Israel and The "Draft Dodgers"

By MILTON FRIEDMAN

THE ISRAEL FRONT: The military dictatorship that has now been established in Egypt is causing grave concern in Israel . . . For Israel, the Egyptian military dictatorship means, of course, a stronger menace on the southern border . . . Such a menace already exists on Israel's northern border with a military dictatorship in Syria . . . The situation is not too encouraging also on the Lebanese frontier . . . Tendencies are now developing in Lebanon resembling the situation that led to the Syrian dictatorship . . . And it is no secret any longer that the Arab states which have armistice agreements with Israel have now gotten together to agree on new measures against Israel . . . The results of their talks have been kept secret . . . However, it is feared that Syria may any day provoke incidents with Israel at the northern border under the pretext of raising anew the Huleh question . . . This is apparently going to be part of a plan to exert military pressure upon Israel, short of open war, by various forms of nuisance attacks . . . Israel is also watching very closely developments in Jordan . . . It is no secret that were it not for British military and fiscal domination, Jordan's separate existence would have been ended by now . . . The death of King Abdullah last year brought instability to Jordan, which is bound eventually to lead to the annexation of that country by either Syria or Iraq. These two states are fighting fiercely over Jordan, since the mental illness of the new King Tallal has brought the regime in Jordan to all but an end . . . But foreign Arab domination of Jordan cannot be tolerated by Israel . . . Israel cannot allow Iraqi or Syrian troops along her long open border, or in the divided city of Jerusalem . . . Such a change would be resisted by Israel, and might lead to open conflict.

ISRAEL HOPES FOR SPEEDY CONCLUSION OF GERMAN REPARATIONS TALKS: Hope that the reparations agreement between Israel and West Germany will be signed within a week was expressed by a spokesman of Israel's Foreign Ministry. All differences still existing are connected only with the phrasing of the agreement he said.

It was learned that immediately after the signing of the reparation agreements with the West German delegation at The Hague, Dr. Nahum Goldmann, head of the Conference on Jewish Material Claims Against Germany, will proceed to Israel to work out with the Jewish Agency and the Israel Government a procedure of usage of the reparations by the Agency. Dr. Goldman is now in Switzerland.

German-Jewish Talks At The Hague Reported Moving Slowly: A spokesman for the Conference of Jewish Claims Against Germany declared that some progress has been made in negotiations with the West German delegation on the question of centralizing the legislation in Germany on reparations and indemnification for Jewish victims of Nazism, but that the talks are going on very slowly.

"There is no likelihood for any swift conclusion of the talks," he stated. "Every point must be thoroughly discussed, and although many points have been agreed upon, they are not yet drawn up on the final form."

The spokesman, Jerome Jacobson, added that the Conference will not consider the offer of $107,000,000 reparations in goods made by West Germany to the Jewish groups outside of Israel until the legislative program is settled. He said the Israeli delegation at The Hague will do nothing towards signing the Israel-German reparations pact until an understanding is reached between the Conference and the Germans.

A two-man delegation, representing the German Templars, came to The Hague this week to ask the West German delegation to press the Templars' claim for 30,000,000 pounds from the Israel Government as indemnification for their property which they said had been handed over to Israel by British trustees.

The West German delegation has not yet decided what its attitude will be toward the Templars' claim, but a West German spokesman told the Jewish Telegraphic Agency that there was little prospect of pressing the Templars' claim. The present discussions, he said, were solely concerned with Israel's claims on behalf of the Jewish Victims of Nazism.

AUSTRIANS ANGERED BY U.S. STAND ON NAZI AMNESTY LEGISLATION: Parliamentary representatives of the neo-Nazi League (Please turn to page 22)

WASHINGTON—Israel has volunteered to participate in the defense of the Middle East but the State Department apparently takes the view that volunteers can't be armed until all the draft-dodgers are rounded up.

The draft-dodgers are the Arab states which have shown no desire to join a Middle East Command. Although Israel applied last February 7 for eligibility to receive military assistance under the Mutual Security Act, Washington officials have not yet seen fit to respond to this particular application.

Despite the mutual interests of the democracies of Israel and the United States, top level State Department officials fear that arms shipments to Israel would further alienate the Arabs. These policy makers are still thinking in terms of a Middle East defensive pact which would include Arab League states. Because the Arab League outlook is vastly different from that of the State Department, the idea of such a pact is as illusory as an African desert mirage.

Since the Arabs won't join a defensive accord, our government is reluctant to provide military support for a nation like Israel, which has proven its will to resist aggression. Billions are being spent to win allies to the side of America but a nation which wants to join our military preparations finds itself unable to secure arms specifically provided by the last Congress.

If no action is taken by the State Department by the time Congress reconvenes, Congressmen may well ask how the administration is strengthening free nations by ignoring their enlistments and pleas for military assistance. The State Department feels that Israel is, as one official put it, "in the bag." The Arabs are not yet bagged, so officials would rather take a chance on too little, too late for an expendable Israel than risk offending those great, free Arab League democracies.

Because chances for the successful formation of a Middle East command are so slim, the withholding of arms from Israel pending the creation of such a command is considered by Israel to be tantamount to an indefinite delay. The Mutual Security Acts of both 1951 and 1952, which were extracted from Congress by the administration with great difficulty, contained millions for munitions earmarked for Israel and the Arabs. But Israel's bid went unanswered while last year's act expired. Israel is hopeful that the approximately $50,000,000 for Middle Eastern arms in this year's Mutual Security Acts will be used for the purpose for which Congress voted it.

FAMOUS PERSONALITIES

THE DOMESTIC FRONT: The MacIver Report, a controversial issue in American Jewish life since May 1951, is again coming to the forefront . . . The fate of some of its major recommendations with regard to the coordination of the activities of the Jewish groups engaged in combatting anti-Semitism is to be decided early next month . . . No wonder, therefore, that the battle between those favoring the basic suggestions of Prof. MacIver and those opposing these suggestions is now again raging in the open . . . In this tug-of-war, the Council of Jewish Federations and Welfare Funds stands on the pro-MacIver side while the American Jewish Committee and the Anti-Defamation League stand jointly against the MacIver recommendations.

Time for Caution

We have just read a reprint of an article that ran in the July, 1952 edition of Cosmopolitan Magazine, entitled "Where Does Your Charity Money Go?" The author, Albert Q. Maisel purports to offer the long sought and final expose of organized charity.

The gist of this expose is concerned with a new sort of fund-raising operation underway in various cities including Akron, Detroit, Houston and Newark, among the largest. Known as the monopoly scheme and organized about five years ago by an organization known as Community Chests and Councils, Inc., the new operation is a defense for the Red Feather Agencies which were dealt tremendous losses by the inception of such campaigns as those for cancer, heart and polio.

Mr. Maisel strives to prove that the monopoly nature of the unified campaigns, whereby every drive within the town is either included or boycotted, is far from the relief to charity givers that it was meant to be. As a matter of fact, this new system undermines one of the traditionally free choices which Americans have long cherished—that of giving a charity dollar where the heart and sentiment dictate. He goes on to cite facts meant to over balance any commendation due for the elimination of multiple drives.

From where Mr. Maisel views the scene new evils have arisen including a hierarchy of powerful administrators and the employment of high-handed tactics to obtain contributions. Now we are hardly in a position to verify Mr. Maisel's facts or to refute them. We can only take his words as a caution; now that the complex structures of philanthropy have grown universal we of the Jewish community in Pittsburgh and elsewhere must safeguard and perfect our funds and drives.

There is no more time for squabbling and disunity. We must present to the general community a clean house and a smoothly functioning organization exempt from any superficial criticisms.

Point for Ike

In keeping with the Outlook's attempt to follow and report as closely as possible any activity in the current presidential campaign bearing upon our interests, we offer this week an item scoring favorably for Dwight D. Eisenhower. Speaking from Denver, Colorado in reply to a Republican committee woman from Minnesota, the Republican candidate heartily endorsed a resolution calling on GOP candidates to steer clear of minority appeals.

The resolution specifically begs candidates to reject "political arguments and appeals based on religious or racial prejudices" and terms such appeals as subversive to the American tradition. The good faith in which candidate Eisenhower accepted this resolution will be demonstrated as the campaign progresses.

Growing Tradition

Four years ago we wrote in this space commenting upon the significance of the Shaare Torah Congregation's choice of Squirrel Hill as the site of its new house of worship. In those four years, during which the congregation had available only limited facilities at its new Murray Avenue locale, the congregation grew in stature tremendously.

This Sunday afternoon at 2 p.m., formal ground breaking ceremonies will mark the resumption of construction to complete the new synagogue. The second and final phase in the construction of the new Shaare Torah will add to the present structure the second floor. Perhaps the following description of the facilities to be included on that floor will serve best to define the growth and progress which has marked this historic local religious institution.

Primarily, of course, the ground breaking will mark the start of construction on the Rabbi Sivitz Memorial Talmud Torah Building, a part of the proposed structure. The esteem and love with which many of us remember Rabbi Sivitz speaks again for the significance of this new home in our midst. The new floor is to house the main Synagogue to seat 1,200 worshippers; eight classrooms; a library and reading room; a nursery room for children whose mothers will be attending religious services or other activities within the Synagogue.

A new part of the building which is to extend beyond the present temporary walls will include facilities for the Rabbi's study, the Hebrew School and the administrative offices. These plans add new excitement to the coming ceremony and measure something of a new life for an already matured and venerated community institution. Our best wishes are extended to the Shaare Torah Congregation and its members on this thrilling occasion.

Condolences

Belatedly, but with sincerest feeling, the Outlook this week offers its condolences to the many friends of the late Mrs. Sarah Raisin Levin who died on July 26 in Belleville, Illinois. In reality, this message, addressed to her friends is addressed to American Jewish women everywhere, for it was to find them a constructive, positive place in Judaism that Mrs. Levin devoted her life.

Pittsburgh women recall Mrs. Levin fondly. When she came to this city in the early 30's to lend her name and energy to every community cause and particularly to Hadassah, she reached out dynamically to women of every group with her message. As president of the Pittsburgh Chapter of Hadassah she conveyed something of her own excitement with Zionism to our community.

Coming to Pittsburgh from New York, where she had been a public school principal, she brought with her the love of learning that she demonstrated professionally. She was the first leader to guide the local Chapter into work of an educational nature. In her personal life, she never deviated from this passion for learning. A scholar of Hebrew and a skilled Hebrew conversationalist, she strived always to integrate the American Jewish woman as a Jew and an American.

Mrs. Levin made several visits to Palestine and her next door neighbor there was her dear personal friend, Henrietta Szold. An outstanding woman on the Zionist scene, Mrs. Levin, who held numerous posts on Hadassah's national board, did not confine her work to that single organization. An active participant in all matters relating to the future home of Judaism, she attended several World Zionist Congresses in Basle.

It was appropriate that Mrs. Levin, whose youthfulness of spirit enabled her to contribute so vigorously to all her enterprises, should herself have been especially interested in matters concerning our youth. She is well remembered for her part in Youth Aliyah work and in formulating Junior-Senior relationships within the Hadassah organization.

Though Mrs. Levin had been away from Pittsburgh for about a decade, she is recalled fondly as a woman with a dream and an ideal. Her loss is an immeasurable one to the American scene.

UJF Executive Group Reports Summer's Activity on Pledges

Under the leadership of 1952 Campaign Chairman Louis J. Reizenstein and Fund President Jacob Davis, the Executive Committee of the United Jewish Fund has maintained campaign efforts throughout the summer months.

The Executive group reports that a flow of pledges has been maintained throughout the summer.

Immediately following Labor Day, the United Jewish Fund will undertake the annual cash collection mobilization which is expected to net at least $1,000,000 in cash during the last four months of 1952.

The dollars will be needed to maintain aid to Israel, to carry forward the Montefiore Hospital Nurses Home building program, to support the local immigrant program, to aid Jewish education, and to support more than 40 agencies throughout the world.

Jacob Davis has urged contributors to forward payments on pledges as quickly as possible in order that the important dollar program of help to the United Jewish Fund agencies will not be impeded during the remainder of summer.

In early fall, too, the Executive Committee will complete the coverage of the small number of contributors who will not have been reached by the 1952 drive.

The Executive group which has pushed campaign efforts throughout the summer includes, in addition to Mr. Reizenstein and Mr. Davis, Sidney Stark, Maurice Davis, Stanley J. Kann, and Adolph Schoenbrun.

Jewish Leaders in Rumania Purged from Communities, Synagogues

VIENNA—(JTA) — Orders to purge "suspicious elements," from Jewish communities in Rumania have resulted in a new wave of arrests of Jews throughout the country and in the elimination of Jewish community leaders from synagogue trusteeships in a number of houses of worship, it was reported here from Bucharest.

The arrests are being carried out under the pretext of "fighting against the activities of elements hostile toward the building of Socialism." Purges are being made also of so-called "Jewish activists" who are eliminated from the Communist-dominated Jewish Democratic Committees in Bucharest and provincial towns where they have been active since the Communists came to power in Rumania.

The campaign to expel non-Communist Jews from the Jewish Democratic Committees was started after a newspaper came out with an article denouncing "Jewish capitalists and kulaks."

Labor Zionist Groups to Fete Israel Bound Students Aug. 20

Chay Commission of Pittsburgh, the Labor Zionist Committee on Chalutzit and Youth sponsored by the Labor Zionist Organization, Farban, Labor Zionist Order, Pioneer Women's Organization, and Habonim are arranging a farewell party Wednesday evening, August 20, 8:30 p.m., at the Labor Zionist Center, 5808 Forbes St., for Shula Twersky and Ben Frank, who are leaving for Israel the beginning of September to participate in the Youth Workshop. The Youth Workshop, conducted by Habonim, Labor Zionist youth, in cooperation with the Jewish Agency and the Histadrut in Israel, is a plan whereby large groups of American Jewish youth go to Israel for a nine-month period of study, work, and tours.

Shula Twersky

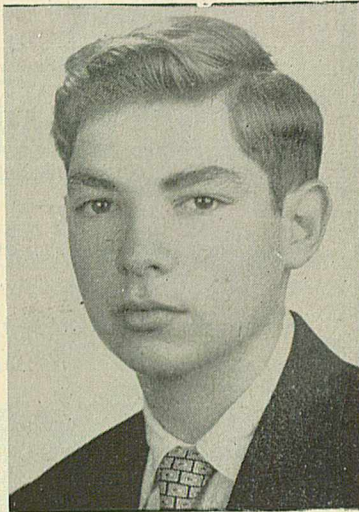

Three months of the time is spent in the study of the Hebrew language, the economic and political life and the problems of the country. Five months is spent in the various collective and cooperative agricultural settlements; and one month is devoted to touring the cities and cultural institutions of Israel.

The participants in the Youth Workshop, upon their return to America, work with young American Jewish boys and girls, imparting to them some of the knowledge and experiences they have received in Israel.

Shula Twersky is 19 years old, the daughter of Mrs. Rebecca Twersky, of Beechwood Blvd. She is a graduate of Taylor Alderdice High School and attended the University of Pittsburgh for two years. She was at one time president of I.Z.F.A.; and has been a member of Habonim for the past seven years.

Ben Frank, 18 years old, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Frank, of 5626 Bryant St. He graduated from Peabody High School and has had one semester at Pitt. Ben has been a leader in Habonim for the past four years.

Joseph Berger Joins Institute Staff

Joseph Berger, a graduate of the University of Pittsburgh and of Columbia University where he received the degree of master of literature, and a former student of the Jewish Theological Seminary of America and of Yeshivah University, is joining the Hebrew Institute faculty as a full-time staff member for the new school year which begins Tuesday, September 2. During the past school year Mr. Berger substituted at the Institute from time to time.

For the past nine years Mr. Berger has been in business as the co-proprietor of a food market in the East End. He gave up the partnership to devote himself more fully to two of his major interests—teaching and the completion of a literary project on which he has been engaged for many years.

Mr. Berger is a student of literature and of the Bible in particular. He is also an author. His survey of world literature, comprising ten volumes, is nearing completion and will be offered for publication this year. Two separate volumes under the title of Scriptural Studies will treat Old Testament problems. The approach in both works is psychological, a point of view novel and unexplored in the study of literature.

It was in the writing course given by Professor George Carver of the University of Pittsburgh that he conceived the idea for the project on which he has been working ever since.

Mr. Berger has been teaching almost continuously since his teens. Thus, into the dualism of Torah and Avodah, work and study, which has been commended by the sages, he has wedged a third activity—teaching.

Large Pgh. Delegation Expected for Second Bond Conference

"All indications point to Pittsburgh organizing an even larger delegation for the Second National Economic Conference for Israel than attended the historic meetings last year," Mr. Charles Rosenbloom, chairman of the Pittsburgh Committee for Israel Bonds announced this week.

Last year, the Pittsburgh delegation spearheaded the First National Economic Conference for Israel which was held in Washington, D. C.

"Reservations are coming in at a rate which indicates that this year's delegation will outnumber last year's group," Mr. Rosenbloom stated.

Great interest is being shown in the Conference, sponsored by the State of Israel bond drive, which will be held at the Chelsea Hotel in Atlantic City from Friday, September 12 through Sunday, September 14.

Rudolph G. Sonneborn, president of the Israel Bond organization, has emphasized that the purpose of the forthcoming conference in Atlantic City is to review the progress which the people of Israel have made in their determination to achieve economic independence. The Conference will appraise the role of American Jewry in promoting a partnership of investment and economic achievement through the $500,000,000 Israel Bond Drive.

Mr. Sonneborn reported that key Jewish leaders from communities throughout the country will participate in the forthcoming Conference.

"The sessions in Atlantic City will be attended by the key men and women in American Jewish life," the bond drive president stated. "They will help plan an intensified effort in behalf of Israel's industrial and agricultural development through an accelerated tempo of American investments in the State of Israel Bond Issue."

Jewish Boy Named 1,000,000th Draftee

Arthur Weinfeld, 23, of Detroit, assumes a pose familiar to thousands of draftees throughout the nation as he is examined by Dr. Alfred Galdfaden, at the Detroit Induction Center. Making the picture significant is the fact that Weinfeld is the 1,000,000th inductee since the outbreak of the Korean War.

To unassuming Arthur Weinfeld, a 23-year-old Detroit who holds a bachelor's degree in political science from Wayne University, fell the distinction of becoming the nation's millionth draftee since the Korean War started in June, 1950.

His answer to the hubbub which surrounded his being named Mr. 1,000,000 was a simple, "Well, I guess I have to go anyway, don't I?"

The Army as well as state and national figures who converged on Detroit to participate in the ceremonies left Weinfeld a tired young man when it was all over, and also gave rise to a bit of joking from his fellow draftees. But Weinfeld took it all in stride.

At Wayne, he was a member of Sigma Alpha Mu national social fraternity, of which group he was president. He was still attending the university, working on a master's degree when he got the call from Uncle Sam. It was not unexpected though, since Weinfeld had decided to end the uncertain wait and had volunteered for induction.

When he arrived at Fort Custer he telephoned his fiancée, Rita Beitner, informing her of his reception at the base. "The Army," he said, "wants to make sure their 1,000,000th man is snappy. They had me try on five uniforms until I got a perfect fit."

Much of the original excitement had died down, but to Rita, her fiancée was still on in a million. (An American Jewish Press Feature.)

"Cokes" were on order as members of the Pittsburgh Section, National Council of Jewish Women, prepared for their dinner dance, "An Evening in Paris" which concludes the annual Fund Raising Drive. Above from the left are Mrs. E. Mallinger, chairman of Reservations; Mrs. B. Levant, General Chairman, and Mrs. Robert Whitehill, chairman of the General Fund. The affair takes place October 15 at the William Penn Hotel.

Massive Rally Opens Council Fund Campaign

Over 300—an unusually large number—have been mobilized by the Pittsburgh Section, National Council of Jewish Women to open its annual Fund Raising Drive at the Council Lounge, 5824 Forbes Street, this Monday, August 18, at 10:30 a.m. Breakfast has been arranged by Mrs. Milton Berkman, social chairman of the fund raising drive. Combining both the patroness committee, headed by Mrs. Milton E. Harris, who has been working on advance gifts, and the general solicitation group, led by Mrs. Robert Whitehill—the rally will feature two speakers whose fields symbolize Council projects.

Headlining Rally

Featured speaker for the Rally, Miss Esther Appleberg is an overseas student attending Western Reserve University's School of Social Sciences. An Israeli adoptee, via Hamburg, Germany, Miss Appleberg is a Jerusalem teacher training graduate, and a pioneer in work of kindergarten, elementary and women adult schools in Galilee. She started the first program of visits to homes of problem Israeli children. She is one of 74 overseas students to study in American and Canada under the National Council of Jewish Women Scholarship program.

Featured Speaker

Also headlining the Rally will be Miss Jacqueline Fike, Physio Therapist to the Cerebral Palsied. She will narrate on the disease with which works at the Bedford School.

To close the fund raising campaign, Council has invited contributors to be its guests at its third annual dinner dance, "An Evening in Paris," Wednesday, October 15, at the Hotel William Penn.

Zionist Dinner Date Set

David T. Horvitz, president of the Pittsburgh Zionist District announced that the seventh annual American Zionist Fund Dinner has been set for October 26 in the ballroom of the William Penn Hotel. Other organizations planning their calendar of events for the year are asked to cooperate so as not to schedule major events to conflict with that date.

Jewish War Veterans Urge All to Vote

The Americanism Committee of the Jewish War Veterans has issued a plea for all American citizens to vote in this coming and all future elections. The Jewish War Veterans as an organization is not at all interested in how or for whom the vote is cast. It is primarily interested to see that all eligible to vote take advantage of this opportunity, to express by his or her vote his or her preference for candidate and his or her preference for policy. Nowhere else in this entire world, with the exception of the State of Israel are the Jewish people given this opportunity for full expression of choice or preference. Therefore this becomes a solemn duty to go to the polls on election day to cast the ballot.

In order to vote in the November election, one must be registered. The office of the Registration Commissioners are located in Room 102, County Office Building and are open daily from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. The last day for registration is Saturday, September 13. Special registration offices will be opened in the various communities for the benefit of those not able to reach the downtown offices. In the 14th Ward, Squirrel Hill Section Registration offices will be opened on Tuesday, August 26 in No. 34 Fire Station at 5858 Northumberland St. Registration will be from 12 noon to 10 p.m.

East End or 11th Ward residents, will register at the Dilworth Public School on Thursday, August 28 from 12 noon to 10 p.m., and residents of the Oakland Section, 4th Ward, will register at the Bellefield Public School on Monday, August 25, from 12 noon to 10 p.m.

The Jewish War Veterans Organization also announces that it is ready to assist all non-citizens, in guidance and preparation for acquiring citizenship.

Reception For Rabbi Kirshblum Slated for Sunday

On Sunday, August 17, at 4 p.m., the Board of the Tri-State Mizrahi Region will hold a reception for Rabbi Max Kirshblum, executive vice-president of the Mizrahi Organization of America, at the Mizrahi headquarters, 5751 Bartlett St.

Rabbi Bernard A. Poupko, regional president, will preside at the reception.

AT THE THRESHOLD

In the last 19 years the HIAS Ellis Island Bureau has served 565,110 kosher meals to Jewish detainees.

Arvey: Persistent Stevenson Backer

Governor Adlai Ewing Stevenson's most persistent backer, Jacob M. Arvey, who was born near the Chicago Loop 56 years ago, is one of the best known political leaders in the land.

His background is interesting.

He helped his father in his bakery, across from the La-Salle Street Station, then worked for a tailoring firm and studied law evenings. One of his law professors was a candidate for judge, and he rang doorbells for him, coming in contact for the first time with Democratic politicians who gave him a job in the state's attorney's office.

He became a leader in the 24th Ward and was elected an alderman from that Ward. In World War II he served in the Pacific, returning to Chicago in 1946. He found the Kelly-Nash machine weakening and upon invitation of the Cook County chairman accepted leadership of the party.

Background of a Name

Ad'lai, Father of Shaphat, Who Lived in David's Time

By PHILIP SLOMOVITZ

There is nothing mysterious about the first name of Democratic candidate for President. Ad'lai—in Hebrew it is spelled ayin, daled, lamed, yud—with the kametz in the second syllable pronounced sephardically ay and ashkenazically oy. Since Mr. Stevenson spells his name with an ai, the sephardic pronunciation is the correct one.

The name Ad'lai appears in the 29th verse of the 27th chapter of the First Book of Chronicles. Here is the Hebrew text and the English translation:

וַעֲלֵה הֶרֶדִּי וְעַל-אֶצְרוֹת הַשָּׂמֶן וַיֵּשֶׁב:
הַבֶּקֶר הָרְעִים בְּשָׂדֵן שִׁירְתַּי וְעַל-הַבֶּקֶר בְּעֵמְקִים
וְעַל-הַנְּמִלִּים אוֹבִיל הַיִּשְׁמֵלִי: שָׁמַט בֶּן-עֲדָלַי:

"And over the herds that fed in Sharon was Shirtai the Sharonite; and over the herds that were in the valleys was Shaphat the son of Adlai."

This reference to Adlai was in the year 2720 on the Hebrew calendar (1040 B.C.)—2992 years ago.

The meaning of "Adlai" as given in the Biblical Concordance is lax, or weary. Nowhere else, however, could we locate anything either to substantiate or to disprove these interpretations. Shaphat means to rule or to judge, Adlai's son, Shaphat, having been one King David's governors of a province.

On Sept. 3, 1892, Harper's Weekly, New York, published this advertisement, referring to the 1952 Presidential candidate's grandfather:

PERSONAL.

THE given name ADLAI, which many people who do not read the Bible became familiar with for the first time when Mr STEVENSON was nominated at Chicago, and which is in very infrequent use in this country, has been a favorite appellation in the STEVENSON family, and is now borne by several members besides the Democratic Vice-Presidential candidate. They spell it ADLEY, however, which represents the modern pronunciation of the word better than the regular orthography, and is entitled to consideration if Professor FRANCIS J. CHILD's dictum is true—that "any way of spelling is better than the ordinary way."

—Mr. JULIAN RALPH, whose articles on the development of the great West are now running in HARPER'S MAGAZINE.

Thus, an overseer of herds in the lowlands of David's Kingdom has handed down his name to a man who may be the next President of the United States. (An American Jewish Press Feature)

Capacity Crowd Expected for Schoenbrun Testimonial

A capacity crowd is expected at the testimonial dinner to honor Adolph Schoenbrun, which is being sponsored this Sunday, August 17, at the William Penn Hotel by the Pittsburgh District Mizrahi Organization.

The announcement was made this week by Rabbi Joshua Weiss, president of the Pittsburgh District Mizrahi Organization, who emphasized that the committee planning the testimonial dinner had reported excellent reception for the testimonial dinner in all sections of Jewish life in Pittsburgh.

Mr. Schoenbrun, the honored guest, especially emphasized that he was gratified to learn of the Israel Bond purchases which have been made in his honor.

Max D. Balsam, general chairman for the testimonial dinner, explained that the Pittsburgh District Mizrahi Organization was honoring Mr. Schoenbrun because of his devoted service towards Israel in the spirit of Mizrahi and for his pioneering work in the field of Jewish education.

Mr. Schoenbrun served as the acting chairman of the Pittsburgh Committee for Israel Bonds last summer and was a founder and is the president of Hillel Academy.

Rabbi Max Kirshblum, executive vice president of the Mizrahi Organization of America, will be the guest speaker at the dinner. Rabbi Kirshblum recently returned from Buenos Aires where he represented the North American Mizrahi at the Pan-American Mizrahi Conference.

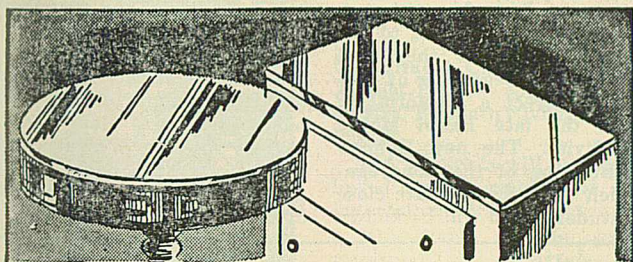

Mr. Balsam will act as toastmaster for the dinner. The opening prayer will be given by Rabbi P. N. Gross of the Shaare Zedeck Congregation. Opening remarks will be given by Harry N. Morris. Rabbi Bernard A. Poupko of the Shaare Torah Congregation will introduce the guest speaker, Rabbi Kirshblum.

Noted Leaders to Participate In Ground Breaking Ceremonies

Noted religious, communal, and civic leaders will participate in the Ground Breaking ceremonies for the resumption of construction to complete the new Shaare Torah edifice in Squirrel Hill on Sunday, August 17, at 1:30 p.m., according to an announcement by Joe Fine, general chairman of the Building Committee. This second phase of the construction activities will add to the present unfinished structure of the Main Synagogue with seating accommodations for 1200 worshippers, the Rabbi's Study, the Rabbi Sivitz Memorial Talmud Torah Building, the administrative offices of the Synagogue, the Hebrew and Sunday Religious School, the Library and Reading Room, and the Nursery Room for children whose mothers will be attending religious services or social and cultural activities in the Synagogue.

Program Announced

The Hon. Judge Benjamin Lencher, President of the Council of Jewish Education will preside during the ground breaking ceremonies. The invocation and benediction will be offered by Rabbi Dr. Joseph Shapiro of the Poale Zedeck Congregation and by Rabbi Morris A. Landes of the Adath Jeshurun Congregation. Philip J. Miller, president of the Congregation will open the program, and Bennie R. Neaman, hon. president of the Congregation and chairman of the Construction Committee will greet the gathering. Rabbi Max Kirshblum, executive vice president of the Mizrahi Organization of America, leader and spokesman of Religious Zionism in the Western Hemisphere, who is considered among the most brilliant rabbinic orators in this country will be the guest speaker for the occasion. Rabbi Bernard A. Poupko, spiritual head of the Congregation during the past 10 years will offer remarks while Cantor Zev Hofstadter will conduct the musical program.

Rabbi to Be Honored

These ground breaking ceremonies are of special interest to the entire community as they will mark the formal beginning of construction to erect a memorial in honor of the late Rabbi Moshe Shimon Sivitz. The new Hebrew School Building of the Congregation which will accommodate close to 400 students and will be known as the Rabbi Sivitz Memorial Talmud Torah Building will serve as a perpetual symbol of affection, reverence, and appreciation of the late Rabbi Sivitz who through his sound prolific Talmudic scholarship, matchless piety and charity brought prestige and honor to the Jewish community of Pittsburgh. Respected and beloved by the total community, Rabbi Sivitz enriched literature with his commentary on the Palestinian Talmud. He served as Rabbi of the Shaare Torah Congregation for 51 years. Rabbi Poupko, who succeeded Rabbi Sivitz is the second Rabbi of the Shaare Torah which has a rich and colorful 82-year history behind it.

Revised Plan

As a result of the unforeseen rapid expansion and growth of the Congregation and its Hebrew and Sunday Religious School during the Congregation's four years of existence in Squirrel Hill the original architectural plans had to be revised for the present construction effort. The Shaare Torah has presently a membership of close to 500 families.

By BILL WOLF

THE OLYMPIC GAMES: Two wrestlers, an American and a Russian, led the achievements of Jewish athletes from throughout the world who took part in the Olympic games recently concluded at Helsinki, Finland.

The American, lighthweight Henry Wittenberg finished second in this event. However, the New Yorker lost the Olympic championship he had held since 1948 when he won first place in the games at London.

Boris Gurevitch, lightweight wrestler, won a gold medal by taking a first place for the Soviet team. Other Soviet Jewish athletes who finished in the winning column included Tamara Tyshkevich, who took 4th place in the women's shot-put, and Mihail Perelman and Joseph Berdiev, who were on the winning Russian gymnastic team.

Two leading U. S. team members were eliminated on technicalities. Martin Engel fouled three times after working his way into the finals of the hammer throw, and Henry Laskau, A.A.U. walking champion, was disqualified for not walking according to the rules. It was the second time this had happened to Laskau in the Olympics. The extent of the disappointment he suffered could be seen in a photo that showed him dejectedly leaning on a rail with his head down after being ruled out. The U. S. fencing team, which had 14 Jewish athletes, scored only three points.

In retrospect, the most disappointing showing was turned in by Israel, although no one had expected great things from the country's first Olympic experience. The mere fact that Israel had been able to enter a team was considered an achievement. According to advance predictions, the best performance was turned in by runner David Tabak, Israeli schoolteacher. He survived the first heats in both the 100 and 200 meter races, only to be eliminated in the second heats.

Other Israeli athletes met similar fates. Israel's champion women's discus thrower, Olga Wittenberg, who had been regarded as a hopeful, couldn't make the 36 meter minimum required to remain in the competition. She was short by one-fifth of a meter. Arieh Glick didn't do the 800-meter run in less than two minutes. Neither did the Israeli basketball team, coached by Brooklyn college mentor Tuby Raskin, get into the main competition. The squad was knocked out in the preliminaries by virtue of losses to the Greek and Philippine cagers.

Israeli athletes were all entered under their Hebrew names.

There were at least seven other Jewish athletes entered from various countries, and there probably were more who have not yet been identified. They included Britain's Peter Elliot, a diver, and Allan Jay, fencer; India's Isaac Mansoor and David Sopher of the water polo team; Raymond Weinberg and Morris Curotta, runners from Australia, and Souzi Harari, a member of the Egyptian basketball team. None of these athletes managed to cop any honors.

According to a press report, at least one nation hostile to Israel lived up to advanced warnings that attempts might be made to give Israel a raw deal. An Egyptian was secretary of the meeting of the International Wrestling Foundation. He called the roll of countries twice and each time the name of Israel was omitted. When he was queried as to why, the secretary was reported to have asked how he could possibly accept a vote from a country that does not exist.

HOLLYWOOD—Recently, at the time of the visit of official representatives of the State of Israel, Hollywood, Beverly Hills, and Los Angeles, under the leadership of outstanding figures in the industrial, motion picture and professional fields in Southern California, played a distinctive part in providing Israel with the financial cushion that new nation needed to overcome its fiscal and welfare problems.

The Israel representatives themselves admitted that this financial aid, secured by Israel Bonds, was a stop-gap measure, sorely needed to give the country officialdom time to work out ways and means to overcome its economic problems.

Now, from Los Angeles again, has come a new conception of aid for Israel, looking not toward temporary easing of financial and economic difficulties, but a permanent solution to the nation's fiscal problems. This new plan is so practical and so far-seeing that it may well become the foundation upon which Israel will be enabled to stand upon its own feet and gain economic independence.

The author of this plan is Ben Solnit, one of the outstanding industrialists of Southern California and, for years, one of the most widely known and respected Jewish philanthropists in America.

Solnit has invested extensively in Israel Bonds and has contributed heavily to all other forms of financial support for the State of Israel. He further demonstrated his deep interest in its welfare and progress by making an extensive tour of Israel from which he only recently returned.

Intensive Survey

As a result of the intensive survey he made of conditions there, Solnit came to the conclusion that financial support and contributions alone will never solve Israel's problems but, rather, will become something of a form of continuing charity which will only increase the country's debt without rooting out the cause of financial stress.

The fundamental need, he asserts, is that Israel should develop a sound economic situation which will enable it to become wholly self-supporting and stand on its own feet financially speaking. He declares that virtually all of Israel's financial problems can be ascribed to a single fact . . . that Israel has no appreciable export power and, therefore, is operating continuously under unfavorable trade balance.

In order to become self-supporting and solve its internal and external fiscal difficulties, he states, Israel must develop industrially to the extent of producing for export to a very substantial degree.

Ben Solnit's project already is receiving wide favor in the American industrial world. It needs only the interest and services of a comparatively small number of competent experts who, within the space of less than a year, could revolutionize the entire economic situation in a progressive and altogether democratic new country and place it on a footing which will enable it to hold its head high in the family of nations, strong and independent in its own right.

"Petrified Forest" Now At Pines Playhouse

Charles Matthews, whose adroit playing of "Uncle Willie" in Philadelphia Story supplied many chuckles at the Pines Playhouse two weeks ago, takes a fast change of pace into the sensitive role of "Allan Squier", the lead of "Petrified Forest". "Petrified Forest," the Barry play that made Leslie Howard famous, and supplied David Niven with a tremendously successful television vehicle, plays this weekend at the Pines Playhouse, Route 19, Perry Highway.

Beginning Tuesday, August 19, the Pines will present "Harvey," the rib-tickling and perennial choice of comedy by American audiences. Written by Mary Chase and directed by Harvey Paul Jurik, of the teaching staff at Carnegie Tech Drama School, the fast-paced story of the rabbit "who wasn't there" promises to be a leader in audience-pleasing at the Pines.

Pots and Pans

By FLORA M. ISAACS

The joy of being outdoors on warm summer days leads to the planning of picnic meals. Some of the happiest times are when family or friends gather together in a backyard for an outdoor buffet. Food takes on added importance when appetites are doubled by outdoor living. Backyard meals, like indoor eating, are climaxed by tasty desserts.

A delicate cake such as orange chiffon can be the centerpiece of your buffet table if it's topped with an old-fashioned golden rich, penuche frosting. It's easy to make with penuche quick fudge and frosting mix. For variety add crushed pineapple to that brown sugar frosting. Hawaiian frosting on an orange chiffon cake can't be beat for flavor appeal.

If you want the ice cream variety of dessert serve chocolate sundae upside down. This is done by placing chocolate sauce in the bottom of serving dishes. Roll a scoop of homemade ice cream in chopped nuts and drop in the sauce. Notice we suggest making your own ice cream. It's not the chore you may think it is. The ready prepared packaged freezing mix does all the work for you.

ORANGE CHIFFON CAKE

- 2 1/4 cups sifted flour
- 1 1/2 cups sugar
- 3 teaspoons baking powder
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 cup salad oil
- 5 unbeaten egg yolks
- 2 tablespoons grated orange rind
- 3/4 cup orange juice
- 1 cup egg whites (about 8)
- 1/2 teaspoon cream of tartar

Heat oven to 325°F. Sift cake-flour. Measure. Sift flour, sugar, baking powder and salt together into a mixing bowl. Make a "well" and add salad oil, egg yolks, orange rind and juice. Beat with a spoon until smooth. Measure egg whites (which should be room temperature) into a large mixing bowl. Whip with cream of tartar until it forms very stiff peaks. Do not underbeat. Pour egg yolk mixture over whipped egg whites—gently fold with a rubber scraper just until blended. Do not stir. Pour into an ungreased 10-inch tube pan at once. Bake in moderate oven 325°F. for 65-70 minutes. Invert and cool in pan one hour. Frost with Hawaiian Icing.

HAWAIIAN ICING

- 4 tablespoons butter
- 1/2 cup well-drained crushed pineapple
- 1 package penuche quick fudge mix

Keep water boiling in the lower part of a double boiler. In top part put butter and crushed pineapple. When butter has melted, add contents of package of penuche quick fudge mix. Stir 3 to 4 minutes or until glossy. Do not beat. Frost cake immediately.

* * *

UPSIDE DOWN SUNDAE

- 2 cups light cream, well chilled
- 1 package vanillin or chocolate freezing mix
- chopped nuts

Whip well-chilled light cream until a deep layer of foam has formed. Takes about two minutes. Add contents of package of vanillin or chocolate freezing mix and whip one more minute to dissolve. Pour into freezing tray. Freeze until firm but mellow (do not freeze too hard). Then set control back. Serve with Chocolate Sauce.

* * *

CHOCOLATE SAUCE

- 2 tablespoons butter
- 4 tablespoons cold water
- 1 1/4 cups chocolate quick fudge (mix 1/2 package)

Keep water boiling in bottom of a double boiler. Put butter and water in top. When butter has melted add chocolate quick fudge mix. When ready to serve put sauce in bottom of each serving dish. Scoop out balls of ice cream and roll in chopped nuts. Place ice cream ball in each dish and serve immediately.

Outlook's Weekly Review

of Independents will head a delegation to inform the U.S. Acting High Commissioner of Vienna that an American veto of the Nazi amnesty laws would be considered by the Austrian population "an offensive tutelage and an interference with purely domestic Austrian affairs," the press reported this week.

Meanwhile, the Austrian Government was reported planning to reintroduce into Parliament a "legal complex" of legislation embracing restitution legislation and the Nazi amnesty measures in the event the recently adopted legislation meets with veto in the Allied High Commission. This, it was said, was to establish the determination of the government and people of Austria on this issue.

As elements of the Austrian press continued to seethe over the U.S. State Department's criticism of the amnesty law and protests by the Jewish organizations against the weakening of the restitution legislation, the powerful provincial journal, the Voralberger Nachrichten warned that Austria could not accept claims for restitution made by Israel. The paper cited Austria's recent memorandum to members of the United Nations rejecting responsibility on claims dating to times when Austria did not have "freedom of independent decision." Restitution, the paper said, could be made only on an individual basis and Austria would refuse to rule on a collective basis on ownerless property.

Dromedary Kosher Cake Mix Widely Acclaimed

Jewish women who are increasingly concerned with maintaining a kosher kitchen, will have the welcome mat out for Dromedary Kosher Cake Mixes.

The recent acquisition by the Dromedary people of the kosher "U" endorsement adds the final seal of approval by the Union of Orthodox Jewish Congregations to the quality and kashruth of this famous old line of quality products. As a result, more and more Jewish housewives are joining the many thousands throughout the country who rely regularly on the entire Dromedary line of over 30 choice kosher products.

With the full assortment of nine fine Dromedary Cake Mixes on the pantry shelf, you can now bake your cake and eat it, too, with considerably greater enjoyment, complete assurance of kashruth, and time-saving, effortless ease. Gone completely is the bother of old-fashioned measuring, sifting and blending; gone, too, are the uncertain results that so often are affected by seemingly minor variations in even the finest of store-bought ingredients. No home kitchen is equipped to maintain the unvaryingly uniform standards of quality that are so rigidly observed in all the Dromedary plants, backed by special continuous research and testing methods developed through Dromedary's years of pioneering in the cake mix field. And no housewife, however ample her kitchen storage facilities, can keep on hand the full variety of ingredients needed to prepare the many different types of cakes and cookies that can be prepared with these nine basic Dromedary mixes.
