CURRENT COMMENTS

Asher Isaacs, Ph.D.

THE New York State rabbi who resigned his pulpit after five years to enter the advertising business and who was persuaded this week to remain a rabbi would make an excellent advertising man. He has now become famous and for a few weeks ought to have a fair attendance at services. But the reflection is not on him. It is on those American synagogues which make serious-minded theologians into clever business men and convert young idealists into middle-aged materialists and "yes" men.

A colorful figure died the other day. His life suggests, however, that adventure is not dead. Harry Silver, of Milwaukee, was born in Russia and came to America at the age of twelve. He earned his living as a professional runner and filled in on numerous college teams under different assumed names before eligibility rules became strict. He proved a capable soldier during the Spanish-American War. At different times he appeared as Chief of Police of Manila, alderman, and Chief of the Fire Department in various towns. He died in Chicago and was buried in an orthodox cemetery. And we almost forgot—he made his living as an auctioneer.

Eddie Cantor in London was asked about sending films to Germany and he answered, "Why should I send my films to Germany to make people laugh who make my people cry?" Herein is a protest more eloquent than any protest meeting resolutions.

And now under North Carolina's blue sky law, Silver Shirt Pelley finds he is enveloped in a cloud and accused of selling unregistered securities in connection with his un-American activities. The only silver lining in the cloud seems to be the silver lining of his pockets. Beginning with $40 cash, he allegedly did a business of peddling hate amounting to over $50,000 in one year.

Vladimir Jabotinsky, who, by the way, translated Edgar Allen Poe's poems into Hebrew and Russian, is asking for a New Deal in Palestine. It seems that an opposition has developed within the opposition and that a new group of Revisionists who want to be revisionists of Revisionists is disturbing the leader.

A recently-published book on the early history of American Jews tells of a pair of tephillin unearthed near Pittsfield, Mass., over a century ago. Present day youth does not need to go to this extreme. They present them to museums.

PALESTINE DAY WILL BE MARKED HERE THURSDAY

Meeting In "Y" Will Feature Talks By Rothenberg, Lehman

Giving formal recognition to the vast development which has taken place in the Jewish national homeland, America will this week celebrate its first annual Palestine Day.

Throughout the United States, Jews and non-Jews, Zionists and non-Zionists will join in holding meetings at which the history, significance and aims of Palestine will be discussed and interpreted.

Although Sunday, January 20, has

FEDERATION MEMBERSHIP WILL MEET THIS SUNDAY EVENING IN Y.M.&W.H.A.

Eight Board Members To Be Named; Revised By-Laws Up For Consideration; Yearly Reports Will Be Given

Members of the Federation of Jewish Philanthropies will gather in the Y. M. & W. H. A. auditorium this Sunday evening, January 20, at 8 o'clock, to hold their twenty-third annual meeting.

Under the chairmanship of Leon Falk, Jr., president of the Federation, the meeting will be devoted to election of eight new board members; annual reports by the officers and executive director, Dr. Ludwig B. Bernstein; and consideration of the newly-revised by-laws.

Dr. Solomon B. Freehof, rabbi of Rodef Shalom Congregation, will deliver the principal address of the evening.

Included in the group who have been nominated to membership on the board of directors are Morris Balter, Max L. Blum, Frank R. S.

See editorial, "The Annual Meeting of the Federation," on page 6 of this issue.

Kaplan, Mrs. Karl J. Kaufmann, Charles J. Rosenbloom, Charles H. Sachs, Saul Schein and Emil Steinbach. Voting on the nominees for the board will take place at the "Y" from 7:30 to 8:30 o'clock Sunday evening, in accordance with the by-laws of the Federation, it was announced.

BY-LAWS MAILED OUT

Copies of the revised by-laws, upon which a vote will be taken at the meeting, have been mailed to members of the Federation.

The meeting will be open to the Federation membership, which includes all Jewish persons in this area who have contributed $10 or more to the Community Fund, from which the Federation and its 15 member-agencies receive financial support.

ROYALTY INSPECT HOLY LAND ON EVE OF PALESTINE DAY

His Royal Highness, Gustav Adolf, Crown Prince of Sweden (left), is shown inspecting the government building in Jerusalem accompanied by the Crown Princess and Sir Arthur Grenfell Wauchope, High Commissioner for Palestine. He expressed amazement at the cultural, economic and agricultural growth which has taken place in the land in recent years.

been officially set aside for the nation-wide holiday, and will be marked in Pittsburgh by a number of small group discussions, the large Palestine Day meeting in this city will be held next Thursday, January 24, in the Y. M. and W. H. A. The date of the meeting was moved, it was explained, in deference to the Federation of Jewish Philanthropies, which had already scheduled its annual meeting for this Sunday when plans for Palestine Day were announced here.

Invitations to a dinner which will precede the meeting have been mailed out to leaders in Jewish life throughout this area. The dinner will have among its guests Morris Rothenberg, president of the Zionist Organization of America and chairman of the Worlds Council of the Jewish Agency for Palestine, who will come here from Washington to speak at the local celebration.

Also on the program will be Leo Lehman, prominent local Jewish leader, who has taken a leading part in numerous Jewish movements.

Known as a diplomat, orator, and leader of American Israel, Mr. Rothenberg played a prominent part in the formation of the Jewish agency. Together with the late Louis Marshall, he was responsible for bringing about the unity of Jewry in the practical work of Palestine. He enjoys the confidence of not only the Zionist but of the non-Zionist as well. Despite the tremendous part he is playing in the all-Jewish conference on Palestine that is being held in Washington, Rabbi B. A. Lichter, President of the Pittsburgh Zionist District, has been instrumental in prevailing upon the distinguished visitor to take part in the Palestine program that is being arranged here in co-operation with many local Jewish organizations.

WARSAW NEEDY PLEAD FOR RELIEF FROM COLD

WARSAW, Jan. 18, (JTA)—Thousands of freezing Jews, including women and children, besieged last Friday the offices of the Jewish Community in Warsaw, asking for coal.

The number of impoverished Jews depending upon free coal from the Community is growing every day.

PLAN HIGHWAY TO LINK PALESTINE AND EGYPT

JERUSALEM, Jan. 18, (JTA)—The project of constructing a road to link Egypt, Palestine and Syria is being considered by the Egyptian government, the Arab press reports.

ANNUAL HOSPITAL MEETING MONDAY

The annual meeting of the Montefiore Hospital will be held Monday evening, January 21, at 8 o'clock, in the main building of the hospital, Fifth Avenue and McKee Place.

News Flashes

JEWES FLEE FROM SAAR

SAARBRUCKEN, Jan. 18, (JTA)—Fearing Nazi reprisals despite the fact that many of them declared a belief in the German government, Jews in the Saar were closing out their businesses, shutting up their homes and fleeing into hiding.

Many left for France, their assets turned into cash, while others sought new homes in southern France or in Palestine, where they can live on farm-lands as tenants.

CATHOLIC RELIGION FIRST, SAYS AUSTRIAN CHANCELLOR

VIENNA, Jan. 18, (JTA)—The Catholic religion takes first place in Austria, Chancellor Kurt Schuschnigg asserted at a private meeting to which a specially picked audience had been invited, it was officially announced.

Dr. Schuschnigg also declared that his government acknowledged the rights of all religious groups to equal treatment. He thanked the Austrian Jews for the stand taken in condemning the "exaggerations of international public opinion."

There has, however, been no abatement of the conditions affecting the Jews in Austria and no anti-Jewish measures have been withdrawn as a result of Finance Minister Buresch's promises to London bankers, the Jewish Telegraphic Agency ascertained from most reliable Jewish circles.

RABBI HEADS MANNHEIM JEWISH COMMUNITY

BERLIN, Jan. 18, (JTA)—For the first time in the recent history of German Jewry, a rabbi has been appointed chairman of a Jewish community in Germany. Rabbi Dr. Gruenwald of Mannheim has been unanimously elected as president of the community for a period of two years.

His predecessor as president of the community, Professor Moses, left Germany about six months ago for Palestine, where he is now resident.

JABOTINSKY GAINS VICTORY AT KRAKOW

KRAKOW, Jan. 17, (JTA)—Extremists in the Zionist Revisionist movement suffered a crushing defeat last Monday when Vladimir Jabotinsky was re-elected president of the World Revisionist Union at the closing session of the sixth world conference of the group.

Leaders Honor Settlement At 40th Anniversary

DINNER, RECEPTION MARK CELEBRATION

Coming here from points throughout the nation to honor the Irene Kaufmann Settlement and its leaders on the occasion of the institution's fortieth anniversary, persons prominent in civic, philanthropic and religious circles took part last Thursday evening, January 17, in exercises held at the Settlement.

A dinner, a public meeting at which Sherman C. Kingsley, former head of the Welfare Federation of Philadelphia, was

Mr. Kaufmann, soon to be 75 years of age, is the patron of the Settlement which bears his daughter's name, and has for years been one of the leading philanthropists among the Jewish people of Pittsburgh. Mr. Rothschild, now celebrating his 80th birthday, has been interested in the Irene Kaufmann Settlement since its beginning, as well as in all the organizations listed. The dinner was informal in every way, meeting the wishes of the honor guests, and greetings were brief. Mr. S. Leo Ruslander, president of the Irene Kaufmann Settlement, presided, and greetings on behalf of that institution were given to Mr. Kaufmann by Mr. Malcolm Goldsmith, and to Mr. Rothschild by Mr. A. Blumenthal. Mr. Leon Falk, Jr., president of the Federation of Jewish Philanthropies, of which the Settlement is a member-agency, extended the appreciation of the community; and Mr. A. Leo Weil presented two old fashioned autograph albums filled with messages and greetings from the guests.

FAMED PERSONS TELEGRAPH GREETINGS

Telegrams of congratulation were read from Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, Howard Braucher, secretary of the National Recreation Association, Congressman Henry Ellenbogen, Rev. Thomas F. Coakley, of Sacred Heart Church, Mrs. Joseph M. Jackson, Lillian D. Wald, president of Henry Street Settlement in New York, and scores of other persons of local and national prominence. Expressing her regrets that she could not be present to participate in the "well earned encomiums and the prophecies that will come true" regarding the settlement, Miss Wald, in her wire, wrote:

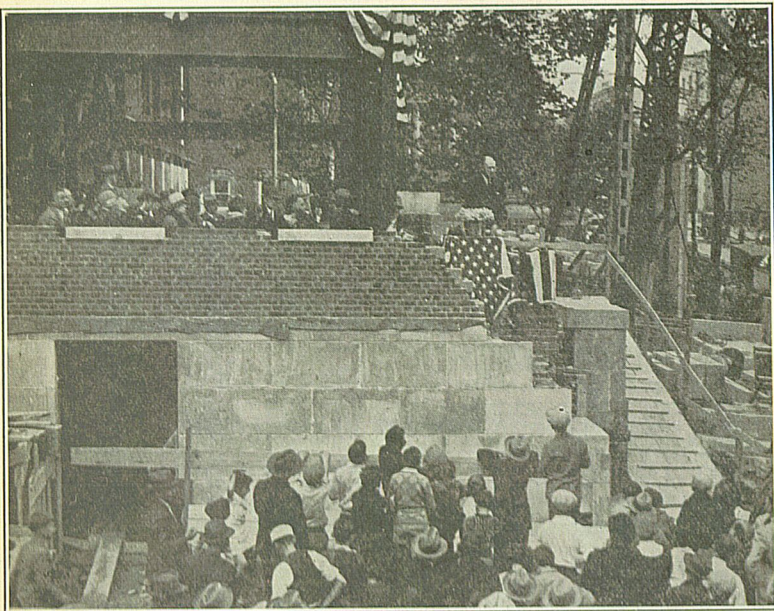

"The Irene Kaufmann Settlement was born with a golden spoon—the priceless advantage of having people found it who cared tremendously for the vital issues of the day. It would be no compliment to those who inspired and those who have built up the house to ignore the difficulties. I see in your past and the promise of your future an upright and courageous attitude towards controversial matters and always the desire to support the unpopular cause, if the cause unpopular at the time gave hope of a more just social condition."

principal speaker, and a reception were features of the celebration, over which S. Leo Ruslander, president of the Settlement, presided.

HENRY KAUFMAN, MAX ROTHSCHILD HONORED AT DINNER

Mr. Henry Kaufmann and Mr. Max Rothschild, guests of honor at the informal dinner which preceded the meeting, are members of one or more of the following boards: the Irene Kaufmann Settlement, the Federation of Jewish Philanthropies of Pittsburgh; Rodef Shalom Congregation; Pittsburgh Symphony Society, Montefiore Hospital and Pittsburgh Bureau for Jewish Children.

MILESTONE IN SETTLEMENT'S HISTORY

Corner-stone laying of the Addition in 1928; Louis J. Affelder, president of the Irene Kaufmann Settlement for many years, speaking.

100,000 IN POLAND AWAIT CERTIFICATES

JERUSALEM, Jan. 17, (JTA)—More than 100,000 starving Polish Jews are eagerly awaiting immigration certificates to Palestine, Isaac Gruenbaum, head of the immigration department of the Jewish Agency, told newspapermen at a conference.

SAGE'S BIRTH WILL BE MARKED

CELEBRATIONS THROUGH-OUT COUNTRY BEING ARRANGED

NEW YORK, Jan. 18, (JTA)—The eight hundredth anniversary of the birth of Rabbi Moses Maimonides, medieval philosopher, sage and commentator, will be marked the end of March by the publication of material dealing with various phases of his life and work, the newly-formed Maimonides Committee announced last Monday.

EXHIBITS TO BE FEATURED

The committee also plans to aid in staging exhibits in museums and libraries.

The four honorary chairmen of the committee are Dr. Cyrus Adler, president of the Jewish Theological Seminary; Dr. Julian Morganstern, president of the Hebrew College; Dr. Bernard Revel, president of Yeshiva College, and Dr. Stephen S. Wise, president of the Jewish Institute of Religion.

LOCAL GROUPS PLAN SPECIAL EVENTS

Synagogues, Jewish schools and Jewish organizations of Pittsburgh are planning to participate in an elaborate celebration of the 800th anniversary of the birth of Moses Maimonides, I. A. Abrams, chairman of a committee in charge of arrangements, announced.

LEADERS IN CHARGE

Local Jewish leaders who are on the committee include, besides Abrams, Rabbi A. M. Ashinsky, Dr. Ludwig B. Bernstein, Abe R. Cohen, Mrs. B. Davis, H. Dobrin, Dr. Solomon B. Freehof, Samuel Fuss, Rabbi Herman Hailperin, Mrs. Saul Lavine, Rabbi Wolf Leiter, Mrs. I. H. Levin, Rabbi Benjamin A. Lichter, Dr. M. B. Lichtenstein, Morris Neaman, Herman Passamaneck, Rabbi Goodman A. Rose, Mrs. Charles Reizenstein, Oscar Robins, Nathan Savage and I. A. Swiss.

BUTLER IS HOST TO B'NAI B'RITH

Jaffe Announces Plans For Convention

I. M. JAFFEE

Senator Alfred M. Cohn, international president of B'nai B'rith, will come to Butler, Pa., to address a convention of all Western Pennsylvania B'nai B'rith lodges February 3, it was announced this week by I. M. Jaffe, president of the Western Pennsylvania Council.

Senator Cohn will make his address at a banquet in the ballroom of the Sterling Club, at Butler, which will be the feature of the convention. Plans announced by the committee in charge also include a general session and talks by Attorney Frank R. S. Kaplan, district president of B'nai B'rith; Joseph Herbach, secretary of District 3 of the organization; and a number of civic leaders of this district.

C. J. W. TO HEAR NEW YORK RABBI

Rabbi Milton L. Steinberg, prominent young leader of Park Avenue Synagogue, New York City, will address the Pittsburgh Section, National Council of Jewish Women, Tuesday, January 22, at 2:15 P. M., in the auditorium of the Y. M. & W.

H. A. His subject "Is Zionism the Answer" will be a discussion of the problems confronting world Jewry today.

Rabbi Herman L. Hailperin, Tree of Life synagogue, will offer the opening prayer. Max Franklin, vocal soloist, will present a group of songs, and the president, Mrs. Charles B. Buerger, will introduce the speaker. A social hour in charge of Mrs. S. I. Lebeau and her committee, will conclude the afternoon.

The next meeting of the class in the Study of Jewish Problems of the Pittsburgh Section will be held Wednesday, January 23, at 2:00 P. M., in the home of the chairman, Mrs. Aaron L. Lambie, 5372 Beeler Street. Papers will be presented by two members of the class, Miss Carrie Kornhauser, who will discuss the period of the Holy Roman Empire, and Mrs. Joseph Goodman, who will discuss the Spanish Period of Jewish History. The class is open to all Council members.

The new quarters to which the council's service shop moved this year at 253 Atwood Street are proving very adequate, it is reported. Anyone who is interested in the Shop is invited to come in at any time and look around; those in charge will be glad to explain how the shop is conducted and tell of some of the ways in which it helps to serve the community.

Winter clothing and household goods are still in great demand at the Service Shop; bundles will be called for if a telephone call is made to Schenley 0476.

TREE OF LIFE SISTERHOOD PLANS CARD PARTY

Plans for a card party Wednesday evening, January 30, at the Tree of Life Congregation's social hall, are being completed by the sisterhood. Under the chairmanship of Mrs. A. H. Wiseman and Mrs. Louis Goodman, co-chairman, the party is expected to draw a record crowd. It will be open to men as well as women.

The sisterhood is joining in the sponsoring of a series of three lectures. The first will be held the evening of January 29, in B'nai Israel Synagogue, East End, with Dr. Israel Goldstein as speaker.

Late Friday Night Services at Synagogues

ALUMNI IN CHARGE AT B'NAI ISRAEL; RABBI HAILPERIN SPEAKS ON MONTEFIORE

Late Friday evening services are being held, in addition to regular Sabbath services, at Congregations B'nai Israel, Beth Shalom, Tree of Life and Beth El, according to announcements this week.

At B'nai Israel, the Oneg Shabbos services will be conducted by alumni of the congregation, including Lillian Marcus and Irving Bennett. Attorney Leo I. Shapiro, supervisor of alumni, will give the principal address of the evening. Cantor Julius Bloom, together with the choir, will render special musical presentations and Rabbi B. A. Lichter will preside.

The service at Tree of Life Friday evening, January 25, will include a sermon by Rabbi Herman Hailperin on "The Montefiore Hospital—A Non-Sectarian Institution Under Jewish Auspices." This service starts at 8:15 o'clock.

At Beth Shalom, a social hour will follow the late services next Friday, with Mr. and Mrs. L. Simon, Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Richter, Mr. and Mrs. Morris Friedman and Mrs. B. Rogalsky as hosts.

A number of other interesting announcements came this week from congregations throughout the district. Of particular interest were the following:

SPECIAL PROGRAM AT BETH EL CONGREGATION

A program and play are being planned for Sunday, January 20, to celebrate Chamisho Osor B'Shevat.

The Americanization class meets every Tuesday at 10 A. M.

The Hebrew and Jewish History class for women meet on Mondays at 1:30 P. M.

The Beth El Juniors meet on Monday evening at 7:30 with Mr. Leonard Breakstone. This group is planning to give a play written by Jerome Seigel, one of its members. Through the Rabbi, the club was very fortunate in procuring the services of Mr. Henry Cohen to coach the play.

Mr. Chas. Price has been added as one of the basketball coaches for the Young Judeans who meet every Wednesday evening at 7:00 at the Fallowfield School.

Mr. Isadore Suffrin coaches the Beth El Stars at the Beechview school on Wednesday evening.

CONGREGATION BETH SHALOM

Tickets have been mailed out to the congregational membership for the three public lectures under the auspices of the Western Pennsylvania Branch of the United Synagogue of America, which will be held in Pittsburgh on January 29 at the B'nai Israel Synagogue; February 21, at the Beth Shalom Synagogue; and March 14, at the Tree of Life Synagogue. Checks may be mailed in to Rabbi Rose for these lectures. Additional tickets may be secured by calling the congregational office, Hazel 2289.

YAHREZITS

The following Yahrzeits will be observed this week:—Esther Freide Caplan, Zelde Abrams, Sime Smith, Yechiel Michel Plesset, Moach Landy, Minnie Rhea Silverblatt, Chyene Cohen, Elke Sandler, Esther Mindel Bernstein, Rivke Rude Frankston, Eva Mandelblatt, Benjamin Cramer, Leah Vixman, Sholem Dorfman, Neshé Sarah Weiner, Solomon Siegel.

RODEF SHALOM CONGREGATION

At Sunday morning services, Dr. Freehof will discuss the question "Shall We Go Radical—A Proposal and an Answer."

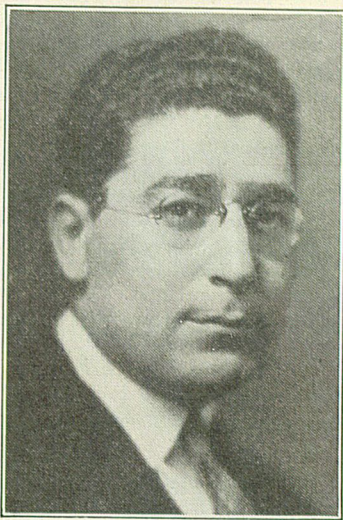

Classes will be resumed this Sunday morning at 10:15 o'clock. Arrangements are being made to hold the monthly forum on Sunday evening, so as not to interfere with the class room discussions on Sunday morning.

The Men's Smoker will be held this Sunday night, January 20, from 8:30 to 11:30 o'clock, in Alumni Hall. All Alumni men are invited to participate in this evening of entertainment.

ONEG SHABBOS SPEAKERS LISTED AT B'NAI ISRAEL

The following are scheduled to speak at the B'nai Israel Oneg Shabbos Services during the coming week:—January 25, Attorney A. L. Wolk; February 1, Mr. Sidney Teller

BROADCASTING

DR. SOLOMON B. FREEHOF

Rabbi Freehof On Air Sunday

Dr. Solomon B. Freehof, rabbi of Rodef Shalom Congregation, will speak on "A Modern Task for Religion" over a Columbia Broadcasting System hook-up this Sunday, January 20, at 10 o'clock in the afternoon. The program will be carried locally over station WJAS.

of the Irene Kaufman Settlement; February 8, Dr. Solomon B. Freehof of the Temple; February 15, Attorney Jacob Margolis.

The Religious School will celebrate Jewish Arbor Day, Chamisho Osor B'Shevat in the Religious School Assembly this Sunday morning, January 20, at 11:30 o'clock, in the synagogue. Grade 7, Miss Sally Harris, teacher, will present the following program: Poem—"I Know A Land," Elaine Ackerman; Poem—Shirley Rubin; Chamisho Osor Play, "Here and There"—Harriett Harris and Harry Weiss; Essay on Chamisho Osor, Esther Deaktor; Announcer, Edgar Rosenberg; Palestinian songs will be sung by the school and Palestinian fruits and nuts will be served to the children by the Sisterhood of the Congregation. Rabbi Lichter will conduct the Assembly.

SCHOOL EXPANDED AT TREE OF LIFE

The Daily School schedule of classes in session between 4 and 6 has been extended, and a class of older boys and girls, in charge of Mr. Marcus Rosenthal, has been arranged that meets between 6 and 8 every evening.

Chamisho Osor B'Shevat, occurring on January 19, will be observed in the School this Sunday morning at 10 o'clock. A special program will be presented in Assembly, and the children will receive Chamisho Osor B'Shevat delicacies.

ORTHODOX LEADERS MEET NEXT WEEK

Will Hold Conference In Beth Jacob Synagogue

At the invitation of the Orthodox Rabbis of Pittsburgh, orthodox spiritual leaders of western Pennsylvania, eastern Ohio and West Virginia will meet Sunday, January 27, at 2 o'clock, in Beth Jacob Synagogue, Epiphany and Townsend Street, Rabbi A. M. Ashinsky announced this week.

Members of the local orthodox rabbis' group are Rabbi Ashinsky, Rabbi Elias W. Kochin, Rabbi M. A. Levine, Rabbi Joseph Shapera and Rabbi Wolfe Leiter.

B'nai B'rith Lodge Adds 380 New Members Tuesday

Three hundred eighty new members have joined the Pittsburgh B'nai B'rith lodge as a result of the campaign recently conducted under chairmanship of Richard S. Rauh, it was announced by Samuel Krimsly, secretary of the lodge.

This gives Pittsburgh a total B'nai B'rith membership of nearly 800, representing a cross-section of the entire Jewish community.

RABBIS AIDED

Credit for the huge success of the campaign, which was carried on without publicity, was given largely to lay leaders who served in it and to Dr. Solomon B. Freehof, Dr. Herman Hailperin, Rabbi Benjamin A. Lichter and Rabbi Goodman A. Rose, who co-operated energetically throughout the drive.

Formal initiation of the new members, as well as installation of new officers, will be held at a meeting of the order Tuesday, January 22, at 8 o'clock in the evening, at the Y. M. & W. H. A.

FIVE BAR MITZVAHS ARE PLANNED

Bar Mitzvahs will be celebrated during the week by the following boys and their families:

PAUL SECHER, son of Mr. and Mrs. Rudolf Secher, of 140 Chesterfield Road; at Tree of Life Congregation, Saturday, January 26.

MARVIN B. GOLDBLOOM, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Goldbloom, of 5547 Woodmont Street; at Beth Shalom Congregation, Saturday, January 26.

SHOLEM CLAIRE, son of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Clair, of 311 Fairmont Avenue; Saturday morning, January 19, at Congregation B'nai Israel.

MORTIMER RUBIN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Morris Rubin, of 704 Homewood Avenue; Saturday morning, January 26, at Congregation B'nai Israel.

RALPH EDELSTEIN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Edelstein, of 3114 Niagara Street; Saturday, January 26, at Tree of Life Congregation.

SEDER EDUCATIONAL CENTER OPENS MONDAY

Classes Offered In Art, Music, Language and Science

Second semester classes in the Isaac Seder Educational Center of the Y. M. & W. H. A. will begin Monday night with a large number of students already enrolled for most of the subjects. A heavy late registration is expected. The Center is operating under a policy which permits students to take as many courses as they desire for the initial registration fee of $6.00 for members of the "Y" and $7.00 for non-members. This low rate enables everybody to get the equivalent of a college education at very small cost.

Courses are being offered in Hebrew and correlated studies, art, clay modeling, pottery, puppet making, graphic arts, critique of music, music appreciation, dancing and eurythmics.

In the Language Department, French, Russian and German are being taught. Under the head of English and Literature will come courses in elementary public speaking and diction. An Introductory Survey of English Literature; a course on significant writers of France, Spain and Italy, and one on the Contemporary Theatre complete this group.

Social Sciences, including Morality, Religion and Ethics Through the Ages; and Modern Marriage and the Family, and Social Reformers: II—Marx and After, are also offered.

Several special courses are also being offered. Dr. A. L. Robinson will continue his class in Chemistry for the Layman; Dr. M. A. Hershenson will continue Every-day Medicine and Dr. Asher Isaacs will take up Current Economic Events.

HILARIES HEAR SAAR DISCUSSION

A talk on the situation in the Saar region was given before the Hilary Club at its meeting last week. An open forum discussion followed the address.

A. Morris Ginsburg has been appointed secretary of the club, and Dr. J. C. Levy has been named publicity chairman. Social plans for the winter include a Valentine party next month.

All chairmen of committee will report on work done during the past year.

Members of the Ladies' Hospital Aid Society are urged to attend the annual Montefiore Hospital Meeting Monday evening, January 21, at 8 o'clock.

BETH SHALOM MEN PLAN DANCE

Harry Rosenberg, chairman of the Beth Shalom Men's Club cabaret dance, to be held Wednesday evening, 8:30, January 23, at the Sisterhood Hall, Beacon Street and Shady Avenue, has announced there will be no charge for admission to members who have paid dues for the year 1935 and to those who pay their annual dues the evening of the dance.

He adds: "The Cabaret Dance is intended to be a sample of what the Men's Club can and will do for the entertainment of its members, and kindly remember this is without charge to anyone. It is intended to be the outstanding social affair in the Men's Club Year and members and their ladies are invited to renew old acquaintances and friends. For the convenience of members who wish to attend in parties, tables will be reserved without any charge, if you will phone Men's Club Office, Hazel 2289, stating the number of your party. Dress may be formal or informal."

BETH SHALOM SISTERHOOD HOLDS "LUNCHEON AND MUSICAL"

Mrs. Samuel Rogow, chairman for the Sisterhood Day Luncheon and Musicals to be held in the Sisterhood Ballroom, Monday, January 28, at 12:30, has named her co-chairmen and heads of the various committees with whom she is working for the completion of her plans. Mrs. Max Greenberg and Mrs. M. Avner are co-chairmen; Mrs. Irving Stein, in charge of reservations; Mrs. Joseph Cohen, treasurer; Mrs. M. Rosenthal, menu; Mrs. Meyer Fiman, hospitality; Mrs. Harry Elinoff, table arrangements; Mrs. Lazarus Simon, floral decorations; Mrs. J. Zeidman and Mrs. Max Rogow, musical program; Mrs. I. Lincoff, printing; Mrs. Max Pearlman, hostess.

CHARITY BALL WILL BE HELD

A charity ball will be held February 6 by the Hebrew Ladies' Sick and Relief Society. Proceeds of the ball, which will be held in the social hall of Beth Shalom Synagogue, will go for poor and sick families. Officers of the society have issued a plea for donations. Those interested in helping should telephone Hazel 0493.

POALE ZEDECK PLANS SUPPER-DANCE

A formal supper-dance will be held by the Poale Zedeck Sisterhood the evening of February 20, in the roof-garden ballroom of the Mayfair Hotel. Mrs. Robert M. Colnes is general chairman. Reservations may be made through Mrs. Colnes, whose telephone number is Hazel 5163.

Mrs. David Alter addressed a membership luncheon and bridge-party of the sisterhood last week, speaking on the subject of world peace. Mrs. Charles J. Weinberger, president, was chairman and welcomed in new members. Newly elected officers were honor guests. They were Mrs. Weinberger; Mrs. Sam Edlis, first vice-president; Mrs. Norbert Stern, second vice-president; Mrs. Robert Colnes, third vice-president; Mrs. S. S. Hausman, Jr., recording secretary; Mrs. Jerome Edlis, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Lewis Barkowitz, financial secretary; and Mrs. Morris Schwartz, treasurer.

MADOC-LEADERS HONOR LEO MALLINGER

Leo Mallinger, Junior Past Chancellor of Madoc-Leader Lodge No. 229, Knights of Pythias, was presented with a ring last Monday as a mark of appreciation for his work as chancellor.

A group was appointed by Chancellor Commander Leonard Goldbert to assist him in selection of committees during his term of office. Included in it are Harry L. Witt, J. Klamman and S. L. Weiner.

ANNOUNCE PROGRAM FOR CHILDREN'S AID SOCIETY MEETING

A musical and dramatic program will be featured at the regular meeting of the Jewish Children's Aid Society, to be held Sunday afternoon, January 20, at 2:30 o'clock, in the Y. M. & W. H. A. Entertainment will be provided by Miss Elizabeth Melnick, violinist; and by Rosalie Agger, Rita Gordon, Gloria Molinatto, Sarah Miller, Shirley Lubovsky and Jean Zaroda, who will perform through the courtesy of the Bendix Studios, of which they are students.

A novelty card party will be held by the society Sunday evening, January 27, at Morrowfield Hotel, Squirrel Hill. No advance reservations are necessary, Mrs. George H. Berman, president, announced. The party will be open to the public.

B'NAI ISRAEL SISTERHOOD PLANS ANNUAL MEETING

The annual meeting of the B'nai Israel Sisterhood will be held Wednesday afternoon, January 23, at 2 o'clock, in the synagogue's social hall. Election of officers will be held and annual reports will be made by the officers and committee chairmen. Members are urged to settle their 1934 dues at the meeting.

Dr. Nurok, Latvian Chief Rabbi, Coming

Will Speak At Meetings Tuesday and Wednesday Nights

Dr. Mordecai Nurok, Latvian chief rabbi and statesman, will appear at two meetings here this week under sponsorship of the American Jewish Congress, Pittsburgh Branch; and the Mizrachi.

Tuesday evening, January 22, at 8:30, he will speak in the Y. M. & W. H. A., under auspices of the Congress; Wednesday evening, at 8 o'clock, he will speak at a Mizrachi meeting, which will be open to the public, in Congregation Chofetz Chaim, 5807 Beacon Street.

There will be no admission charge and no fund appeals at either meeting, it was announced.

Dr. Nurok, who is paying his first visit to the United States in connection with the recently concluded session of the Administrative Committee of the Jewish Agency for Palestine, is an outstanding authority on Jewish affairs.

Chief Rabbi of Latvia, he is an authority on Minority Rights and has appeared before the League of Nations on a number of occasions, in connection with infringement of minority rights clauses incorporated in the Peace Treaties.

FORMED LATVIAN CABINET

Dr. Nurok has represented Latvian Jews in the Latvian Parliament, and in 1926, during the democratic regime, was entrusted by the President of Latvia with the formation of a cabinet.

Dr. Nurok is a member of the Executive Committee for the World Jewish Congress and brings to this community a message from the Jews of Poland, Latvia and Lithuania.

LOCAL MIZRACHI TO MEET

The thirty-third annual Chamisho Osor B'shvat festivities will be celebrated by the Sisters of Zion Mizrachi Society Saturday night, January 19, 8 o'clock, at the vestry hall of Congregation Adath Jeshuran, Margaretta and St. Clair Streets. E. E. A program consisting of vocal and instrumental musical talent and popular speakers has been arranged. Palestinian fruits symbolic of the achievement of our people in the Jewish Homeland will decorate the assembly hall. Refreshments will be served.

A report of the recent Mizrachi annual convention held in Detroit, Michigan, will also be rendered by the delegates attending.

B'NAI B'RITH WOMEN MEET TUESDAY

B'nai B'rith women's auxiliary will hold its regular monthly meeting at the Y. M. & W. H. A., Tuesday evening, January 22. Installation of officers by Mrs. Simon Davis, honorary president, will be a feature of the meeting.

Dr. Max Schoen, of Carnegie Tech, guest speaker, will deliver a discourse on "Can We Be Socially Intelligent."

Mrs. I. A. Melnick, president, will present her annual report. A musical program is planned for the evening.

BUHL PRODUCES 35,000 PAIRS OF GLASSES IN RECORD YEAR

Breaking all their previous records for the production and sale of 35,000 pairs of glasses in 1934, the Buhl Optical Company has set their goal for this year at 50,000 pairs.

Buhl glasses are made in their modern optical laboratory at 925 Liberty Avenue. Each pair is made to special requirements, no two exactly alike, yet every one must be precisely as specified on the prescription.

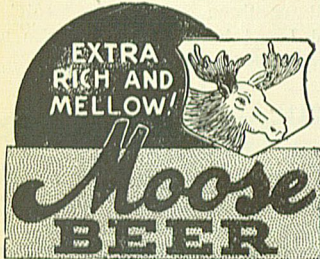

In making the lenses absolute accuracy is maintained by careful inspection and constant testing with precision instruments.

In commenting on their record for 1934, Mr. Harry Berlin, Secretary and Treasurer of The Buhl Optical Company said, "We pride ourselves on the quality and accuracy of our work. Realizing, as we do, that the best advertising is done by the good words of those who wear Buhl glasses, we spare no effort to have these glasses as near perfect as it is possible to make them."—Advertisement.

PALESTINE DAY: A SYMBOL

By FELIX M. WARBURG

EDITOR'S NOTE—More than one thousand delegates from all parts of the United States, representing every element in Jewish organizational life, will participate in the National Conference on Palestine to be held in Washington, D. C., on Sunday, January 20th, under the auspices of the Zionist Organization of America. This meeting, the feature of Palestine Day, will attempt to interest non-Zionists in the Work of Palestine, especially in its work of harboring German-Jewish refugees. It is of this celebration, and what it symbolizes, that the noted Jewish leader, Felix M. Warburg, writes in the following article prepared especially for THE AMERICAN JEWISH OUTLOOK and the Jewish Telegraphic Agency.

The designation of this Sunday as the first "Palestine Day" should have the support of all groups in America. The Zionist Organization of America, which has taken the initiative in setting aside this annual observance, believes that all Americans are equally interested in the transformation that has taken place in the modern Holy Land.

Within a decade and a half, a country which had belonged almost exclusively to the past has been endowed with an impressive future. No student of the world scene can afford to ignore the remarkable progress which has been made in rebuilding Palestine and restoring it again to an outstanding role in the life of the Near East. Given the support and sympathy of the nations of the world, the homeless among the Jewish people have been engaged in an unprecedented effort to re-establish their existence on soil hallowed to them by tradition and sentiment. They have not been conquerors but colonizers, imbued with a spirit of social idealism that traces its ancestry to the prophets who once preached in the land.

305,000 JEWS IN PALESTINE

Palestine Day has a unique significance for the Jewish people.

It gives to us in America the opportunity to recall and pay tribute to the devotion and the valor of the men and women who have been the pioneers in the restoration of Palestine. Their initiative, their sacrifice and their vision laid the foundations for the broad growth that has been recorded in recent years. Today there are said to be 305,000 Jews in Palestine, and the population is growing at the rate of forty to fifty thousand a year. No longer is there room for the skeptic and the doubter as to the possibilities in the Jewish homeland. Palestine Day is not merely a celebration but a reminder. It speaks to us of the large promise still held out by Palestine, a promise of new hope and new courage to scores of thousands of capable and brave men and women upon whom a disordered world has closed its doors.

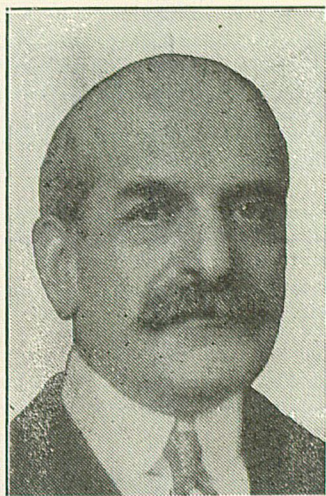

The terrible conditions existing for Jews in Germany have, of course, given to Palestine a value hitherto unappreciated in many circles. Thousands are grateful that a land exists which offers them hope and a future for themselves and their children. In the crisis which has overwhelmed the Jews in Germany, we cannot forget that burdensome and crushing economic conditions exist for Jews in other European lands. The Jewish agency for Palestine reports that there are 120,000 European Jews who have signified their intention of emigrating to Palestine if the opportunity is given to them. If we can, in time, help to meet the hopes of these peoples we shall not only have rehabilitated them but will also have helped to ease the economic problem in the lands in which they live.

CHRISTIAN ATTITUDE ENCOURAGING

What has taken place in Palestine is also of the deepest interest to the Christians of America. Their sympathy and their support, as expressed through the deeds and words of leading public and government figures, have encouraged their fellow-Jewish citizens immeasurably. Since the days of President Wilson, who took part in the formulation of the Balfour Declaration, Presidents Harding, Coolidge, Hoover and Roosevelt have taken a keen interest in the reconstruction of Palestine. They expressed admiration for the courage which animated the pioneers and observed with satisfaction the progressive methods that were used to resurrect the land from centuries of barren desolation.

I know of no other reconstruction project of our time which has been conducted on so large a scale and which has so clearly symbolized the will of the organized world to right the wrong that has been inflicted upon a helpless people for so long. Palestine Day should be a source of satisfaction to all American citizens who had a share, direct and indirect, in restoring to its ancient glory a land that has sacred memories for Jew and Christian alike.

NON-ZIONISTS AID

The modern rebirth of Palestine had its beginnings not more than fifty years ago. It was a slow and painful process. In the early days and until only a few years ago the impetus and the strength for the upbuilding activity came from the Zionist movement. But the needs of the Jewish people and the evidence that was piling up in Palestine inevitably brought into the scope of the work other Jews who were not within the Zionist movement. We have been known as non-Zionists. But that title is gradually disappearing as Jews of all shades of opinion join hands as Jews to further a project which is purely social and economic in its aspects. I was privileged to help in the steps which led to the establishment of the extended Jewish Agency for Palestine, the instrument recognized in the Mandate for Palestine given to Great Britain by the League of Nations. The extended Jewish Agency, embracing Zionists and non-Zionists, was launched in 1929. Its activities have been in accordance with the declaration that Palestine should be developed as a home for the Jews who wish to go there to rebuild the land, with the understanding that the work would be conducted in such a way as to rebound to the benefit of all the people who reside there.

GROWTH IS RAPID

Since 1929, very large funds have gone into Palestine from both public and private funds gathered since 1921. The developments and improvements that have been effected have far outstripped our fondest expectations. In industry, in agriculture, in commerce, in handicrafts and in every other field of economic activity there has been splendid progress. The cultural growth of the country has continued apace. With the great Hebrew University as its apex, the Jewish educational system of Palestine has flourished on sound lines. Technical skill, unlimited energy and inspired zeal have been welded to create an instrument of advance which is fruitifying virtually everything that it touches.

It has been gratifying to see the increasing evidence of co-operation between Jews and Arabs in Palestine. It can be safely said that, from the very beginning, the development of Jewish projects has had a beneficial effect upon neighboring Arabs—not merely in immediate financial results but in the creation of a spirit of emulation and the furtherance of a desire for progress.

ARABS CO-OPERATE

In industrial enterprises in Palestine, in the development of which I have been especially interested through the Palestine Economic Corporation, we have sought and received co-operation from the Arab population. It is a source of great satisfaction that in the Palestine potash concern, for instance, Arab and Jewish workers work next to each other in perfect accord. We are only too happy to see that our health stations are frequented and used by many of our Arab neighbors, and they certainly benefit by the improved health conditions, the wiping out of malaria and the improved water conditions in that country. In labor unions, in various industrial enterprises, in the co-operative loan societies, there are many points of co-operation between the Jewish population and the Arab population. That is as it should be, for we cannot prosper unless our neighbors prosper with us. It is also true that every prospering Jew has brought some advantages at the same time to the Arab population.

Seventeen years ago the nations of the world took official recognition of the need for providing homeless Jews with a certain refuge in their ancestral homeland. The need which existed then has been multiplied many times. Never in our memory has the position of Jews in many lands been so uncertain and so tragic. Palestine Day serves to focus attention upon that pressing problem and to call to the attention of mankind the need for its continued sympathy and support for this magnificent project of restoring to wanderers a permanent and constructive role in life through settlement in Palestine.

THE ANNUAL MEETING OF THE FEDERATION

OUR self-respect as a Jewish community demands that the meeting to be held Sunday evening be one consecrated by the noble purpose of helping our less fortunate friends. Politics, petty bickerings, and oratory must have no place. We are meeting as citizens of Pittsburgh who have contributed funds for the welfare of the whole community. At the same time we are especially interested in the work of that part of Pittsburgh philanthropy which we call Jewish. Jews have always known how to give charity. Let not a few malcontents obscure the nobility of our purpose.

PALESTINE DAY

SUNDAY, January 20th has been designated PALESTINE DAY. We are not so much interested in what it will be this year or how it will be celebrated. We are interested in its future possibilities as a day when Jew and Gentile will pay respects to all that Palestine stands for and give thanks for the ethical teachings which originated there.

The world has fallen into the habit of thinking that Palestine needs the world. To the extent that Palestine needs reservoirs, hospitals, schools and roads, this is true.

But what is far more important: THE WORLD NEEDS PALESTINE. It needs the culture, the teaching, the research, the inspiration which Palestine, alone of all places, can supply. Once let Palestine become settled as a neutralized country to which the great of all lands might go, and the world will become a better place in which to live.

Palestine Day is not a religious day. It is not a day for propaganda. It is not a fund-raising day. It has become the day that the prophet Micah foresaw:

"But in the end of days it shall come to pass
That the mountain of the Lord's house shall be established as the top of the mountains,
And it shall be exalted above the hills:
And the peoples shall flow unto it,
And many nations shall go and say,
Come ye, and let us go up to the mountain of the Lord,
And to the house of the God of Jacob;
And He will teach us of His ways,
And we will walk in His paths:
For out of Zion shall go forth instruction,
And the word of the Lord from Jerusalem.
And He shall judge between many peoples,
And shall decide concerning mighty nations afar off;
And they shall beat their swords into plowshares,
And their spears into pruning hooks:
Nation shall not lift up sword against nation,
Neither shall they learn war any more."

In short, may it become a day when the Brotherhood of man becomes something more than a phrase.

CHAMISHA OSOR B'SHEBAT

CHAMISHA ASAR B'SHEBAT (fifteen days in the month of Shebat) falls on Saturday. It is the Jewish Arbor Day, the Jewish New Year for Trees. In earlier days it was built around the agricultural laws of our religion but its message to the modern Jew is that of hope and optimism. In the heart of winter we Jews celebrate the coming spring. In the midst of pogroms and mistreatment we make plans. As long as we look ahead, we have a future as a people.

THE SAAR VOTE

THE outcome of the Saar election is not surprising. Even if the great majority of the people had not been German, the terrorism, the money spent, and the propaganda would have carried the election. Hitler is jubilant at the ninety per cent vote cast for him, but a cynical world is much more interested in the ten per cent of Von Steubens, de Kalbs, Schurzes, Goethes and Lessings who voted against him. The lot of the liberal will now be intolerable in spite of government promises. The League of Nations must soon act if it is not to degenerate into merely a League of Notions.

A DISTINGUISHED GUEST

A WORLD leader and champion of Jewish rights brings an important message to Pittsburgh Jewry on Tuesday evening. Dr. Mordecai Nurok is the Chief Rabbi of Latvia. Renowned as a statesman, he is an authority recognized by the League of Nations.

CAPITAL COMMENT

By Nathan Koenig

A drive to enact legislation similar to the old Alien and Sedition acts which were passed by the Federalists in Congress in 1798 and later repealed, is underway, according to the number of bills introduced by House members since the Seventy-fourth Congress came into being.

More than a half-dozen bills have been introduced by different members "to make it a crime to advocate or promote the overthrow of the government of the United States by force or violence." Since the McCormack Committee started its investigation on un-American activities and brought to light certain movements in this country which seek to undermine the government, a number of members of Congress have become alarmed. They believe that subversive movements against the government should be halted. The best way to do this, they believe, is to get rid of the sponsors of these movements.

The old Alien and Sedition laws were enacted for the same purpose. There was the Alien Act which authorized the president to banish foreigners deemed to be dangerous. Also, there was the Sedition Act which curtailed the freedom of the press. At the time they were enacted, in 1798, the laws were chiefly aimed at certain political opponents of the administration then in power, and sympathizers with France. The enactment of these laws created a violent reaction and they were afterwards repealed.

Among those who have taken a prominent part in introducing bills aimed at subversive activities are Representative Samuel Dickstein, chairman of the House Committee on Immigration and Naturalization and author of the resolution which started an investigation of un-American activities; Representative J. Will Taylor of Tennessee, a member of the McCormack Committee; Representative Martin Dies of Texas, a member of the Committee on Immigration and Naturalization; and Representative Thom L. Blanton of Texas.

For the most part, House members are awaiting the report of the McCormack Committee which, it is understood, will make definite recommendations concerning legislation against subversive activities. Of significance, however, is the bill introduced by Representative Taylor, a member of this committee. This bill, which would make it a crime to advocate or promote the overthrow of the government, indicates along what lines the committee has been thinking.

Representative Dies has introduced, among various other bills, a resolution which seeks to create in the Department of Justice a Bureau of Alien Deportation. Among the many bills introduced by Representative Dickstein is one which seeks to establish a new standing committee in the House. This committee would be known as "The Committee on the Preservation of American Democracy." Representative Dickstein is vice-chairman of the McCormack Committee, and in view of this it is likely that the committee's report may contain something about establishing a standing watch-dog committee in the House to guard American democracy.

The Saar plebiscite has aroused the interest of Washington, particularly among members of Congress. This interest was born largely as a result of the fact that several hundred American citizens left this country to vote there on January 15. The fact that the overseas passage of these voters was financed by the Nazi interests, gives the whole thing a bad taste to many of the Congressmen.

Considerable support for Representative Dickstein's bill to forfeit the American citizenship of individuals who left this country to vote in the Saar plebiscite is indicated on Capitol Hill. Representative Dickstein says that this country cannot tolerate "dual allegiance." He charges that the propaganda bureau of Berlin "reached out its hands" to bring these people back to the Saar to vote and also "the Nazis brought pressure to bear on relatives of these people in Germany." He intends to have his committee meet at an early date to consider the bill. The State Department, however, has as yet found no cause to become alarmed over the fact that American citizens voted in the Saar.

Dr. Isador Lubin, commissioner of labor statistics of the Department of Labor, will represent the United States at the governing body meeting of the International Labor Organization in Geneva on January 29. He will be the first official representative the United States has had at the meeting of this body. Dr. Lubin is widely known in Washington as "the statistical wizard."

THE WEEK'S BEST EDITORIAL

In order to bring to our readers the best thought of other Jewish newspapers, we offer as a unique column each week the editorial that impresses us most.—The Editor.

'LANDLESS ARAB' IMAGINARY FIGURE

"Millgate Monthly," a British publication, speaking of Jewish-Arab relations, writes:

TODAY, four-fifths of the land remains in Arab hands. "The Landless Arab" is nothing but the figment of Arab imagination. The bulk of Jewish settlement has taken place in areas which were, until recently, malaria-stricken, and where few Arab families were able to live, let alone earn a living. The Jews have purchased land at high prices from absentee Arab landlords, and we have always compensated any peasant tenants who were on the land, although not legally bound to do so.

In many cases, under the Land Transfer Ordinances, they have leased land to these tenants. Today, land-sales regulations have been so tightened up that "dispossession" is absolutely impossible. Not only peasant tenant rights, but also squatters' rights are now protected.

It is significant that the increase in the Arab population and improvement in the Arab standard of living has been most marked in those districts where the greatest progress has been made in Jewish settlement, and is lowest where there are few or no Jews.—"Jewish Daily Bulletin."

"Intermission"

Travelling seems to be the principal occupation of a great many people this time of the year. Each week brings a new list of visitors—some coming to Pittsburgh and others travelling away from the city or returning to it after visits to other places. Mr. Roland Friedlander of Chicago, formerly of Pittsburgh, spent the week-end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Friedlander, of Wightman Street. Mr. Paul Einstein visited his sister, Mrs. Frank Wertheimer of Northumberland Avenue for several days this week. Miss Esther I. Levin, of Troy, New York, is the guest of Mrs. Frieda Klein of Stanton Avenue.

"The call of the sea" is being answered by some of the travelers each week. Mr. and Mrs. Jacques Blum of Devonshire Street sailed this week for a West Indies cruise. Mr. Harry Rothenberg of Waynesburg has left for South America to visit his brother and sister in the Argentine for three months. Mrs. Harry Diamond of Bartlett Street and Mrs. Schiller of Chicago left this week for a trip to California by way of the Panama Canal.

Dr. N. J. Weill of the Schenley Hotel and Mr. and Mrs. I. Theodore Weill, of New York, formerly of Pittsburgh, have left for Miami Beach, Florida, where they will spend the winter.

Mrs. A. Seder of Bennington Avenue left this week for a trip to Daytona Beach, Fla.

Although the winter has hardly begun one couple has returned from Florida already. Mr. and Mrs. Chester Lehman packed their golf clubs last week and returned from Palm Beach to face the snow and cold here.

Mrs. Edward Himelblau, who is well known professionally as Caroline Hilmer, has returned to the city after spending several months studying in New York. During her stay in New York Mrs. Himelblau was engaged as soloist in the quartet of the Oheb Shalom Temple in Newark and also filled many radio engagements. Mrs. Himelblau is contract soloist at the Rodef Shalom Temple and anticipates filling numerous concert engagements. Mr. and Mrs. Himelblau are now residing at 5552 Phillips Avenue.

Miss Ryna Lee, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Irving Levine, of Darlington Road, has returned from a trip to Cumberland, Maryland.

HADASSAH JUNIOR-SENIOR REGIONAL CONFERENCE

Hadassah members of both the Junior and Senior groups have gathered here for the regional conference this week-end. Among the guests here for the meetings are the Misses Ina Rosenberg and Esther Fishkin of New Castle, who are the house-guests of Miss Kressie Kolter of Denniston Avenue. Miss Sylvia Friedman of Washington, Penna., is the guest of Miss Jean Levinson of North Euclid Avenue. The regional president, Miss Eva Goldberg, of Steubenville, is staying with Miss Rose Dym of Denniston Avenue. Miss Hilda Lieberman of Beacon Street has Miss Jeanette Friedman of Sharon as her guest. Miss Florence Miller of Braddock is entertaining the Misses Lillian Rosenberg and Ina Roth of Shenango Valley over the week-end. Miss Dorothy Friedman of Washington is the guest of Miss Sally Harris of Stanton Avenue. Miss Goldie Goldberg of Wheeling is staying

Miss Elizabeth Steinfeld of Wheeling is with Miss Anne Lippart of Denniston Avenue. Miss Ida Silverman of Butler is spending the conference week-end with Miss Ann Finkelstein of Black Street. Two more delegates from Wheeling are the Misses Ethel and Rose Weinstein who are the houseguests of Miss Leah Seiger of Jackson Street. Miss Sara Barone and Miss Sylvia Zeidman of Steubenville are the guests of the Misses Lillian and Gertrude Holtzman of Maryland Avenue. Miss Ida Levine and a friend will come from New Castle to stay with Miss Gertrude Golding of Burchfield Street. Miss Evelyn Wasser of North Negley Avenue has Miss Annabelle Levinson of Steubenville and Miss Helen Frankel of Wheeling as house-guests. Miss Ann Sebulsky of Wheeling is the guest of Miss Bessie Newstein of North Euclid Avenue. Misses Ruth Markley and Sarah Waldman, both of New Castle are visiting Miss Riva Schulman of Beechwood Boulevard and Miss Esther Pachtman of Pocusset Street. Two more New Castle girls, Miss Betty Gilman and Miss Teelo Simon, are the guests of Mrs. Bennie Marcus of Chislett Street. Miss Rena Foster of Chesterfield Road is entertaining Miss Lena Weintraub of Steubenville over the conference. Other members of the New Castle delegation include Miss Florence Brownstein, the guest of Miss Anna Cohen of Mellon Street, and the Misses Adele and Harriet Wolfe, the guests of Miss Anne Diamond of Douglass Avenue.

Among the entertainments for the out-of-town guests to the conference are a tea being given Saturday afternoon at the home of Miss Evelyn Wasser of North Negley Avenue, and a dinner Saturday evening at the home of Miss Hilda Lieberman of Beacon Street. Guests at the dinner will include the Hadassah presidents and first vice-presidents. After a Round Table discussion, guests at the dinner will proceed to the dance at the Beth Shalom Ball room.

"The Paul Jones"

Music-lovers of the community had two rare treats this week. Sunday evening Rose Brancato, an artist new to Pittsburgh, gave a concert at the Y. M. H. A. and Tuesday night the Vienna Choir Boys gave a recital at the Syria Mosque. Many of the same people attended both concerts. Among them were Mr. Charles Rosenbloom, Mrs. Enoch Rauh, and her daughter, Miss Helen Rauh.

Plans are being made for the Second Annual Ball for the President. The affair will be one of the major social events of the year and all who attended last year are eagerly awaiting January thirtieth. The Ball will be held at the William Penn Hotel and Henry Busse's and Paul Pendarvis' orchestras will furnish the music. Committees are being appointed for the sale of tickets and the general arrangements. Mr. Robert Feldman is in charge of the publicity for the Ball.

The fortieth anniversary celebration of the Irene Kaufmann Settlement was a gala occasion. About two hundred people attended the dinner held in honor of Mr. Henry Kaufmann and Mr. Max Rothschild. Among those present were Dr. and Mrs. Solomon B. Freehof, Mrs. Josiah Cohen, Mr. and Mrs. Leon Falk, Jr., Dr. and Mrs. Joseph M. Jackson, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley J. Kann, Mr. and Mrs. Edgar J. Kaufmann, Hon. and Mrs. Benjamin Lencher, and Mr. A. Leo Weil.

After the dinner there was a reception in the Auditorium. Mr. Sherman C. Kingsley, distinguished social worker, addressed the audience.

"The Wedding March"

Announcement has been made of the marriage of Mrs. Lillie P. Rubenstein and Mr. G. Adolph Weber which took place in the study of Temple Emanu-El, New York, on Thursday, December twenty-seventh. The ceremony was performed by Dr. Samuel H. Goldenson. The bride and bridegroom are Pittsburghers and will continue to live here, making their home in the Fairfax Hotel.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry J. Lappin of Braddock Avenue, Turtle Creek, have announced the marriage of their daughter, Florence, to Mr. Samuel Bernstein, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hyman Bernstein, of Center Avenue. The ceremony took place Sunday evening at six o'clock in the study of the Reverend Benjamin Lichter of the B'nai Israel Synagogue.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Eigenbrun of Petersburg, West Virginia, have announced the marriage of their daughter, Burrow Carolyn, to Mr. Frederic A. Johnson of New York. The marriage took place Thursday, January seventeenth, at the home of the bride's aunt, Mrs. Jacques Coleman of Park Avenue, New York. Reverend Doctor Jonah Wise officiated.

Mr. Johnson is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred A. Johnson of the Schenley Apartments.

Miss Rose Yita Shapiro has completed plans for her wedding to Mr. Jerome Cohen. The marriage will take place Sunday afternoon, January twentieth, at the Tree of Life Synagogue. Rabbis Hailperin and Ashinsky will officiate. Only the immediate family will attend the ceremony, which will be followed by a dinner at the William Penn Hotel for the family. After a wedding trip to the East the bridal couple will be at home at 2315 Eldridge Street.

Miss Shapiro is the daughter of Mrs. Fannie Shapiro of Eldridge Street.

Miss Sara Davidson of Herron Avenue has chosen February tenth as the date of her marriage to Mr. Julius Shulman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Shulman, of Chislett Street. Rabbi Benjamin A. Lichter will read the service. Miss Davidson is the daughter of Mrs. Dora Davidson of Herron Avenue.

Miss Hilda Harriet Wolken, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Wolken, of Herron Avenue has completed plans for her wedding to Mr. Harvey S. Monheim, son of Mr. and Mrs. Simon Monheim of Murray Avenue. The wedding will take place on Sunday, January twenty-seventh at the B'nai Israel Synagogue. Miss Eleanor Wolken will be her sister's maid-of-honor and only attendant. The families and friends of the bridal couple will attend the ceremony and the reception following. After the service the bridal couple will leave for a trip to Havana.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Rosson of Beechwood Boulevard have announced the marriage of their daughter, Bess, to Mr. I. H. Fagadaw, son of Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Fagadaw on Monday, December thirty-first.

Miss Anne Alpern was the maid of honor and Mr. Philip A. Strohi was the best man. A reception followed the ceremony. Only members of the immediate families attended.

Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Malkoff of Dinwiddie Street announce the marriage of their daughter, Dora Malkoff, to Max R. Rubinstein, son of Abraham J. Rubinstein of Carrick. The ceremony was performed in Washington, Pa., on January 7 by the Rev. Jacob Goldfarb.

"Lucky Number Dance"

Mr. and Mrs. M. Pechersky of McKee Place have announced the engagement of their daughter, Kay, to Mr. Hyman Fireman, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Fireman, of Hazel Street.

"The Prizes"

To Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Mogerman of Forbes Street, a daughter, Joanne Marcia, at the Passavant Hospital on December twentieth. Mrs. Mogerman is the former Edith Silverman.

A Short Story ♦

♦ By NINA KAYE

WOULDN'T it be just her luck to fall in love with an engaged man? And the man who was engaged to her sister!

Mollie Weiss rested her elbows on the sill of the window, buried her chin in her cupped palms and stared out at the trees, a blur of red and yellow against the grey autumn sky. She knew the moment Harry Mann climbed out of the taxi behind his luggage that he was the man she could care for.

The tight, pressing ache inside her when he threw his arms about Tess's shoulders convinced her of what she had known from the very first.

Restlessly, Mollie leaped to her feet and paced her room. Well, anyway, she was lucky he lived in New York, where Tess had met him, lucky that Tess and he would be going there to live after they were married in the spring. It would have been unbearable seeing him every day, seeing his happiness and Tess's....

With the back of her hand she pushed the hair out of her eyes. If only his visit were over, if only he was already back in New York! She couldn't go on hiding her feelings forever. She couldn't go on treating him with the casual affection one affords a future brother-in-law!

She thought she had succeeded fairly well at this until he found her alone in the living room. When she saw that he had come in without Tess, she leaped up and would have hurried out of the room if he hadn't caught her hands, held her taut before him.

"I don't think you like me very much, Mollie," he said. "What's the matter, don't you approve of your sister's choice?"

Mollie looked up and met his gaze for one shaken moment, then quickly dropped her eyes again. "Of course I like you," she said, forcing a little laugh. "Why shouldn't I?"

"I don't know," he said. "But every-time Tess and I come into the house you run away. I haven't done anything to hurt you, have I?"

Mollie could hardly keep her lips from trembling, could hardly keep herself from blurting out the truth to him. But she pressed her lips tightly together, drew her hands out of his. "Oh, I just don't want to be in the way. Here's Tess," she exclaimed with relief. "I'm in a hurry, I have to go to the . . . the library."

Mollie flung out of the room. But not quickly enough to hear Harry say, "I don't think Mollie likes me very much," and Tess replied with a laugh, "Does it matter, darling? I do."

No, of course it couldn't matter to him! He'd be leaving in a day or two and he wouldn't see or think of her again until he came back in the spring for the wedding. Maybe, by that time, his presence wouldn't be so upsetting to her, although Mollie knew she would never stop loving him.

"Anyway," she thought wretchedly, walking swiftly although she had no destination, "anyway I'm not sorry. I'm not sorry I know what it means to love a man the way I love him—not sorry I'll always have him to think about—"

It had taken all the joy out of life, but it had put something there in its place, something achingly hopeless, but infinitely precious.

She didn't have to go on acting anymore, because when she got back to the house, Harry was trundling his bags down the stairs and Tess was calling for a taxi. Her mother was wandering about, tearfully upset.

"Harry got a telegram from his office to come right back," Mrs. Weiss wailed to Mollie. "He's going to take an airplane. I don't think he ought to."

Mollie felt her heart sink and she clung in wordless terror to her mother. But Tess laughed at them. "Don't be so old-fashioned," she chided.

The taxi was there. Harry shrug-ged on his overcoat, kissed his future mother-in-law dutifully on the cheek, then turned to Mollie. "So long," he said blithely.

In a daze Mollie was aware that he was drawing her swiftly to him.

Then he kissed her. There was a full minute when Mollie didn't breathe.

"Goodbye Mollie," he said again, his voice no longer blithe. He stumbled as he followed Tess out to the taxi. . . . .

When the news came, Mollie was sure he had known it all along, had felt some dire portent in that kiss (Continued on Page 12)

THE SABBATH STORY HOUR

By Theresa Loeb Cerf

Dear Children:

This is going to be a Sabbath evening of real joy for the Israel family. All week there has been an empty place at the table, but tonight they will all be together again, that is Mother and Father Israel, Joan, our little friend of ten years, and her brother, Bobby, just seven. Can you guess who has been away from the table for so many days? Well, no other than Bobby, who has been ill with gripe. Contrary to mother's orders, he had insisted on playing out of doors in all the damp, smoggy, weather last Saturday, and, sure enough, Sunday found Bobby a sick little boy. Father wasn't very sympathetic at first, as he said that is what happens to little boys who disobey their mother, and besides Bobby had even forgotten to put on his overshoes.

After a few days, though, Bobby felt better and wanted to get up, but Mother Alice was firm this time and kept him right in bed. He did get so tired of reading and sleeping, that he just couldn't wait 'till he heard Joan's foot-steps below. She always came in and amused him and was sure to have at least one funny tale to tell about something that had happened at school.

But today he didn't care whether he heard a story or not from Joan, because he was going downstairs for dinner and that meant a good story told by Father. Besides it was Friday night and that meant wine and perhaps he would be allowed an extra sip as he had always heard that wine was good for you. Mother had seen that he was warmly dressed and made him go right into the dining room with orders that he was to remain there. Bobby was so glad to be at the table that he kept as quiet as could be.

It is six o'clock now and we find the Israels seated at dinner. Bobby has been given his extra drink of wine for being such a good patient and Joan has come in for her share, too. She says that her good nursing is responsible for her brother's quick recovery. Mother and Father give each other a wink and are happy that the family are together once more. When dinner is almost finished Father is reminded by Joan of the story of Rabbi Rashi that wasn't completed last week. Bobby then speaks up. "You know, Father, when I was in bed I had so much time to think about that wonderful Rabbi and I wish you would let me tell the beginning of the story."

"Alright, son" answers Father, "tell it briefly as Mother and I don't want you up too long the first time."

THE BEGINNING OF THE RABBI RASHI LEGEND

"Well," begins Bobby, "Rabbi Rashi lived many hundred years ago and he was very religious. As he became old he wanted to know who his companion in Heaven was going to be, and God spoke to him in a dream, saying the man's name was Don Abraham Gerson, called Zadik, which means 'just.'"

"I don't remember where he lived though, Father."

"In Barcelona, dear."

"When he went to Barcelona everyone told him that this man wasn't religious and never came to the Temple. But Rabbi Rashi wanted to meet him anyway, so went to visit his home. To his surprise, Don Abraham lived in a beautiful palace, and was very nice. He told the Rabbi to remain as his guest till the next day as he was going to be married to a lovely Jewish girl. Just as he said this, a poor woman came in and told Don Abraham that her son was very ill, and asked for some advice. This is where you stopped, Father."

THE STORY CONTINUES:

"Bobby, that certainly was fine. You remembered the story well and I'm proud of you," says Father. "Now I'll go on with the legend."

"Don Abraham offered to send a physician to the sick boy but the mother assured him that medicine would be of no help since her son was ill through disappointed love. He had hoped to marry a young girl, poor like himself, but the parents of the maiden were forcing her to marry a rich man. Don Abraham said to the mother, then, "Why should you tell all this to me?"

To which she replied, "You are the man she is going to marry and that is why he is ill."

"After Don Abraham asked the son's name, which was Abraham-Ben-

Manuel, and he was alone with the Rabbi, he became deadly pale and large drops of perspiration came out on his forehead. Rabbi Rashi tried to console him by saying that no one ever died for love and that the young fellow would soon find another lovely maiden.

"But Don Abraham didn't seem to be convinced. He said, 'To live without love is trying to live without sunshine. Take love from your life and you wither the same as the flowers. I must do something about it. Meet me here tomorrow, Rabbi.'"

"The next day Rabbi Rashi came to the palace, saw a large crowd and the 'Chuppah' under which the wedding ceremony was to be performed.

"Father, is that the thing Aunt Irene was married under?" interrupts Joan.

"Yes, dear, that was a 'Chuppah.' Well, after the music the bride proceeded to the altar and when the notary read the marriage contract, Don Abraham stepped up and said:

"I want to change the name of the bridegroom from that of Don Abraham Gerson to that of Abraham-Ben Manuel; I have only been the one who asks the bride from her parents. I will leave soon to travel abroad and will let the bridegroom conduct my business here."

"So indeed there was much rejoicing and Rabbi Rashi felt that Don Abraham was worthy of being his companion in Heaven, as he had sacrificed to another the one great love in his life."

"Oh, Father, that was a grand story. I don't mind going to bed now," says Bobby.

"But I do feel so sorry for poor Don Abraham," remarks Joan. "I hope he found someone else to love."

"Now children," reminds Mother. "Bobby you go right upstairs, and Joan you had better get busy with your Sunday School work because you said you had to write a report on the life of Hillel."

"Joan, we have a book called 'Great Jewish Men,' that I'm sure will be a help to you," says Father. "It is in the library on the second shelf, if you can't find it, just call me."

COMPETITION COLUMN

Children, I'm wondering how much you are going to like this game. I played it several years ago in Sunday School. Each sentence, I hope, will remind you of a famous Biblical character or characters. We were allowed only five minutes, so see how fast you can answer them. If you would like to send your answers to me, I'll be glad to print your names next week in this column, together with the correct answers. Here they are:

A deep devotion between two women.

A deep devotion between two men.

A sling shot.

The intended sacrifice to God of a child.

Great strength.

A Queen who saved her people.

The most important thing to remember about eggs is that they must be fresh. No matter how they are prepared, fried, boiled, coddled, poached, deviled, or combined with other foods, a tasty egg is a tasty egg. I am reminded of a story about a traveling salesman who after a hard and unsuccessful day came to a restaurant and ordered the waitress to bring him a couple of scrambled eggs with a few kind words. When she returned with the tray she exclaimed, "Here's your eggs; and the kind words are, don't eat them eggs!" But fresh eggs which are prepared in an appetizing way make an excellent main dish for a luncheon or an informal dinner.

SPANISH OMELET

Sauce
3 tablespoons butter
1 small onion, diced
1 small green pepper, cut up fine
1 cup canned tomatoes
1/2 cup peas, canned or freshly cooked
2 or 3 chopped mushrooms if desired
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon sugar

Melt the butter in a saucepan and add the diced onion, green pepper, and the mushrooms. Stew about five minutes and then add the tomatoes and the peas. Simmer gently until practically all the liquid has evaporated. Mix in the sugar and salt.

Omelet

4 eggs
4 tablespoons milk or water
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon butter

Beat the egg yolks until thick and lemon colored; add the liquid, salt and the beaten whites. Melt the butter in a frying pan and pour in the mixture, spreading evenly on the surface. Cook over a low flame until the underside is a golden brown. Place in a slow oven for about five minutes to dry off the top. Put the sauce in the center of the omelet and fold over. Serve at once.

* * *

EGG CROQUETTES

1 1/2 cups milk
4 tablespoons flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon onion juice
1 tablespoon chopped parsley
1/2 teaspoon paprika
5 hard cooked eggs

Make a white sauce of the milk and the flour and cook until thick. Chop the eggs coarsely and add with the rest of the ingredients to the white sauce. Mix thoroughly and set in the refrigerator for several hours or overnight. Shape into croquettes and dip into a beaten egg and bread crumbs.

Fry in butter until a golden brown. Makes about twelve croquettes.

* * *

CREAMED EGGS ON TOAST

4 hard cooked eggs, cut up coarsely
1 cup milk
1 tablespoon flour
1 tablespoon butter
Salt

2 or 3 slices warm toast
Melt the butter, add the flour and mix until smooth. Add the milk gradually and cook until thick. Salt to taste. Butter the warm toast and cut up into one inch squares. Place the chopped eggs over the toast and pour the white sauce over the eggs. Sprinkle with paprika and serve immediately. Serves two.

* * *

MUSHROOM OMELET

1 can mushrooms
4 eggs
2 tablespoons butter
4 tablespoons milk
Dash of pepper
Salt to taste

Heat the mushrooms in a pan with a little of the butter. Beat the eggs lightly. Add the milk and seasoning. Put the remaining butter into a pan and heat. Pour in the eggs and fry on two sides. Place mushrooms in the center and fold. Serve immediately.

* * *

MAPLE NUT CAKE

1/2 cup butter
1 cup light brown sugar
2 eggs
1 teaspoon vanilla
1/2 cup milk
1/2 teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons baking powder
1 cup pecan nuts

Cream the butter; add sugar, egg yolks, flavoring, milk; beat well. Add the dry ingredients which have been sifted together; also the chopped nuts. Fold in the beaten whites. Bake in a greased loaf pan in a moderate oven. Cover with maple icing.

MAPLE ICING

1 cup maple syrup
1 egg white
1/2 teaspoon baking powder

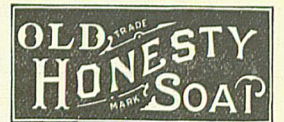

Boil the syrup to the "thread" stage. Add the syrup slowly to the beaten white. Continue to beat until the frosting is cold and thick. Add the baking powder during the last part of the beating. Spread over the cake and sprinkle with finely chopped nuts.

PERSONALITIES IN THE NEWS

OSMOND K. FRAENKEL

Sometimes in the next few weeks, nine elderly gentlemen wearing judicial robes will walk into a courtroom in Washington. With a rustling of silken robes, the judges of the United States Supreme Court will settle in their places; lawyers and spectators will take their seats, and the fate of the nine Scottsboro boys, hapless figures in the cause celebre which has had repercussions in practically every part of the world, will hang in the balance once again.

Osmond K. Fraenkel

Osmond K. Fraenkel, mild-mannered and scholarly, who says that his clients range all the way from "ultra-conservative Wall Street bankers to Communists," will be one of the two attorneys who will argue the constitutional status of the case for the International Labor Defense before the learned judges of the Supreme Court.

It is nothing unusual for the stocky little man with the bushy eyebrows and the frank, open face to find himself championing an unpopular cause and to place himself quietly but none the less firmly in the path of those bent on exacting vengeance on representatives of minorities.

A record of his legal activities since graduation from Columbia Law School reads like a history of liberal movements of the generation. Mr. Fraenkel has represented the American Civil Liberties Union; argued the status of the Soviet government before the Court of Appeals long before the Soviet was recognized; championed numerous labor unions in their conflicts with the employers; represented rent strikers against landlords; fought for academic freedom in the courts, and represented teacher's unions.

BOYS ARE INNOCENT

"I am convinced of the utter innocence of the nine Negro boys," Mr. Fraenkel declared. "It must be obvious to everyone that the State of Alabama has literally stopped at nothing to send these nine innocents to the electric chair."

Although not an alarmist, the liberal attorney is frankly pessimistic as to the immediate future of civil liberties in the United States.

"The stress of the last few years," he declared, "has made it increasingly difficult for people with radical ideas to express themselves. This is particularly true because they are seldom accused on the basis of holding those ideas, but of advocating force and violence instead. This is merely wish fulfillment. It is also true that that violence is usually used against the radicals rather than by them. California and Pennsylvania, which are already reactionary strongholds, furnish ample evidence of this nature."

Nurtured in the democratic tradition, the liberal lawyer comes by his fondness for unpopular causes naturally. Mr. Fraenkel is of German-Jewish ancestry and his people came to the United States with the first wave of German emigrants who fled to the United States when the revolution of 1848 proved abortive.

ALOOF FROM POLITICS

He was born and raised in New York City, "of sound bourgeois stock," as he puts it. He attended Horace Mann High School, City College, and was graduated from Columbia Law School in 1911.

Since then he has practiced law in the city with various partners and the practice, he said, "included everything under the sun."

A deep interest in sociology in his college days and a deeply rooted belief in democracy gave an impetus to his desire to fight for the oppressed and underprivileged which he has followed ever since.

His activities have, however, been confined entirely to his own profession. Mr. Fraenkel has never taken active part in politics, but has always remained in the legal arena.

He is the author of a widely known volume, "The Sacco-Vanzetti Case," a scholarly review and condensation of the entire affair. He has edited a book of legal opinions of Supreme Court Justice Louis D. Brandeis, entitled "The Curse of Bigness." Mr. Fraenkel is a frequent contributor to law magazines and reviews, chiefly on constitutional questions.

Mr. Fraenkel is a member of the visiting committee of the Columbia Law School and a member of the Municipal Court Commission of the Bar Association.

Auto Show Opens Here; New Models on Display

MAYOR McNAIR TO OFFICIATE AT OPENING; RECORD CROWDS ARE EXPECTED

Viewed by local industrial leaders as the opening step in a new sweep of business recovery, the annual Pittsburgh Automobile Show opens Saturday, January 19, in Motor Square Garden, amid a fanfare of prize offers, music by nationally-known orchestras and artists, an address by Mayor William N. McNair and numerous features by exhibitors.

The show will be modeled along the lines of those held in New York and Detroit, largest automobile sales centers, according to W. N. Owings, secretary of the Pittsburgh Automobile Dealers' Association and manager of the local display. Owings revealed that he has visited both cities in order to utilize the newest ideas of interest to auto show audiences.

EXHIBIT NOVEL FEATURES

Latest automobile models, in their newest dress of streamlining, safety equipment, comfort accessories, color combinations and upholstery, will be seen at the show, according to Owings. Every car displayed at the New York and Detroit exhibits will be shown here, he said. In addition, Owings added, each distributor and dealer represented will have some novel idea or feature to set off the machine or other display in his booth.

Two automobiles will be given away to the holders of winning tickets.

Predicting that the show will draw larger crowds than any local auto display in history, Owings declared:

"Motor Square Garden will be gayer than ever before and visitors to the show will literally have their eyes opened by the displays.

DEALERS ENTHUSIASTIC

"With three thoughts uppermost in their minds, safety, comfort and low operating cost, the manufacturers of automobiles have developed cars for 1935 that will have all-steel bodies, new braking devices, greater power, easier operation, shatter-proof glass, more pleasing lines and innumerable other conveniences.

"With the trend definitely toward firmer business, Pittsburgh auto dealers look forward confidently to a record number of sales during and following the auto show."

WADE'S ANNOUNCE FULL SERVICE LINE

A complete line of batteries, accessories and tires, including the nationally famed Lee of Conshohocken tires, as well as a full stock of Amoco and American gasolines and oils, is being featured at Wade's Service, Inc., whose service stations are located at 940 Manchester Boulevard and 4123 Liberty Avenue, officers of the organization announce.

The personnel of Wade's includes Mr. Samuel Walkow, widely-known tire merchant who was formerly affiliated with a downtown service station; Mr. Jerome Solomon, well-known local attorney; and Mr. Clarence Solomon, his brother. This is the only automobile service firm with which these men are affiliated, they pointed out.

WOMEN'S CONFERENCE DELEGATES TO MEET IN "Y" NEXT MONDAY

AFTERNOON PROGRAM WILL FEATURE TALKS ON CURRENT AFFAIRS; MRS. REIZENSTEIN TO PRESIDE

Dr. Bernstein To Discuss German Refugee Children

Delegates representing the 24 affiliated organizations of the Conference of Jewish Women's Organizations will meet Monday, January 21, at 2 o'clock, in the Y. M. & W. H. A., Mrs. Charles Reizenstein, president, has announced.

Special features of the meeting, in addition to the regular business, will include a talk by Dr. Ludwig B. Bernstein, executive director of the Federation of Jewish Philanthropies, on the plight of German refugee children; a discussion by Milton Sussman, registrar of the Isaac Seder Educational Center of the Y. M. & W. H. A., on courses offered at the center; and a short talk by Mrs. Maurice Davis on the junior organization's survey. Mrs. Leo Shonfield, president of the Pittsburgh League for the Hard of Hearing, will give a report on the work of the league.

Officers of the Conference announced that, through an oversight, the names of Mrs. Charles Buerger, who is chairman of by-laws and rules, and Mrs. Benjamin Steinberg, co-chairman, were omitted from the organization's recently published program booklet.

CHAIM GREENBERG COMING HERE

Chaim Greenberg, world famous author, speaker and editor of the "Yiddisher Kampfer" and "The Jewish Frontier," will deliver two evening lectures next week at the Y. M. & W. H. A.

Sunday, January 27, he will speak on "The Modern Man In Search of a Soul" and Monday evening his subject will be "Henri Bergson, the Great Jewish Philosopher." The latter lecture will be given on the occasion of Bergson's 75th anniversary.

The talks are being sponsored by the local branches of Poale Zion

Zeeri Zion organizations. There will be a small admission charge.

PIONEER WOMEN PLAN BRIDGE

A bridge-luncheon will be given by the Pioneer Women's Organization, a group which aides the cause of pioneer women in Palestine, Wednesday, January 3, at 12:30, in Rosenbaum's 7th floor Home Art Studio.

Mrs. M. Kaufmann is chairman in charge of reservations. Her telephone number is Hazel 0884.

BETH ISRAEL ASSEMBLY HEARS REVIEWS

Edgar Michaels gave brief reviews of the lives of Moses Maimonides, Moses Mendelssohn, Baruch Spinoza, Benjamin Disraeli, Sir Moses Montefiore and Baron DeHirsch at the assembly program last Sunday of the Beth Israel Congregation religious school.

Mrs. Louis Michaels, president of the ladies' auxiliary, and Mrs. Charles Horovitz recently treated children of the congregation's Hebrew school to refreshments.

RODEF SHALOM SISTERHOOD PLANS EDUCATIONAL COURSE

A course of nine Monday morning lectures on parent education will be held in the Falk Memorial Library of Rodef Shalom Temple beginning January 21, Mrs. John Cohen, chairman, has announced.

Sponsored by the congregation's sisterhood, the course will be divided into three groups. The first group, to open with the initial lecture and continue through February 4, will deal with the relation of the modern Jewish child to his inherited past.

Mrs. Solomon Strouse, of Chicago, will deliver the opening lecture this Monday, speaking on "Modern Methods of Jewish Education." The lecture will be open to all who are interested.

Announcement has also been made that there will be three more meetings this season of the modern literature class sponsored by the Sisterhood. The class meets every Wednesday morning, at 10:15 o'clock, in the Temple auditorium, and attendance is open to everyone interested. The meeting this Wednesday will feature Dr. Solomon B. Freehof in a talk on "Two Contemporary Careers—Trotzky—The Communist—My Life."

Pulpit decorations at the Temple this week are the gift of Mrs. J. E. Newman, in memory of her brother, Jesse Bamberger.

Mrs. Stanley J. Kann, chairman of the Temple's remembrance fund, has announced the following contributions: in honor of Max Rothschild's eightieth birthday, Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Falk, Mrs. Barney Dreyfuss, Mrs. Nora Sunstein and Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Gallinger, Jr.; in memory of Nell Kaufman, Mrs. Enoch Rauh and family; in memory of Edgar Wertheimer, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Mellman, Miss Madeline Kann, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Hanauer, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Strassburger and Mrs. Enoch Rauh and family. Contributions to the remembrance fund should be sent to Mrs. Kann, 6570 Beacon Street.

MILTON LOMASK

Will play for Senior Hadassah

WORK ON HADASSAH DINNER PLANS

Certain that their Donor Dinner will be one of the most successful in their history, members of Senior Hadassah are working zealously to round out plans for the affair, which will be held February 26 in Hotel Schenley.

Offering the title of Donor to those who contribute five dollars for the dinner; and Patron to all who contribute ten dollars, members of the committee in charge are urging both men and women to send in their reservations immediately. Mrs. I. H. Levin heads the committee.

Milton Lomask, concertmaster of the Pittsburgh Symphony Orchestra will present a program of Jewish music.

Mrs. Maurice L. Lyon is chairman of reservations for the luncheon which will be held in the "Y" Sunday, January 20, in conjunction with the regional conference of Junior and Senior Hadassah. Mrs. Lyon's telephone number is Hazel 3486.

Chamisho Osor B'Shivat, Palestine Arbor Day, will be celebrated Saturday, January 19 by members of Hadassah. At 2 o'clock in the afternoon, the Sabbath Cultural group will meet at the home of Mrs. M. L. Avner, 5847 Beacon Street. Mrs. Maurice Davis and Mrs. Harold Silverstein will speak.

Members, as well as the general public, are invited to the monthly meeting, Wednesday afternoon, February 6, at 2 o'clock, in the "Y." Rabbi Solomon B. Freehof will speak and entertainment will be provided by Sidney Franklin, vocalist.

DR. EISENSTEIN LECTURES

Dr. Victor Eisenstein spoke on diseases peculiar to the Jewish race at a meeting last Sunday afternoon of Gamma Epsilon Mu sorority, in the home of Lucille Lebeau.

ANNUAL BABY HOME MEETING PLANNED

The annual meeting of the Jewish Home for Babies and Children will be held Sunday afternoon, January 27, at 2 o'clock, in the Y. M. & W. H. A. Election of officers will be held, standing committee chairmen will make their reports and plans for the 22nd annual Baby Home ball, which will be held February 12, in Motor Square Garden, will be completed. Mrs. William Reiner is chairman of the Ball committee.

Receipt of contributions during the week of January 6 to 12 from the following people, is acknowledged by officers of the Home: Mrs. Sarah Friedman, in memory of her husband, Harry Friedman; Mrs. Lillian B. Foster, in memory of Hortense Boreman Kramer; Mrs. S. Deaktor; Bernard and Ruth Rosenthal; Louis S. Adelson; Mrs. Julius Schmidt; Kappa Alpha Tau Sorority; Mrs. I. J. Martin; and Mr. and Mrs. J. Benkovitz and Mr. and Mrs. Hymie Steinberg who, together, raised a special fund through a raffle of four turkeys contributed by them. The turkeys were won by Hymen Rudin, Sylvia Epstein, Mr. Fiddler and Mr. Frank.

CARD PARTY PLANNED BY POALE ZEDECK JUNIORS

Beatrice Lomask is chairman of a card party to be given by the Poale Zedeck Juniors in the Synagogue auditorium, Shady and Phillips Avenue, Sunday, January 20, at 8:30 o'clock.

There will be a small admission fee, which will include the cost of refreshments and a prize at each table.

EXECUTORS' SALE

Due to exigencies having arisen by the death of Mr. J. Alex Hardy, founder and President of the Hardy and Hayes Co., his executors deem it advisable to liquidate part of the assets of his estate.

The entire stock of the Hardy and Hayes Co. is featured in this sale. Exquisite jewels — lovely sterling silver — finest English China and Rock Crystal—all will be disposed of at such low prices that only an Executors' Sale can bring.

Mr. Paul S. Hardy and Mr. Norman B. Hardy will continue the business of the Hardy and Hayes Co. and are personally conducting this sale.

Jews in Sports

By Morris Weiner

Gus Heyman was the baby of the first American Maccabi team that was sent across to the international Maccabiad at Tel Aviv in the spring of 1932. He was only seventeen years old at the time and a freshman at City College. Yet, because of his sterling performance at the Maccabi tryouts in Brooklyn in the winter of 1932, he became one of the gallant band of thirteen men and women that blazed an athletic trail to international glory.

Gus is training for the second Maccabiad that will be held this April. A torn ligament, the result of a race last year, kept him out of competition in 1934. Under the expert coaching of Lionel McKenzie, his leg has been put back into its championship form. Careful nursing, diligent running, and regulated exercise have put Gus back into his fine racing stride. He is the outstanding candidate for a berth on the second Maccabi track team.

AMERICAN TRACK AND FIELD TEAM VICTORIES

One girl and eight men composed the American Maccabi contingent that competed against thirty nations on the sun-baked stadium at Tel Aviv in 1932. This group was pitted against the foremost track and field men in the Jewish sports world. A man entered in one event had to double in another in order to be in as many competitions as possible. In fact, Dave Adelman, shot putter and weight man, and Harry Schneider, also a weight man, were entered in every event but the sprints.

The track and field squad composed of Schneider and Adelman, Heyman, Feiden, Dave White (the present executive director), Leslie Flaksman, Harry Werbin and Miss Sybil Koff worked wonders that the world marveled at. They scored a first place in nearly every event. Heyman captured the 100 and 200 yard sprints in record breaking time. Miss Koff accounted for four first places. Schneider and Adelman monopolized the shot-putting, the discus and the javelin throw; White, the broad jumping, Flaksman, Werbin and Feiden the middle and long distance specialties.

As a result of their brilliant performances, the American Maccabi track and field team scored a first place in the ranking of nations.

FOUR SWIMMERS EARN FOURTH PLACE

Eva Bein, Hal Kramer, Gene Siegel and Lou Abelson, the aquatic division of the Maccabi team, captured sufficient first, second and third places to earn a fourth rung in the scoring among nations.

Miss Bein swam second in the 300 metre event, and came in behind the leader in the 100 metre free-style event. Kramer, the former inter-collegiate high scorer of the country, knifed through the water to emerge victorious in the 400 metre free-style and also in the 100 metre backstroke specialty. Siegel placed in the money in the breast-stroke event and Lou Abelson accounted for one first, two seconds and many points on the winning relay team that brought up the total.

In all, the points scored by the swimming group and the overwhelming number of points amassed by the track and field contingent earned America a second place in the scoring by nations.

It was a superb victory for a nation with the smallest body of athletes to represent it in a distant land.

PLANS FOR THE 1935 MACCABIAD

Much has been said in these columns of the Maccabi plans for the 1935 Maccabiad. There is much that still remains to be said. The plans of the United States Maccabi group are ambitious. Instead of a team of thirteen, a team of at least twenty-five men and women will be sent across.

Every week the sports committee meet with David White and discuss the names of Jewish athletes who are eligible for the 1935 team. Benny Levine is chairman of the boxing group; Nat Osk, wrestling; Ernie Koslan, tennis; Charlotte Epstein, swimming, and Les Flaksman, track.

These men and women are not selecting the team. They are merely naming those who will be eligible to compete in the national tryouts for a berth on the April team.

Among those rated highly in the track and field division are Harry Hoffman, Milton Sandler, Manny Krosney, Sidney Bernstein, Morton Billig, Gus Heyman and Lillian Copeland.

The eliminations will be held next month. The team will sail in March. The Maccabiad will be held in April. It is not too late to get into this splendid Jewish athletic organization.

PHILADELPHIA FAN SAYS:

"It is as difficult to get Dave Smukler, star sophomore on Temple's football team, to talk about himself and his athletic achievements as it is to catch an untamed lion with a butterfly net," writes a lad who signs himself "His fraternity brother."

"Here is a story on Smukler that has just cropped up. Dave was the long entry from Gloversville High School in the Cornell University interscholastic track meet three years ago, but, as generally is the case, the coach and the student manager came along to bask in the spotlight.

CLEVER AT THROWING DISCUS AND SHOT

"Dave was entered in the shot-put and discus throw. Before his turn to throw, the coach asked one of the officials how far it was to that shot-put backboard. 'Fifty-two feet,' replied the official. 'You'll have to move it back a couple of feet, for my boy can toss the iron ball further than that,' replied the coach.

"My dear fellow," said the official,

Boy Marvel Grows Up

—Specially drawn for the J.T.A. by Ben Roth.
"Samy Reshevsky, who was hailed as the 'boy marvel' when he came to this country as a child and defeated the strongest chess players in the land, is now grown up. As a child, he would play twenty games at one time and seldom lost a match. Reshevsky, preparing for a nation-wide exhibition tour, plans to play twenty-five games of chess simultaneously against the wizards of the board.

"the record is less than fifty feet. Surely you don't expect Smukler to break the record by more than two feet, do you?"

"Why certainly I do," the coach answered in none too polite a tone. "I'll have him hit the backboard for you in a practice try." Well, Dave stepped up and smacked the backboard, so the officials were convinced and moved the backboard four feet. Dave won the event, a twelve-pound affair, with a heave of fifty-four feet three inches.

"Smukler is also good for 145 feet in the discus throw and the track coach of the Temple team cannot wait until Spring, for he wants to steal Dave away from Spring football training."

Through it all Mollie stalked, dry eyes like smudged unlit coals in her pinched face. No one, she was thankful, seemed to notice. There was already new excitement in the house. Tess and Sam Finkelstein were going together again. In fact, Tess confided to Mollie, if it hadn't been for the accident, she might have married the wrong man!

Tess and Sam went on a week-end party over Thanksgiving. Mollie was invited, but she couldn't throw herself into things again, couldn't even bring herself to go with her parents to her married brother's for dinner.

"I don't know what's the matter with you lately, Mollie, her mother complained. You never want to go out any more."

Mollie avoided her mother's eyes. "Don't worry about me. I'll manage to take care of myself."

And while they were away, Harry came! For a moment, as he stood in the doorway, looking like a shadow of his former self, Mollie thought her imagination was running away with her.

"Aren't you going to ask me in?" he asked gently.

Quite suddenly she went all to pieces. She was laughing and crying at the same time. She didn't even know she was in his arms, sobbing against his chest, trembling in his embrace.

But when she did realize it, she drew herself quickly away, one frantic thought beating at her brain. He mustn't know about Sam! He mustn't know that in a few short months Tess had forgotten about him!

"Why didn't you let us know?" she demanded in a shaken voice.

"I couldn't," he said, sinking wearily into a chair. "At first, the country doctor who fixed me up when they found me didn't know if I'd be whole again. I didn't want Tess to feel obligated to a man with two smashed legs and a punctured chest. I wanted to be sure I was whole before I came back. Otherwise, I'd never have come back."

Mollie trembled beside him. "Tess will be so glad," she whispered. "She went away for the weekend. But I'll telephone her. She'll come right back!"

He closed his eyes and Mollie's heart was wrenched at the signs of pain still on his face. "Don't do that yet, Mollie," he murmured. "First we've got to decide what we're going to do about it."

Her eyes flew to his face in amazement. "Do about what?" she asked.

"Another reason I didn't let anybody know I was coming," he said slowly, "was because I wanted to find out something." He caught her hand. "You were mean to me before because you were in love with me all the time!" he accused her fiercely. "I thought so when I kissed you before I went away. I'm sure of it now!"

She turned to the window to hide her brimming tears. "What of it?" she said wretchedly. "It's Tess you—"

"I know," he said. "I'm engaged to Tess. But must I go through with it Mollie?" Couldn't we make Tess understand?"

With a joyous cry she swung to him, crept into his arms. "We don't have to do anything about Tess! She's already engaged to someone else!"

HADASSAH HOLDS TRI-STATE CONFERENCE THIS WEEK-END

Senior, Junior Group Will Meet Here Saturday and Sunday

The Hadassah Senior-Junior Regional Conference of Western Pennsylvania, Eastern Ohio and West Virginia will be held Saturday and Sunday, January 19 and 20. Mrs. J. M. Hurwitz, Senior, and Miss Eva L. Goldberg, Junior, have called separate Organization meetings with unit and chapter presidents and vice-presidents. Seniors will meet for supper at the home of Mrs. J. H. Cohen, 5615 Bartlett Street. Miss Hilda Lieberman of 5823 Beacon Street will be supper hostess to the Juniors.

Delegates and guests will register, Sunday, January 20, 9 o'clock, in the Lounge of the Y. M. & W. H. A. Mrs. William Sivitz will be in charge of Seniors and Miss Ida Ginsberg of Juniors.

WILL ELECT OFFICERS

At 9:30 A. M. the Conference Chairmen, Mrs. J. H. Cohen, Senior, and Miss Ida Grossman, Junior, will formally open the sessions.

Each Regional President will preside over the morning session of her group. They will take up the business of various committee reports and election of officers. Miss Florence Miller of Pittsburgh will present the slate for the Juniors.

Miss Jeannette Friedman, President of the Shenango Valley Unit of Junior Hadassah, recently returned from a trip to Palestine, will describe her trip.

A joint Luncheon will then be held in the Lodge Room of the Y. M. & W. H. A., at 12:30 P. M., where Miss Ida Grossman, Junior Conference Chairman, will introduce the guest speaker, Rabbi Ralph Simon, of Johnstown, Pa. His message will be of real importance to the women of Hadassah. Greetings will be extended by Mrs. David Wise, first vice-president of the Pittsburgh Chapter, and Miss Florence Miller, president of the Pittsburgh Junior Unit.

The reports of the Regional Presidents will be of vital interest to both groups. Miss Flora Snyder, National Organization chairman of Young Judaea, will tell the Conference of this Youth movement; and a paper on the Jewish National Fund, known in Hebrew as the Keren Kayemeth L' Israel, will be read and discussed.

"ON TO FORTUNE" DUE AT NIXON

Second Subscription Play Of Theater Society

"On to Fortune," a new comedy concerning the manners and honesty in public and private life in America today, begins an engagement Monday evening in the Nixon Theater, under the joint auspices of Crosby Gaige and Charles Heidt.

AUTHORED BY LANGNER

The authors are Lawrence Langner and Armina Marshall, well known for their sparkling comedy of last season, "The Pursuit of Happiness." Mr. Langner's name, prominent in theatricals, is best identified as the production manager for the Theater Guild and associate sponsor of many of Broadway's greatest successes.

The engagement is definitely limited to one week at the Nixon, and will be the second subscription play of the American Theater Society, with popular matinees Wednesday and Saturday.

McKEESPORT ORGANIZES NATIONAL FUND COUNCIL

At a meeting in the home of Mr. and Mrs. D. Caslow, Tuesday evening, the McKeesport Council, Jewish National Fund, was organized.

It will partake actively in the work of the Jewish National Fund and all Palestine endeavors, and also will act as soon as possible on the formation of a Zionist district in McKeesport.

OFFICERS NAMED

Following were elected officers: M. L. Kessler, president; D. Caslow and Mrs. Jacob Zeiger, vice-presidents; A. J. Perlow, secretary; C. H. Rosenbleet, treasurer; Ch. Byer and A. Cahhan, co-chairmen of the Jewish National Fund Box Committee.

The first effort by the newly formed council will be the immediate distribution of 100 Jewish National Fund boxes in the homes of McKeesport Jewry.

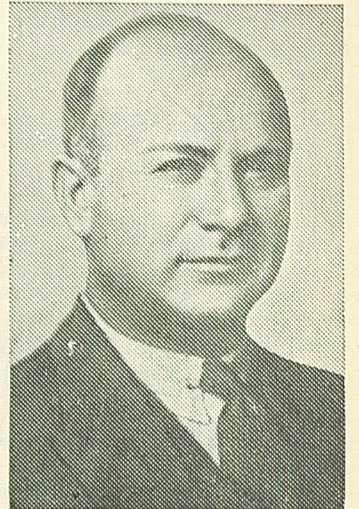

In order to make the Council fully representative of all McKeesport Jewry it was decided to invite all local Jewish organizations to elect 2 of their members to represent their respective organizations in the Council.

ELMAN IS NEXT SYMPHONY GUEST

All-Tschaikowsky Program Will Be Featured

An all Tschaikowsky program will be played by the Pittsburgh Symphony Orchestra at its next concert, the fifth of the series, Sunday night,

MISCHA ELMAN

January 27, at Syria Mosque. Antonio Modarelli has selected the Sixth Symphony of Tschaikowsky, popularly known as the "Pathetique."

Mischa Elman, who will be violin soloist, will play the Tschaikowsky Concerto, and the concert will close with another Tschaikowsky work to be announced later.

"Y" PLANS CRAFTS PROGRAM

Establishment of a special recreation program, featuring informal study groups and clubs, was announced by the Y. M. and W. H. A. this week.

Open without charge to boys and girls over 16 and to men and women, the groups will be supervised by trained leaders. Projects to be conducted include handcrafts; homecrafts, such as home beautification, table setting and beauty culture for women; electrical appliance repairing and radio mechanics; an amateur radio club; and nature study, music and shorthand clubs.

The program will start February 4. Further information and registration forms may be obtained from Irving Schultz, in the "Y" conference room, Bellefield Avenue, any evening.

Economist Lewis Corey Is Next Speaker On Lecture Series

Lewis Corey, economist, historian, and author, will give the fifth lecture of the "Y" Series on February 5th at 8:40 P. M., on the subject "The Mystery of Money."

A self-made man who attended the public schools of New York City, and upon being graduated at the head of his class was forced to go to work because of the death of his father, he has lectured at colleges and universities, but has, in his own words, "never seen the inside of one except as an invited speaker."

Mr. Corey is known as an interesting and vigorous speaker. He has spoken before groups of workers and academic bodies. Last year he discussed the N. R. A. with Mr. Grover Whalen before students of Brooklyn College. He is a regular contributor to magazines, notably "The American Mercury," "The New Republic" and "The Nation."

Wherein We Soliloquize on Opera and Concert Singers

By MUSICUS

The concert appearance of a certain young singer last Sunday as the feature of the Y. M. and W. H. A. Musical Society's fourth event again brought forcefully to mind that a singer may achieve success in opera and yet fall short of artistic accomplishment in recital.

Be it said that the experience of last Sunday evening is not the first of the kind that audiences have been through in this city. Nor does this statement apply only to the Y concerts. Every music course in this city has at some time or other played host to singers who proved grossly inadequate as recitalists. In fact this year no less than three different series have fallen below accepted standard in representing vocal events.

This predicament will continue to obtain so long as music committees and managers persist in engaging vocalists solely on the basis of success attained in the operatic realm. We can understand how laymen interested in music and charged with the engaging of singers might make this mistake, but in the case of experienced managers whose years of impressarial experience should have taught them the difference, such a lapse is regrettable and, apparently, if not intelligently, unfair to the cognoscenti and general public who pay the freight and hear what is reputedly the best. In the long run this state of affairs is bound to cause a falling off in attendance and support and create disinterest in musical activity in general.

In the case of organizations acting through committees charged with arranging a concert series they would do well to inquire and ascertain in advance as to the true CONCERT capability of singers about to be engaged and thereby eliminate disappointment and cause for chagrin in their audiences. Committees oft are prone to indulge in outbursts of enthusiasm and pat themselves on the back for their choice of artists. However, like pouting spoiled children, these same committee people feel grossly maligned if anyone competent to know expresses disapproval or even mildly criticizes a choice of doubtful merit. This should not be. Constructive suggestions should always be welcomed in any contingency.

Most vocalists aspire to sing in opera. Why no other phase of singing appeals to them, defies explanation, unless it be the notion that to win operatic success is to reach the pinnacle of vocal art compared to which success in other branches of the vocal field seem secondary. Strange as it may seem, the writer has spoken to this type of singer.

However, assuming that a singer reaches the particular goal of musical ambition—in this case, opera—it does not follow that such a vocalist is adequately equipped to project lieder and art songs and compositions of first rank recital caliber.

It is surprising how few successful opera singers there are who realize the dissimilarity between singing in opera and the presentation of a formal recital; or that each is a separate domain requiring a different approach, and that although good vocal training, per se, is necessary in either case, opera and recital each demand highly specialized training ere excellence in performance is possible.

The opera singer has certain advantages over the recitalists in being aided by costume, scenery, acting—assets the value of which is incontrovertible. Then there is the invaluable assistance supplied by promoter, conductor and an orchestra that on occasion can cover a multitude of vocal faults. And these factors contribute greatly to the general effect that gains the approbation of an audience. Not so in recital where, shorn of these striking embellishments of the theater, the singer must rely entirely on vocal endowment and individual artistry for success, assisted only by an accompanist.

Thus when well-intentioned committee members learn, either through hearsay or from a persuasive manager, that Madam This-One or Signor That-One has vaulted suddenly into operatic fame, a mad scramble ensues in the endeavor to influence a decision to bring the Madam or the Signor as a stellar attraction on a course of concerts, without knowing or caring whether the singer in question is as able in recital as in opera.

Of course, if committees prefer hearing the singer in a program devoted exclusively to operatic numbers, that is a different matter, although a list made up entirely of arias would be rather monotonous. But if the program were to include only lieder and art songs, it is but natural to expect their projector to have a thorough knowledge of the songs to be sung and understanding of the method of their delivery in matters of style, tempo and interpretation, lacking these essential attributes, a recitalist dooms an audience to unbearable tedium. Selah!

STACCATO NOTES

Winter has come... So have a bevy of recitals... January will be the busiest month for the reviewers... During the past week the concert schedule afforded many interesting moments... And also several not so interested... Pescha Kagan—Mrs. David Glick to you—gave an admirable recital at the Twentieth Century Club... The event was the best that the Club has sponsored this year... The string Symphonic Ensemble piloted by Oscar Del Bianco delivered some excellent playing... Notable was the Respighi number: Tritico Botticelliano, heard here for the first time... All the other numbers on that program paled into insignificance by comparison... Dr. Felix Maria Gatz and the Duquesne University Orchestra gave the first of two educational concerts... It was highly interesting... Dr. Gatz revealed that he is as good a lecturer as a conductor... And the large audience of youngsters who attended went home the wiser for having heard him explain and analyse the works performed... Apropos of educational concerts, which seem to be coming thick and fast. The Pittsburgh Symphony Society under Antonio Modarelli's baton will give the first of two of these events Saturday afternoon, January 26 in Syria Mosque... Tickets at Mellors... Cost, 25 and 50 cents... Parochial and public school students will be ordered through their music supervisors... The Vienna Choir Boys directed by Dr. Gruber sang a marvelous concert Tuesday night at the Mosque... The youngest is 9 years of age, the oldest, 12... And each is a regular musician... Each knows his 'stuff'... Not only in ensemble and solo singing but also in matters of harmony, counterpoint and general musical knowledge... That's the way they come in Vienna... Music means something in the life of the people over there... Will have more to say about these kids next week... Of events this week, Ruth St. Denis, noted dancer, will again give evidence of her terpsichorean skill in Carnegie Music Hall Monday night assisted by the Pittsburgh String Orchestra directed by Ferdinand Fillion... Don't miss attending the Art Society concert Friday night in Carnegie Music Hall... Igor Stravinsky, famous ultra modern composer-conductor-pianist is the feature... Only his works will be performed... Samuel Dushkin, violinist, will collaborate... Here's your chance to hear revolutionary music of a type that rocked the world at the turn of the century played by its creator.

NEW FORD V-8 CAR ON DISPLAY

Pictured above is the new Ford De Luxe Fordor Sedan for 1935, which has just been announced. The new Ford V-8 cars have new, modern body lines and a combination of engineering improvements giving greater ease of control and increased riding comfort. These include relocation of the front spring and engine farther forward, and seating of the passengers between the wheels and closer to the center of the car to provide improved car weight balance and passenger weight distribution. Crankcase ventilation has been added to the Ford V-8 engine, of which more than 1,300,000 are now on the road.

When Not To Lead The Top Card Of Partner's Suit

Last week I received a letter from Mr. Joe Goldstein, who is interested in what is happening in the "great Morganstern-Hamburg match." Mr. Goldstein writes that I haven't mentioned anything about the match in my column for the last three weeks, and he hopes the Hamburgs have regained their lead. The battle between these two married couples doesn't interest him primarily from the standpoint that he used to go to the old Grant Street School with Mr. Jacob Hamburg, but that he has such confidence in "Jakie" (as he used to call him when they would play pinochle on the stone pavement outside of Mrs. Fudgelip's room) that he has bet $100 on the Hamburgs to vanquish the Morgansterns.

Leonard Seder

This wager on the outcome of the match necessitated the formation of the following two laws, which were drawn up and approved by both teams:

- (1) The first team to score 200,000 points shall be the winner.
- (2) No substitutes are permitted to take the place of the four original contestants.

Despite the fact that he was playing for his old friend "Joey" Goldstein (and his "hundred smackers"), Mr. Hamburg gave the Morgansterns an undeserved rubber game by making a very questionable opening lead.

Mr. Hamburg has had so many times "to lead the top card of his partner's suit" that he makes this lead by force of habit. Every bridge law has its exception; the following hand in which he is defending a game contract in notrump, Mr. Hamburg unthinkingly led his King of hearts, the top of his partner's suit, and the opponents easily made their bid.

North and South, vulnerable
North, dealer
Mrs. Morganstern

♠ J 3	♥ A 10 9
♦ 4	♣ A J 10 9 3
♠ A K Q 4 2	♥ 8 7 5
♦ K J 9 6 5	♣ 8 4

Mr. Hamburg	North	East	South	West
♠ 8 5 4 2	1♦	1♥	2NT(1)	Pass
♥ K 7 6 2	3♣	Pass	3NT(2)	Pass
♦ 9 6 3	Pass	Pass	Pass	Pass
♣ 10 7

(1) A very bad bid. The heart suit is not adequately stopped. Even though the spade suit is shaded, a one spade bid would be the best bid at this point.

(2) With such a fine fit in clubs, Mr. Morganstern should have contracted for a game in clubs. Mr. Hamburg led his King of hearts. This lead made a stopper of South's Heart Queen, and the heart suit could not be run-off. If you are to make a lead against a notrump contract and your partner has mentioned a suit, you should lead the fourth-best if you have four of his suit.

Let's observe what would happen if Mr. Hamburg had led correctly.

♥ 4	♠ N	♥ A J 10 9 3
♠ K 7 6 2	W	E
	S

If West opens correctly with the deuce, East will win with the Ace and return the Jack. South's Queen is now trapped, and unlike what actually happened, five heart tricks can be run-off.

The score of the match is now 176,000 points to 174,140, with the Hamburgs on the short end. It will probably be over in three more weeks.

I am sorry to see such an interesting battle come to an end. But so will Mr. Goldstein if the Morgansterns still have their lead.

Louis Hirsch, 73, one of the oldest surviving members of the old Common Council of Pittsburgh and for many years associated with publication of the German-American newspaper, "Volksblatt and Freiheits Freund," died Monday, January 14, at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Myer Harrison, in the Morewood Gardens Apartments, East End.

A son of the late Max and Helene Einstein Hirsch, he was born in Pittsburgh in 1862, and received his education in the public schools here.

With his brother and other associates, he took over publication of the "Volksblatt and Freiheits Freund" almost 50 years ago, and was active in its management until his retirement in 1925. Taking an interest in politics, he was in 1907 elected to the Common Council, serving a four-year term.

He was a lifelong member of Rodef Shalom Congregation. Mr. Hirsch was also prominent in Masonic circles, being past master of McCandless Lodge, No. 390; a member of the Association of Masonic Veterans; Zerubbabel Royal

The New Ford V-8 for 1935

A New Kind of Motor Car—Designed for Easy Riding

NEW SEAT POSITION NEW WEIGHT DISTRIBUTION NEW LONGER, MORE FLEXIBLE SPRINGS

In the New Ford V-8 for 1935, all the weight of car and passengers is correctly balanced and distributed. Seats are moved forward so that passengers on the rear seat ride nearer the center of the car. This, with new spring suspension, and longer and more flexible springs, gives new smoothness, ease and riding comfort on any kind of road.

For 1935, Ford has taken another revolutionary step forward. To the proved performance of the famous Ford V-8 engine has been added remarkable riding comfort. And the entire car has been clothed with a new and modern beauty, both inside and out.

The illustration on this page shows the distinctive modern lines of the New Ford V-8 for 1935. When you see the car in the showrooms or on the road you notice at once its larger size as well as its handsome appearance. It is longer, with more body room, more leg room and more baggage room. It is lower to the ground—easier to step in and out. The front seats are as much as 5½ inches wider in some body types. The curved gear shift lever gives additional front-seat comfort.

NEW, LONGER SPRINGS OF UNUSUAL FLEXIBILITY

The springing of the New Ford V-8 for 1935 is entirely new. The springbase of the car (the distance from the front to the rear spring) is 123 inches, or eleven inches longer than the wheelbase. This has been accomplished by mounting the front spring in front of the front axle and the back spring in back of the rear axle. This design gives you increased comfort without sacrificing ease of handling.

Front and rear springs are longer and more flexible, with tapered leaves for the most effective spring action and quieter operation.

NEW FEATURES FOR SAFETY, COMFORT AND EASE OF HANDLING

See the New Ford V-8 at the showrooms of Ford dealers. They have many interesting things to tell you and show you about its outstanding V-8 performance and comfort, luxurious new upholstery and appointments, improved, quiet-stopping brakes, new easy-pressure clutch, easier steering, new rigid X-type frame, Clear-Vision Ventilation and the many other features of the car. All Ford V-8 cars for 1935 are equipped throughout with Safety Glass, at no additional cost. All have welded all-steel bodies.
