppet regimes.

Large numbers of Jews in Poland and other European nations are being brought to Israel through recognized Jewish relief agencies. To these agencies fall the tremendous tasks of transportation and rehabilitation. But there are those Jews who are refused clearance by the Soviet-dominated governments. Many of these—and they total thousands—have been active in the free labor movement, in civic groups and social welfare undertakings. For these Jews a dismal future existence in Sovietland is the price that is demanded by the Communists.

To smuggle these active Jews out of Poland and other prison-like nations of Europe, a Jewish Underground functions in these nations today. Its task is to arrange the escape of Jews who by ordinary means could never reach a safe haven in Israel.

The Jewish Underground to date has succeeded in rescuing more than 1,000 such Jews. Its agents, both in the United States and Europe, are arranging for the escape of thousands more—all this under the very noses of the Soviet-commanded secret police.

The American Jewish Press, in a series of three articles, relates for the first time, the details of this amazing undertaking which has brought a ray of hope to the thousands of hopeless Jews trapped by the Communist regimes.

To the men and women who engage in this precarious crusade for freedom, this series is respectfully dedicated.—Author's Preface.

Symbolic of the depression and despair of Jews trapped behind the Iron Curtain is this young Jewish Hungarian boy who awaits rescue. But though the Soviet-dominated states allow some Jews to migrate to Israel, thousands of others active in civic and social welfare activity are barred exit. The Jewish Underground steps in to help these escape to freedom.—(American Jewish Press Photo) or simply "disappeared." In the little more than a year during which the new Jewish underground has carried out its mission, "Mr. Aleph" has had cause to make use of his substitute lists of agents.

The amazing details of this underground undertaking were unfolded in a small neat office in New York City. Before it was over I was to view first hand the coded letters from Jewish underground agents in Europe to their chief here; check a list of 100 of the latest escapees who illegally crossed the border into Italy—and then on to Israel—as late as three short weeks ago. I was to learn, too, how a chain of "front" addresses located throughout a big city enabled the Jewish underground against Communism to maintain its links with operators abroad.

Within a framework of almost absolute secrecy, European agents of the Jewish underground use multiple means of obtaining illegal passports and other identification with which to speed the Jewish escapes to friendly and safe asylum. But methods have changed in line with a new rigidity exhibited in Europe by the Soviet slave states. Where once the Jewish underground utilized experienced agents as guides to lead Jews on foot and in small vehicles across loosely guarded exits to freedom, the emphasis in escaping Stalin's inferno as of November, 1950, had turned to extensive use of misleading identification papers. Tightened lines and Soviet-commanded re-inforced border patrols make it virtually impossible to successfully find a rear exit to the dungeon-like bleakness of Sovietland.

Costly Credentials

Illegal credentials — and they must of necessity be good if they are to pass the eye of alert Polish patrols—sell for approximately $100 apiece on the black market and elsewhere. The price is approximately the same in Roumania. But as the agents work inward toward the Soviet itself, the price for such credentials becomes costlier; the existence of such escape-papers, more scarce.

The methods by which the Jewish agents obtain the cash with which to purchase credentials provide a first-rate story in themselves.

Since the close of World War II and the envelopment of all of Poland by Red legions, numerous Polish citizens of means have been deeply concerned over the future of their financial holdings. The Polish Government has all but slapped an embargo on money leaving the country for "capitalistic" havens. Poles recalling their not too distant dealing with the Nazis shudder at the thought of financial confiscations. Any day, they fear, the "people's government" might confiscate private funds in the "cause of peace."

Aware of these feelings, underground agents, after a thorough check of such frightened financiers, exploit the not totally unjustified fear in the interests of saving Jews.

Devious Methods

Here is a typical method used by the Jewish underground to obtain sorely-needed dollars to purchase papers:

A Jewish agent, after checking the prospective unwitting helper, approaches the financier for what would appear to be a personal loan. Once the Polish dollars are in the agent's hands, he, in turn, contacts the headquarters of the Jewish Labor Committee and "Mr. Aleph" in New York. This is done by a cleverly arranged "drop" network which will be outlined as we progress.

The agent's letter or card is innocent enough. Polish censors giving it the once-over—and all such mailings headed for America get a thorough once-over — see nothing which might cause the slightest alarm. But once deciphered by "Mr. Aleph," the words take on new meaning. Through a special code the Polish agent informs his chief of the amount of the "loan" obtained from the particular Polish financier. "Mr. Aleph" promptly deposits the exact amount in a safe American bank under the "lender's" name.

The Pole is happy because he has a nest-egg free from the grasp of the Polish commissars. But his personal happiness falls far short of the joy in the hearts of the Jewish agents who purchase "credentials" in a slave nation where dollar bills alone determine whether an individual will suddenly "disappear," never again to be heard from or whether the same individual reaches the borders of a friendly nation, then sails the blue Mediterranean to a free life.

One such Jew smuggled out of Poland wrote this letter—once he had eluded the Polish patrols and was safe in Israel.

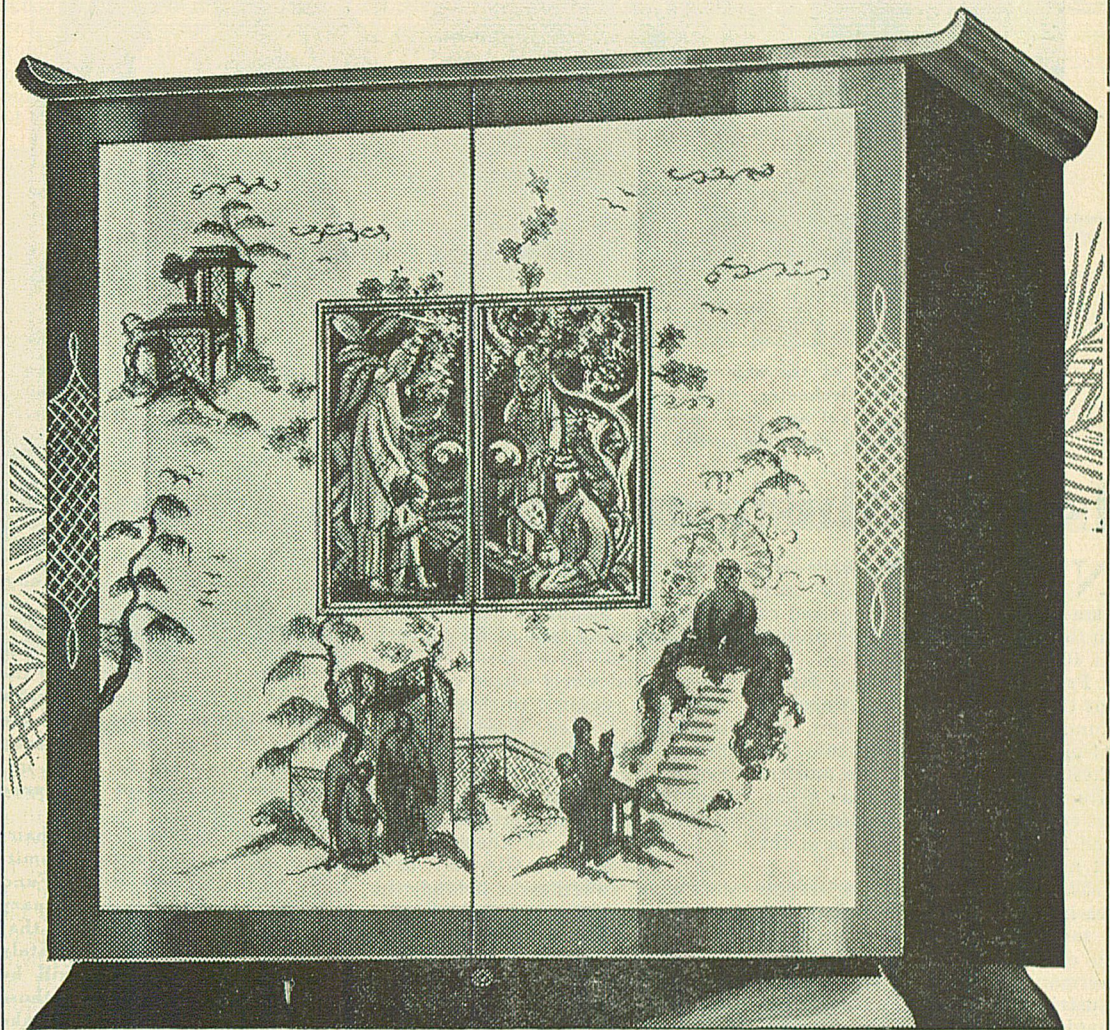

There Are Others

"At long last," the little Jewish tailor wrote, "I am out of Stalin's 'gahenem' (hell). Now I shall find work. Nothing matters, however, because I am a free man again!"

But there are others who are caught at the border.

He is in his late 80's, a constant shule-goer and a grandfather. They both live quiet lives in a big American city. But without Mrs. B., Mr. Z., and others like them, the Jewish underground's rescue operations behind the Iron Curtain could never function. Enoch Rauh Club 25th Annual Orphans Party

On Sunday afternoon, December 17, the Enoch Rauh Club will hold its 25th annual orphanage party in the auditorium of the "Y" at 1 p.m. The only organization in Pittsburgh to hold a mass non-sectarian party of this kind, the Rauh Club has been creating a spirit of good will among the members of the community of all faiths.

Over 1,000 children from the various orphanages and institutions of Pittsburgh and vicinity will be transported in chartered cars and buses to and from the "Y." A grand entertainment is being arranged for the children, including movies, a magician show, Mamie Barth's Studio show and many other features from local entertainment circles.

During an intermission the children will be given a generous cake, candy, fruit and ice cream treat and entertained with a musical interlude and group singing.

The children will come from St. Paul's R.C. Orphanage, the Raphael Home, Protestant Home for Children, Jewish Home for Babies, Eudes Institute, Davis Home for Colored Children, Home for Friendless and Holy Family Institute.

The only rewards which the Rauh Club members look for on this occasion are the smiling happy faces of the children in the auditorium, and the thought that through this effort and other social services, the club is fulfilling its motto "Do good wherever possible."

Rabbi To Be Installed In Atlantic City Pulpit

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J.—Dr. Baruch Braunstein, who has held several pulpits in Pennsylvania, will this weekend be installed as Rabbi of the Congregation Beth Israel in Atlantic City, N. J. Rabbi Samuel H. Goldenson, Rabbi Emeritus of Temple Emanu-El, New York, will deliver the installation address on Friday evening, Dec. 15.

A native of Ellwood City, Pennsylvania, Dr. Braunstein was educated at Western Reserve University, Ohio State University, where he received his bachelor's degree, the Jewish Institute of Religion, where he was awarded the degrees of Master of Hebrew Literature and Rabbi, and Columbia University, where he was granted the degree of Doctor of Philosophy. At Columbia, also, he was the first Jewish Adviser of the University. A writer and historian, his work has been published in newspapers, magazines and scholarly journals.

In addition to serving congregations in Wheeling, Allentown and New York, he lectured before colleges, universities, service, women's and literary clubs, and conducted a radio program over Station WIP in Philadelphia, where he was affiliated with the Emergency Peace Campaign, of the American Friends' Service Committee.

Standing before one of the armored cars they travelled in during hectic war years in Israel, the Israel Philharmonic Orchestra, which will appear on tour in 40 American communities to further goodwill between Israel and the United States, poses for a picture. The group is under the management of S. Hurok and the musical direction of Serge Koussevitzky and Leonard Bernstein.

Israeli Musicians America Bound

NEW YORK CITY (AJP)—Those defiant Israel Musical Ambassadors of Goodwill who braved Arab bullets and bombs to tour Israeli settlements in armored cars during the height of the 1948 war in the Holy Land this week prepared for a sweeping tour of 55 concerts in 40 major American cities.

Presented in the United States for the first time by the American Fund for Israel Institutions, the 94-piece Israel Philharmonic Orchestra will be under the musical direction of two of this era's greatest conductors, Serge Koussevitzky and Leonard Bernstein. Six of the 94 musicians are women.

The Israel Philharmonic Orchestra is a "little United Nations" in a sense. Its members come from 20 different countries, including, Germany, Poland, Holland, Russia, Austria, Hungary, France, Roumania, Switzerland, Bulgaria, Czechoslovakia, the United States, Latvia, Egypt, Yugoslavia, Belgium, Argentina, Italy, Turkey, China, etc. Ten members of the present group are sabras—native-born Israelis. Forty members of the present ensemble were members of the founding group in 1936.

The history of the Israel Philharmonic is fascinating. Often termed "a child of disturbances," though its sweet music soothes even the non-classical minded music lover, the Philharmonic was formed at the height of the bloody 1936 riots in Palestine.

Even then the musicians traveling from town to town to bring the finest music even to the smallest of the Jewish colonies were obliged to travel in armored cars. When the Arabs invaded Palestine in 1948, a dozen years later, dodging snipers' bullets was nothing new to the musicians of the Israel Philharmonic.

The Israel Philharmonic Orchestra had been in existence only 30 months—a short period indeed in the musical world where countless years are required to shape a fine ensemble—when World War II broke. But instead of the adverse repercussions feared by the Orchestra's founding fathers, the war brought many new servicemen into Palestine, some of them Americans. Though the GIs may have left their sweethearts behind, the same was not true of their ear for good classical music. Soon the Israel Philharmonic was blazing new trails to the doorsteps of the soldiers.

When the war broke out in 1948, the Israel Philharmonic Orchestra continued to maintain its schedule in Tel Aviv and Haifa, but Jerusalem concerts had to be temporarily abandoned.

So alert to events was the Orchestra that only a single day after the Israeli Army's capture of the stronghold of Beersheba, the Philharmonic was presenting one of its anxiously-awaited concerts. More than a thousand Israeli servicemen and women, fighters in the rough Negev battles, listened as Leonard Bernstein, the brilliant young American musician, conducted the Philharmonic.

In the course of a crowded season in peace-time Israel the Philharmonic plays as many as 200 concerts in a single year.

The Jewish State's philharmonic has played host to many eminent guest conductors and soloists. Maestro Arturo Toscanini was the first to conduct the Israel Philharmonic Orchestra. The Philharmonic has since played host to such all-time greats as Issai Do-

"Tickets, at the risk of bandying about a trite phrase, are moving like hot cakes."

That's the report on the sale of tickets for the concert by the Israel Philharmonic Orchestra which will be presented in the Syria Mosque on Wednesday evening, January 31, 1951, under the direction of Dr. Serge Koussevitzky.

Joseph W. Feldman, chairman of the Orchestra Committee of the United Jewish Fund which is sponsoring the January 31 musical event, reports that by this weekend approximately one-half of the house will be "sold." Mr. Feldman urges those who want to attend to make their order now.

The announcement of public ticket sales has stepped up considerably the demand for seats. Tickets can be ordered by mail from the United Jewish Fund, Sheraton Hotel. No telephone reservations can be accepted. Ticket prices range from $1.30, $1.95, $2.60, $3.90, $5.20, $6.50, $7.80 and $13.

Each order must be accompanied by a check or money order in full.

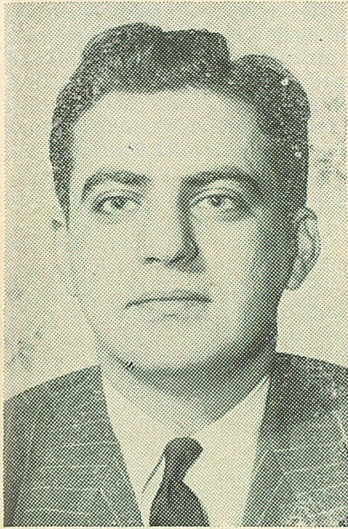

brown, Dr. Malcolm Sargent, Joseph Rosenstock, William Steinberg, Charles Muench, Bernardino Molinari, Jascha Horenstein, Dean Dixon, and others.

An important landmark in the Israel Philharmonic's development was their work with Dr. Serge Koussevitzky who made two special trips to Israel to prepare them for the forthcoming American tour.

Israel's musical ambassadors of goodwill are on their way.

Jewish Family and Children's Service Plans Nominations

The Nominating Committee of the Jewish Family and Children's Service will meet on Tuesday evening, December 19 at 8 p.m. at the home of the Chairman, Morris Balter, 1224 Squirrel Hill Ave.

Ten directors are to be nominated to the Board by the Committee for a term of four years and will be presented for election.

Members of the Jewish Family and Children's Service are invited to submit their suggestions for directors to Mr. Balter or to any one of the other members of the Nominating Committee, whose names are listed below. Any person who is a member of the Federation of Jewish Philanthropies is by that fact a member of the Jewish Family and Children's Service.

The Nominating Committee includes, in addition to Mr. Balter, Mrs. M. H. Fisher, Dr. David H. Kurtzman and Joseph Rosenbaum from the agency Board. Representatives from the community at large are Elmer A. Hamburg, Mrs. Israel Oseroff, Max Rogal, Joseph R. Silberstein, Donald S. Stein-first and Leroy Williams.

Local Student Selected To Attend Washington Conference On Youth

Harriet Pincus, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. J. W. Pincus of Flemington Avenue, was among the five Pittsburgh youths selected to attend the recent Mid-Century White House Conference on Children and Youth.

Four White House Conferences on Children and Youth have been held in the history of the nation. President Theodore Roosevelt, called the first one in 1909. There the U.S. Children's Bureau was established and the Mothers' Assistance movement got under way.

In 1920 on call by President Wilson, the second Conference compiled the first standards for child health, child labor and child welfare.

The 1930 President Hoover Conference advanced the profession of pediatrics and stimulated progressive education. President Roosevelt called the last conference in 1940 and described necessary services needed for children living in a democracy.

Annual Midwinter Vacation

The annual midwinter vacation for students in the elementary Hebrew School of the Hebrew Institute will begin Monday, December 25 and will continue through Monday, January 1. Classes will resume Tuesday, January 2.

Sunday Bible and History classes will hold classes as usual this Sunday, December 17, but will not meet Sunday, December 24, nor Sunday, December 31.

Wintry Chills Inspire Many Travellers' Dreams

By HELEN HALF FINGOLD

Day-dreaming in adulthood, we're told is a symptom of emotional immaturity. But we believe Sigmund Freud himself would grant us indulgence if we admitted to certain wintry day-dreams. We're sure Sigmund would see little wrong, aside from a slight rejection of reality, if we openly expressed ourselves as eager to put aside the snow and cold and raspy winds of December up north for one touch of summer down south or out west.

You may call me at EMerson 1-4369

In case you're feeling very much minded to be anywhere but in this boot-and-muffler center, we have a few suggestions of unusual events coming up on the winter calendar that might prove intriguing enough to motivate the adventuresome among you to new horizons.

For instance, rodeos abound in Arizona from now until April. Pasadena, California will present its annual and spectacular "Tournament of Roses" on New Year's Day. Almond blossoms will be out in February, as well as wild flowers, in California. And in the same month there will be a camellia show in San Diego.

Mardi Gras in New Orleans is another annual event of fabled charm, while in Clayton, New Mexico a great big square dancing contest is slated for January 25-27. The Sun Carnival in El Paso, Texas will be December 28 and this will feature a bull fight!

So start your dreaming and planning now. Meantime, we'll bring you news about others whose "dreams" are already in the reality stage.

Silver Wedding Celebrated Here

Mr. and Mrs. Sidney S. Spero of Feree Street celebrated their silver wedding anniversary at a reception held last Saturday night at the Penn-Shady Hotel. As part of the celebration, Rabbi Benjamin Lichter introduced the bridal party of twenty-five years ago. They were Mr. and Mrs. Harry Spiro, parents of the groom, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Trust (who gave the bride away), Mrs. Norman Rom (who had been the flower girl at the wedding), Mrs. I. Belansky, and Mrs. Sylvia Spiro, who had carried the bridal veil.

In a re-enactment of the wedding ceremony, the following, all children of Mr. and Mrs. Spero, participated: Mr. and Mrs. Jack Marcuson, Dr. and Mrs. Saul Bergad, Miss Charlotte Spero, and Cadet Sander Spero (a student at Staunton Military Academy).

Out of town guests were: Mr. and Mrs. Max Miller, Mrs. Henry Faber and daughter, Corrine, Mr. and Mrs. Morris Becker, all of Detroit; Mr. and Mrs. Sander Faber, Springfield, Ill.; Mr. and Mrs. Henry Globus of Cleveland Heights, and Mr. Alex Trust of Alden, Ill.

On Eve of '51 Confab Three Leaders Succeed Morgenthau

NEW YORK CITY (AJP)—Leaders of three participating agencies of the United Jewish Appeal prepared to assume command of the general chairmanship of the huge fund-raising mechanisms this week-end (Dec. 15-17) as Henry Morgenthau, Jr., for four years the national general chairman of U.J.A., prepared to retire.

As thousands of delegates prepared to descend on Atlantic City (N. J.) for the U.J.A.'s giant '51 national convention over this week-end, it appeared unlikely that any single successor could be found to fill his place. A farewell banquet honoring Morgenthau is scheduled for Sunday at the convention.

It appeared likely that three men would be asked—and would accept—the reigns of U.J.A. leadership in the forthcoming campaign. The leaders were Rudolph Sonnenborn, leader of the United Palestine Appeal; William Rosenwald, of the United Service for New Americans, and Rabbi Jonah Wise, of the Joint Distribution Committee. All three represent the agencies which comprise the United Jewish Appeal.

A solid program of conferences, committee meetings and banquets, beginning today (Friday, Dec. 15) is scheduled at the U.J.A. convention. Leading Israeli and American Jewish figures will address sessions of the convention.

Dr. Joseph J. Schwartz

... succeeds Montor ...

Meanwhile, Dr. Joseph J. Schwartz, Director General of the American Jewish Joint Distribution Committee, has been named Executive Vice-Chairman of the nationwide campaign of the United Jewish Appeal.

Having served as head of all relief and immigration activities overseas during the most critical decade in the history of the Jewish people in Europe and Israel, Dr. Schwartz was granted a leave of absence by the JDC to become administrative head of the combined fund-raising campaign of the United Jewish Appeal in behalf of immigration and resettlement in Israel, rehabilitation and emigration in Europe and North Africa, and refugee adjustment in the United States.

Dr. Schwartz will succeed Henry Montor, who served as Executive Vice-Chairman and Director of the United Jewish Appeal during the twelve years since its establishment in 1939. During the period in which Mr. Montor occupied this post, the United Jewish Appeal raised more than $720,000,000. In the five years from January, 1946 through 1950 inclusive, more than $565,000,000 of this total were raised.

The 1951 nationwide campaign of the United Jewish Appeal will be the U.J.A.'s 13th annual drive as American Jewry's combined fund-raising body for the J.D.C., U.P.A. and U.S.N.A. The National Conference will mark the formal launching of the 1951 drive.

Speakers at the National Conference, which will formally open on Saturday evening following a meeting of the Executive Committee on Friday, will include Henry Morgenthau, Jr., General Chairman of the United Jewish Appeal; Dr. Nahum Goldmann, Chairman of the American Section of the Jewish Agency for Palestine; Edward M. M. Warburg, Chairman of the Joint Distribution Committee; and William Rosenwald, Rudolf G. Sonneborn and Rabbi Jonah B. Wise, National Chairmen of the U.J.A.; Dr. Joseph Schwartz, J.D.C. Director General and Henry Montor, U.J.A. Director.

Jewish community representation at the National Conference will be based on Jewish population figures, ranging from one delegate from communities having a Jewish population of between 1,000 and 2,000, to seven delegates each from communities having a Jewish population of 40,000 or more. New York City has arranged to name 25 delegates to the meeting.

Yeshiva Achei Tmimim Concert Scheduled for Jan. 14

The annual Yeshiva concert, sponsored by the Ladies Auxiliary of the Yeshiva Achei Tmimim and the Nechama Minsky School of Shadyside, has been scheduled to be held Jan. 14, 1951, 7 p.m., at the YM&WHA.

The Ladies Auxiliary has called a meeting for Dec. 19, 1:30 p.m., to be held in the social hall of the Chofetz Chaim Congregation, 5807 Beacon St. Concert tickets will be available at this meeting. Besides discussion of business matters, the Auxiliary will hear a report by Rabbi S. Posner, Principal and Director of the Yeshiva, on the progress of the Yeshiva.

Montefiore Hospital Receives Fellowship Grant From Localite

Carrying on a family tradition of philanthropic activity started by her father, the late I. W. Frank, Pittsburgh industrialist, Mrs. S. J. Anathan, of Beacon Street, has provided Montefiore Hospital with a $50,000 grant for the establishment of a fellowship for the study of research in the medical sciences.

Irwin D. Wolf, president of

Mrs. S. J. Anathan

... true tradition ...

Montefiore Hospital, announced that this fellowship will be known as THE BESSIE FRANK ANATHAN RESEARCH FELLOWSHIP and will be made available through a trust fund created to insure an annual award of $2,500 open to post-graduate students of medicine throughout the country. Mr. Wolf said the initial award will be granted on or before July 1951.

Mrs. Anathan is a member of the Board of Directors of Montefiore Hospital and prominent in many civic and philanthropic organizations. She has been interested and active in the development of Montefiore Hospital as was her father.

The hospital president said that applicants for this Research Fellowship will be considered on the basis of scholastic standing and aptitude for research and applicants should direct their inquiries to the hospital's director of research.

"This is the first time in the history of Montefiore," Mr. Wolf said, "that the hospital is able to announce this type of achievement... and it coincides with the dedication of Montefiore's new Research Laboratory made possible by the Ladies Hospital Aid Society which took place December 10. We are most grateful to Mrs. Anathan's generosity."

A.J. Congress Forms Jewish Affairs College

A "College of Jewish Affairs" has been instituted by the Pittsburgh Chapter of the American Jewish Congress with the first session to be held at the YM&WHA on Thursday evening, January 4, 1951, Rabbi Morris A. Landes, president of the Pittsburgh Chapter, announced. The faculty will include nationally and internationally known experts, who will treat various topics of concern to American Jewry. Further details of the "College of Jewish Affairs," the first of its kind in the country, may be obtained by communicating with Mr. Morris A. Westerman, secretary of the Pittsburgh Chapter of the Congress, 5632 Margarettta Street.

In announcing the completion of plans for the "College of Jewish Affairs," Rabbi Landes made the following statement: "This 'College' is open to men and women in our community who are serious about Jewish problems and wish to become better informed about matters which affect the Jew both as a continuing link in the historic chain of an ancient people and as an active, participating member of modern society. Our intention is to bring before the Pittsburgh Community an array of experts in their several fields, men who are devoting their energies to problems of concern to American Jews. Not only will those who attend the sessions of the 'College' learn much from the comprehensive presentations of crucial issues but there will also be time for informal discussions with the authorities after the formal lectures for further clarification. Those who desire a complete awareness about present day issues confronting American Jews will not want to miss a single one of the monthly sessions of the 'College of Jewish Affairs' from the first in January to the last lecture of the coming semester in May.

B'nai B'rith Men

To Discuss Korea

The regular meeting of the Pittsburgh Lodge No. 44, B'nai B'rith, will be held at the "Y," Dec. 19. This session will be featured by an address by Rabbi Herman Kieval, Associate Rabbi of Congregation Beth Shalom, who has chosen as his subject "What Is At Stake in Korea." On this subject Rabbi Kieval should speak with authority. He knows Korea intimately. After having enlisted in the United States Army in 1944, he served as a Chaplain in Hawaii, Okinawa and in Korea from 1944 to 1946. He attained the rank of Captain and was the Jewish Chaplain on the staff of the Commanding General of the Army of Occupation in Korea.

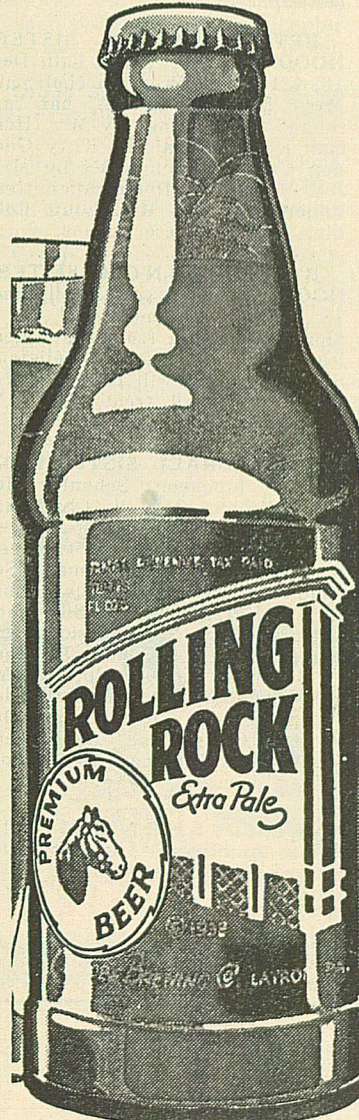

The address at this meeting will be followed by an open forum and a cordial invitation is extended to the public.

Several hundred persons attended the dedication services Sunday of the new Research Laboratory at Montefiore Hospital which was made possible through the efforts of the Ladies Hospital Aid Society.

Harry M. Epstine is chairman of the Research Committee for the hospital.

Letters to the Editor

Gentlemen:

I am writing to you in the hope that you will permit me to address myself, by means of your valued publication, to as many Ex-service men and Ex-service women of our faith, as we can reach, in order to impress them with the importance of membership in the Jewish War Veterans of the United States.

The publication of the enclosed appeal (printed below) will be greatly appreciated not only by the local post membership, but also by the entire national organization.

With many thanks for your past courtesies, I remain,

Sincerely,

Pittsburgh Post No. 49,
Bill Unger, Adjutant,
Jewish War Veterans of the U.S.

Dear Ex-service Man or Woman:

This is a direct appeal to you for your membership into the Jewish War Veterans of the United States, the oldest active veteran's organization in these United States, and for more than 54 years accepted as "The Patriotic Voice of American Jewry."

In these critical times, in our battle against Communism on one side and Fascism on the other, we frankly need and seek your help and assistance.

No other Jewish organization in these United States is in a better position to expose and defeat these un-American groups than is the Jewish War Veterans of the United States. Not because its leadership is better . . . not because its membership is greater . . . BUT BECAUSE OF THE ESTEMED POSITION THE JEWISH WAR VETERANS HAVE EARNED FOR THEMSELVES BY THE SACRIFICES MADE AND THE PATRIOTIC SERVICES ITS MEMBERS RENDERED TO OUR COUNTRY IN TIME OF NEED.

We of the Jewish War Veterans are proud of our record of achievements. We are proud of the services given in the defense of our Country, of our services given to our Veterans, their widows and dependants . . . we are proud of our services given to the cause of Israel and our people. But . . . we admit, we can do more . . . and we can do better. But in order to accomplish that WE NEED MORE MEMBERS. WE NEED A LARGER MEMBERSHIP SO THAT OUR VOICE IN THE LEGISLATIVE HALLS AND GOVERNMENTAL AGENCIES MAY BE HEARD AND RESPECTED EVEN MORE THAN IT IS NOW.

Of course we need membership, for many, many more reasons. We want to continue and improve our services to our veterans, services in the hospitals and our participation in communal affairs. THESE ACCOMPLISHMENTS CAN ONLY BE ACHIEVED BY OUR ORGANIZATION REPRESENTING ALL OF OUR EX-SERVICE MEN AND WOMEN. EACH NEW MEMBERSHIP ADDS TO THE VOICE OF THE J.W.V. AND GIVES US A LARGER PERSONNEL FOR THE WORK.

I will be happy to forward further information, or will be happy to meet with all individuals to discuss memberships. Please drop a post card to the undersigned expressing your interest. Action will be prompt.

Ex-Service men and women living outside of the Pittsburgh area, will be interested to know that J.W.V. Posts are in existence in Homestead, Braddock, McKeesport, Butler, Beaver Valley, New Castle, Erie, Oil City, Johnstown and many other cities in the State of Pennsylvania.

Yours in Comradeship,
Bill Unger, Adjutant,
Pittsburgh Post No. 49, J.W.V.,

Conference in Columbus

Israel A. Abrams, executive director of the Hebrew Institute is attending the Mid-Western Conference of Jewish Educators, being held this Friday and Saturday, December 15 and 16, at the Seneca Hotel in Columbus, Ohio.

Brownsville UJA To Feature Noted Speaker

Mollie Gladstone, Director of Arts and Crafts for the Jewish Folks Institute (Sholom Aleichem Folksschulen) of New York City who returned from several months

Mollie Gladstone

. . . recent Israel guest . . .

in Israel as the guest of the mayor of Haifa, will speak at Temple O'Have Israel, at Brownsville, Pa., December 17, at 6:30 p.m. for the Annual Banquet of the United Jewish Federation of Brownsville. Jack Greenfield is President and Albert Davis is Campaign Chairman of the 1950 UJA campaign.

Mrs. Gladstone went to Israel with her late husband who was a well-known New York cantor, to study the progress of the arts and sciences in the new Jewish state. As sister-in-law of Haifa's chief engineer, she made a special study of housing problems in the rapidly expanding country, and she returns with the inside story of town planning as it is now going on in Israel.

As guest of Israel's top-ranking officials, Mrs. Gladstone had unparalleled access to high government leaders and was privileged to sit in at roundtable discussions of the most vital problems of our time. She received an intimate view of Israel life in every phase, visiting foundries and factories, living in a Kibbutz (Mishmar Haemek) for several weeks, and dining in the homes of some of Israel's most influential Arab leaders.

One of Mrs. Gladstone's most vivid recollections of her trip was waiting at an airport near Lydda for the arrival of a plane laden with emigrants from Yemen. She noted the sharp contrast between the emaciated, diseased, apathetic automatons who walked off their "Magic Carpet" planes and the happy, healthy, vigorous, and highly talented Yemenites she had sung and danced with in the immigrant camps . . . a miracle of rehabilitation.

Mrs. Gladstone is well-known in this country as artist, sculptress, costume designer, and actress. She was a star of Broadway's success, "Pins and Needles."

SPORTS

By HASKELL COHEN

Gridiron honors continue to fall upon Bernie Lemonick's shoulders. The huge University of Pennsylvania guard has been selected to serve on All Star teams picked by coaches and magazines and recently was elected to join the All-East team which will play a team from the West for the benefit of the Shrine Hospital in San Francisco. This is an annual event and brings together the leading players in the nation who do not participate in Bowl games with their colleges.

Ben Kerner, owner of the Tri-Cities Blackhawks, keeps rival club owners and League officials in stitches with his humorous antics. Recently, before his club invaded Syracuse, Kerner wired the Nats management for a room in the Stadium which he could use after the game to receive the plaudits from the defeated Nat Owners.

(P.S. Kerner didn't get to use the room. The Syracuse five whipped his club soundly. Tri-Cities has not defeated Syracuse on the National's court to date.)

New York's famous Basketball Writers Association gathered for the first time this week and elected Dave Eisenberg of the Journal-American as president to succeed Everett Morris of the Herald Tribune, who went into the service and is now on duty in Germany with the Navy.

Other officers named at the annual elections conducted in one of New York's leading restaurants include Murray Janoff, L.I. Press, vice-president; Leonard Koppett, Herald Tribune, secretary. Hy Turkin, The News, was re-elected treasurer. Elected to the Board of Directors were Sid Friedlander, Post; Irving T. Marsh, Herald Tribune; Lenard Lewin, Daily Mirror; and Louis Effrat, The Times.

Hy Buller, one of the few Jewish hockey players now operating, is continuing to make history with the Cleveland Sextet in the American Hockey League. As of this past week, he established a new total point record for defensemen in the loop by scoring 68 goals and having a hand in 176 assists to give him 244 points. The former record was 237 points, also held by a Cleveland player, Danny Sprout. Buller recently pulled a hat trick by scoring three times in a contest in New Haven.

Pat Kennedy, America's foremost hoop official, was reminiscing with this writer the other day and told of the time that Shikey Kotthafter, who performed with the Philadelphia Sphas, used to come on to the court with different hair shades.

One night he would have a streak of gray running through his hair. Another night he would have the back of his hair tinted blonde and some nights it appeared his hair was red. Pat investigated the situation, as it intrigued him, and discovered that Shikey was keeping company with a very beautiful girl and wanted to give her the impression that he was an Adonis. Evidently, his technique worked out for the two got married and Shikey today no longer requires the various hair tints.

Pat is adamant in his conviction that Shikey's beauty preparations did not interfere with his marvelous play. He still rates the Jewish boy as one of the greatest.

Haganah, then started all over again.

Kohlberg is a non-Zionist. He said that both he and the League's executive director, Rabbi Benjamin Schultz, found that many non-Jews inquire of them as to whether any large segment of American Jewry is Communistically inclined. "That attitude," said Kohlberg, "can be attributed to a number of things, including the recent atom bomb trials and the large Jewish participation in May Day parades in New York City. The overwhelming number of America's Jews are not only non-Communists. I am convinced that they are anti-Communist."

Did he have doings with Merwin Hart and Joseph Kamp, as had been whispered? Kohlberg sat erect to reply, "I know the men, yes; but I have never in my entire life contributed a cent to their movements." He said that he had attended a banquet at the fashionable Waldorf for Hart, but "as a paying guest and merely to see what was going on. I also attend Communist affairs, too," he added.

And what of those who criticize the League's existence?

He felt "sorry" for them, Kohlberg said. Some of the League's opponents were "Reds" and "pinks," according to Kohlberg, but he said he felt deeply sorry for the others because they didn't know the score.

The importer of Chinese goods had other concerns, however. He said that Government Treasury Department agents had been going through his books with a fine tooth comb to "uncover" money he had allegedly received from the Generalissimo's Government to carry on pro-China activities here. He had beat the agents to the point, however, by writing the Secretary of the Treasury personally to inform him that such was absolutely not the case.

Smilingly referring to the episode, Kohlberg concluded, "the Government man has been searching around for four months. In writing the Secretary of the Treasury and telling him I received no money from Chiang, I wanted to save the Government the expense of months of work."

Between ringing telephones and amid a desk packed high with clippings and memos the Jewish importer continued to fight the Reds this week. His League Against Communism, long the brunt of attacks from individuals and some groups, was still in business—and if Kohlberg has his way—will remain in its mid-town New York headquarters for a long time.

The Judge Meets the Kids

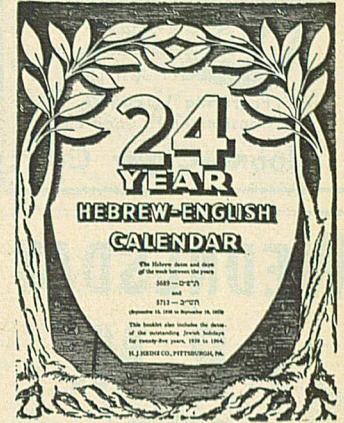

The famed Jewish solon won his biggest "case" this week . . . a "case" close to his big heart these many years as Kings County judge. Behind the closed-doors of a Brooklyn police station, Judge Samuel S. Leibowitz reasoned with members of three of the borough's toughest kid gangs to avert a retaliatory killing to "make up for" the May 12th slaying of one of the gang's members.

When the meeting had ended, a relieved Judge Leibowitz, whose duty it has been these many years to sentence juvenile gang members for many crimes, announced that great strides had been made between establishing closer relationships between the kids and local cops.

"The boys have agreed to turn in all their guns, knives and weapons," Judge Leibowitz said, "and there will be no questions asked." In addition, he said, gang chiefs would meet once a week with police authorities to "work out a solution to prevent any recurrence of gang fights."

In a city where kid gang warfare had claimed scores of youthful lives in the past year, Leibowitz's announcement was good news. The judge, in turn, appeared to have won his greatest case.

The little sage who rose, like his name, from the Lower East Side's poverty-stricken sidewalks to the heights of a million dollars—and then some—placed aside his trusted typewriter this week and called quits to the penning of a column which appeared regularly since 1946 in more than 2500 newspapers throughout the world.

Failing health and the heavy responsibilities of administrating a virtual show business empire, little Billy Rose announced, teamed up to cause the literary cancellation. Rose's column had not appeared for two weeks, prior to the announcement, while he was undergoing an operation.

"Pitching Horseshoes," Rose's column, was another in a string of amazing successes since the former Lower East Sider gained national prominence as a youth by copping the national title of speed shorthand writers. Under the guidance of John Robert Gregg, founder of the system, Rose did 200 words a minute. Gregg immediately termed him the "finest natural shorthand writer" he had ever encountered.

Through "Pitching Horseshoes" millions learned of tales concerning the first waves of Jewish immigrants who set up residency on the sidewalks of New York. The hardships, humor and grit of the immigrants supplied themes for many of Rose's down-to-earth strikingly warm, human columns. Other "Horseshoe" pieces dealt with the little man in the street, the grocer, the cop—even the bookie. Readers were never quite certain what the inimitable Billy Rose would write about next. Editors were equally befuddled. Both were certain that whatever the subject matter—it would be good.

Behind the typewriter keys which formed the simple words with the slam-bang impact was the man "Who's Who" terms "a producer of spectacles." But Billy Rose cannot be categorized—except perhaps as one of the greatest legends of our time.

Rose started in show business with a mere $4,000 investment. In seven months his Back Stage Club, an upstairs speakeasy on 56th Street in New York City, became the popular hangout for show people, social registerites and newspapermen. On any night of the week tables were filled with such well-knowns as Walter Winchell, Al Jolson, William Rhinelandier Stewart, Arnold Rothstein, Sophie Tucker, Mark Hellinger, and Harry Thaw. Rose hired a sultry blues singer—an unknown named Helen Morgan—and asked her to sit on the piano because the room was too crowded. The pose became the "Show Boat" star's trademark in later years.

After seven months, Rose sold his nighterie at a $50,000 profit. In succeeding years, Rose opened one club after another. They were gigantic—money-makers. It was about this time that the Jewish showman began to dabble seriously in song writing.

His first hit was "Barney Goggle," the zany ditty that sold 1,000,000 copies. Since then Rose has penned more than 400 songs, 50 of which were smash hits.

Remember "That Old Gang of Mine"; "Me and My Shadow"; "Rainbow 'Round My Shoulder"; "The Night Is Young (And You're So Beautiful)"; "More than You Know"; "It's Only a Paper Moon"; "Without a Song," etc? They were all Billy Rose productions.

But Rose's most famous production and pet project is his famous Diamond Horseshoe night club which, along with Radio City Music Hall, is the undisputed tourist draw in Gotham. He was paid $175,000 by a leading movie company for the use of the name as a film title.

Writing columns, however, came as an unexpected sideline. On April 1, 1946, Rose started a series of paid advertisements for his Diamond Horseshoe about "life, art, etc." They ran as ads for about one month and then were printed by the now defunct PM. The column, like most everything the almost magical Rose concerns himself with, was a fantastic overnight success.

Later he switched to The Herald Tribune, then the Daily News. (please turn to page 31)

Pots and Pans

By FLORA M. ISAACS

Fruit bins are golden these days with the glow of Florida's new crops of fresh oranges and grapefruit. Oranges heavy with juice and grapefruit firm and plump bring globes full of vitamin C to the market and to the table of the wise homemaker who knows the daily need of this important nutrient for good health. Though oranges and grapefruit find first place at breakfast, and rightfully so as the richest natural sources of vitamin C, their refreshing flavor recommends them for other meals besides the first one of the day. Florida has some famous recipes that make the most of her splendid fresh fruit. They are fun to serve while the first of the new Florida crops are in the market.

Firmly placed in Florida's crown of distinctive citrus recipes is Grapefruit Alaska. This is a new switch on a famous dessert. Instead of using cake as the foundation of an Alaska, golden grapefruit halves hold ice cream covered with a snowy crown of fluffy meringue. The individual Grapefruit Alaska is ovened only long enough to slightly brown the meringue, and the dish is served. If a hostess wanted to secure her reputation as a delightful cook with just one dish, Florida Grapefruit Alaska would be an excellent candidate. It has beauty, flavor, and distinction.

Fresh orange flavor is also delightful in cookery and there is a growing trend to enjoy orange and chocolate flavor together as an exceptionally delicious combination. Delightfully delicate Florida Orange Cake frosted with chocolate or served with chocolate sauce will give you an opportunity to enjoy this newest dessert combination. The following recipes were tested in the Dorothy Ames Carter Skyscraper Kitchen in New York.

FLORIDA GRAPEFRUIT
ALASKA
3 Florida grapefruit
6 teaspoons powdered sugar
1 pint pre-packaged vanilla ice cream

Cut Florida grapefruit in half, core, cutting out more of the center than usual. Cut around each section with a sharp knife and sprinkle with powdered sugar; chill thoroughly. When ready to serve, put about 2 heaping tablespoons ice cream in center of each grapefruit. Cover completely with meringue. Place on baking sheet and brown meringue in a very hot oven 550 degrees F. two to three minutes, or put under high broiler heat about one minute, watch closely so that meringue doesn't burn.

MERINGUE
1/2 teaspoon salt
3 egg whites
6 tablespoons sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla

Add salt to egg whites and beat until stiff; add sugar gradually and continue beating until very stiff. This will make enough meringue to cover 6 grapefruit halves.

FLORIDA ORANGE CAKE

2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
1 1/2 cups sugar
2 teaspoons baking powder
1/4 teaspoon soda
1 teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons grated Florida orange rind
2/3 cup shortening
3/4 cup Florida orange juice
2 eggs

Sift flour, sugar, baking powder, soda and salt into mixing bowl. Add grated orange rind and shortening. Add orange juice and beat 200 strokes by hand or two minutes on a low mixer speed. Scrape bowl and spoon or beater. Add eggs and beat 200 strokes or two minutes on low mixer speed. Turn into a greased and waxed-paper lined 9-inch square pan. Bake in moderate oven 350 degrees F. 45 minutes. Serve plain or with orange or chocolate sauce or ice with chocolate frosting.

FLORIDA SWEET POTATOES

6 medium size sweet potatoes
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1/2 cup honey
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/4 cup Florida orange juice
1/2 teaspoon grated Florida orange rind

Boil potatoes until tender, peel, and cut in halves lengthwise. Place remaining ingredients in pan and bring to a boil. Add potatoes and cook 20 minutes or until syrup thickens and potatoes are glazed, turning occasionally during cooking. Yields six portions.

SABRA FEATURES

JOHN BELCASTRO

Syndicates began bidding for his pieces. Finally, the weekly sheets begged for permission to run "Pitching Horseshoes" and farmers out in Iowa and deep Kansas read about Rose's uncle on the Lower East Side.

Just recently Rose's column told of a former East Sider—and they hold special favor in the little man's sentimental heart—who was stationed in Korea with a Marine outfit. The kid, reported Rose, had survived a serious done-for gun wound because he had fasted Yom Kippur and his stomach was empty when the bullets of a make-believe-dead Korean Red found their mark.

Millions in the United States, England, Australia, Israel, Japan, Mexico and elsewhere smiled as they read Rose's "Horseshoe" account of how the corporal, son of a New York rabbi, had cheated death at the hands of the Communists by observing his faith under battle conditions. More important, they read how he had leaped at the play-dead Communist soldier with a bayonet and placed his life in the balance to save the life of the detachment's commanding officer. It was a typically well-written Rose column.

A quiet dresser and a chain smoker of all brands of cigarettes, Rose has a pet charity, a yeshiva in upstate New York near his country estate. Often when editors of the large national magazines phone the show magnate and request he write a special piece or solicit permission to reprint a particular "Horseshow" column, Billy replies, "sure, if you send the check to the Yeshiva in Mount Kisco!" They do.

Miklos Gafni To Appear

Miklos Gafni, appearing at the Copa Club beginning Monday, December 18, is today literally on top of the musical world, although five short years ago his career was non-existent. In 1945, Gafni was a prisoner in a Nazi concentration camp in Upper Silesia. Fellow prisoners in the camp, three of whom were ex-singers, discovered Gafni's magnificent tenor voice and began teaching him how to sing. Upon his liberation from the starvation camp, Gafni began a meteoric rise to fame and success that was climaxed by his New York debut in Town Hall on February 8, 1947. Confident of his own ability and talent, yet fearful of the audience, Gafni opened the concert that was to bring him the acclaim of both audience and critics. Gafni, whose remarkable gift for languages enables him to speak like a native American, has no longer anything to fear from his audiences. Reviews and reports of audiences are pouring in from all sides today—reviews that echo the dictum of the distinguished music critic for the New York Herald Tribune: "The most purely beautiful tenor voice that this critic has heard in years."

Miklos Gafni will make his local night-club debut at Lenny Litman's Copa Club on Monday, December 18. There is no cover or admission charge at the Copa, and reservations can be made by calling COURT 1-4200.

Pianists Appear with Symphony

The world-famous Robert Casadesus, who holds the record as the soloist who has had more appearances with the Pittsburgh Symphony Orchestra than any other artist, will be soloist with the Pittsburgh Symphony under the baton of Vladimir Bakaleinikoff on Friday evening, December 15 and Sunday afternoon, December 17, at Syria Mosque. Mr. Casadesus will be making his tenth successive appearance as soloist with the Orchestra, but this time he is bringing with him his wife, Gaby, and his son, Jean, and will perform with them the Bach Triple Piano Concerto. On the same program, Mr. Casadesus will be heard alone in a performance, for the first time in Pittsburgh, of his own concerto in E Major, Opus 37.

Eternal Light Tale of Freedom

On December 17, the Eternal Light, (12:30-1 p.m., KDKA) will present "Preacher of Providence."

"Preacher of Providence" is the story of Roger Williams and his band of followers who established the colony of Rhode Island—the first settlement in America specifically founded on the principle of religious freedom.

Seder Classes Now In Recess

All classes and their activities of the Educational Center are now in recess for the annual academic holiday observed regularly at this time of the year. All classes, lectures, discussion groups and other functions carried on at the Isaac Seder Center will resume Tuesday evening, January 2.

Y Laurel Camp Reunion Is Planned For December 27

The annual reunion of Laurel Y campers will take place this year on Wednesday, December 27, according to an announcement by the committee in charge. All Laurel Y campers, their counselors and their staff people are invited to attend. Photographs of the camping season will be on exhibition.

Announcement of plans for the coming season will be made at the reunion.
